SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferers for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcule which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widely increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly affected with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Another extensive home industry is on the tapis in Montreal by English and Canadian capitalists. It is the establishment of the first worsted manufactory in Canada. The matter is in the hands of experienced men in the trade.

The Result of Colliding with a Steer.

A construction train on the Texas Pacific ran into a steer near Forth Worth. Two cars were thrown from the track, killing T. A. Simpson, civil engineer, Rice Johnson, brakeman, and J. Bond, a workman. Three brakemen were badly hurt, but they will recover.

Drowned while Bathing.

Word has reached Winnipeg of the drowning on Friday last, of the eldest son of Thomas Brown in Sturgeon Creek, near Dow Farm. The lad was about four years old and went to the creek to wash. In two minutes he was missed by his mother, and search made, but the body has not been recovered.

Hunting Outlaws.

The people of Johnston City, Tenn., resolved to hunt out a band of desperadoes. The latter took refuge in a cave, where they were brought to bay, but they placed women and children, their captives, in front of the cave and escaped, leaving a note vowing vengeance on their pursuers.

For Five Dollars and a Plug of Tobacco.

An infuriated crowd at Florence, Ala., overpowered the jail officials and hung Geo. Ware, a prisoner who murdered a boy named Robert Bethune at Muscle shoals last week. Before hanging Ware confessed that he murdered the boy for $5 and a plug of tobacco and threw the body into the river.

Curious Time Piece.

There is a curious clock in the cathedral at Lubeck, Germany. On the end of the hour hand there is a little clock which keeps exact time with the large clock. This little timepiece, of course, goes round and round the large dial, and reminds one of a "wheel within a wheel." In the Swiss museum there is a watch that is only three-sixteenths of an inch in diameter. It is inserted in the top of an old-fashioned pencil-case such as our grandmothers used to possess. Its little dial not only indicates hours, minutes, and seconds, but also days of the month.

AN EXCELLENT REPORT.—Hon. Jos. G. Goodridge, of Brooklyn, N.Y., writes:—"I cannot express myself in sufficiently praiseworthy terms of Burdock Blood Bitters which I have used for the past two years with great benefit."

GOVERNOR CLEVELAND has signed the bills for the preservation of the scenery of Niagara Falls and the lying out of a state park.

THE Philadelphia Irishmen have waited on the different papers in that city and requested them to send a representatives to Ireland to ascertain the true condition of the country.

WHY BE DOWNCAST?—True, you may be in a miserable condition—you may be weak, pallid, and nervous. You cannot sleep at night, nor enjoy your waking hours; yet, why lose heart? Get a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters. It will restore you to health and peace of mind.

ABOUT 200 Irish immigrants, chiefly families, arrived at Montreal on Monday route to St. Paul, Minn., in charge of a young priest.

A HAPPY HIT.—When the proprietors of Burdock Blood Bitters put this renowned medicine on the market, they hit it exactly. They hit dyspepsia, indigestion, and liver and kidney complaints a hard blow, from which they will never recover.

A DESPATCH from St. Thomas, Montmagny, announces the death on Monday of Lady Tache, widow of the late Sir E. P. Tache, at one time Premier of the old Province of Canada, at the advanced age of 83 years.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.—You can be weak, nervous, debilitated, and despondent, disqualified for work of head or hand, or you can enjoy a fair share of health and peace of mind. Burdock Blood Bitters will alleviate your misery and do you a world of good if you will persevere in their use for a few weeks.

NATURE, after all, is the great physician. She hides all the secrets of health within her broad generous bosom, and man needs but to go to her intelligently for his every need. The discovery of the great Cough Remedy, GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM, is an apt illustration of this. As a cure for Coughs, Colds, Loss of Voice and Hoarseness, it stands unrivalled, while its low price and readiness of access places it within the reach of all. Try it and be convinced. All chemists keep it in 25 and 50 cent bottles.

A Reliable Witness.

Mr. Whyte, late proprietor of the Mansion Saloon, King street, Toronto, writes as follows about Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters: "I have used Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters for nearly four years, and I believe it to be the best medicine in the world. I would not be without it for anything. I have induced scores of people to try it, and when taken according to directions, I have never known it to fail. I call the Bitters, "The Doctor." It has certainly been my family doctor ever since I first used it, and will continue to be as long as it acts the same as hitherto. I strongly advise all my friends and the public generally who suffer from any affections of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver or Blood, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Headache, Dizziness, Costiveness, Impurities of the Blood, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc., to buy a bottle of 'The Doctor,' and I am certain that not one will regret having done so. I do not think there is any medicine in the whole world equal to Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters." [Signed] JAS. WHYTE.

MUNRO & ALEXANDER

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, MAY 2, 1883.

The Weather Probabilities.

The weather to-day is mild and cloudy. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great North Western Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Fine milder weather, with moderate to fresh easterly to southerly winds.

Mind Reading.

Mr. Stuart Cumberland, the famous thought reader and exposer of spiritualistic tricks, will give his demonstration in Bradburn's Opera House this evening and to-morrow evening. His abilities are highly spoken of by the press of Toronto, Montreal, New York and the cities and towns that he has visited. We understand that H. H. Smith Esq., Mayor, will occupy the chair to-morrow evening.

Lacrosse.

The members of the Lacrosse Club had a practice on Monday evening, the first of the season. There was a good turn out. One of the first twelve broke a favourite stick with which he has done good work during the past three seasons, but he is a good player, and the loss of "the mit" will not prevent him from rendering material assistance in defending the district championship this season. They practise again this evening.

A Rare Chance.

We are glad to observe that Mr. Dumble is putting a large number of town lots in the market. This is much better than holding on to them for the rise in value, as it gives young men and others desirous of making homes for themselves a chance to get land at reasonable rates, and thus adds to our permanent population. Property is becoming very valuable in Peterborough, and we expect a lively sale on the 7th of May next.

Photographic Studio.

A visit to Mr. G. E. Sproule's photographic studio shows that he is determined to keep abreast of the ever-growing progress of his art. Already his apparatus and other facilities were so excellent that he might well have been content, but that he is always bent upon improvement. To his fine collection of scenes he has just added two others by the celebrated Seavey, of New York, and one by Rehn, of Detroit, very artistic and effective. Mr. Sproule had, at considerable expense, constructed a capacious water tank, but now he has obtained a supply from the Water Company, so that there may be no stint in its lavish use, so necessary for the production of good and durable photographs. The studio has also been newly decorated and furnished, according to the most approved æsthetic lights. The handsome wall paper and dado are in good keeping with the rich carpeting, and the furniture is of appropriate design and colour. A profuse display of flowering plants adds grace to the whole. The ladies' dressing room is also newly decorated in a lighter and brighter style, and the addition of a large mirror will be appreciated by his fair sitters, anxious to appear to the best advantage for the occasion. The beautiful specimens of photography in the waiting and show rooms below show that Mr. Sproule's ceaseless energy in adopting improvements has produced most satisfactory results, and that his work is appreciated is shown by the fact that a numerous staff of assistants (all of the fair sex) is kept in the spacious painting room, at the various processes which the photograph has to undergo. Mr. Sproule has introduced a telephone so that appointments for sittings may be made by this easy means.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

A SUGGESTION—THE INSTITUTE SHOULD BE MORE MERCANTILE.

Reports of School Property Committee, Special Committee and Inspector—In[illegible] [illegible]—No More Property Required—The Attendance.

A regular meeting of the Board of Education was held in the usual place on Tuesday evening.

PRESENT.—Messrs. Stevenson (Chairman), Dumble, Stratton, Sawers, Wrighton, Kendrey, Weir, Burnham, Robinson and Rutherford

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From John Lechner, a janitor, applying for more pay as he had to saw wood.—Property Committee.

From Messrs. Pearse and Stratton, Town Auditors, submitting information asked for by the Board, and stating that their fee was $25.—Ordered to be paid.

A statement of the fees paid by resident and non-resident pupils of the Collegiate Institute for the year 1882 was received.

From A. W. Powell, in the reference to the Ryerson Memorial Fund.—Received.

From Geo. C. Robb, stating that he had examined the heating boiler and found it generally well cared for.—Received.

From the Trustees of St. Paul's Church, offering to sell property to the Board.—Received.

From Wm. O'Connor, acting Principal of the Institute, stating that the average attendance during April was 81, and suggesting that it was probable that the usefulness of the Institute might be increased by arranging a course of study suitable for pupils who intend to engage in mercantile pursuits.—Received.

From James Stratton, Inspector, stating that he had, during the quarter just closed, made thirty-eight visits to the different divisions of the Public School and found very good order. In the junior divisions the desks were too high for the ages of the children, but there was a difficulty in the way of remedying this. As to changes said to have been made in text books, he found after the fullest investigation that no changes in text books had been made in the Public Schools for three years, if not longer.—Received.

From Toker & Co., submitting an account for $18.56.—Ordered to be paid.

THE ATTENDANCE.

Mr. J. Braden's report of the attendance at the public schools for the month of April was read. The attendance was as follows:—

	On Reg.	Av. Att.
Central School	588	467
South Ward School	224	189
West Ward School	167	129

PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

The following report of the Property Committee was read:—

To the Board of Education of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN,—Your Committee have purchased and delivered the following quantities of wood for use next winter:—Central School, one hundred and one cords; West Ward, three and one half cords; South Ward, eleven and one half cords. The wood at the Central School is composed of tamarac and mixed wood, costing from $2.75 to $3.00 a cord. The wood at the Ward Schools is hard wood, and cost $4.25. Owing to the cold spring more wood than usual has been consumed, but your Committee believe there is still sufficient remaining to carry through next winter. Taking into account the increased price of wood, your Committee believe they have purchased at a reasonable figure. All of which is submitted,

W. H. WRIGHTON,
Chairman.

May 1st, 1883.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

Mr. DUMBLE read the report of the Special Committee, stating that disagreement between the Head Master of the West Ward School and the Principal of the Public Schools, had, after mutual explanations had been made, been satisfactorily settled.—Adopted.

NO PROPERTY REQUIRED.

Mr. DUMBLE moved, seconded by Mr. RUTHERFORD,—That the Secretary be requested to acknowledge the receipt of the communication from the Trustees of St. Paul's church in reference to the church property, and to inform them that this Board is not contemplating the erection of new school buildings in the locality in which the church is situated, and, therefore, will not require their church for school purposes.—Carried.

THE PRINCIPAL'S SUGGESTION.

Mr. DUMBLE moved, seconded by Mr. WEIR,—That the report of the Principal be referred to the Committee on School Supervision with power to confer with the Principal as to the suggested changes and to report to this Board at a future meeting.—Carried.

THE PRINCIPAL.

A resolution moved by Mr. DUMBLE, and seconded by Mr. STRATTON, was passed, hiring Mr. Wm. O'Connor, M. A., as Principal of the Collegiate Institute for this year, at a salary of $1,200.

DRAWING INSTRUCTIONS.

Mr. DUMBLE moved that the matter of instruction in drawing, required by the Education Department, be referred to the Committee on Appointments, with power to employ a competent teacher at a fair salary to instruct two rooms of the common school for two hours a day, twice a week, and that any arrangements made be for a period of two months.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

West Ward Fire Alarm.

The fire alarm bell in the western part of the town needs attention. The tongue has become detached, and bad as some of the Councillors said on Monday night that the bells were, this one is even worse in its present condition.

A Fireman's Sudden Death.

Mr. John Waram, a member of the Peterborough Fire Brigade, went home to his father's in the township of Smith last week. On Saturday evening he was taken sick, and died on Monday evening. The Fire Brigade and band will attend his funeral.

A Rare Chance.

A good chance to secure bargains in dress goods, etc., is offered by the great sale at Messrs. W. Fairweather & Co's. TWO WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

An attempt is being made by Reformers to show that their is something corrupt in the present manner of paying for public printing. The Queen's printer says that the work in question, was given in the same manner and at the same prices as have been the rule since confederation and Mr. Mackenzie supports his view. This does not suit the malcontents, who fail however to explain why they did not object to the same system under the late administration if it is corrupt. The Dundas Standard says:—

> "The Tory press may just as well understand that the member for North Brant cannot be deferred from discharging his duty in exposing the printing frauds practiced by the Government and sanctioned by their officers, by their representations and abuse, or even by the fact that Mr. Mackenzie chooses to accept of explanations from Mr. Chamberlain, which were in reality no explanations at all."

Flowers for May.

May day's having arrived naturally brought thoughts of flowers with it, and we visited the establishment of Mr. F. Mason to see what he had provided for his customers. Passing through his new store, so conveniently situated in the Post-Office block, we found the spacious greenhouse in the rear filled to its utmost capacity with a brilliant show of flowering plants in full bloom, the Spirea Japonica, with its snowy feathery blossoms, the pure white calla lily, geraniums of various rich hues, roses, pinks, pansies, verbenas, fuchias, musk, and countless others, the mere mention of which would fill too great a space. All these are young flourishing plants brought from the nursery when ready to bloom freely. As they find purchasers their places will constantly be replenished from the abundant stock at the nursery, so that lovers of flowers need not go to the gardens in the north part of the town, but can in this central position find the choicest plants they may require just ready for a transfer to their flower beds or windows. At the gardens the long range of houses are] filled with young plants being brought forward by careful attention and appropriate treatment to the stage that will warrant their removal to the central store, or their use as bedding out plants by those who garden on a larger scale. Here, too, are to be found a profuse supply for those who devote as much attention to their vegetable gardens as to their flower beds, young tomatoes, celery, cabbages &c., &c. All the damage done by the fire in January has been remedied, and in doing so further improvements have been introduced. Mr. Mason's establishment is a credit to Peterborough, and his energy and skill should meet with due encouragement.

THE PROTESTANT HOME.

The Annual Meeting—The Election of Officers and Reception of Reports.

The annual meeting of the Directors of the Peterborough Protestant Home was held on the afternoon of Tuesday last.

In the absence of Mrs. Gilmour, Mrs. Smith took the chair.

THE SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The Secretary's report was read and adopted, as follows:—

The Committee of the P. P. Home, in once more coming before the public with their annual report, would acknowledge with deep thankfulness their sense of God's great goodness in sparing and permitting them to continue in His work.

In 1881-82 fourteen persons, old and young, were in the Home; the blind woman is still with them, with as well as the old man paralyzed, for whom an attendant, the town pays. In July, 1882, an old man and woman, who were infirm, and with no family to help them or relatives to care for them, left for the country, only to be sent in early in 1883, as being homeless. Two weeks after, the poor woman died from exposure and insufficient food previous to their admission. On this last occasion some farmers of the neighborhood to which they belonged, paid for three month's board for them. In 1882 the matron lost a child by death. A lad who had been fourteen years an inmate of the Home, but who had latterly been learning a trade, receiving wages and paying for board, left, much esteemed by all who came in contact with him.

In 1882-83 seven persons were admitted, one of these a young girl suffering from hip disease, has since been sent to the hospital by doctor's orders, for proper treatment, there being no hospital here, and no appliances for the treatment of such a case, showing the urgent need for such an institution among us. Seventeen families have received relief during these two years, four of these steadily, the others casually. One of these pensioners had died within the past month.

It is with great regret we come before the public with so much indebtedness, the cause is this, the subscriptions have fallen off almost altogether since the Hall trust fund came into operation. We owe much to the trustees of that fund, as they have given largely to the Home, but now, owing to other obligations, even that has failed us, and unless the friends of the poor come forward readily and liberally, as the Lord has prospered them, we know of but one alternative. Our confidence is, that He who said "the poor ye have always with you," will not suffer them to want.

In closing our report we would fail in our duty did we not refer to the irreparable loss the Home has sustained in the deaths of two of our most valued friends and supporters; we refer to the late Mr. James Hall and Col. Haultain. To the thoughtful, generous kindness of the former we owe the comfortable building occupied by the Home, the only institution of the kind in the county. Eternity only will tell the benefit this Home, simple as it is, has been to those who have been under its roof. In Col. Haultain we have lost a faithful and firm friend, ever ready to help in every way, his wise counsel and Christian sympathy will be equally missed by the manager and the inmates. They are now enjoying the favor and presence of Him who has said "that a cup of cold water given to drink in my name, because ye belong to Christ, verily I say unto you he shall not lose his reward."

Thanks are due to those friends who so kindly visit the inmates and engage in religious exercises with them, which services are greatly enjoyed and eagerly looked for; to the medical men who are ever ready when called upon; to the Curling Club, who so often remember the Home in their games; to the editors, who so kindly insert advertisements, lists of donations, etc., free of charge; and to the editors of the REVIEW and Examiner in particular, for copies of their papers regularly delivered.

Respectfully submitted,
ISABELLA ROGER,
Secy. P. P. Home.

P. S.—Since writing the above, another of our inmates, an old man 81 years of age, has died.

ELECTIONS.

Mr. A. H. Campbell having removed from town, General Haultain was elected Trustee in his place.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—President, Mrs. Gilmour; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Wallis, Mrs. Haslitt, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Miller. Miss Roger was re-elected Secretary, and Mrs. Jeffers was elected Treasurer in place of Mrs. F. W. Haultain, who had resigned.

A Scoundrel's Revenge.

After the last train of emigrants ex Parisian, bound west, had passed Truro, N. S., on Saturday evening, some villain broke the key of the northern switch in the Truro Railway yard and threw open the points. Then, this action having reversed the signal so as to show "danger" up the line, he climbed the signal staff and twisted the lights back to "all right." Consequently the freight train from Moncton which arrived a short time later, ran off the points betwen the siding and the main line, tore up the siding for some distance, precipitated the locomotive against a bank and totally wrecked it, with the tender and three cars. Fortunately the train hands got on top of the box car and jumped clear so that no one was injured. The loss is said to be about ten thousand dollars. The miscreant is supposed to be some discharged employee, who took this method of executing revenge. No clue has been found to his identity.

A New Departure.

At Mount Vernon Place Methodist Episcopal church Baltimore, responsive services were recited at morning worship by the congregation, including the Apostles' creed and the psalter. This is a new departure and causes comment.

A Disappointed Lover.

Henry Smith of St. Johns, Vermont, went to James town, Dak., to marry a young lady from his former home. She refused to fulfill her promise. Smith blew his brains out while taking a walk with her.

A DENIAL.

BROOKLYN, May 3.—Higley emphatically denies the charge of improper intimacy with the wife of Johnson, the temperance advocate.

SPRUCE TREES DYING.

BANGOR, Me., May 3.—It is reported from the lumber regions of Arostook that spruce trees are dying rapidly. Last winter the operations were on a part of the township where it was expected that 700,000 feet would be cut, but only 85,000 feet of sound spruce could be found. An examination shows that the spruce in the rest of the townships is in the same condition. As far as ascertained no worms are at work on the spruce, and the cause of the decay is a mystery. The tops of the dead spruce trees are of a reddish color, as though scorched by fire.

A Mysterious Occurrence.

OTTAWA, May 1.—After being notified of the finding of a body near Rockliffe, Coroner Dr. Corbett, accompanied by Dr. Kelly, made a thorough examination on Sunday. They found only a small scalp wound behind the left ear which could not have been the cause of death, and was probably caused by floating ice. The unfortunate was to all appearance no more than 16 years of age, and his head was entirely destitute of hair, there being nothing to indicate that there ever had been hair on his head. The back of the head was very large, and the intellectual organs only developed to a limited degree. The body was buried yesterday evening in Beechwood Cemetery, and the number of the plot on the registered plan kept by Dr. Corbett in case the friends of the boy should become acquainted with the occurrence and want the body. The clothes were kept for the purpose of identification, and are at Mr. Samuel Rogers' undertaking establishment, where they may be seen. Deceased wore a light brown pair of pants and canvas drawers, long boots, and a greyish shirt, which completed his covering. There was nothing in the appearance of the body to indicate that death had been caused by drowning, and there was very little decomposition, which would lead to the belief that death was quite recent. The affair so far is shrouded in mystery, and the Coroner suspects foul play.

Fair, but False.

A young man with a sad face called at No. 3 police station last night. He gave the name of Samuel Baker, and said he was engaged to be married to a certain young woman next June. As a token of affection, the lover presented his bethrothed with a diamond ring of the most expensive kind—price $3 in a Queen street Jew shop. But alas! the course of true love never did run smooth. The girl, who by the way lives on Bathurst street, went back on Samuel for another fellow, with whom she went out walking last night. The cast off beau saw the couple. He also noticed his ring flashing from her finger. He did not want her back but he longed for the ring. Thinking the police could be of assistance to him he went to them and told his story as recorded. The police could do nothing in the matter as their jurisdiction does not extend to love affairs and Mr. Baker took his departure in a very dejected mood vowing that he would get even with the false one yet.—Toronto World.

Anecdote of Gortschakoff.

Returning home from a dinner party in St. Petersburg once Prince Gortschkoff missed from the pocket of his overcoat his pocket-book, containing 30,000 rubles. He at once informed the Chief of Police, who assured him that the thief would be quickly hunted down. Surely enough before a week had passed the Chief restored to the Prince the entire sum of money intact, but without the pocket-book, which, he said, the thief confessed having thrown away to avoid identification. This was very well, but a day or two later Gortschakoff, putting on the same overcoat, was surprised to find in a pocket overlooked before, the missing pocket-book containing untouched the 30,000 rubles, which he really had never lost at all. The idea of restoring the supposed stolen money to the Prince from the public funds in the hope of thus winning favour for zeal and efficiency speaks worlds for the police officer's ingenuity, but presents a curious phase of Russian official ethics.

Thousands Say so.

They will save hundreds of dollars in doctor's bills every year. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Taylor & McDonald.

POLITICIAL CRIMES.

We are told that "It is exasperating that Mr. Mowat does not furnish a peg to hang a political scandal on."

We find not only pegs to hang political scandals on, but grave political crimes in the fact that Mr. Mowat has appointed one thief to the Bench, another to an office of great trust and responsibility; and that, if his leading organ is to be believed, he, the Premier of Ontario and legal adviser of the crown in this Province, has been the leading party in a guilty collusion to stop legal proceedings for a grave offence, because they were aimed at one who he is informed (we believe erroneously) to be his political supporter. There are plenty of other "pegs" if required.

SHOWERING INSULTS.

The Examiner, angry at the extension of the franchise by Sir John Macdonald, and at his adoption, with the previously expressed sanction of Mr. Blake, of the Old Country system of Revising Officers, says:—

"These Revising Officers are to be appointed by the Government—the Governor-in-Council—and, to expect that subservient creatures, as in the case of the partizan returning officers, will not be selected, would be the very idiocy of hope."

These epithets are very complimentary to the returning officers who were selected in West and East Peterborough. The fact was that generally, as in their case, the Sheriffs and Registrars were appointed returning officers, as they were willing to act and were to be trusted to act fairly, even when their political sympathies were adverse.

Our scurrilous contemporary is equally complimentary to the Canadian judges, for they are to be the Revising Officers if they will accept the office. But some Reformers have a strange dread of our judges and our law courts.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

On Thursday, April 26th, Sir Leonard Tilley introduced the Factory Act. It provides under heavy penalties for the protection of employees against injury by machinery, fire, &c., and restricts the employment of women and children.

The Militia Bill was read a third time.

In Committee of Supply a number of items were passed, Sir John Macdonald taking occasion to refer to the large immigration expected.

On Friday, the Dominion Land Act was read a second time and made considerable progress in committee. The Manitoba members all accepted it as a good measure, and even the Opposition found only trifling details to criticise.

On Monday, Mr. Abbott moved a clause in the Bill enabling the Canada Pacific to lease the Credit Valley and Ontario & Quebec so as to prevent injurious discrimination, and it was carried, after which the bill was read a third time.

The adjourned debate on the motion to restrict Chinese immigration was resumed, and after some discussion the motion was lost on a division.

On Tuesday, several items were passed in Committee of Supply.

FREEHOLD LOAN AND SAVINGS COMPANY.
DIVIDEND NO. 47.

Notice is hereby given that a dividend of five per cent. on the capital stock of the company has been declared for the current half year, payable on and after Friday, the first day of June next, at the office of the company, Church street.

The transfer books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st May, inclusive.

Notice is also given that the General Annual Meeting of the company will be held at 2 o'clock p.m. on Tuesday, 5th of June, for the election of directors, receiving the annual report, etc.

By order of the Board.

S. C. WOOD.
Toronto, April 24th, 1883. Manager.

Observe the signature of the manager of this company,

that means Samuel Casey Wood, and it belongs to the gentleman who signs an advertisement bearing the same date which appears in the Mercury, asking tenders for coal; in this latter instance however, it is not as manager of the Freehold Loan Company, of Toronto, salary $4,000 (?), but as treasurer of the so-called "Reform" Province of Ontario, salary $3,200. Now Samuel Casey Wood is a very valuable man, and, perhaps, performing all the duties that have been forced upon him, he actually earns the whole $7,200.00 which would appear to be the salary he is drawing at present.

We have nothing to do with his private income, or what he derives from the Freehold Loan and Savings Company, nor does the AMOUNT he receives from that concern make any difference; but we have just cause for complaint that the gentleman who fills the office of Treasurer of this Province, or at any rate, whose name appears appended to the official documents, should at the same time be manager of a loan company, which should require all his time, and for which he is, doubtless, paid, while his time is supposed also to be given to the very responsible office he holds, nominally, if not in reality, as a Minister of the Crown.

While thus occupying this dual position it must be remembered that Mr. Wood has no seat in the House, and made no attempt to have himself returned, in fact refused to remain in the Mowat Ministry, and sent in his resignation. What reason can the Reform administration of Ontario give for retaining as purse-holder for the Province a gentleman who is fully employed elsewhere, and who represents no riding?

Mr. Wood HAS NO RIGHT to continue to act as Treasurer, and we are forced to the conclusion that Mr. Mowat is so overcome by the position he finds himself in after the recent elections that he has drifted into imbecility.—Guelph Herald.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

STABBING AFFAIR.

On Monday afternoon last, Richard Dwyer, of Douro, borrowed a horse from a neighbor called Kilcalley for the purpose of taking some potatoes, etc., to Lakefield. Dwyer came to Lakefield, began drinking, and did not return home. On Tuesday morning early, Kilcalley came to Lakefield in search of his horse, needing it badly to keep his plough going. In Lakefield the two men spent the greater part of the forenoon in the village visiting all the hotels in turn, drinking together, at sometimes good friends and at other times disputing about the horse not being returned. At about 11 o'clock they entered Mason's Hotel, and being pretty well in liquor they were refused any more by the bar tender, Mr. Mason and wife being away to Peterborough on business. The men at once began a dispute and were ordered out of the house. They went out in a short time and continued quarrelling outside. Kilcalley had a jack-knife in his hand cutting tobacco to fill his pipe. A scuffle ensued, in which Kilcalley struck Dwyer with the knife. The knife was a dull, long bladed one and must have been used with considerable force, as it evidently penetrated the right side of the chest through some clothing the whole length of the blade, slanting downward. Kilcalley left almost immediately for home, and Dwyer was taken to Dr. Armour's office and after an examination he was taken to Mason's Hotel, where he still lies not being able to be removed. Kilcalley has not yet been arrested.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

On Thursday evening last the last meeting of Court Lakefield, No. 63, C. O. F., took place in Union Hall, Lakefield, for the term ending with April, at which the following officers were elected for the coming term, viz:—

Bro. Jas. Horner	W. Chief Ranger.
Bro. R. C. Wench	W. Vice C. Ranger.
Bro. W. Macdonald	W. Chap.
Bro. Alex. Bell, M. D.	W. Financial Secretary.
Bro. David Arnott	W. Recording Secretary.
Bro. Wm. M. Graham	W. Treasurer.
Bro. John Baladen	W. Sen. Woodward.
Bro. Fred Waldron	W. Jun. Woodward.
Bro. Jas. Jackson	W. Sen. Beadle.
Bro. Henry F. Mellor	W. Jun. Beadle.

Bro. Robert Graham was appointed delegate to the High Court, which meets shortly at Gananoque. The principal officers were all re-elected unanimously.

STEAMER CRUISER.

The steamer Cruiser is being thoroughly overhauled and repainted preparatory to the season's work. It is expected that she will be ready to start early next week. Mr. Casement is determined to have any work offering attended to at once this season, and from his business capacity there can be no reasonable doubt but that he will do all that can be expected to make Stony Lake a favourite resort to tourists.

STREETS.

The Council visited nearly all the streets of the village on Monday, April 23rd, for the purpose of deciding upon the necessary improvements, and started a gang of men at once. The Council should be commended for starting the work so early this year, as it is pretty certain that men will be difficult to get later on, and on the other hand employment has been given to a number of men who would likely be out of work on account of waiting for the saw mill to start.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

The regular monthly meeting of the Lakefield Public School Board will be held in the Council room on Tuesday evening next, the 8th inst.

ORANGE MEETINGS.

On Monday evening next, the 7th inst., the Old Orange Lodge No. 122 will meet in the Orange Hall on Caroline Street, Lakefield.

The Young Canadian L. O. L., No. 1[illegible] will meet in the same place on the day after at 8 o'clock.

GLASS DOWN.

Last week some blasts were put off at Buckhorn on the T. V. C., which are said to have broken nearly all the glass in the place.

HASTINGS.

POISONING.—The Star says that some miscreant poisoned a horse and cow belonging to Mr. W. White, of Percy, on Tuesday night of last week, by mixing Paris green with their food.

CATTLE SHIPMENT.—Mr. James Aikens, of Port Hope, shiped seventy-eight head of fine young cattle from this station on Saturday. Mr. John Walsh, of Asphodel, furnished forty head of the drove.

LARGE EGG.—Several of our contemporaries having boasted of the lying powers of their local fowls, our birds are determined to uphold the honor of Hastings, and the result of this laudable effort on their part is the production of an egg measuring 6¼x7½ and weighs 3½ ounces, by a hen owned by Mrs. H. M. Fowlds. We have yet to hear from the turkeys, ducks and geese, all of which, we have not the least doubt, will give a good account of themselves.

OBITUARY.—Another one of Asphodel's old settlers, in the person of Mrs. Elizabeth Fife, passed away on Thursday last, at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Duncan Tucker, of this village, at the ripe age of 83 years. The deceased lady was born near Dollard, Fifeshire, Scotland, in 1800, and was married to the late Mr. James Fife in 1826. In the same year Mr. and Mrs. Fife came to Canada, where the husband worked at his trade of stone cutter on Montreal's famous church, Notre Dame. The following summer the family moved to Ottawa (then Bytown) where they remained two years, finally moving to Asphodel and settling on lot 12 in the 1st concession, where they carved out a home. Mr. Fife died in 1874, Mrs. Fife remaining on the homestead for two years after, since which time she has made a home with some of her numerous children. Notwithstanding her age the deceased enjoyed good health until stricken with paralysis a few days before her death.

THE PHOENIX PARK MURDERS.

The Statements of the Two Men Who Pleaded Guilty.

DUBLIN, May 2.—Before Caffery pleaded guilty he was informed by his solicitor that the Crown gave no hopes of the mitigation of the sentence of death, which would be passed upon him. When Delaney was called upon to plead he said:—"I'm guilty of being in the park at the time that Cavendish and Burke were killed. I did not commit the murder. I plead guilty." The judge explained that this really amounted to a plea of innocence. Delaney then formally pleaded guilty. He said: "I was brought into this all through foolishly not knowing what I was doing. I was taken from my work to go to the park. We had to obey the orders of the societies or take the consequences. When I got in the park I could not get away. I saw the murders committed, but took no part in them. I went to the park on Kavanagh's car. He speaks the truth, and so does Carr. The murders were committed by Joe Brady and Timothy Kelly, and by nobody else. I saved Judge Lawson's life at the risk of my own. I was put on to shoot him by Mullett and Brady, and the only way to escape the task was by calling the guard's attention." Judge O'Brien, in sentencing Delaney, said he had a duty to perform. He had at the previous trial of the prisoner for attempting to shoot Judge Lawson pitied him, because he showed some feeling for his wife and family. The prisoners would see to what misery they been brought by the wicked system of conspiracy. When Caffrey was in the dock his face wore a smile. The consequence of pleading guilty was again fully explained to him in open court, but he persisted in the plea. Being asked whether he had anything to say why the sentence should not be passed upon him, he replied in a loud, clear voice:—"All I have got to say, standing on the brink of the grave, is that I did not know what was going to happen until twenty minutes before the murders were committed. I was bound to go to the park under pain of death." The judge, in passing sentence, said they were no means of judging the truth of the prisoner's statement. He did not decide that it was necessarily wholly untrue.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

NAVIGATION.—Clear and Stoney Lakes are now navigable for the steamers to ply for the season, being entirely free from ice. We trust that the proprietor of the steamers Cruiser and Fairy will have better luck than last season, for what with saw-log drives and low water it was an unlucky one.

THE STEAMER CRUISER.—We congratulate Mr. W. H. Casement of Lakefield on becoming sole proprietor of the Cruiser, and hope Capt. Secret's successor will be as civil and obliging. No doubt Mr. Casement will pick out a good man. We are sorry to have to say adieu to Capt. Secret; his jolly countenance and obliging manners will be long remembered by his many friends around the Point and elsewhere. We cannot blame him for trying his best as others do, to further his own interests; so good-bye, old fellow, give us a shake of your fist, and may success attend you and your family in the future as it has done in the past.

THE WATER.—Within the last few days the water has gone down considerably, much to the satisfaction of the people here. It was almost a pity that it did not rise about a foot higher than it did, so as to have swept away the old ricketty block bridge belonging to the county.

THE HEN THIEVES.—Mr. McLean got nine fine laying hens stolen by the roosters and fuddlers, instead of two as stated in last week's issue.

COBOURG.

FELL FROM A SCAFFOLD.—A serious accident occurred here on Saturday morning, by which a young man nearly lost his life. Some carpenters were working on a scaffold on the Market Hotel when one of them named Connelly missed his footing and fell a distance of 20 feet, breaking some of his ribs and one of his arms. It is feared that he is hurt internally. Dr. Waters was soon in attendance, and the patient was removed to his home, where he now lies in a critical condition.

A Clever Plan to Escape.

Some persons fancy that the only use that can be made of bananas is to throw the peel on the sidewalks, but that is a mistake. Since Edward Holmes was sent to gaol in St. Louis a few weeks ago his fellow-prisoners have admired his wife's constancy and devotion, and envied him the fine bananas which she brought him almost daily, to gratify, as she often explained, his extraordinary longing for that fruit. One day the gaoler was moved to follow up what seemed an absurd suspicion, and opened one of the bananas which the wife had just brought. It contained a small file, and in the cells of several prisoners were found six saws and three files which the woman had ingeniously conveyed to her husband in the same manner. The discovery was made just in time to prevent a general gaol delivery.

A Reliable Witness.

Mr. Whyte, late proprietor of the Mansion Saloon, King street, Toronto, writes as follows about Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters: "I have used Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters for nearly four years, and I believe it to be the best medicine in the world. I would not be without it for anything. I have induced scores of people to try it, and when taken according to directions, I have never known it to fail. I call the Bitters, 'The Doctor.' It has certainly been my family doctor ever since I first used it, and will continue to be as long as it acts the same as hitherto. I strongly advise all my friends and the public generally who suffer from any affections of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver or Blood, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Headache, Dizziness, Costiveness, Impurities of the Blood, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc., to buy a bottle of 'The Doctor,' and I am certain that not one will regret having done so. I do not think there is any medicine in the whole world equal to Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters." [Signed] JAS. WHYTE.

Seward (Neb.) Reporter.

Mr. B. S. Crane, manager and treasurer of the Alvin Joslin Comedy Company, struck Cheyenne the other day upon business connected with the appearance of that splendid company in this city at an early day. A reporter called on Mr. Crane at his rooms at the Inter-Ocean, and spent a few pleasant minutes in conversation about the coming attraction. Mr. Crane assured the writer that the personnel of the company is all that could be desired, and that the public may look for even better performances this season than last. Noticing that the manager looked a little pale the writer remarked upon the fact, but received the reply that he was in good health.

"But," continued Mr. Crane, "I did have a pretty serious time of it last summer in New York."

"What was the trouble?"

"I had a very sharp attack of rheumatism. The disease attacked my left leg and left arm, and for a time I could neither walk upon the one or raise the other to my head. I suffered horribly. Did you ever have the rheumatism, sir?" addressing the reporter. "If ever you are stricken with it there is one thing which I can recommend as a pretty sure cure, and one which will probably give you quicker relief than anything else you can employ. I refer to the Great German Remedy, St. Jacob's Oil. I am aware of the prejudice entertained by many against advertised medicines. I felt thus about St. Jacob's Oil, and thought my aversion to it was too deeply rooted to be dissipated. But a man will sometimes catch at a hope as it flies. I purchased a bottle of it when I found that nothing I applied would give relief, and commenced applying it. It proved a most effectual remedy, and the use of three bottles cured me."

"And you are now quite a devotee of St. Jacob's Oil."

"That is, perhaps, drawing it too strongly. I certainly do believe it a fine specific for rheumatism, and as my belief is based upon personal experience I don't mind commending its use to others."

In the office of the hotel the reporter met Mr. George A. Dunlap, who is the popular and efficient representative in Cheyenne of the Chicago firm of Wood Bros., live stock commission merchants. Happening to mention the interview with the manager of the Alvin Joslin company, and what he said about St. Jacobs Oil, Mr. Dunlap replied that he was not surprised at the narration of the circumstances, for the Great German Remedy was a good medicine and he could also recommend its virtues.

"Are you struck on Oil, too, Mr. Dunlap?"

"Well, I don't exactly put it in that way, but I believe it a good remedy all the same. My experience with it is somewhat limited, but of sufficiently recent date to make me vividly remember what it has done for me. While superintending the loading of cattle this autumn, I fell from a car and seriously hurt my left knee. I believe a blood vessel was ruptured and the muscles severely strained. I could not walk for several days, and do not know that I would be capable of active locomotion now, were it not for the kindly offices of St. Jacobs Oil. Its powerful healing and stimulating properties put me right on my feet. It did, for a fact, and you can use the information if you so please."

"Almost everybody," remarked Mr. A. C. Stayart, representing Weber, Howland & Co., wholesale dealers in hats and caps at Denver, "uses St. Jacobs Oil where I came from. I once had a very sore foot and very naturally employed the Great German Remedy. It cured my foot in a very short time. I also can recommend it."

"Are there any other gentlemen present who would like to endorse this wonderful specific?" said the reporter. "It has assumed the importance of a public question, and I intend to write it up for the benefit of others who may need the offices of this medicine."

"Yes," replied Mr. Wm. H. Dunlap, representing the great coffee house of Jewett, Sherman & Co., Milwaukee, "put me down as another believer in St. Jacobs Oil. I had rheumatism and St. Jacobs Oil cured me. You can just bet on it every time."

"Gentlemen," remarked the reporter, "this is a remarkable coincidence. Two Mr. Dunlaps, each of whom never met the other, both endorsing St. Jacobs Oil, followed by another gentleman in the room. It is a regular experience meeting. It will not be paralleled soon in Cheyenne."

The reporter was subsequently informed by one of the prominent druggists in the city that Father Hayes had also used the Great German Remedy for rheumatism, and, having been cured, commended its employment to his people.

The above is a true bill, and may be relied upon.

One Constable Shoots Another.

At Elgin, Albert county, N. B., on Monday, Constable Dryden, armed with a search warrant and accompanied by two other men, repaired to Constable Steeves' residence to secure the latter's arrest, as well as the possession of a horse which the latter constable had seized for taxes from a Mr. Stewart a few days ago. Steeves had taken the animal, which, it appears, was not the right one, and placed it in his own barn. Steeves was in the barn and threatened to shoot Dryden if he entered. Nothing daunted, Dryden broke the lock, and just as he entered the barn Steeves raised a gun and fired. The contents, which was buckshot, penetrated Dryden's head, and in about twenty minutes afterwards he expired. Steeves then fled, but afterwards surrendered. Reports differ about the affair, but the above is the generally accepted statement.

"TWENTY-FOUR YEARS' EXPERIENCE," says an eminent physician, convinces me that the only way to cure nervous exhaustion and weakness of the sexual organs, is to repair the waste by giving brain and nerve food, and of all the remedies compounded, Mack's Magnetic Medicine is the best. See advertisement in another column.

NATURE, after all, is the great physician. She hides all the secrets of health within her broad generous bosom, and man needs but to go to her intelligently for his every need. The discovery of the great Cough Remedy, GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM, is an apt illustration of this. As a cure for Coughs, Colds, Loss of Voice and Hoarseness, it stands unrivalled, while its low price and readiness of access places it within the reach of all. Try it and be convinced. All chemists keep it in 25 and 50 cent bottles.

DOMESTIC AND USEFUL.

PRESSED VEAL.—Take three pounds of veal chopped fine, two pounds of fresh, lean, raw pork, also chopped fine, three eggs, a piece of butter the size of an egg; pepper and salt well; bake two hours. When cold slice it thin. It is like pressed meat, and is very nice.

POTATO CROQUETTES are nice for supper. Take two cupfuls of cold mashed potatoes, two eggs, salt and pepper to taste, and a half a cupful of finely rolled cracker crumbs. Mix well, roll with your hands on a kneading board in long cakes, and cover them with flour, drop the cakes in hot lard, and fry until they are brown.

SOFT GINGERBREAD WITH NUTS.—One full cup of butter, two cups white sugar, worked together; one cup of good molasses, one cup of sweet milk, five cups of sifted flour, lightly measured, with one tablespoonful of ginger and two of cinnamon, both powdered. When all is well-beaten together, add the kirnels from a pound of English walnuts and bake in a flat pan.

ROAST SWEETBREADS make a delicate and delicious dish for lunch and breakfast. Slice it and dip the pieces in beaten egg and in bread crumbs until they are entirely covered, then put in a saucepan a lump of butter. When it has melted lay the slices in, put a lump of butter on each slice, cover the saucepan tightly, and let them cook from half to three-quarters of an hour. Serve on toast.

CANDIED ORANGE is a very delicious dish, and one that can be easily made. Peel and quarter the oranges, make a syrup in the proportion of one pound of sugar to one pint of water, let it boil until it will harden in water, then take from the fire and dip the quarters of orange in the syrup; let them drain in a fine sieve placed over a platter, so that the syrup may not be wasted; let them drain thus till cold when the sugar will crystalize. Nice for dessert or lunch.

A Flying Leap.

A young medical student named Galbraith, who has lately become insane, left his home in Chatham for Toronto Asylum in charge of his father, by the G. T. R. The unfortunate young man remained passive until the train reached Oakville, and after it had left that station he made a sudden dash for liberty, and jumped from the train which was going at the rate of 35 miles an hour. When the train was stopped young Galbraith was found lying on the ground bleeding profusely, but on the journey into Toronto he seemed to revive rapidly, and was taken to the asylum from the Union Station.

The National Team.

MONTREAL, May 1.—A scene of great enthusiasm was witnessed at the railway depot here to-night at the departure of the National Lacrosse team, numbering fifteen members from Toronto and this city and the same number of Caughnawaga Indians, for a tour during which they will play matches in all the Chief cities of Great Britain and Ireland. They have taken an immense quantity of illustrated immigration literature, which they will distribute gratis throughout their travels. They expect to return late in August next. They are under the patronage of the Prince of Wales, and will likely exhibit the national game before the Queen, the same as on a previous visit. A physically finer team of Canadian bone, muscle, and youth could not be found anywhere than those who received such an enthusiastic send-off to-night.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, MAY 2, 1883.

The Nashville Students.

In a short time Mr. Hobbs will bring the Nashville Students, the celebrated jubilee and plantation singers, to Peterborough.

Railway Notes.

The Port Hope Guide now says that the announcement made by it that Mr. Atkinson was to be removed to Peterborough was premature.

The Cells.

Two tramps were accommodated with lodgings in the police cells last night. During the month of April fifty tramps lodged over night in the cells. They were nearly all men who were going to the railways for work.

More Honors.

At the recent examinations at the Toronto University college, we notice that Peterborough boys took leading positions. In mathematics W. E. Sanderson took first-class honors, first year mathematics F. Sanderson, J. D. Graham and J. A. Fife first-class honors. English, A. F. Chamberlain, French, A. F. Chamberlain, German, A. F. Chamberlain first-class honors in each. The latter also carried off the German prize.

Journalistic.

We have received eight numbers of the second volume of The Canadian Pacific Railway Register published at Winnipeg by R. B. Harstone. It has 36 large pages besides the cover, and is full of valuable information regarding the North West and its great railway, the latter press being aided by profuse illustrations. It is also largely patronized by the advertisers. Such a periodical is in itself a proof of the energy with which the settlement of the North West and the construction of its means of communication are being pushed forward.

Good Templary.

On Tuesday night a delegation composed of about twenty Good Templars of Peterborough went to Millbrook to assist in the re-organization of Ivy Lodge I. O. G. T., No. 231. This Lodge had been dormant for over three years, but was on that evening re-organized under circumstances that bespeak for it a prosperous future. The Rev. John Shaw occupied the Worthy Chief Templar's chair while ten of the former members of the lodge were re-united with it and ten new members were initiated. The Peterborough members were entertained at a tea before returning.

Our Prosperity.

Peterborough is the most steadily growing town in Canada. If she makes no extraordinary spurts she never goes back. With a large circle of splendid country, magnificent water power, and railway facilities that look as if this place will in the near future be the very hub of railway radiation, she seems destined ere long to become one of the cities of Canada. During the last year the population, according to the assessors return has increased 830, and if the plans now maturing for development of our water power be perfected the population will double in the next five years. We have entered upon a new era in our history and we believe few of us realise what is in store for our good town. So let it be.

MIND READING.

Mr. Stuart Cumberland's Exhibition in the Opera House—A Pleased Audience.

The attendance in the Opera House on Wednesday evening, when Mr. Stuart Cumberland gave an exhibition of thought reading and so-called spiritualistic tricks, was not very large, but the audience was well pleased with the performance.

The following committee were chosen by the audience to represent them on the platform:—The Hon. R. Hamilton, Judge Dennistoun, Messrs. Geo. A. Cox, James Campbell, James Kendry, James Stratton and A. Haultain. The committee appointed Mr. Cox chairman.

The first performance began by Mr. Cox, at Mr. Cumberland's request, writing three names of departed friends on three pieces of paper, and folding the papers all in the same shape. Mr. Cumberland held one of the pieces of paper to his forehead, at the same time holding Mr. Cox's hand, and then wrote the name "L. Ross," which was the name which Mr. Cox had written. The second name "E. W. Cox," he also told correctly in much the same manner, but he was puzzled with the third name. He got as far as "Mr. H," but could get no further, and the paper was opened and passed to the committee. Five in the committee were unable to decypher it, owing to the haste in which it had been written, but Mr. Stratton read the name "Mr. Hopkins."

He then exposed spirit rapping, showing how the raps were caused by a peculiar and uncommon displacement of the joints of the foot. He also gave a practical demonstration showing that it was impossible to accurately locate a sound. He then thoroughly exposed the "dematerialization" scheme of the spiritualists, amid loud applause.

He next proceeded to give demonstrations in thought reading. He asked Judge Dennistoun to think of some person in the audience, and his request having been complied with, he was blindfolded and taking the Judge by the hand, led him rapidly down the hall to where Mr. C. A. Weller was sitting, who was the gentleman the Judge had in his mind.

He then asked Mr. Hamilton to think of some object on the platform, and after he had done so he led him to a pitcher and placed his hand on it, which was the object thought of. Mr. Cumberland gave Mr. Hamilton a pin and told him to hide it in the hall, and he gave Judge Dennistoun a miniature donkey and told him to touch three spots on the platform with it, and then conceal it it the room. Mr Cumberland then retired from the stage with the other members of the Committee, until this had been done. He, re-entered the hall blindfolded, and taking Judge Dennistoun by the hand led him to the three spots, and then proceeded down the hall to search for the "Jerusalem pony." A long and unsuccessful search followed, and Mr. Cumberland announced that he had "lost the connection," and requested any gentleman in the audience who knew where the article was hidden to come forward. Mr. W. Cluxton did so, and Mr. Cumberland taking his hand rushed to a seat, but it was the wrong one. Mr. Cluxton then said he had made the mistake, as he had thought of the wrong place and Mr. Cumberland had taken him to the very spot he thought of. Mr. Cluxton then centred his mind on the right spot and Mr. Cumberland led him to it. Mr. Cumberland then took Mr. Hamilton's hand and without hesitation led him about half way down the hall directly to the spot where the pin had been placed.

Mr. Hamilton, at Mr. Cumberland's request, took a coin out of his own pocket, looked at the date on it, and replaced it in his pocket. Mr. Cumberland then took hold of his hand and wrote down the date of the coin correctly.

The cabinet manifestations followed. The cabinet was in the centre of the stage, in full view of the audience. Mr. Cumberland was bound hand and feet. His hands were tied behind his back. He was seated within his cabinet and the ends of the strings about his legs nailed to the floor. His head was held back by a cord around his throat. While thus fastened the screen was drawn across, and at once there issued the sound of a tin whistle, tambourine, &c., and a piece of board was nailed to a chair, the raps of the hammer being heard all over the hall, but when the screen was again drawn, Mr. Cumberland was still tied as he had been made fast by the Committee. Mr. Hamilton then entered the Cabinet, and came out in a few minutes decorated with toys, &c., but Mr. Cumberland was still tied fast. Mr. Hamilton, on looking to see what the time was, discovered that his gold watch was gone and had been replaced by another. The missing watch was found in Judge Dennistoun's pocket, but the Judge could no more tell how it came there than Mr. Hamilton could tell how it was taken from his pocket.

This concluded the performance for the evening. Mr. Cumberland said that he would explain to-night the cabinet performance, as well as give some more wonderful manifestations, and there will doubtless be a large attendance.

The Weather.

To-day is cold, cloudy and damp. The weather probabilies, for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a.m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Fresh to strong north-easterly to south-easterly winds; cloudy weather, with local rains; followed by northerly winds and clearing, slightly cooler weather.

A Horse Killed.

On Wednesday afternoon, while Mr. John Metcalfe was drawing stumps with his team a short distance west of the town, the horses were injured by a stump rolling over and striking them on the backs. The horses were driven into the town, a messenger meanwhile having gone for Mr. Pacquin, veterinary surgeon. Inside the town, about a mile from the place where the accident occurred, one of the horses fell and was unable to proceed further. Mr. Pacquin was out in the country when first sent for, but when he arrived he told Mr. Metcalfe that the animal which had fallen was fatally injured, as the spinal cord was injured and a blood vessel had burst internally, and the horse was killed. The other horse was also severely injured, but the surgeon believes it will recover, although it will be some weeks before it will be able to do any work. The horses were valuable animals, Mr. Metcalfe having paid a high price for the one that died a few weeks ago.

Obituary.

We regret to learn of the death of Mr. John Dixon, M. A., which occurred on Wednesday morning at 1 o'clock, at Ailsa Craig, in Middlesex county, Ont. Mr. Dixon was a graduate of Toronto University, and occupied a position as a teacher in Dundas. On the 22nd of March, 1877, he entered upon the duties of mathematical teacher in the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, having been engaged by the Board of Education to fill the position vacated by the resignation of Mr. Blackadar. This position he occupied until April, 1881, when, upon the resignation of Mr. J. Frith Jeffers, he was appointed Principal of the Institute. Mr. Dixon had been in poor health for some time, as he was suffering from consumption, and in February last he found that he was unable to fulfil his duties, and retired for a time, hoping that he would be able to again resume his duties, but this hope was not realised. Mr. Dixon was a good mathematician and a very efficient teacher, and his services were highly prized by the Board. Personally he was unassuming and popular. He was married during his residence here to Miss Orr, of Hastings.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcule which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produces a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. [illegible], and every year it is used more and more favourably to its widely increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly affected with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION. BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT. SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

A MINE HORROR.

Six Persons Killed and Three Fatally Injured in Cape Breton.

HALIFAX, N. S., May 3.—A telegram from New Glasgow says:—while the men were coming up from their work this morning in the Vale mine, the rope attached to the rake broke, and the boxes ran down the slope, killing six individuals, viz., J. R. Gillis, Colin Campbell, A. Fraser, Wallace McGillivray, J. McKebborn (a boy), Wm. Hannahan (boy), and injuring A. McLed, John Nicholsed, (boy), R. Taylor, who are not expected to recover, and also A. Irving (boy) and Malcolm Beaton. These two will likely recover.

THE DISPUTED TERRITORY.

The Ontario Government Seizing a Million's Worth of Timber.

The Prince Arthur's Landing herald of April 25 says that during the past winter the Section B company got out over a million dollars' worth of lumber in the disputed territory, for railway building purposes. They took out over 1,750,000 ties alone. But the company got no license from or paid the Ontario Government any money, and the latter have instructed their inspector of lumber at the landing, Wm. Margach, to seize all the ties and lumber in question. Mr. Margach took the train as far as Savanne, from which place he will take to the woods and seize everything that has been cut, posting up notices that anyone touching the materials will be arrested and dealt with as a person would be for stealing. His instructions are very emphatic, and he says that he intends carrying them out to the letter.—Toronto World.

Burned at Sea.

VICTORIA, B. C., May 3.—A terrible steamboat calamity occurred on Sunday at Seymour Narrows, near Bute Inlet. The steamer Grappler, proceeding north with one hundred passengers and a full freight, took fire, burned, and sunk. It is supposed that there were at least fifty lives lost, including Captain Jaggers and a pilot named Franklyn. Only fifteen or twenty are known to have been saved so far. It is feared that a number of young Canadians from the Bay of Chaleur, who came by the last steamer, and accepted employment at the Coast Canneries, have perished. The Grappler was formerly an imperial gunboat, but was sold to the merchant service. Steamers have gone to the scene.

Hatching Chickens by Steam.

Mr. J. Chambers, gardner at the Exhibition grounds, has in his coops a large number of chickens which have just been hatched out by the patent incubator. Out of 60 eggs in one lot, 52 chickens were hatched. They are mainly of the Hamburg and Cochin China varieties. The chickens are all lively and healthy looking, and are thriving apparently all unmindful of the absence of the maternal attention usually bestowed on such youngsters. A large number of eggs are at present in course of incubation.—Mail.

Horse vs. Bicycle.

In the race between horses and bicyclists in Boston, the score on Tuesday night stood: Horses, 303 miles; bicycles, 312. At the fourth hour to-day Leroy fell and dislocated his shoulder. Francis Ware took his place.

Press Despatches to the Review.

"GOD SAVE IRELAND."

DUBLIN, May 4.—While Hanlon was receiving sentence he muttered "I won't be the last. God save Ireland from such informers."

ARRESTED FAR FROM HOME.

LIMA, April 3.—Frederick Kerr, an absconded clerk of Preston, Keane, & Co., bankers, Chicago, and a defaulter of $150,000, has been arrested here under the extradition treaty.

DYNAMITERS BETRAYED.

DUBLIN, May 4.—Freeman's Journal says that the dynamite party in America was betrayed to the British consul at New York. The name of every conspirator who came to England and of the ship on which he sailed were cabled directly after the vessel left New York.

NUMBER ONE IN LONDON.

DUBLIN, May 4.—It is confidentially stated that Peter Tynan is now in London and communicating with the police, with a view to turning informer. Kingston, Henley, and Gibney, charged with conspiracy to murder Poole, were arraigned again to-day. Lawrie, an informer, gave testimony concerning the extreme vigilance of the murder circle to which the prisoners belonged.

TO RENDER AID.

LONDON, May 4.—The members of the Irish Nationalist party in London have resolved to organize a fund for the relief of the families of persons who fled the country in consequence of their connection with the murder trials in Ireland and generally under the crimes act. It is computed that six hundred families were rendered destitute by the flight or incarceration of bread winners. An address will be issued to the Irish Nationalist in America and British Colonies appealing for contributions. Delegates be sent there to solicit speedy assistance.

THE PHŒNIX PARK MURDERS.

DUBLIN, May 4.—Lawrence Hanlon this a.m. was convicted of an attempt to murder juror Field, and sentenced to penal servitude for life. Fitzharris, indicted as an accessory to murder Cavendish and Burke after the fact, was arraigned this morning and pleaded "not guilty." Hawkins, who it was stated would be arraigned to-day with Kingston and others on a charge of conspiracy to murder Poole, has been discharged.

AMERICAN.

HE GOT REVENGE.

EAGLE, May 4.—One Whitley, a discharged employee of the Utah Northern railway yesterday fatally shot a station agent Green. Whitley was arrested, and it is thought he will be lynched. The shooting was due to a complaint of Green upon which Whitley was discharged.

A POLICEMAN MURDERED.

NEW YORK, May 4.—Policeman Frank Mallon, on Catharine street, early this morning saw Michael Sullivan loitering in a doorway of a factory. The officer asked Sullivan if he lived there? Sullivan was insolent, and Mallon pushed him. Sullivan then shot Mallon above the eye. The policeman fell and the assassin bending over him, fired two more shots, both of which took effect in the head. Anyone of the shots was enough to cause death. Two detectives on hearing the shots hastened to the scene. They heard Sullivan say as he pulled the trigger the third time "I'll give you another." The detectives grappled with Sullivan, and a fierce struggle ensued. Sullivan fired two shots at the detectives, but was finally disarmed and taken to the station house. The bullets shattered Mallon's skull, and tore away a portion of it. Sullivan was injured by the detectives clubs. The sergeant in charge was unable to account for the attack by Sullivan on the officer and thinks it strange that the simple ordering of a man to move on should lead to such a result. Sullivan was not connected with the factory, and had no business there at that hour. Accounts says he is a gas fitter and has a wife in Brooklyn. Mallon was unmarried. Brother patrolmen speak in the highest terms of his courage and excellent judgment in everything pertaining to his duties.

A WATERY GRAVE.

LOCKPORT, May 4.—Edward Redhead, aged 14, fell into the river here and was drowned.

POLK RE-ARRESTED.

A MEAN THIEF.

NEW YORK, May 4.—Clark, a shipping officer of the Mexican railway, disappeared on April 24th. It is said he stole $1,400 from the company and took $5,200 of the funds of All Souls Church, of which he was practically treasurer, and borrowed money from all his friends. It is suspected he was accompanied by an actress.

A MOTHER'S SORROW.

SCRANTON, Pa., May 4.—The woman who nearly suffocated with McGrath has been identified by Mrs. Addison Bell, as her daughter, Ida.

NUMBER ONE.

NEW YORK, May 4.—It is stated that a man, "Number One," left this city on Wednesday for San Francisco by way of Philadelphia. It is said Tynan was at the Philadelphia convention under an assumed name, and was known there to several friends of the Irish party as Geo. Shaw.

MANUFACTORIES CLOSED.

They fought without intermission until Carter said enough. Carter's father said "Fight until you die," but the boy could not last any longer. Dunn's body was covered with blood, Carter having bit him in several places.

TRUE BILLS.

DUBLIN, May 3.—The grand jury have returned true bills against Tynan, "No. 1," John Walsh, and P. J. Sheridan, for murder, and against Fitzharris as an accessory after the fact. It is understood the Government will demand the extradition of Walsh, Sheridan, and Tynan from America. The grand jury have also found true bills against Lawrence Hanlon, James and Joseph Mullett, and Daniel Delaney on a charge of attempting to murder the juror Field. They found true bills for conspiracy to murder against the two Mulletts, Hanlon, Edward McCaffrey, Edward O'Brien, George Smith, Peter Doyle, Thomas Doyle, William Moroney, and Daniel Delaney. The bill against Thos. Martin, charged with the same offence, was rejected.

CONSPIRACY TRIALS.

DUBLIN, May 3.—James Mullet was arraigned this morning on a charge of conspiracy to murder. He pleaded guilty. William Moroney also pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiracy to murder. Several others charged with the same offence are expected to plead guilty. Hanlon was next arraigned on a charge of attempting to murder Field. He pleaded not guilty, after which his trial began.

NOT DYNAMITE THIS TIME.

LONDON, May 3.—Priestgate Street, one of the principal thoroughfares of Peterborough, was partially blown up last night. Great alarm was caused, and it was thought to be the work of dynamite fiends, but it is now believed to be due to the ignition of gas in a sewer. The houses on the street were much damaged.

THE FALSE PROPHET DEFEATED.

CAIRO, May 3.—A telegram from Col. Hicks reports that on the 29th ult. he had an engagement with 5,000 rebels, lasting half an hour. The rebels were defeated with 500 killed, including the lieutenant-general of the False Prophet, and many wounded. The Egyptian loss was slight. Hicks praises the gallantry of the Egyptian troops. Col. Hicks' victory has cleared the province of Zennar of rebels.

ANOTHER CONSPIRACY.

DUBLIN, May 3.—Thirteen prisoners, who were confined in Kilmainham gaol, charged with being connected with the Cavendish-Burke tragedy, and who have never been brought to trial, will be indicted for another crime. Joseph Hanlon, who has turned informer, produces evidence to connect them with conspiracies to murder Earl Cowper, Mr. Forster, Chief Secretary for Ireland, and other prominent officials, whose lives they jeopardized, but did not succeed in taking. One Hawkins will be arraigned to-morrow with Kingston and others on a charge of conspiracy to murder Poole, a Fenian centre, who turned informer.

FREEMASON'S HALL BURNED.

LONDON, May 3.—Freemason's Hall, Queen Street, has been burned. All the Masonic insignia, furniture, and paintings were destroyed, including portraits of all the past Grand Masters. The loss is mostly irreparable.

THE AFFIRMATION BILL DEFEATED.

LONDON, May 3.—In the House of Commons to-night the Affirmation Bill was refused a second reading by 292 to 289. Owing to the rejection of the Affirmation Bill, Bradlaugh intends to administer the oath to himself. The News says of the rejection of the bill that the forces of bigotry and intolerance have triumphed.

EXPLOSIVES FACTORY.

CRONSTADT, May 4.—A manufactory of explosives was discovered here. Several naval officers, said to be concerned in the manufacture, explosive, were arrested.

A PATENT AND PATIENT MOTHER.

A physician of superior abilities in a neighboring state had a daughter of sweet seventeen, whose health was not so good as was desired, and not wishing to give her medicine, he made arrangements for having her travel leisurely through New England for several months, as the most likely means of her restoration. At the same time her mother obtained a supply of various patent medicines, and placed them in the travelling trunk, with private instructions to take them while travelling. The daughter, to accommodate herself and her father, took the journey, and in obedience to the mother, took the physic, and as a matter of course, is still an invalid. The father remains in ignorance of the cause of the failure of beneficial results from his prescription.

A LESSON.—The child who privately does a thing for one parent, known to be contrary to the wishes of the other, and the parent who encourages it, are equally guilty of rebellion against domestic rule, which will not cease to bear the pernicious fruits of deception and discord, to the latest hour of their lives.—Journal of Health.

Iron Columns v. Oak Pillars.

The following is from the City Press, London, England:—"Perhaps when a few more tremendous blazes have destroyed thousands of pounds worth of property and the buildings in which the goods have been stored, builders and architects will begin to ask themselves if standing iron columns and iron girders are of any use in withstanding the ravages of fire. It is an undoubted fact, receiving confirmation daily, that iron is of little use when attacked by fire. It gets red hot and expands; cold water is thrown upon it; a sudden contraction takes place, and away goes the building. A sad example of this kind of destructive effect may now be seen in Rose Street, and Newgate street. Depend upon it good solid oak pillars and strong solid wooden floors are a better protection from fire than flimsy iron."

The following verses are said to have been written by Abram Lincoln, President of the United States:—

Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud!
Like a swift-fleeting meteor, a fast flying cloud,
A flash of the lightning, a break of the wave,
He passeth from life to his rest in the grave.

The leaves of the oak and the willow shall fade,
Be scattered around and together be laid;
And the young and the old, and the low and the high,
Shall moulder to dust and together shall lie.

A FINE HIT.—When the proprietors of Burdock Blood Bitters put this renowned medicine on the market, they hit it exactly. They hit dyspepsia, indigestion, and liver and kidney complaints a hard blow, from which they will never recover.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.—You can be weak, nervous, debilitated, and despondent, disqualified for work of head or hand, or you can enjoy a fair share of health and peace of mind. Burdock Blood Bitters will alleviate your misery and do you a world of good if you will persevere in their use for a few weeks.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, MAY 4, 1883.

It now appears, from the confession of the culprit, that the disgraceful paragraph which the Globe quoted and attributed erroneously to the Review was really the fabrication of the Examiner. It is fitting source for a foul imputation, the object of which was to provoke dissension of Province against Province, race against race and creed against creed.

A fortnight ago we were told by our slanderous contemporary that thanks to the slovenliness induced by the pampering of protection the farmer in the North West greatly prefers the American machine to the Canadian. And now we are told that this was not speaking in a detrimental manner. Our mechanics and manufacturers will probably think it "detrimental" to be told that they are dishonest enough to turn out slovenly work because protected.

THE FORGERS STILL AT IT.

Our local forger comes to the support of the other members of the criminal gang in Hamilton and Ottawa, and insists upon using the stolen and forged correspondence published by the Hamilton Tribune, as a means of assailing Sir John Macdonald and Sir Charles Tupper. It says that the Review does not condemn Sir John Macdonald's insulting words, and we do not do so for the very simple reason that we know that Sir John Macdonald never spoke the words ascribed to him, and that Sir Charles Tupper's supposed letter, attributing the expression to him, was forged by one of the gang.

AN IMPUDENT CHARGE.

The Reformers are now attacking Sir John Macdonald's administration for having printing to the amount of $40,000 done by others than the contractors, being largely local work obtained in the locality where it was required. The astounding impudence of such an assault from such a quarter may be judged from the fact that the contractors are now claiming $800,000 for loss of profits in consequence of the giving of work to their political friends by the late Reform Administration. It is well known that they subsidized the Speaker in this manner so that he even forfeited his seat.

COERCING A WHOLE TRADE.

The assertion is ventured that enquiries have not been made as to the votes of any class. It is well known that enquiries have been made as to the votes of the liquor license holders throughout the Province, and that the statistics obtained have been embodied by Mr. Hardy in the campaign pamphlet which he is pleased to term his official return. This investigation was made by the political officials, who are paid with money taken from the municipalities to enforce the laws restricting the sale of intoxicating liquors, but who neglecting this duty, as is admitted in an official circular, have devoted their time to rendering this, among other partisan services, to their masters, Mr. Mowat and his colleagues. It is also well understood that this information was required to render more efficacious the pressure put upon the trade to give political support to those tyrants under penalty of being ruined.

Then and Now.

A copy of the London Times of October 3, 1798, consists of four pages, and is twenty-three inches by 17 in size. Its news items afford some curious contrasts to the present age. One of them states as a great achievement the fact that Mrs. Siddons performed at Brighton, Bath, and London within the incredible short space of ninety-six hours. To-day she might play in the three places within the space of sixteen hours. In the same paper Nelson's victory of the Nile is announced, which had taken place two month's before. To-day no battle could take place within the limits of the civilized world which would not be reported in the papers of the next morning.

Corkhill on Cranks.

Corkhill, the United States attorney, District of Columbia, read a paper entitled "Insanity as a defence for crime" before the Medico-legal society lately. He said with a class of persons known as cranks the judgment and execution of the law should be swift, sure, and certain, for the escape of one of them encourages the entire class to go on committing crimes, for they liked notoriety and liked [illegible]. They well know they commit a crime and deserve punishment. Corkhill's assertion that these were "cranks" in the society was unfavorably criticised.

CANALS AND RAILWAYS.

The avowed policy of the present Government in Canada for Canadians in matters of trade, and the keystone of their railway policy has been to retain Canadian traffic in Canadian channels. To maintain this latter policy Sir John Macdonald's Government are in duty bound to take some prompt steps in this canal question. The vote of the State of New York last fall opened the way to free navigation through the United States to the Atlantic seaboard, and that this advantage is fully appreciated by the legislature at Albany is evident from the legislative interference in the transfer charges at the elevators at Buffalo. In short the people of New York, or rather their representatives, have taken this key note from the railway policy of Sir John's Government, and they are wiping out every obstacle in the way of cheap transportation through the United States. Americans have not yet given up hope of holding a large proportion of the carrying trade of Canada, and they are determined if cheap carrying will tend toward this end they will still stand to supply the same.

The legislature of New York having taken a hint from the present Dominion Government and acted promptly thereon, it would not be out of place for the Dominion Government to return the compliment, and take a hint from the Albany Legislature. A system of excluding American Railways from sharing in the trade of Canada covers only one point in the Government railway policy, and must leave that policy very incomplete, unless by waterways as well as railways freights can be carried as cheaply to the seaboard through Canada as through the United States. While the tolls on the canals exist the advantage must be against Canada, and vessel owners of the Dominion be compelled to carry a load while trying to compete with Americans.

There is much to interest the people of the North-West in this question of free canals. The present season will open an all Canadian route by lake and rail from Manitoba to the Atlantic. At the shores of Lake Superior the products of these prairies will be open to competition in freights to the Atlantic ports, and with free canals at their disposal, Americans would have the decided advantage in making freights. Here the Government policy of excluding American competition could accomplish nothing, and Canadian vessel owners would have to enter into competition with odds against them. In this instance the Government can directly benefit the North-West and carry out their avowed policy at the same time.—Winnipeg Commercial.

Johnson and Carlyle.

A very striking parallel might be drawn between Samuel Johnson and Thomas Carlyle. Both alike exhibited many boorish traits of character, were careless of the feelings of their associates, and had the habit of roughly and rudely putting down those who ventured to differ with them in opinion. Both were of gloomy temperament and had known poverty. Both became very eccentric, were acknowledged kings in literature, and were as famous for their conversational powers as for what they had penned. Both reached a ripe old age. Johnson took the wrong side with regard to the American revolution, Carlyle with regard to the American civil war. Both were moral teachers. Each originated a peculiar prose style. Both were good lovers and good haters. And to complete this long list of resemblances, each was childless and survived his wife, whose memory he cherished to his death, and to whom he attributed excellences which provoke a smile on the faces of less partial or more perspicuous judges.

Sault Ste. Marie.

A scheme is incubating to convert the Sault Ste. Marie, between Lakes Superior and Huron, into an immense water-power, by constructing a flume from the head of the canal to a point below the village, thus securing a fall of 18 feet—enough to drive a multitude of mills. A bill has been introduced into the Michigan legislature to provide for the incorporation of a company to improve and control this water-power. It is proposed to build saw-mills, flour mills, and other manufactories at that point. Since the prospect is that the Northern Pacific will form a connection with the Canadian system of railroads at the Sault, why is not the scheme a good one? It might become an important manufacturing point of lumber, iron and flour, with shipping facilities by rail and water equal to the best.—Northwestern Lumberman.

State of Havana.

Highway robberies and murders, the perpetrators of which are usually negroes, are again of daily occurrence at Havana. The entire rabble of the city are said to be armed with knives and revolvers, yet no step has been taken to disarm them. The murderous society, the Nanigos, formerly composed wholly of negroes, is now recruited from the criminal classes of whites. The police recently surprised a meeting of twenty whites when the party fled, leaving an altar and a coffin with all the machinery used in swearing in Nanigos.

Whiskey and Strychnine.

Cornwall, May 2.—Two Indians named White and Laran were poisoned on Monday by liquor that had been mixed with strychnine. A white citizen by the name of Sawyer, who had business at Hogansburg, a village on the American shore of the St. Lawrence, was entrusted by the Indians to procure them some liquor. After purchasing the liquor he bought some strychnine, which he mixed with the liquor and gave to the Indians. White partook freely of the stuff and died shortly afterwards. Laran is in a critical condition.

A New Manure.

The Chinese in California catch large numbers of shrimps in small-meshed nets. These shrimps they dry by spreading them out on mats over a slow fire. When thoroughly dried they are thrashed until the meats are separated from the shells, and packed separately. The meats are used as food by the Chinese in all parts of the world. The shells are a very energetic fertilizer, superior to guano, and are packed in bundles of about 100 pounds weight for exportation to China.

The Princess as a Composer.

Her Royal Highness the Princess Louise, who is well known as an accomplished musician, composed a very pretty movement to polka time during her recent stay in Bermuda. Bandmaster Carter is preparing the production, which is entitled the "Calabash Polka," for the Foot Guards orchestra, and that popular body of musicians will play it for the first time at the State ball at the Government House shortly.

A "Switcheress."

Annie Georgton, 15, began several years ago to help her father, a switch tender on the Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul railroad, and for some time has had charge, at $40 a month, of seven important switches. She and her father live a Box and Cox life, she working from 6 a. m. till 6 p. m., when he relieves her. She is believed to be the sole railroad switcheress in the country.

An Unusual Circumstance.

A Buffalo despatch says that the Canadian Pacific Railway, through an employment agency in that city, are seeking the services of one thousand laborers, an unusual circumstance for a Canadian corporation to come to the United States for employees, and the matter is being freely commented on.

FROM ALL OVER.

The testimonial being raised in Ireland to Mr. Parnell has reached £5,000.

The New York chamber of commerce annual report predicts a year of quiet prosperity throughout the country.

Herman Kurzman, a merchant of Houston street, New York, was arrested for spiriting away $70,000 worth of goods.

Don't Pull It.—Use Newton's one minute toothache cure. Relief at once; of all dealers, 15cts.

W. B. Searigat has been mayor of Vincennes, Ind., for six years. On Wednesday an ungrateful community failed to re-elect him, and he shot himself fatally.

Says the Boston Evening Star: "It is creditable to our next door neighbor, Canada, that her credit stands higher in the English money market than that of any other British colony."

Catarrh is the seed of Consumption, and unless taken in time is a very dangerous disease. Hall's Catarrh Cure never fails to cure. Price 75 cents. For sale by John McKee, druggist.

James Wright, storekeeper for many years on the Grand Trunk at Stratford, shot himself through the head. Over-work brought on despondency. He leaves a wife and a large family.

One of our best citizens would say to the public that he has tried Hall's Catarrh Cure, and that it is all that is claimed for it. Price 75 cents per bottle. For sale by John McKee, druggist.

The Empress Eugenie has renounced her claims to the chateau presented by Marseilles to the Emperor Napoleon. The municipality will pay the costs of the trial.

First Rate Evidence.—"Often unable to attend business, being subject to serious disorder of the kidneys. After a long siege of sickness, tried Burdock Blood Bitters and was relieved by half a bottle," Mr. B. Turner, of Rochester, N.Y., takes the pains to write.

The Prince of Wales receiving an address at Oxford on the opening of the Indian institute, said manifestations of loyalty were more acceptable when the entire civilized world was shocked at a series of detestable and cowardly outrages.

"Twenty-four Years' Experience," says an eminent physician, convinces me that the only way to cure nervous exhaustion and weakness of the sexual organs, is to repair the waste by giving brain and nerve food, and of all the remedies compounded, Mack's Magnetic Medicine is the best. See advertisement in another column.

The French academy having been invited by the Marquis of Lorne to send one of its members to represent it at the inauguration of the Canadian academy, it has just been settled that M. Xavier Marmier shall undertake the duty on behalf of the immortals.

Nature, after all, is the great physician. She hides all the secrets of health within her broad generous bosom, and man needs but to go to her intelligently for his every need. The discovery of the great Cough Remedy, Gray's Syrup of Red Spruce Gum, is an apt illustration of this. As a cure for Coughs, Colds, Loss of Voice and Hoarseness, it stands unrivalled, while its low price and readiness of access places it within the reach of all. Try it and be convinced. All chemists keep it in 25 and 50 cent bottles.

DOMESTIC AND USEFUL.

Apple Custard.—A nice apple custard is made of one pint of apple sauce, one pint of sweet milk, and three eggs. Flavour and sweeten to taste. To be baked with an under crust.

Hashed Ham.—Chop cold-boiled or fried ham fine as for hash. To every cupful of the ham add two eggs, one teaspoon of flour, salt and pepper to taste. Fry in hot lard, as fritters, or upon a griddle.

Clear Icing for Cake.—Put one cupful of pulverized sugar into a bowl with tablespoonful of lemon juice and the whites of two eggs. Just mix together smoothe, and pour over the cake while it is warm enough to dry the icing or set it in the oven to dry.

Hard Molasses Cookies.—One cup of sugar, one of butter, and one of mollasses; one teaspoon of soda and one of ginger. Boil all together, and while boiling stir in enough flour to thicken. Roll thin and bake quickly.

Rice Muffins.—Two cups of cold boiled rice, one pint of flour, one teaspoonful salt, one tablespoon sugar, two teaspoons of baking powder, one half pint of flour, and three eggs. Mix into a smooth and rather firm batter.

Soft Molasses Cookies.—One pint buttermilk, one pint molasses, one half-cup butter, and one half cup lard mixed, two teaspoons soda, one of ginger, and one of cloves. Mix as soft as possible, roll one quarter of an inch thick and bake in a quick oven.

Oatmeal Muffins.—One cup oatmeal, one and a half pints flour, one teaspoon of salt, two of baking powder, one pint of milk, one tablespoonful of lard, two eggs. Mix smoothly into a batter rather thinner than for cup cakes. Fill the muffin rings two-thirds full, and bake in a hot oven.

Cookies Without Eggs.—Take two cups of sugar, one cup of butter, one cup of sweet milk, one teaspoonful of soda or baking powder, and flour enough to make a soft dough. Roll thin and bake in a quick oven. Hot water can be used in place of the milk with very good results.

Batter Pudding.—One and one-half cups of flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one half teaspoonful salt, one tablespoon butter, two eggs, one pint of milk. Steam one hour and serve with sauce. By adding a cupful of raisins or any other desirable fruit, either fresh or dried, to the above pudding, makes a most delicious dish.

Cold Slaw.—Beat the yolks of four eggs to a very light cream; then stir gradually into them five tablespoonfuls of cider vinegar. Add two or three tablespoonfuls of sugar, and stir the mixture over the fire until it begins to thicken like boiled custard; then remove and add a teaspoonful of butter, and nearly a teaspoonful of anchovy mustard. Set the sauce on ice to become cold, and pour it over the sliced cabbage just before serving. Celery is often mixed with the cabbage for this salad.

Baby Powder.—In place of any known preparation sold under the name of 'baby powder' use some fine starch. Put a few lumps in a cup and pour over it enough cold water to dissolve it. After you are sure it is dissolved let it stand until the starch has all settled and the water is clear; then turn the water off. Let the starch dry, and then powder it and put it in a soft muslin bag through which it will sift out. This is very healing, and answers admirably any purpose the powder is supposed to do.

The reason why the surgeons of the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, are making so many wonderful cures of catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and consumption are: They have none but skilled and qualified medical men connected with the Institute. They adhere strictly to their specialty and they use the spirometer invented by Mr. Souvielle, ex-aide surgeon of the French army, an instrument which conveys the medicines in the form of cold inhalations to parts diseased, which is the only way these diseases can be cured. They are treating hundreds of patients every month, having twelve surgeons engaged in their work in Canada alone. A Reliable Witness.

Mr. Whyte, late proprietor of the Mansion Saloon, King street, Toronto, writes as follows about Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters: "I have used Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters for nearly four years, and I believe it to be the best medicine in the world. I would not be without it for anything. I have induced scores of people to try it, and when taken according to directions, I have never known it to fail. I call the Bitters, "The Doctor." It has certainly been my family doctor ever since I first used it, and will continue to be as long as it acts the same as hitherto. I strongly advise all my friends and the public generally who suffer from any affections of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver or Blood, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Headache, Dizziness, Costiveness, Impurities of the Blood, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc., to buy a bottle of 'The Doctor,' and I am certain that not one will regret having done so. I do not think there is any medicine in the whole world equal to Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters." [Signed] Jas. Whyte.

THE WITHERED FLOWER.

I'll not throw away the flower
Though 'twas never culled for me,
Though a rival sought the blossom
Where it grew upon the tree.
I could scorn it—I could scorn it,
When your favored girl I view,
Yet I prize it—yet I prize it,
For 'twas worn by you.

Oh, I'll wear it as a token
Of the days that once have been,
Though flower and heart be broken
In sad memory of the scene
When first your vows were plighted
And I fondly deemed you true;
Now all my hopes are blighted
Like this flower plucked by you.

I'll not throw away the flower,
Sad emblem though it be
Of the day I fled your bower
Forsaken, scorned by thee.
Near my heart I'll wear it ever,
On my bosom it shall rest,
Nor aught in life shall sever
Love or flower from my breast.

THE MAN IN POSSESSION

IN FIVE CHAPTERS.—CHAPTER I.

There are many ups and downs in some lives, far more than are usually dreamed of by the few who, "born with a silver spoon in their mouth," pursue the even tenor of their path, unruffled by the cares and afflictions which crowd upon, and too often overwhelm the less fortunate. Hard as it is to grapple with and bear the troubles which are inevitable to us in the ordinary course of nature, those we induce by our own indiscretion and folly are still more galling. I am afraid my case must rank among the latter, as you shall presently hear.

I will not inflict upon you my antecedents; suffice to state that I am the son of a gentleman in good, though not opulent, circumstances. My father gave me an excellent education, and afterwards a fair start in life by articling me to a neighbouring solicitor. I might have done well, for I liked the profession, and was an apt pupil; but, unfortunately—as is the case with too many intellectual young men—I fell into evil company. It is unnecessary to enumerate the steps, from bad to worse, which gradually led to my undoing; eventually, I found myself that my indentures were cancelled. Ashamed to meet my father, I went out into the world an outcast, with scarcely a shilling in my pocket. Failing other employment, I was at last compelled—though bitterly repugnant to my feelings—to accept the humble occupation of a humble bailiff; and here my narrative begins.

"Meredith," said my chief to me one bright May morning, when I waited upon him for instructions, "I wish you to run down to Briteleigh in the matter of Warley against Wintock, and take possession in the usual manner. You will be more than ordinarily careful, as we have to do with a very subtle customer. Jones has already been down in the neighbourhood, but has returned unsuccessful and quite disheartened. I hope, however, you will have better luck. When once within the premises, you had better sleep with one eye open, or not at all, if you can so manage it."

Now, I rather prided myself upon my professional dexterity, and this my employer knew; but it would have been childish to boast before him. I therefore smiled, but said nothing. Some other directions followed, of no importance to my tale; and after packing a few necessaries in my carpet-bag, I started for Briteleigh. It was the dusk of the evening when I arrived at my destination, and I forthwith proceeded to reconnoitre the premises in which I was, for a while, to figure as the humble representative of the "majesty of the law," and take under my surveillance the goods, chattels, &c., of Archer Wintock, Esq., until either the just claims of Warley Warley, Esq., of Warley Hall should be fully and duly satisfied, together with all legal expenses incurred; or the said goods, chattels, &c., should be publicly brought to the hammer.

On my arrival at the village of Briteleigh, I went at once to have a sight of the house intrusted to me. Briteleigh Hall was a large, gloomy, old-fashioned building, of the preceding century, and stood at some distance from the high-road, and in the centre of a park of considerable extent. The original edifice seemed to have been added to at different periods; for the superstructure ran in a motley succession of triangular gabled ends from the outhouses to the principal roof, which surrounded by a parapet and crowned with enormous stacks of tall chimney-pots, capped, the whole. It struck me at the first glance, that however strongly bolted and barred below, it would be easy for any burglar to scale the height and effect an entrance by one of the numerous garret casements which fronted the parapet, unless the same were strongly secured. However, as I had no thought of entering the house by this way myself, and as it was too late to hope to effect an entrance at all that evening, I returned to the village, and walked into the Three Keys, a comfortable roadside inn, about a hundred yards from the park-gates. I entered the snug bar-parlour and seated myself. It was occupied only by the landlord and two other persons, tradesmen of the village. The three were quietly sipping their glasses and having a friendly chat.

"Fine evening, sir," said mine host, as, noticing that I was a stranger, he saluted me respectfully. "What will you please to take?"

"Oh, a little rum-and-water, if you please.—Can I have a bed here to-night, land-lord?"

"By all means, sir!—second-floor back.—Going to stay long?"

"Hum! That depends upon circumstances. At any rate, I may require it for three or four nights at least."

I felt disposed to secure a night-lodging for a short time; for in our line we are by no means sure when or how we shall be able to obtain access to the premises of which we are able to take temporary "possession." Besides, my inn expenses would be refunded; a few extra shillings were therefore of no consequence.

My entrance and the bustle of the landlord had interrupted the talk for a while; but after a few commonplace remarks, such as usually pass between strangers, I settled down quietly to my rum-and-water, and the conversation was resumed.

"They do say he used her most cruelly, poor young lady," said the stouter of the tradesmen, who sat nearest the fireplace, and who appeared to be indignant about some point which had been mooted.

"Cruelly! I should think he did," replied the other. "Ah, it was a sad affair for her when her poor papa died. How he could leave her in the guardianship of that old curmudgeon beats my understanding."

"Well," replied the other, "he didn't show the black feather so much while the old man was alive; and they say he was greatly disappointed that his brother did not leave him a good share of the property. It appears he bequeathed nearly all to Miss Maria, his only daughter, allowing, however, a handsome sum per annum to her guardian, to cover the expenses of bringing her up. It is said that the latter tried to force her into a marriage with her cousin, his son George, as unprincipled as himself, and as reckless a spendthrift and gambler as ever handled the dice."

"Ah! well, I suppose that was before I came into the village then, neighbor. You know I only left the north last Christmas twelve-month. But where is the young lady now?"

"That's a question nobody I know any one else in Briteleigh can satisfactorily answer. All we know is that she was at the Hall. The Squire gave out about a twelvemonth after her father's death, that she had gone to Paris to complete her education; but no one ever saw her go, or has ever seen her since. There are never any letters in a female hand received at the Hall, either from France or elsewhere—at least so asserts Simmons the grocer, who keeps the post-office."

"But the servants—do they never speak of her? Surely they must know."

"He keeps none that are allowed to enter the house, except a big bully of an Italian fellow, whom he brought from abroad—for he was formerly a resident in Italy, and had only returned to England a year or two before his brother's death—and a cross-grained old woman, who is as impenetrable as adamant, for no one can ever get anything out of her. Neither the gardener, nor the old man who looks after the premises and looks after the horses, is allowed to intrude. A great part of the house is shut up as closely as if the whole were uninhabited. However, it is supposed to be full of real good furniture, for old Mr. Wintock lived in great style, and none has ever been known to be disposed of."

Hitherto, I had taken but little interest in the conversation; for I was busily employed in ruminating upon my plans for the morrow. Though they had spoken of the Hall, it had not fixed my attention. But when the name of Wintock was mentioned, it roused me at once, and I immediately asked: "Are you speaking of Mr. Wintock—up the way?" pointing with my thumb in the driction of his mansion.

"The very same, sir," replied the stout man, glad to have another interested auditor. "Ah!" he continued, "there's something exceedingly mysterious about the disappearance of that young lady. Some even go so far as to hint foul play. I, for one, don't quite believe that. But certain it is you wouldn't catch one of the village people crossing the park after dark.'

'Indeed! Why not?'

'Why, sir, you see I don't take any heed of such superstitious nonsense myself; but it is whispered among the poorer folk that a white face is sometimes seen at the windows at unearthly hours, and that fearful shrieks have occasionally been heard at midnight. You know what a country village is, and how easily a place obtains the repute of being haunted. Once upon a time some of our fellows would steal up there after dark to catch a rabbit or two, for there is a warren on the far side of the house; but I'd venture a five-pound note that not one of them would be hardy enough to try now for all the rabbits in the county. There are reports, too, that old Wintock, or he and his son, too, have outrun the constable.'

'Oh! Is it true, think you?'

'I believe it to be so. They do say that the life Mr. George and his father lead has involved both very deeply in liabilities which neither can meet. Drinking, horseracing, gambling, and if people are to be credited, swindling are to be numbered among their accomplishments. The last dodge was a clever, though a rascally one."

"Hum! What might that be?"

"Well, it seems that old Wintock had run matters so close that he was daily threatened by one of his tradespeople with an execution. As he owed largely, he bethought himself that if this was once suffered to take effect, the rest of his creditors would be after him immediately. To save matters, he goes to a Mr. Warley, of Warley Hall, in Downshire, of whom he had some knowledge, represents that he is staying in his neighbourhood for a short time, and that, in consequence of expenses which young Wintock has incurred at college, he had occasion for a few hundreds; and so induced the old gentleman to advance him the money on a bill of three months at good interest. When the time expired, the bill was dishonoured—not a cap to meet it, at least at the banker's."

"Then young Wintock was not at college?"

"Not he. It was all a subterfuge to tide them over present difficulties. But I suppose old Warley is down upon them at last rather sharp."

All this I knew before, but was not aware that it was also known at Briteleigh. The old proverb says, "All news will come out." It is astonishing how rapidly [illegible] crimes or even the most [illegible] in spite of the most strenuous efforts to keep them concealed. I did not, however, enlighten my friend as to my foreknowledge, though I could not help thinking that he partly guessed the import of my visit to the village. But I did not deem it expedient to satisfy his evident curiosity, lest in some way it might embarrass my movements. I accordingly took an early opportunity of changing the subject; and after spending a very comfortable evening in social chat, retired to rest.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, MAY 4, 1883.

An Invitation.

The Peterborough Fire Brigade has received an invitation from St. Catharines to take part in a great firemen's demonstration in that city in August. They have not yet decided whether to accept the invitation, but a number of the members are in favor of going.

The Centreville Tragedy.

The Port Hope Times says that Jno. Atkins, of Centreville, is in gaol, and we understand has been refused bail. Alex. McClung the other person implicated by the verdict of the jury in the death of Frank Little has given bail for his appearance at the next assizes.

A Comparison.

If the Port Hope Times had quoted the whole of a paragraph, part of which appeared in its columns on the 3rd, it would have seen that the Midland Free Press not only made a comparison between the blocks in Peterborough and Port Hope, but that it also included Lindsay in the comparison.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is cloudy and cool. A light rain fell this morning. The weather probabilities, for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a.m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Fresh to strong north-easterly to south-easterly winds; fair to cloudy cool weather, with light rains in some localities.

A Fireman's Funeral.

On Thursday afternoon Mr. John Waram, the young man who died suddenly on Tuesday evening, was buried in the Methodist Cemetery. The funeral took place from his father's residence in Smith, and the members of the Fire Brigade and Band met the funeral cortege just outside of the town, and showed their respect for the deceased member by accompanying his remains to their last resting place.

A Cool Thief.

Last winter a gentleman who resides on Rubidge street missed a wood saw, and he, not being able to trace its whereabouts, purchased another. The person who stole the saw was so successful in that experiment that he paid another visit to the same place and stole an axe. The gentleman then purchased a new axe, and on Thursday night the thief, with unparalleled impudence, returned and carried off the new axe, leaving the old one which he had previously stolen in its place. He must have a whole Alps of cheek.

That Registered Letter.

The following communication appeared in the Port Hope Guide with a request that the Peterborough papers should copy it, in regard to a registered letter that was looking for an owner:—

> "Dear Sir,—In this day's Guide I see that an owner is wanted for a registered letter, addressed to Mr. James Schofield, Mud Lake. Several years ago I knew a Mr. Schofield, an English gentleman, residing in the township of Smith, near Mud Lake, but I believe he is dead, the letter may be for his son, as he had a family. His post office at that time was 'Bridgenorth,' which is at Mud Lake.

The Cells.

The police cells were empty last night—no tramps and no prisoners.

Lacrosse.

The Junior Lacrosse Club of Cobourg have sent a challenge to the second twelve of the Peterborough Club to play a match in Cobourg on the 24th of May. A meeting will be held after the practice this evening, when this challenge will be considered.

Northwest Farms.

We find in the Winnipeg Canadian Pacific Railway Register the following notice of a firm, one member of which hails from Peterborough:

> "We would call the attention of parties visiting Manitoba to the cheap farms, which are for sale by Messrs. Beck & Wallis. Immigrants to the Northwest should not fail to call and see the above named gentlemen, and if by letter address P. O. box 154, Winnipeg, Man. This firm have also for sale several first-class farms near the rising towns of Emerson, Morris, Nelson and Birtle. We can confidently recommend our readers to Messrs. Beck & Wallis as honorable and straightforward real estate brokers. Their office will will be found on Queen street, opposite the Queen's Hotel."

Stuart Cumberland.

On Thursday evening, at the second performance given by Mr. Stuart Cumberland, there was another small audience, probably owing to the disagreeable state of the weather. The following committee represented the audience on the stage:—Messrs. D. W. Dumble, H. H. Smith, C. W. Sawers, James Stratton, and Dr Fraser and Dr. Clarke. Many of his feats and illustrations were the same as those of the previous evening, which we have already described. In addition he located a pain in Dr. Fraser's great toe, where he really experienced it. After being tied and sealed up in a bag he emerged from the cabinet in various costumes, and distributed flowers among the audience. He showed how he nailed the pieces of board on a chair when left bound in the cabinet, not by unloosing himself, but by the suppleness of his joints enabling him to bring forward and use his still bound limbs.

Presentation.

The many friends made by Mr. C. A. Post when he was in the branch of the Ontario Bank in this town, will be glad of the following intelligence concerning him, which we extract from the Guelph Mercury:—

> "Mr. C. A. Post, who for the past twenty years has been in the service of the Ontario Bank, and who for the past five years has filled the position of accountant in the Guelph branch, has now severed his long connection with the institution for the purpose of engaging in the more independent and healthful occupation of farming. He leaves the city in a day or two for Manitoba, where he, in company with Mr. Johnston, also of Guelph, have bought and will farm together two sections of land comprising altogether some 1,280 acres. The property is situated six miles from Rapid City. The land in which Mr. Post is particularly interested is said to be fertile, and those who know him will hope that this is true in order that he may make his fortune as speedily as possible and return to Guelph and retire. On Monday evening a number of gentlemen who are customers at the Ontario Bank assembled in the large parlor of the Wellington Hotel, where they had invited Mr. Post to meet them. Ald. F. Gunham read an address expressive of esteem, regret and good wishes, and Ald. F. B. Skinner came forward at the proper moment and handed Mr. Post a handsome purse well filled with gold. Mr. Post made a brief but [illegible] reply, in which he assured them of a appreciation of the feeling of [illegible] and of that they had evinced towards him [illegible] of so flattering a testimonial."

Railway Notes.

The Norwood Register says that work has been commenced on the third railway abutment near Askey's pump factory. Considerable delay was occasioned by the difficulty in finding a suitable bottom on which to erect the structure, but this [illegible] at [illegible] twelve feet from the [illegible] the work is now rapidly progressing. The bridge will be about twenty-four feet above the road.

The Lindsay Warder says that the new bridge and railroad track now being built by Messrs. McNeely & Walters adjoining the town has been a scene of great activity during the past week. We are informed fully 130 men are now in their employ, and the way the earth and timbers are flying is a sure indication that the contract will not last any longer than is necessary, and that the trains will be running over it in a very short time. They are also [illegible] this week to draw stone up from Bobcaygeon, by the [illegible] for the new structure, the [illegible] having all [illegible] and, when the [illegible] were [illegible] the bridge will be pushed till everything is completed.

Early one morning last week a passenger coach standing on the Midland track at Uxbridge station was completely gutted by fire and all destroyed but the wheels, the fire originating from a coal stove at one end of the car, where the most damage was done. The coach had been undergoing repairs lately and had only the day before been turned out of the shops. Loss four or five thousand dollars.

The Lindsay Warder says that on Monday evening at the Daly House, Lindsay, a supper was given by the Midland Railway employees to Mr. E. Murphy, who had for several years been the efficient road master on the Whitby and Haliburton division of the Midland Railway. All the men of the road who could possibly be present were in attendance, including Mr. A. Barton, the superintendent of the Whitby and Victoria divisions, and Mr. Jas. Scanlon, the obliging and general traffic manager, and several of the citizens of the town. The supper was provided in the well known style of Daly Bros., every delicacy the season afforded being provided, and the energetic manner in which the guests handled their knives and forks fully attested to their appreciation of Messrs. Daly's liberality. When the cloth had been removed, Mr. Barton was called to the chair, and presented Mr. Murphy with a flattering address, and a chain and seal, and a tea service for Mr. Murphy. Mr. Murphy replied, and toast and song followed until near midnight.

Thomas McCabe was also charged by Mr. Cumming with non-payment of statute labor tax. He was also ordered to pay the tax and the costs of the court, which amounted to $2.

ABUSIVE LANGUAGE.

Mrs. Honora Hayes was charged by James Barry with using towards him grossly abusive and insulting language. The evidence of the principals in the case, and of a couple of witnesses, was taken, and Mrs. Hayes was fined $1 and costs.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferers for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcula which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent remedy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more testimony to its widely increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and lengthily affected with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION. BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, MAY 5, 1883.

WE cannot congratulate the Mail upon displaying either generosity, fairness, or good taste in its onslaught upon its first editor and manager, Mr. T. C. Patteson. In his present position as Postmaster of Toronto he is of course open, like other public officials, to fair criticism of his public acts, but the whole tone of the attack is that of vindictive personal feeling. It is not so much his public acts as his private pursuits and tastes that are brought into question, though the Mail has had no objection to availing itself of his special knowledge in such matters. Surely a leading journal might set a better example, and not make the miserable mistake of supposing that a journalist's influence is to be used for his private purposes rather than for the service of the public.

NORWOOD.

BELMONT TOWN HALL.—The Register says that the Belmont town hall is to be erected at Preneveau's corners, in that township.

BASE BALL.—The Norwood base ball club have received a challenge from the Campbellford club to play a friendly game on the 1st of June.

RUNAWAY.—A horse, owned by Mr. J. Breakenridge, J. P., of Westwood, and attached to a buggy, became frightened while standing in front of the Norwood House on Wednesday evening of last week and bolted. Result,—harness and buggy slightly damaged, the owner highly annoyed and the rabble highly amused.

LACROSSE.—The Norwood lacrosse club have received a challenge from the Sioux lacrosse club, Madoc, to play a friendly game in the latter place on the 24th of May. Our club has accepted the challenge and will no doubt give a good account of itself when the time comes, although a defeat would be no discredit as the game is entirely new to the majority of the members.

COBOURG.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—The Sentinel-Star says that on Saturday night Mr. Adam Burwash, living on the Densmore farm, went out to the barn to put down some hay for the cattle, and when he thought he had sufficient, threw down the fork, which stuck in the hay with the prongs up. When he got down from the loft he found he had not sufficient hay down and went back for more, and on jumping down the second time, he struck the fork, one prong of which entered the groin, causing a very serious wound.

The North-West Capital.

The Regina Leader says:—During the month ending 21st inst., there were made in the Dominion lands office, Regina, 458 homesteads and 418 pre-emption entries, embracing an area of 136,000 acres. From statistics furnished by Mr. Whitcher, dominion lands agent, Winnipeg, the entries made in his office for the year 1882 are shown to be homesteads 566, and pre-emptions 242. From this it may be seen that one month's business in the Regina office exceeds that of Winnipeg for a year by 125 entries and 36,720 acres of land.

"FOUNTAIN OF HEALTH."—What it is; and what it does. It is a Chemically harmonious mixture of Herbs, it Heals, Repairs and re-Invigorates the Diseased Organs of the Body. Price $1.000.

$100 REWARD! If one bottle of Fountain of Health does not relieve ordinary Catarrh, any dealer is authorized to refund the money it cost you, and $100 will be paid for a case that five bottles will not cure.

MRS. S. W. CURRY, of 95 Richmond Street, Toronto, says: "Pain in the Back, Liver Complaint, and Billious Headache were my ailments. I got prompt and permanent relief by using one bottle of "Fountain of Health."

THIS DAY'S TELEGRAMS.

Press Despatches to the Review.

CABLE.

DISCHARGED.

DUBLIN, May 4.—George Smith, charged with being implicated in a conspiracy to murder Government officials, has been discharged, he having agreed to emigrate. Hawkins, who, it was stated, would be arraigned to-day with Kingston and others, charged with conspiracy to murder Poole, has been discharged.

FITZHARRIS ARRAIGNED.

DUBLIN, May 4.—Fitzharris, indicted as an accessory to the murder of Lord Cavendish and Mr. Burke after the fact, was arraigned this morning and pleaded not guilty.

GALWAY PRISONERS ARRESTED.

GALWAY, May 4.—Thirteen prisoners have been arraigned charged with being implicated in the Frack murders. Informers proved a meeting and the adoption of a plan to murder Constable Cavanagh.

A LEGAL VIEW.

LONDON, May 4.—The Law Journal, after discussing the legal phases of the extradition question, draws the conclusion that if the United States holds that Tynan, Walsh, and Sheridan cannot be extradited under the existing treaty, and if they do not voluntarily surrender, they may, after various formal writs of arrests have been made out and returned unsatisfied, be adjudged outlaws, and their property confiscated to the Crown.

SECRET SOCIETIES IN ARMENIA.

ERZROUM, May 4.—Of fifty members of a secret society here, regarded as dangerous to life and property, five have been sentenced to life-long servitude, twenty to imprisonment for fifteen years, and the remaining twenty-five received sentences of greater or less severity according to the evidence.

THE CZAR'S CORONATION.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 4.—Upon the occasion of the coronation of the Czar the poll-tax will be reduced sixteen million roubles for the entire empire, and there will be a remission of various fines, sentences, and penalties.

PRESENTATION TO GREVY.

PARIS, May 4.—Mr. Morton, United States Minister to France, during an interview with President Grevy, presented M. Grevy with a complimentary speech, an album forwarded by the citizens of Providence, R. I., as a souvenir in memory of the Frenchmen who died at Yorktown while fighting for American independence. The President was deeply touched, and requested Mr. Morton to convey to the citizens of Providence his kindly regards and thanks for their patriotic gift.

STATUE OF LIBERTY.

PARIS, May 4.—President Grevy to-day visited Bartholdi's Statue of Liberty, which is finished, and will soon be sent to America.

THE BRADLAUGH CASE.

LONDON, May 4.—In the House of Commons to-day the Speaker stated that a letter received from Mr. Bradlaugh announced his intention at the beginning of business to-day to ask to be permitted to take the oath. The Speaker asked the guidance of the House. There were loud cries for Mr. Gladstone, but he did not rise. Sir Stafford Northcote stated that he would propose that Mr. Bradlaugh be precluded from going through such a form. Mr. Gladstone said he could raise no objection to the motion, which, under the circumstances, Sir Stafford Northcote was the proper person to make. On motion of Mr. Labouchere it was decided to hear Mr. Bradlaugh in his own behalf. Mr. Bradlaugh said the House last evening rejected the Affirmation Bill, which would have enabled him to take his seat. It was now his duty to take the oath; the law gave him a seat in the House, and in the name of the law he demanded it. His exclusion was an act of flagrant iniquity; no act of his justified the action of the House which should declare the seat vacant, or pass a bill disqualifying him. As long as he was not disqualified he could claim the seat. Mr. Labouchere opposed the motion of Sir Stafford Northcote. Mr. Gladstone, in moving the previous question, announced that he would vote with Mr. Labouchere against the motion. The motion was carried by 271 to 165. Mr. Bradlaugh again addressed the House, arguing in favour of his claim to the seat. After speaking half an hour he returned to his usual seat below the bar, and the subject dropped.

AMERICAN.

WORKMEN DISCHARGED.

PHILADELPHIA, May 4.—50 men have been discharged from the construction department of the Long Island navy yard owing to a reduction in the appropriations.

IMPORTED OPIUM.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—It is stated that before July 1st, the date the increased tax on opium goes into effect, five hundred thousand dollars will be paid in duties on importations here. A few houses propose to control the trade and profit by the additional tax.

EXPLOSION IN A COAL MINE.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 4.—A terrific explosion of gas in the Staton air-shaft of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company, occurred this evening just as the night shift of miners were getting ready to the buckets to be lowered into the pit. The head house, 800 feet from the bottom of the shaft, was blown to pieces. Cause unknown. Two miners were injured. Edward Rinker and Henry Baker, who were plumbing on a platform sixty feet below the surface, were almost roasted alive. The former is dead. The shaft is 600 feet deep, and the timbers in it are now burning. Every effort is making to get water below. No other loss of life is anticipated. It is supposed that a spark from the pipe of the carpenter fired the gas.

CANADIAN SAILOR KILLED.

DETROIT, Mich., May 4.—Early yesterday afternoon while John Roberts, a sailor on board the William Trent, lying at the foot of Eighteenth-and-a-half street, was on the triangle scraping the mast, the ropes holding the former in place gave way, precipitating him to the deck below. Roberts was put into the city ambulance, but died while on the way to the Marine hospital. Deceased was 18 years of age, and shipped aboard the Trent on May 2. His former home was at Bismarck, Ont. The body was turned over to Coroner Locke, who held an inquest last evening. The only witnesses sworn at the inquest were Capt. Mackay, owner of the barge, and his mate. A piece of the rope by which the triangle on which Roberts was supported when the accident occurred was produced, and was by the testimony of some vessel-men considered just the quality of rope they would use for holding the triangle in place. The inquest was adjourned.

FATAL EXPLOSION.

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., May 5.—An explosion occurred in the Government gunshop magazine. Priddy's yard building was demolished. Six persons were killed and another is dying. The explosion was caused by the accidental ignition of powder during the filling of shells.

SUSPICIOUS ACTIONS.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 5.—It is believed that the authorities at Moscow have been authorized to arrest a number of persons who are acting suspiciously, and detain them until after the coronation of the Czar. There is much ill-feeling in some regiments of the army, owing to the fact that some rewards are offered to induce men to denounce their comrades known to be Nihilists.

AN EARTHQUAKE.

TABREEZ, Persia, May 5.—An earthquake here destroyed a great many houses and a large number of persons were killed.

THE SOUTHERN WAR.

LIMA, May 5.—The Chilians routed Caceres' forces at Balconcillo and at Pampas Deindaya. The Chilians had four killed and twelve wounded. The Monteros had fifty-nine killed. Caceres is at Tarta. The troops are demoralized.

RIOTS IN VIENNA.

VIENNA, May 5.—A thousand bakers' assistants on strike, last night, engaged in a riot at the assembly rooms. The furniture was destroyed, and windows broken. The rioters threw up a barricade in the street to resist the police, who had difficulty in subduing the mob. Simultaneously in another part of the city four hundred more strikers attacked the building of the Bakers' Association. The doors and windows were broken. The rioters were finally dispersed.

BREACH OF PROMISE.

WARSAW, N. Y., May 5.—Carrie Butterfield yesterday obtained a verdict of $4,000 against Edgar Vanslyke for breach of promise of marriage. Vanslyke, when he courted Miss Butterfield, was a married man, and the fact was unknown to the plaintiff. After discarding the plaintiff he courted a woman in Pennsylvania, whom he married, after securing a divorce from his first wife. He has thus far eluded arrest in this state and did not attend the trial.

A BIG FIRE.

UNION CITY, Ind., May 5.—Over twenty business establishments were burned, and many others and fifteen residences damaged last night. The loss will amount to a quarter of a million. The heaviest losers are Hentz & Co., planing mills, $150,000. The fire is supposed to be due to a locomotive spark. The fire spread rapidly owing to a high wind and the unskilful factory working of the waterworks.

THE HOP CROP.

WATERVILLE, N. Y., May 5.—The grubbing and poling of hops is about completed. The roots found have wintered unusually well. The price of roots have declined from five dollars a bushel to one and two. There will be a few sales hills to supply. The roots will be wanted chiefly for new yards.

RAILWAY STRIKE.

ST. PAUL, May 5.—Six hundred laborers on the Manitoba Railway between Minneapolis and Lake Minnetonka have struck for an advance. All the cars were run off the track. Some of the men resumed work and are protected by armed men.

NUMBER ONE AND HIS FRIENDS.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Davis, Assistant Secretary of State, is quoted as saying:—"I will not deny that the matter of the extradition of Tynan, Walsh and Sheridan has been brought to the attention of the State Department by the English Government. The question has been fully talked over by Frelinghuysen and others who are fully aware even now of what steps will be taken, but no information will be given to the press until the President and Secretary hold a final conference, and decide what is to be done."

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, MAY 5, 1883.

MR. MOWAT RECKLESS.

The news that Mr. Mowat has ordered the seizure of a million dollars worth of timber, cut for the Canadian Pacific Railway on the disputed territory, and the arrest for theft of any one who interferes with it, is certainly startling—so sudden is such a violent and high-handed proceeding. It seems like the act of a desperate man, who feels that he can hardly place himself in a worse position than he at present occupies. The fact is that Mr. Mowat, finding that he has not derived much benefit from his electioneering cry and appeal to sectional jealousy, to avail himself of which he has hitherto declined to accept the offer of the Dominion authorities to leave the decision to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, has now made up his mind to do so, though in a roundabout manner, for his present violent proceedings will, of course, be contested through court after court, till the highest tribunal of the realm is reached. It is also a very inefficient and inconclusive manner, for though an authoritative and final decision will no doubt be obtained as to whether the immediate locality in question belongs to the Province or to the Dominion, it is most probable that the Privy Council, with its usual refusal to travel outside the point at issue, will give no opinion as to the boundary generally. It would then require an infinity of such cases to settle the whole question.

But it is not only a roundabout and inconclusive manner of raising the question, for it is also a grossly improper one. By such an abuse of the law as using criminal proceedings to decide a civil right, Mr. Mowat places himself upon a par with such blackmailers as Gen. Hewson, serving a summons on Sir John Macdonald at his son's wedding, in order, by a charge of perjury, to enforce his bogus claim. But what better than such a pettifogging misuse of the law could be expected from an Attorney-General who has instigated the compounding of a grave charge because it was against a supposed supporter of his—and who either as a member voted against his conscience for a measure, or as Premier advised against his conscience the Lieutenant-Governor not to let the same measure become law?

We believe that we have a just claim to the territory in question, but we object to having our cause prejudiced by the adoption of the arts of the pettifogger and blackmailer.

There are other obvious objections to thi high-handed course, but they are not such as to have weight with one, who, like Mr. Mowat, cares little for public or private interests as compared with his own selfish ends. Such a step must, of course, embarrass the Canadian Pacific Railway in pushing on construction, and that in the very district where it has to contend with the greatest difficulties. What, however, does Mr. Mowat care for the progress of our great national route if by thwarting it he can strengthen his decrepid Government? Innocent employees may be charged with the crime of theft, but what consideration has Mr. Mowat for these poor wood-cutters if it suits his convenience to haul them to gaol over a dispute as to title which he declines to settle? Such a violent course is likely to lead to violence in return, but why should Mr. Mowat hesitate to excite a breach of the law, when his leading organ boasts that he has corruptly connived at the defeat of the operation of the law in the case of a supposed political friend?

It is a happy thing for the Province that the reign of such an incompetent Premier, of such a lawless Attorney-General, will shortly be at an end.

Our anti-national politicians and journalists are declaring that the policy of the Dominion Government and of the people of Canada is driving people out of the Dominion into the neighboring Republic, but Winnipeg papers announce the arrival of families from Dakota who had previously emigrated thence from Canada. They were disgusted with the state of affairs in that territory.

Plans of the New Irish National League Pamphlets Forthcoming.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Alex. Sullivan, of Chicago, President of the new Irish National League, in conversation with a reporter, gave a succinct and graphic description of the future objects and plans of action proposed by the organization in the interest of Ireland. One of the plans of action, differing from those of the past, is to rely more upon literature than public meetings. "We intend to keep [illegible], and have more frequent communication with the other side, and to ascertain the condition of things from Parnell and his associates. We shall issue statements of the various views of the Irish question in order to eliciting more extensive sympathy from Irish Americans as well as from Americans and other nations."

"In what form chiefly do you propose to distribute the literature on various questions pertaining to Ireland?"

"In the form of addresses, pamphlets, and tracts, showing more clearly the wrongs inflicted on the people, and showing the condition and capacity of Ireland, her industrial, manufacturing, and material resources; how these could be developed, and how they would be under self-government and fair treatment. It is intended to show how Ireland could support herself under a regime of her own as compared with the way she has been supported under the English, and to establish a closer and more thorough connection between this country and Ireland than has been in the past."

SEVENTY PEOPLE BURNED.

Fire on board a Steamer off Vancouver's Island—A Hundred Chinamen on Board.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—The news of the burning of the steamer Grappler, was brought from Nanaimo, B. C., by John McAllister. The vessel was burned four miles off Seymour Narrows on Sunday night. Fire was discovered by the engineer, who immediately reported it to the captain. A hundred passengers, principally Chinamen, were aboard. Immediate search was begun by the Captain who discovered the back boiler connections. The engineer started the donkey and connected the hose. By this time the passengers had been warned. The excitement was intense. The Chinamen behaved like maniacs, and were utterly unmanageable, and seriously impeded the action of the officers. The captain ordered all to be shot who refused to obey orders. Notwithstanding this the Chinamen rushed backward and forward on the vessel until it was necessary to knock some down and stamp below others and [illegible] them. All the time the fire was gaining. The efforts to control it were unavailing. The captain ordered the pilot to head the boat for the Vancouver's shore and beach her. As soon as the [illegible] were struck the boats were lowered. The excitement was so great that the Chinamen jumped into the boats and swamped them, and owing to the intense smoke those who could swim didn't know which direction to strike out, and, surrounded by a mass of struggling Chinamen, were drowned.

A DOUBTFUL STORY.

Rumoured Loss of a British Man-of-War—Three Hundred Lives Reported Lost.

OTTAWA, May 3.—A gentleman in this city, whose brother-in-law is consul for France at Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, has received private advices from New York stating that a dreadful calamity occurred at the place mentioned on the occasion of the recent coronation of King Kalakaua. It seems that the officers of H. M.'s war ship Royal Albert, which was lying in the harbour of Honolulu, gave a grand ball on board during the festivities. Some three hundred persons were present, among whom it is presumed the relative of our informant. To give increased room for dancing the guns of the vessel were placed on one side, and during the progress of the ball a heavy gale sprung up. The weight of the guns placed in this unusual position caused the vessel to keel over and become engulfed in the raging waters. Out of these hundred merry-makers only thirty-seven were saved, the rest meeting with watery graves.

Shot by a Spring Gun.

Living in the town of Almond, New York State, is an eccentric old man of the name of Alfred Zinklett, who is the only occupant of a house on the farm which he owns. The boys and young men of the neighborhood have been in the habit of performing sundry depredations upon his premises during his absence. The frequency of their incursions so exasperated the old man that on leaving home yesterday morning he fixed a loaded gun in such a way that if the door opened the piece would be discharged. Locking the door he took his departure. During the forenoon a lad named Peter Tippinnett aged 15 years, visited the place, as was supposed with the intention of mischief. He sprung the trap and received the contents of the gun in his abdomen. There seems to be no chance of his recovery.

She Winged Three of Them.

A Dakota schoolmistress sued three young men for breach of promise. Counsel for one of the defendants moved for a non-suit on the ground that she was too promiscuous. The Court seemed disposed to grant the motion, whereupon the plaintiff asked:—"Judge, did you ever go duck shooting?" His Honour's eyes lighted up with the pride of a sportsman as he answered: "Well, I should say so; many's the time I have brought down half a dozen at a shot." "I knew it," eagerly answered the fair plaintiff; "that's just the case with me, Judge. A flock of these fellows bunched up, and I winged three of them." The motion for non-suit was denied.

Great Fairs.

The year 1883 is to be a year of great fairs. This week sees the opening of the great Fish Fair of London. In May the World's Fair at Amsterdam, Holland, will open. In July there will be a grand International Metallurgic Exhibition at Madrid, and one of Wines at Lisbon, and Switzerland will hold a grand Art Exhibition. Also some noted exhibitions in South America. In the United States the annual exposition at Cincinnati, the Cotton Exposition at Louisville and New Orleans, and the great Railway Exposition at Chicago, beginning May 24, will attract great attention.

Suffocation While Drunk.

The dead body of a man apparently about 30 years of age was found lying in the water near the Canada Southern Railway near [illegible], 40 miles west of St. Thomas, where he is supposed to have fallen while under the influence of liquor, and been suffocated. A nearly empty whiskey bottle was found in his pocket, also a card with the address, "A. M. Potter, Plymouth, Mich." Nothing was found which served to identify him. He is five feet, six inches in height, light complexion, sandy moustache, apparently a harness-maker.

FROM ALL OVER.

Considerable apprehension prevails on the lower Rio Grande regarding yellow fever.

The Danish Polar expedition has left Copenhagen and gone to explore Greenland.

THOMAS FULLER, the man who was arrested at Barrie for stealing $1,125, has been sentenced to two years in the Jackson, Mich., penitentiary.

THE Lighthouse Board has decided to institute experiments with a view to determining the value of the electric light for lighthouse purposes.

A SPRING MEDICINE. During the winter months the system accumulates poisons which become dangerous as the warmer weather sets in. Do yourself the justice to take one bottle of Fountain of Health to cleanse the blood.

THERE was a terrific hailstorm at Milwaukee on Wednesday night, which greatly damaged crops and property. Hundreds of windows were broken.

JOHN HOPKINS, 238 Wilton Avenue, Toronto says:—"I have been able to discontinue tobacco by using Fountain of Health, and feel much better every way. It has also cured two of my daughters of Dyspepsia."

"TWENTY-FOUR YEARS' EXPERIENCE," says an eminent physician, convinces me that the only way to cure nervous exhaustion and weakness of the sexual organs, is to repair the waste by giving brain and nerve food, and of all the remedies compounded, Mack's Magnetic Medicine is the best. See advertisement in another column.

A DESPATCH from Lincoln, Neb., says terrible prairie fires are raging in the adjoining counties, sweeping away crops, farm houses, &c. Several narrow escapes by farmers' families are reported.

NATURE, after all, is the great physician. She hides all the secrets of health within her broad generous bosom, and man needs but to go to her intelligently for his every need. The discovery of the great Cough Remedy, GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM, is an apt illustration of this. As a cure for Coughs, Colds, Loss of Voice and Hoarseness, it stands unrivalled, while its low price and readiness of access places it within the reach of all. Try it and be convinced. All chemists keep it in 25 and 50 cent bottles.

LINDSAY.

CHANGED HANDS.—The Warder says that the Central House in this town has changed proprietors, Messrs. B. F. Jewett & Son, having sold out the business to Mr. Haslam, at one time of Lindsay, but recently of Perty Perry.

RUN OVER.—On Saturday evening last Chas. Terry, a fifteen year old son of of Mr. R. Terry, and in the employ of Mr. A. Campbell, grocer, met with a severe accident. He was engaged in the delivery of goods, and while trying to catch and save a bag of bran from falling off the express wagon as it was being driven along Cambridge street, he lost his balance and fell between the wheels and was run over. One of the hind wheels passed over the boy's body and face, breaking three teeth out, besides cutting and bruising him badly on the face and body. The injuries, although quite severe, are happily not of a serious nature.

AN OUTRAGE.—The Post says that a valuable cow owned by Mr. P. H. McIlharggey was taken from the yard where she was kept on Saturday night and after being maltreated and choked was thrown into the river. The cow was one of the number owned by Mr. McIlharggey and kept at the stable known as the Yankee mill stable, and was the only one among the number in the yard that night, the other being locked up. The gate was securely fastened so that the animal could not have effected her escape unaided. The bank of the river just above where the cow was found showed evidence that she had been thrown down the bank. The water was not of sufficient depth to have drowned the cow, which must have been stunned, beaten and choked to death. It is to be hoped that the perpetrators of the outrage may be discovered.

CAMPBELLFORD.

SEATING CAPACITY INCREASED.—The Herald says that an addition to the seating capacity of the Presbyterian Church is to be made in the shape of fifty chairs. They are to be put in this week or next.

THE POPULATION.—The population of Campbellford has increased nearly one hundred since last year. In 1882 it numbered 1,600 persons. Now, according to the returns just made, there are 1,693.

Hurled to His Death.

John McCarthy, employed as an oiler in the Grand Trunk shops at Stratford, was killed on Thursday morning. While oiling a shaft his clothes caught, and he was hurled against a brick wall, his brains being battered out. Death must have been instantaneous, as the revolution of the shaft is rapid. He was a married man with three children, and was generally respected.

A Canadian Artist.

We observe by the cablegrams from Paris that among the Canadian pictures on exhibition at the Salon is one, "La premiere Notion," by Paul Peel. Mr. Peel is a Canadian, a resident of London, Ont., where his father, ex-Alderman J. R. Peel, resides. Mr. Paul Peel, who is barely over age, is an artist of rare promise, reflecting credit on his native land.

Excavating a Mound.

On Thursday a party excavating an ancient mound near Lenoir, N. C., found fifty-six skeletons, some of great size, with most remarkable skulls. A vast quantity of pottery was also uncovered. Within the past two weeks a hundred and fifty skeletons have been discovered. The excavations are still progressing.

The reason why the surgeons of the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, are making so many wonderful cures of catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and consumption are: They have none but skilled and qualified medical men connected with the Institute. They adhere strictly to their specialty and they use the spirometer invented by Mr. Souvielle, ex-aide surgeon of the French army, an instrument which conveys the medicines in the form of cold inhalations to parts diseased, which is the only way these diseases can be cured. They are treating hundreds of patients every month, having twelve surgeons engaged in their work in Canada alone. A Reliable Witness.

Mr. Whyte, late proprietor of the Mansion Saloon, King street, Toronto, writes as follows about Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters: "I have used Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters for nearly four years, and I believe it to be the best medicine in the world. I would not be without it for anything. I have induced scores of people to try it, and when taken according to directions, I have never known it to fail. I call the Bitters, 'The Doctor.' It has certainly been my family doctor ever since I first used it, and will continue to be as long as it acts the same as hitherto. I strongly advise all my friends and the public generally who suffer from any affections of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver or Blood, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Headache, Dizziness, Costiveness, Impurities of the Blood, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc., to buy a bottle of 'The Doctor,' and I am certain that not one will regret having done so. I do not think there is any medicine in the whole world equal to Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters." [Signed] JAS. WHYTE.

I rose early next morning, and sauntered carelessly into the park, making a circuit, to examine the house more thoroughly. If possible, it appeared more sombre and uninviting by daylight than on the previous evening. Not that I attached much importance to the tale of my informant about its being haunted; but its heavy closed windows and its general dilapidated look gave it altogether a chilling appearance, which jarred dismally with the fresh spring scenery around. I cautiously toured the house and made a careful reconnoitring. Apparently, no one was stirring. The front door I found was fastened. I [illegible] quietly round to the yard at the back and tried the latch of the kitchen door. It was fastened also.

"Hallo, guv'nor, what do 'ee want?"

I fairly started, and looked up, for I had thought myself unperceived. I could for the moment see no one.

"Wants to rob the house, do 'ee?" the voice continued. "Wait till I take the muzzle to 'ee. Thieves, thieves!"

At the same moment the barking of a large dog broke forth within the house. I grasped my heavy walking-stick more tightly; it had a loaded handle. I did not feel altogether comfortable. The voice was that of the gardener. He came into the yard through a small doorway which I had not observed, and which led into the garden. He held a long, sharp three-pronged fork in his hand. I saw at a glance that [illegible] was defeated. Supposing the inmates to be ignorant of my arrival, my plan had been to secure quietly by the door until opened for egress, which I had calculated would be early in the morning, by one of the domestics—either for water, as there was a pump in the yard, or for some other purpose—and then slip in with a dash. Once in, I did not despair of holding my ground, for I had on me a couple of very pretty "persuaders," in case of attempted violence—a pair of pocket pistols.

"There!" I said quickly, "Stop that confounded noise. You know better than that. Is Mr. Wintock in?"

The man grinned. "Can't 'zactly say. Dunno. Which on 'em?"

"The elder Mr. Wintock. I want to see him on particular business."

"Do 'ee?"

"Here; come this way a minute," I whispered, at the same time holding up a sovereign between my finger and thumb and stepping under cover of the eaves of an outhouse. "Now, don't you think you can get me speech of Mr. Wintock this morning for this little bit of yellow stuff? You don't pick up sovereigns every day, I daresay."

I had hastily determined to secure the fellow as an ally if possible, and felt that a bribe was the only means of doing so.

He scratched his head, grinned, and looked wistfully at the coin. "I'd dearly like to say I could—out of doors," and he stretched out his hand for it.

"Not so fast, my mate. You must earn it first. It must be inside. You are not such a flat but that you guess my business here. Let me only put one foot within the doorway, and it is yours."

The gardener gave me a peculiar look, and burst into a loud haw-haw! as he turned away. "No use, mister. T'other chap tried that little game."

I saw my scheme was frustrated, and that there was no help for it. Nevertheless, I hung about the premises for some time, but to no purpose. I went away for a while, and returned again as stealthily as I could. I watched the house for days, and from every available corner that I could use as a hiding-place. The inmates were too much upon their guard. It appeared there was a pump in the scullery as well as in the yard, and plenty of coal in the cellars. The place seemed victualled for a siege. Not a soul ever passed or reopened the door, at least with my cognizance. What orders were issued, were given to Hodge from an upper window, inaccessible by me. At last I determined to give up watching, and try if I could not accomplish my purpose in some other way. I withdrew, foiled, but not defeated.

Thus matters remained for some time, until I began to think I should fare no better than my predecessor, and to grow dispirited; when a lucky accident turned up, which aided me not a little.

One afternoon, disgusted with my ill success, I had taken a walk round the park, and had nearly reached the side remotest from the Hall, when I was startled by hearing sounds of altercation and loud screams for help. I did not hesitate an instant; but in two minutes had scaled the park palings and leaped into the lonely by-road which bounded them on that side. It was well that I did so; for I was just in time to render efficient aid to an elderly female vainly attempting to hold her own against two villainous-looking tramps. The old dame was a carrier from [illegible], a neighbouring town, whither she went [illegible] a week with her cart and blind pony, to fetch and carry for the villagers, packages and parcels of all descriptions, from a [illegible] to half a pound of tea. The tramps attempted to help themselves to some of the provisions in the vehicle; and being resisted by her, were just on the point of using violence when I rushed unperceived to the rescue, and caused the fellows to beat a retreat.

The dame was profuse in her thanks for my timely assistance, and earnest in her way to make some recompense. The poor old creature had been terribly alarmed, and shook like an aspen. In assisting her to repack her things, and in trying to reassure her, I very naturally inquired where she was going.

"Deed, an' I be goin' on to the Hall."

The mention of the Hall aroused my attention, and an idea immediately occurred to me. This time, however, I determined to experimentalize, without taking my ally into my confidence.

"Going to the Hall, mother, are you?" I said carelessly. "Ah! I suppose you take parcels there very often, of course?"

"Why, yes, I do, and I don't now. I go every fortnight for the linen. The family don't wash at home; they send it all to Mrs. Biggs at the village. These clothes baskets you see there," she added pointing to them, "are for the Wintocks; I'm goin' to leave 'em as I go along."

"Well, dame," I said, "I am only out for a stroll. Perhaps those scamps may be lurking about somewhere, to give you another turn as soon as I am fairly out of sight. Suppose I ride a little with you for protection. What say you?"

The dame willingly assented; and I mounted the cart beside her. It was pretty closely packed with sundry parcels, besides the baskets in question, and well secured behind with a coverlet, tied down to the hinder part of the cart. The blind pony started at a shambling trot. Mrs. Stokes and I got into conversation.

"How do you contrive to get those great baskets out of the cart and into the house?"

"Oh, that's easily done. I undo the cloth behind; and Martha—that's the old woman at the Hall—or else the Italian servant, helps me in with 'em."

And so we jogged on, chatting, round the exterior of the park, until within a few dozen yards of its gates.

"Dame!" I said suddenly, "I did you a good turn a little while back; now I want you to do one for me in return."

Mrs. Stokes was taken at a disadvantage, and looked at me with a perplexed expression upon her countenance. She clearly did not know what to make of my observation.

"I see that your cart is well filled behind," I continued, "so as to screen any one in front from observation, while you are unloading the baskets, if he crouches in this spare place by the seat. Now, I have a fancy just to ride up close to the Hall, so as to get a peep at it unperceived, and which I can easily do through this small hole in the side of the cart. I have heard a great deal of talk about the old place during the short time I have been in this part of the country, and feel a little curious; but, for a certain reason of my own, I don't wish to be seen by the inmates."

"Mercy up! man!" ejaculated the old lady, with a pull at the reins which brought the blind pony to a sudden stand, almost flinging him upon his haunches, "what can you want such a thing as that for? I hope you mean no harm. Surely your face is too honest for a ——"

"Burglar," said I finishing the sentence for her. "Now, that's very complimentary indeed, after the assistance I gave you just now. I never heard of a thief interfering to prevent a robbery."

I spoke as if offended, and could see that the poor old creature's feelings were hurt.

"No, no! I didn't mean that. But it seems such an odd thing like."

"Dame! I suppose they pay you pretty regularly up there?"

"Humph! Wish I could say they did. Owe me a matter of a dozen shillings. Always behind. Promise to pay. Get a little by dribs and drabs. It's hard lines, though, for a poor old body like me."

"Ah, now! let me do as I say, and here's a sovereign for you; that will clear the debt and leave you a little balance besides."

The old lady looked at me hard in the face, and then at the coin. "I understand," she said; "a friend of the family—wants to see without being seen, before making yourself known. Just come from abroad perhaps, eh? No! young man; put up your money. One good turn deserves another. It shall never be said that old Sally Stokes was too greedy to return a favour without being paid for it, so you may just do as you please."

"Thank'ee, mother. I know you would oblige me. If ever I have the chance, I'll repay you with interest; but I shall insist upon your accepting this at least," at the same time slipping a [illegible] into her palm. "Now, don't speak to me, or take any more notice of me than if I was a young sucking-pig for the Squire's table." So saying, I crouched down in the coveted corner, and disposed a few of the parcels so as to effectually screen me from observation. In a few seconds more we had entered the park. Jog, jog, up the long avenue, through the wicket gate, and up to the back door. The dame alighted, rang the bell, and commenced unfastening the coverlet behind. An upper window was opened. "Oh, its only Mrs. Stokes with the linen," said a female voice. "Wait till I chain up the dog;" and the window was immediately closed again.

I began to feel nervous for the success of my plan. Soon the door was opened; and with a passing observation, the female servant of Mr. Wintock commenced assisting Mrs. Stokes with the first and largest basket of linen. I waited till I saw them enter the house and turn up a long passage; then, hastily alighting from the cart, I slipped softly after them.

Recognition Service.

The Intelligencer contains the following account of a reception given in Belleville to the Rev. E. J. Stobo:—

"On the evening of Thursday, the 3rd of May, at 7.30, a very interesting and profitable service took place in the Belleville Baptist Church, in connection with the settlement of the Rev. E. J. Stobo as Pastor. The following was the order of service: A. G. Northrup, Esq., presided. Rev. W. Walsh read 1 Tim. iii. 1-17, 1-16; and the Rev. R. N. Burns led in prayer. The Rev. M. W. McLean gave the charge to the pastor, and the Rev. S. J. Sherry the charge to the Church. The Rev. Mr. Ryan, in the name of the ministers, gave Mr. Stobo the right hand of welcome, and the Rev. A. Schuster spoke a few encouraging words to the pastor and people. The choir, led by Prof. Riggs, rendered with good taste some fine pieces of music. The company then retired to the school hall to partake of refreshments provided, in the most generous manner, by the ladies of the church, and after a social time the company broke up singing the hymn 'Blest be the tie.' The meeting was a success in every way, and an occasion long to be remembered by all present."

Arrival of Immigrants.

A despatch from Montreal says that two thousand five hundred immigrants, 900 being Irish and the remainder English and Scotch, had arrived there. The Irish contingent came out under the auspices of the Tuke committee, and are apparently a well to do lot of people. They all proceeded to Ontario and the Northwest, and [illegible] of these immigrants arrived in Peterborough to-day, fifteen on the 3.30 train and a family of five persons at noon. They were taken in charge by Mr. Thos. Kelly and Mr. John Hackett, who cared for them. Their expenses here were paid by the St. Vincent de Paul Society. Employment has been found for five of the male immigrants, and the others will be found work at once. Messrs. Hackett and Kelly have shown such aptitude for this work that it would be advisable for the Tuke committee to appoint them agents at Peterborough, and thus continually have the advantage of their abilities.

A Fast Run.

BUFFALO, May 4.—The Vanderbilt party returning from Detroit yesterday made the run Essex Centre to St. Thomas—86 miles—in 95 minutes, including two stoppages at two stations of seven minutes. From St. Thomas to Niagara Junction—116 miles—two hours and twenty three minutes were occupied, but this included stoppages of 26 minutes. When the stoppages are deducted the actual running time between Essex Centre and Niagara Junction—212 miles—was 206 minutes, the fastest run for the distance ever made, it is said, on an American road.

Ladies desiring Neat and Stylish Millinery, at close prices, will be agreeably surprised at the variety to choose from on visiting Turnbull's Show Rooms.

OBEDIENCE.

It is a happy thing that the moral education of a child resolves itself into a single principle—that of obedience. The life of a dependent being must ever be a life of faith, and the essential property of faith is obedience. This runs through all the relations of this life and those which take hold of the eternal future.

It is not without a deeply-seated reason that provision is made for training in this direction by the nature of the child's mind, and may be begun at the very commencement of intelligent life.

Every parent rejoices in the evidences of mind in even the infant of a few days. The dawn of intelligence is very early. Few have not noticed too, how early, with intelligence, is developed will power and a desire to exert it. "He has a will of his own," is often said of an infant who has been but a few days in his nurse's arms. Now with the development of intellect the education is to begin. Why not?

The mother has the hours in her grasp when largely the question of character is determined, and they are the hours when it can be decided easiest and best. All is simplified for her. It is not as if there were long and intricate processes of thought and wide generalizations to be made. It is all comprehended in just one word—obedience.

In these infantile days the parent is in the place of God. The child knows no other God. By the divine ordering the parent is there with all the great responsibilities of the place. The baby instinctively recognizes the paternal authority, whether he yields to it or not. By-and-by he will have other laws which can be recognized, and he will meet God's authority. If he has learned to obey the lower he will be the better prepared to yield freely and willingly to the higher.

To a Christian parent nothing will seem so important as that the child shall be a child of God, renewed by the Holy Spirit, and be made a heir of glory. When shall the parent begin to do what he can to bring this great end about? The answer is the same:—In these same infantile days.—Christian Union.

To Cure a Cold.

A bad cold, like measles or mumps, or other similar ailments, will run its course of about ten days, in spite of what may be done for it, unless remedial means are employed within forty-eight hours of its inception. Many a useful life may be spared to be increasingly useful, by cutting a cold short off, in the following safe and simple manner:—On the first day of taking a cold, there is a very unpleasant sensation of chilliness. The moment you observe this, go to your room and stay there; keep it at such a temperature as will entirely prevent this chilly feeling, even if it requires a hundred degrees of Fahrenheit. In addition, put your feet in water, half leg deep, as hot as you can bear it, adding hotter water from time to time for a quarter of an hour, so that the water shall be hotter when you take your feet out than when you put them in; then dry them thoroughly, and put on warm, thick woollen stockings, even if it be summer, for summer colds are the most dangerous and for twenty-four hours, eat not an atom of food; but drink as largely as you desire of any kind of warm teas, and at the end of that time, if not sooner, the cold will be effectually broken, without any medicine whatever.

Efficient as the above means are, not one in a thousand will attend to them, led on as men are by the hope that a cold will pass off of itself; nevertheless this article will now and then pass under the eye of a wise man, who does not choose to run the double risk of taking physic and dying too.—Journal of Health.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN EXTERNAL MEANS OF CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferers for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcula which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produces a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar to itself, is the most potent remedy to all skin disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the world so perfectly compatible for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used more and more favourably to [illegible] eruptions. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly affected with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION. BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Bottles, 32 doses, 4s. 6d.; next size 11s. Sold by chemists everywhere. The name of J. Pepper, Bedford Laboratory, London, must be on the label. There is no Tonic so suitable in effect as Pepper's Quinine and Iron. It is strongly recommended to residents in India and the Colonies, and should always be kept ready for use in every case of fever or febrile condition.

TARAXACUM and PODOPHYLLIN.—Prepared only by J. Pepper, London. This fluid combination, extracted from medicinal roots, is now used instead of blue pill and calomel for the cure of dyspepsia, biliousness, and all symptoms of congestion of the liver, which are generally pain beneath the shoulders, head-ache, drowsiness, no appetite, furred tongue, disagreeable taste in the morning, giddiness, disturbance of the stomach, and feeling of general depression. It sets the sluggish liver in motion, very slightly acts on the bowels, giving a sense of health and comfort within 24 hours. It is the safest medicine. Taraxacum and Podophyllin is a fluid made only by J. PEPPER, Bedford Laboratory, London, whose name is on every label. Bottles, 2s. 9d. and 4s. 6d. Sold by all chemists. Industries Prospering.

Since the inauguration of a wise fiscal policy by the Dominion Government, many new industries have been developed in our midst. A notable example is the Canada soap and oil works of Messrs. Rodgers, Maclay & Co. Their business has increased to such dimensions that even the great capacity of their manufactory is severely put to the test in supplying the demands. The machinery is kept running long into the night. And the same may be said of many other industries throughout the city.—Mail.

INVESTIGATION WANTED.

NEWARK, N. J., May 7.—At the next meeting of the bond-holders a demand will be made for an investigation into the Essex County asylum. The allegation is made that the patients have been treated in a shocking manner. Several former inmates have made affidavits containing charges. The warden declares that the charges are groundless.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

ELPASO, Texas, May 7.—Adjutant General Drum, and Colonel Barr, Assistant Judge Advocate-General and private secretary to Secretary Lincoln, have arrived here. It is believed that their visit has been in part directed by the possible complications that may arise from the operations of General Crooks.

HEARTLESS CONDUCT.

BOSTON, May 7.—John Callahan, of Winchester, went to Woburn on Saturday, and bought a gallon of liquor, and went on a spree. He brought a three-year-old child with him, and forced him to drink all he could, and then threw liquor in his face. The child went into convulsions and died this morning.

THE CARRYING TRADE.

CHICAGO, May 7.—Last week five million bushels of grain left this port by water for the east. A large part is consigned to New York by lake and rail and lake and canal. Much of the grain, however, will, on its arrival at Buffalo, be distributed throughout the eastern states. Many vessels are now on their way to Buffalo. They had been loaded all winter. The clearances from this port during the past week, average 100 a day. The receipts of grain here are still very large.

CENTURY AND A QUARTER OLD.

CENTREVILLE, Ohio, May 7.—It is alleged that John Blizzard (colored), who just died here, was 125 years old.

AN OUTRAGE.

LITTLE ROCK, May 7.—In Scott county, Mo., four masked men visited the house of an old colored man, whose daughter was dead, and forcing themselves in, fired a shot into the body and another into the arm of one of the inmates of the house. The villains escaped unrecognized.

SHERIDAN'S CASE.

NEW YORK, May 7.—The Herald's Washington despatch says it is understood that Minister West has fully represented to the Government the embarrassing position in which he is placed by the failure to bring forward the evidence necessary for the preliminary hearing of Sheridan's case. It is said that the reasons now alleged for the delay on the part of the home Government do not decrease his mortification. Had the accusation never been made against Sheridan the information now in the British Foreign Office would probably have postponed the demand for the warrant issued by the State Department on the 23rd of February in Sheridan's case. The evidence on which a Dublin Grand Jury may find indictments, while it might be sufficient to convict the accused under a special Court of three judges created by the Irish Crimes Act, would not warrant their surrender by this Government, under the treaty fixed by a series of unbroken precedents. The evidence must establish the commission of murder, or assault with intent to commit murder. Even if the indictment and evidence should appear on the presentation to establish their guilt, still the United States could demand that they should have a trial before a jury of their peers, according to common law in the case of assassination or murder. It is now well understood that our Government does not recognize such a crime as a political offence.

A SMALL-POX SCOURGE.

WHEELING, W. VA., May 7.—A small-pox plague is raging in Mercer County. The disease originated two weeks ago from a tramp who was taken sick and who stopped at the house of a farmer named Blankinship. In a day or two Blankinship was taken sick with eruptive disease. The doctor pronounced the disease chicken-pox. The patient died, and the funeral was attended by 200 people. As a consequence the disease was distributed throughout the country. The physician was taken sick himself, and after visiting patients several days, called in a brother physician who for the first time made known the character of the scourge. The disease spread with alarming rapidity. Up to this time forty cases have occurred, and fifteen deaths. The situation is daily becoming worse, and the greatest alarm prevails. The country has been put under strict quarantine by the State Board of Health. A county Vigilance Committee has been formed and with a special vote of money by the County Court, are superintending the importation of nurses, making vaccination compulsory, and doing everything possible to prevent the further spread of the disease. So far they have meet with indifferent success. The greatest indignation is felt towards the delinquent physician, whose death is hourly expected.

STILL REFUSES TO TESTIFY.

DUBLIN, May 5.—O'Connor, who was committed to gaol at Cork for refusing to give evidence at a private enquiry, was again called upon to-day to testify, but declined, and was remanded to gaol for a week.

A NEW PANEL.

DUBLIN, May 5.—Fitzharris will be tried by special jury as accessory to the murder of Mr. Burke, and for the murder of Lord Cavendish. An entirely new jury panel will be summoned.

A ROYAL MARRIAGE.

BERLIN, May 5.—A marriage has been arranged between the hereditary Prince of Anhalt and the second daughter of the Crown Prince Frederick William of Prussia.

PRUSSIA AND THE VATICAN.

ROME, May 5.—The reply of the Prussian Government to the letter of Cardinal Jacobini, papal Secretary of State, is expected immediately. It is believed it will be favourable to the demands of the Vatican, and will relate rather to the abrogation of the penal provisions of the May laws than to the revision of the organic laws.

"NUMBER ONE."

LONDON, May 6.—It is reported that J. P. Tynan, "No. 1," is in the care of the police of this city kept in seclusion, and a statement was made early this morning on what is regarded as good authority, that he is prepared to furnish all the information in his possession of Irish plots to the Government.

LEFT THE CITY.

DUBLIN, May 6.—Since the beginning of the second private enquiry into the murder conspiracy instituted by Mr. Curran, divisional magistrate of the metropolitan police, two hundred persons have left the city.

A MOURNFUL ANNIVERSARY.

DUBLIN, May 6.—To-day being the anniversary of the Phoenix Park murders, many persons visited the scene of the crime.

A CONFLICT IMMINENT.

FLEECING THE CONSUL.

NEW YORK, May 6.—John Devoy says the British consul here has been repeatedly fleeced by persons professing to have information of Irish plots, but who in reality know nothing.

WISHING TO RESIGN.

NEW YORK, May 6.—A London special says Mr. Barry, the Irish member of Parliament who secured for Tynan the position he held as commercial traveller, has offered to resign his seat, on the ground that his presence might prove embarrassing to Mr. Parnell. Mr. Dwyer Gray also informed Mr. Parnell that he intended to resign, giving as his reason that ill-health and his journalistic duties necessitated his resignation. Mr. Parnell strongly urged both to retain their seats.

A SHAKEN MINISTRY.

NEW YORK, May 6.—The World's London special says:—The Bradlaugh affair has greatly weakened the ministry, and may result in its downfall.

LORNE'S SUCCESSOR.

NEW YORK, May 6.—The Times' London special says:—It is now decided that the Marquis of Lorne shall return to London in December. Lord Dalhousie will probably succeed him as Governor-General of Canada.

THE TRANSVAAL.

NEW YORK, May 6.—The Times' London special says:—An agent of the Transvaal Government has presented to Lord Derby demands for abolishing English suzerainty, the recognition of the Transvaal as an independent republic, the reduction of Great Britain's debt one-half, and the extensions of the Transvaal to the old south-west frontier. It is understood Earl Derby favours all but the last clause.

IMMIGRATION TO CANADA.

Canada Appreciated—Additions to Our Population—Only the First Flight.

A despatch from Liverpool in the Edinburg Scotsman of the 20th of April says:—

"Notwithstanding the fact that emigration from Europe, via British ports, is showing a considerable falling off this spring, the number of persons seeking homes in Canada has vastly increased. To-day the first steamer of the season for the St. Lawrence left the Mersey; and Messrs. Allan found it necessary to despatch three vessels, the Parisian, the Grecian and the Australia, which together convey 2,400 emigrants, nine-tenths of whom are British. The Ontario also left with a large number, making a total of over 3,000 for Canada in one day, or more than double the number who have previously sailed on any one day. Next week Mr. Richardson, of Mr. Arch's Agricultural Labourers' Union, leaves with 200 selected agricultural labourers for the Dominion. A large proportion of the whole are bound for Manitoba. Continental emigrants are also looking very favourably towards the Dominion, and arrangements are being made for the exodus of large number of Swedes, Norwegians, Danes, Swiss, and Germans. Many of the British emigrants who sailed to-day for Manitoba are men of some capital.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate

IN SEASICKNESS.

Prof. Adolph Ott, New York, says:—"I used it for seasickness, among the passengers, during a passage across the Atlantic. In the plurality of cases, I saw the violent symptoms yield, which characterize that disease, and give way to a healthful action of the functions impaired."

A FINE HIT.—When the proprietors of Burdock Blood Bitters put this renowned medicine on the market, they hit it exactly. They hit dyspepsia, indigestion, and liver and kidney complaints a hard blow, from which they will never recover.

MONDAY, MAY 7, 1883.

CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

We publish, though it is unnecessarily and inconveniently long, a letter upon the subject of the proposed House of Refuge and Hospital, because it is a matter of great importance, and as the Review is the only daily paper in the town or county we think it our duty to give as much space as possible to both sides of any question of local interest. We must not be assumed to endorse the statements of the writer; indeed we think that he has greatly exaggerated the probable expenditure, and the tirade as to old country poor-laws is beside the question. Neither does the writer take sufficiently into consideration the fact that in some cases relief must be and is now given, and that it is well to discuss the most efficacious and economical mode of affording it. On the other hand we fully agree with the necessity of avoiding artificial pauperism, and the dependence of the lazy and improvident upon their more industrious and self-denying fellows.

If we look the matter fairly in the face we must acknowledge that a large amount is spent in so-called charity. We have those quasi public benefactions the William Hall Poor Fund and the Protestant Home, yet, besides their large expenditure we find that considerable sums are dispensed annually by the Charity Committee of the town, and by the County and Township Councils, to say nothing of private benevolence.

It is very true that this is not a country of grinding poverty, that the industrious can readily obtain means to support themselves and their families. But what if industry is paralyzed by sickness or accident; what if a family's means of support is cut off by the death of the bread-winner? Such things unfortunately must be, and provision must be made for such exceptional cases. Neither individual men nor the community can stand aloof and say that it is no affair of theirs.

The question is how to make this provision without encouraging pauperism and idleness, while relieving unavoidable distress. It cannot be said that it is being done in an economical or sensible manner at present, and this is greatly from want of co-operation. The matter should be considered, and that very carefully. How easy it is to do harm, even with the best intentions, is shown by the fact that the William Hall Poor Fund seems to have dried up the sources from which the Protestant Home derived its revenues. Let the committees thoroughly consider the subject, taking counsel with the trustees of these bodies and others whose experience might be useful.

As for a hospital, we think the time has come when we should have such an institution in Peterborough, but it should be seen that any plan devised should prevent the cost from bearing oppressively upon those who have hard work to support themselves and their families, while relieving the sick or injured.

We feel less confident on the subject of a House of Refuge, for we believe it would be very difficult so to regulate it as not to encourage pauperism. The committee should make public their ideas, so as to have the benefit of public discussion and consideration.

While improvidence and extravagance are to be avoided, it must be borne in mind that we have a duty to perform towards the sick, the afflicted, and the bereaved.

THE DOMINION LAND LAWS.

The bill which has just been passed consolidating and amending the laws in relation to our Northwest lands, is so excellent that in committee of the whole it obtained general approval, even including that of the Opposition members, those from Manitoba being unanimous in its praise. As, however, it was deemed necessary to attack a Government measure, whether right or wrong, Mr. Charlton, always ready to oppose the truth for a party end, even though he has to eat his own previous words, ventured to assail the Ministry by wandering over the whole subject, and uttering falsehood after falsehood. He received a well-deserved castigation from Sir John Macdonald, Dr. Bergin and others, who thoroughly exposed his falsification and inconsistencies.

It was conclusively shown that our land regulations are more liberal than those of the United States as to the size and terms of settlement of free grants, and as to the price of purchased land. So far from the whole country being locked up in grants to corporations, hardly a tenth part of the estimated area of arable land is so appropriated. Instead of the colonization companies (a system introduced by Mr. Mackenzie) being unduly favoured, they have found the terms so onerous that the great majority of them declined to take up their grants, and most of the remaining two dozen are working energetically at introducing settlers. If the other grantees thought they were going into a good speculation they quickly found their mistake and retired, among these being the "Press Company," about which the Ottawa Free Press is raging, as if it would not have complained so bitterly if the terms had been relaxed. And these companies are not monopolies, as has been asserted, for the alternate lots are still left open for free settlers, who must share in the prosperity of the companies. There is, in fact, abundance of land to be given away for homesteads, while enough is being sold to give promise of recouping the cash expenditure for the great railway which is opening up the country, for which purpose, it will be remembered, 100,000,000 acres have been set apart by parliament. As to the timber lands the practice of disposing of them by private bargain was established by Mr. Mackenzie, who repealed the law requiring public auction, and Sir John Macdonald continued this system because, as he said, it facilitated the procuring of timber for the settlers, but he reduced Mr. Mackenzie's term of twenty-one years for the license to one year only. And as Dr. Bergin pointed out, of 28 licenses granted not less than 22 were to Reformers.

In short, the country is being rapidly peopled, it is being improved and opened by one great railway, and the cost of this national work is being met from the proceeds of the land. It is no wonder that Mr. Charlton's amendment was voted down by a majority of two to one, among them being the Reform members from Manitoba, with the exception of one, who set party before country. The Opposition had better try some other point of attack.

THE WORLD CONFESSES.

The Cobourg World has a column and a half article on the Boundary Award, consisting in about equal parts of violent abuse of the Review and falsehoods as to the question at issue.

The only two points of importance in this heap of rubbish, are as follows:—

The World now publishes the whole sentence which it formerly mutilated by leaving out the words showing that Mr. Mousseau said he communicated his views to Mr. Masson, because they refuted its falsehood that he confessed having urged these conditions upon Sir John Macdonald. The dishonest falsification is in fact admitted by the World.

As to the other point, Sir John Macdonald, Mr. Mousseau and Mr. Masson deny that there was any condition laid down on the boundary question when the latter gentlemen were at different times admitted to the cabinet. The World, which of course knows better, having been consulted as to the formation of the cabinet and having been present when the portfolios were offered and accepted, says that these gentlemen are wrong, and that conditions as to the boundary were imposed. Thus it remains a question of veracity between the very truthful World and these statesmen. We are content to let it remain so.

MADOC.

Lacrosse.—A lacrosse club has been organized in Madoc, and it certainly should prosper. The Warden of the County is Honorary President, a Methodist clergyman President, an M. P. P., Vice-President, the proprietor of a mine 2nd Vice-President, and an editor Field Captain. The club starts with a large membership.

Attempted Shooting.—The Review says that on Thursday night Mrs. Newells, of Tudor, had her husband, Francis Newells, arrested for shooting at her, the ball from the rifle grazing her cheek. He was put in the lockup here but managed to break out before morning and escaped. Mrs. Newells did not appear anxious to prosecute.

IRELAND.

It is said that the Parnell testimonial now amounts to $30,000.

A Dublin merchant has absconded to Spain, after having traded largely upon forged bills. Two of the Dublin banks hold fictitious bills to the amount of several thousands.

At Limerick, on April 9th, Frederick Hefferman, schoolmaster and postmaster of Drumkeen, was committed for trial on a charge of firing a revolver at two policemen at Ballysimon.

Mr. Drummond, a London banker, who recently evicted a number of his tenantry on his Mounteagle property, near Castleisland, has advertised these farms to let. They comprise over two thousand acres.

A fund has been opened among the Irish Members of Parliament for the purpose of raising enough money to defray the expenses of a party of fifty Irish fishermen to visit the London Fisheries Exhibition.

London has a larger population than many a European State with a Sovereign and a Parliament. At the census of 1881 the area of metropolitan taxation and police contained 4,764,312.

Accidents.

Last week a Kingston despatch says, a foreman working on Ryan's contract in running away from a blast slipped and broke his arm. Next, a section man on the K. & P. R. R. fell off the lorry, and the wheels of the car ran over his head and partially scalped him. The most serious damage was done by the explosion of a blast on the Ontario & Quebec Railway. A stone weighing 100 pounds was carried 150 yards. It struck a window in the house of James Moore. Mrs. Moore was near the window when the missile came through, and it struck her a glancing blow and she fell on the bed. Mrs. Moore's face was terribly disfigured. She is in a dangerous condition.

A Reliable Witness.

Mr. Whyte, late proprietor of the Mascot Saloon, King-street, Toronto, writes as follows about Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters: "I have used Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters for nearly four years, and I believe it to be the best medicine in the world. I would not be without it for anything. I have induced scores of people to try it, and when taken according to directions, I have never known it to fail. I call the Bitters, "The Doctor." It has certainly been my family doctor ever since I first used it, and will continue to be as long as it acts the same as hitherto. I strongly advise all my friends and the public generally who suffer from any affections of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver or Blood, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Headache, Dizziness, Costiveness, Impurities of the Blood, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc., to buy a bottle of "The Doctor," and I am certain that not one will regret having done so. I do not think there is any medicine in the whole world equal to Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters." [Signed] Jas. Whyte.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcule which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produces a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent agency to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its daily increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

HOUSE AND HOSPITAL.

To the Freeholders and Tax-payers of the Town and County of Peterborough.

GENTLEMEN,—At the last meeting of the County Council of this county a report was brought into the Council by the Committee, of which Mr. Collins, Reeve of North Monaghan, was chairman, recommending the building of a House of Refuge or Poor House by the County, and inviting the co-operation of this town therein. The following appears in the report: "Your Committee are satisfied that the aggregate annual amounts expended by the several municipalities in the County for charitable purposes are $1,500." Again, "Your Committee most respectfully recommend that a House of Refuge and Industry be established in this county." Again, "Your Committee is of the opinion that it is not desirable to have a large quantity of land in connection with such an institution, as the labour of the inmates thereof would not be profitable, and that they are of opinion that not more than forty acres would be required for a site. The land suitable for such a purpose could be got in a suitable locality for from forty to fifty dollars an acre, and the cost of a building adapted to the present wants of the County would not exceed from $12,000 to $15,000, furnished. In the opinion of your Committee the town of Peterborough should be invited to join with the County in the establishment of the institution and they would therefore recommend that the matter be brought before the Town Council during the Session." This matter was brought before the town Council at a late meeting. The following is a history of their proceedings:—

[We have not space to repeat this, but it will be found in our Town Council report in the DAILY REVIEW of May 1st, and the WEEKLY REVIEW of May 4th.—ED. REVIEW.]

You have now got to face these two schemes and to deal with them,—and I hope and trust that you will do so in such a manner as will show the visionaries who are trying to force upon our young, free country a system of pauperism and laziness similar to that existing in Ireland and England, where people are made poor and deprived of all means of self-support by the rich, and are to a large extent trained to rely upon charity and thus to divest themselves of all feelings of independence and self-respect. And I am surprised to see among the supporters of the proposed system of pauperism here some of the very men who have seen the effects of this system of poor houses in the old country and who, from actual experience and daily observation, know full well what a pernicious and degrading system it is. For our own sakes and for the benefit of common humanity do not encourage the introduction among us of one of the worst practices of the old, down trodden peoples of the old word, practices which were the offspring of old, aristocratic, feudal times, when the few reigned and ruled and the great mass of the people were crushed down by a grinding despotism and were no better than slaves. Canada is a young country, just springing into national existence. All men are free and equal here. There is abundance of land and abundance of everything for every body who will only reach out his hand and take it. Every person can have enough and to spare if he only wills it. All he has to do is to be industrious, temperate and honest, and he will soon have around him a comfortable home and be able to train his family in intelligence, peace and independence. Instead of being paupers, depending upon the community for their daily bread, they will be taught to grow up useful citizens, [illegible] and [illegible] of a country [illegible] to equal before the law. Let the freeholders and taxpayers consider these things well, and consider what it is they are asked to do, and especially to count the cost before they allow their municipal representatives to drag them into a work, the end of which they cannot foresee, and the cost of which they cannot at present estimate. And I warn the freeholders to be on their guard and to remember that it is their land which has to bear the brunt, because it is the land alone, when all else fails, which has to stand behind these schemes and which ultimately may have to bear the cost. It is all very well for people who have no land of their own, to talk so flippantly and so patronizingly about costly projects in which they really have no right to interfere. Mere sentimentalism won't do here. Something more than mere pretended superiority of social position is required, and it would look better if such silly affectation were left at home, and the hard dry facts of public duty, like those now under consideration, given to those to deal with, the people, who alone have an interest in them and who alone have to bear the cost. Once begin a system of poor houses in this young country, [illegible] begin to degrade and pauperize the people, [illegible] teach them that they need not work and that they may rely on the community for support, and the effect will soon be seen in their demoralization and thriftlessness. Once begin this system and you at once withdraw from those who could easily support themselves, all motive for exertion, because you teach them that they need no exertion. And the result of this in a comparatively short time would be to train up a portion of our people to habits of dissipation, vice and idleness. There should be no poor houses in Canada. Every man should be compelled to rely upon his own industry, and when cases of mere accidental poverty or misfortune do arise, the people in the different municipalities where they occur can best deal with them, and they alone ought to do so. Now look at the burdens which you would entail upon yourselves, should you be foolish enough to enter upon this ruinous undertaking. The County Council Committee say that fifty acres of land would be required, and that the building and furnishing would cost some $15,000. They estimate that the land can be bought for $50 per acre. This building would almost necessarily have to be placed near the town of Peterborough, and this land could never be bought for less than $100 per acre, and perhaps more. At $100 per acre, the outlay for the land would be $5,000, and you may safely say that the building and furnishing would be $25,000. The net cost of land and buildings would then be $30,000, and this sum at 6 per cent. interest would alone amount to $1,800. The cost of maintainence would yearly amount to not less than $6,000 or more; more likely $7,000. Put this sum with the $1,800 interest and you have a yearly expenditure of $8,800, against $1,500 which the committee say the county is paying now. But I don't believe the county is now paying as much as $1,500. Nor do I believe it is paying $1,000. Assuming this latter sum to be correct, you would, if you went into the poor house business, be paying yearly nearly $8,000 beyond what you are paying now. The annual cost of the poor house in the county of Middlesex is said to be over $8,500, and all the paraphernalia employed there you would have to employ here. There would be a principal in charge of the building and inmates at a large salary, a matron or housekeeper at a large salary, a large number of servants at large salaries, a doctor at a large salary, any quantity of provisions, wood and coal, and other items too numerous to mention, and as the public would have to pay for all, you may be quite sure that prices would not diminish, for you ought to know by this time how carelessly and wastefully the money of the people is used. So much for the county poor house.

In addition to all this, in which the people of this town are expected to join, they are also told that the town must have a hospital. One of the reasons advanced by General Haultain was that there was no place for the railway labourers to go to when they required treatment. In other words, he said that it was the duty of the taxpayers of this town to furnish accommodation and support and medical help to such of the vast number of men employed on the railways as might require the same. In other words, he said that the people of this town ought to receive and attend to the needs of every man in the county. There is a hospital at Toronto which has to be kept up by Government support, but that is not sufficient to satisfy the liberality of General Haultain, so he calls upon the Council and tells them that Peterborough must provide additional accommodation out of the moneys of the taxpayers—accommodation which the hospital at Toronto cannot furnish without a large annual grant from Government. Nobody can properly estimate the yearly cost of such an institution among us, but, as, according to the report of the officials of that little affair, the Protestant Home, whose annual expenses are about $1,000, it may be safely assumed that the annual cost of a general hospital by the town would not be less than the cost of the county poor house, some $7,000 or $8,000 more, for all the labour and machinery required in the county poor house would be required in the Peterborough Hospital. If, therefore, the people of Peterborough allow themselves to be drawn into these two wild, useless schemes, they would have to raise therefor, every year, an additional sum of some ten thousand dollars out of their taxes, and for which they would get no return. Let the people of the town and county ponder well these things, and if they disapprove of them, as I am sure they will do, they must see to it whilst there is yet time, that their representatives in the County and Town Councils do not precipitate the work, and force it upon them whether they will or not To this end there is no time to lose. If the county and town go into this poor house business, let them not forget that the yearly cost thereof, capitalized at five per cent, represents a debenture debt of two hundred thousand dollars, and if the town builds and keeps up the hospital, their debenture debt will be the same. I ask the people if they do not think they could employ all this money to a better purpose.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, MAY 7, 1883.

Houses and Lots.

The great auction sale of Mr. Dumble's town property is adjourned until Thursday evening, the 10th instant, at 8 o'clock, in the Caisse House.

Is Your Watch Clean.

Watches that are continually stopping and getting out of order, can be properly repaired by leaving them at Hughan's Shop, office lately occupied by E. Burnham, Simcoe street.

Social.

A social will be held in the School room of the St. Andrew's Church on Tuesday evening next, under the auspices of the Young People's Association. A musical and literary programme will be provided, and refreshments will be served during the evening.

The Cells.

The police cells were tenanted on Saturday night by one tramp. On Sunday night they were empty. The town appears to be remarkably law-abiding at the present time, the orderly conduct of its citizens no doubt exerting an influence upon any visitors who have not the principles of the law so much at heart.

Personal.

The Rev. Mr. Speller, of McMaster Hall, Toronto, occupied the pulpit on Sunday night and delivered excellent discourses at the morning and evening services in the Baptist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Dadson, editor of the Canadian Baptist, will occupy the pulpit in the same church next Sunday.

"Esmeralda."

The company which is to present "Esmeralda,"—the great domestic play—shortly in this town, comes to us from the Madison Square Theatre, N. Y. Every actor is a worthy artist. The scenery, too, from New York will be a feature. The play ran 350 nights in New York city, and is the third in the album of the great Madison Square successes. The public may be assured of a fine performance.

A Convenience.

A general parcel express will commence this week, and it will carry parcels from any of the stores to any party of the town or the village of Ashburnham. This will be a great convenience for the storekeepers, by which they can have the purchases of their customers conveyed to their homes at very little expense and with despatch, and it will, no doubt, be appreciated by them.

IF YOU WANT large fresh oysters dished up in good style, go to T. Darcy's Restaurant and Oyster Parlour.

THE LATE GEO. C. ROGERS.

His Body is Recovered on Sunday, After a Continual Search of Two Weeks.

On Sunday, two weeks and two days after the sad death of Mr. George C. Rogers by drowning, his body was recovered in the river. A continual search had been prosecuted since that time, and all means were tried which gave any hopes of leading to success. Gentlemen who had been his friends were untiring in their efforts in this direction; those employed in the mills aided them in these endeavours, and many more assisted whenever they had an opportunity. The body was found near the trees in the river a short distance below the Ashburnham bridge, at about 12 o'clock noon, by Mr. Robert Sheridan and Mr. Thomas Fair. Sheridan was one of the men who were with Mr. Rogers on the day on which he lost his life, and he has actively assisted during the two weeks in trying to recover the body. At the place where the body was found there is an island, which stretches down the river a short distance, but is at present covered by water. The body was lodged against this island at the upper end, in about three feet of water, and was nearly covered with mill debris and sediment. A portion of the coat which was not held down by this sediment first attracted the attention of the two men when the body was recovered. This spot had been passed over many times during the search, but on Sunday the water was clearer than it had been and was considerably lower, which enabled the men to have a clearer view in the water. It is said that the body had been seen several times, but owing to the difficulty of seeing clearly through the water, and to the body being partly covered and the position in which it was lying, it was not identified. Others soon arrived to assist those who had discovered the body, as there were a number of persons on the river at the time engaged in the same melancholy task, and it was removed from the water and taken to the shore. The body, although a little swollen, was not disfigured.

The funeral takes place this afternoon.

Houses and Lots.

The great auction sale of Mr. Dumble's town property is adjourned until Thursday evening, the 10th instant, at 8 o'clock, in the Caisse House.

An Accident.

On Saturday evening Messrs. David McGrath and Jos. Milligan, of Ashburnham, were bringing a portable engine from Millbrook to Peterborough, for Mr. J. Z. Rogers, the engine being drawn behind a waggon. McGratch fell off the waggon, and being dragged along by the engine behind it, his side was severely bruised.

The Weather.

More rain this morning. The weather continues cloudy and threatening. The weather probabilities, for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a.m. today, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Fresh to strong southerly to westerly winds; cloudy to fair mild weather, with local rains.

The Pedestrain Sports.

Much excitement already prevails among sporting men regarding the go-as-you-please race billed for the 14th and 15th. Owing to bogus races which have taken place in the past, it is looked upon by some with suspicion, but when it is known that Mr. T. McNaughton is again the promoter, juding from the high character of his previous tournaments, sports can look forward to a night of fine running conducted in a manner above reproach. Tom. will not pay any man if there is proof that he has bought his place in the race.

A Valuable Stallion Gone.

The stallion "Statesman," the property of Mr. R. W. Bothwell, of Springville, four years old, by "Royal Exchange," died at the stables at Snowden's hotel on Sunday morning, from laminitis, accompanied by an intractable low typhoid fever. He left his owner's stable on Monday morning, and was taken sick at Keene and urged on to Peterborough, where he arrived on Thursday night, very sick. Mr. Beatty was called in, and did all that was possible for him, and on Saturday Mr. Cessar, of Port Hope, was telegraphed for, but their united efforts to save his life were futile. Mr. Bothwell sustains a heavy loss, as the stallion was a valuable one. The owners of horses in such a high condition should be very careful about their hygenic treatment.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.—You can be weak, nervous, debilitated, and despondent, disqualified for work of head or hand, or you can enjoy a fair share of health and peace of mind. Burdock Blood Bitters will alleviate your misery and do you a world of good if you will persevere in their use for a few weeks.

IN the present month Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters should be taken to purify the blood and fortify the system against the severe changes of weather. It improves the circulation and cures Dyspepsia, Billiousness and Sick Headache. In large bottles at 50 cents. Sold by all druggists.

FIRST RATE EVIDENCE.—"Often unable to attend business, being subject to serious disorder of the kidneys. After a long siege of sickness, tried Burdock Blood Bitters and was relieved by half a bottle," Mr. B. Turner, of Rochester, N.Y., takes the pains to write.

Oh, What a Cough.!

Wil you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50 cts., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will Cure your Cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves Croup, and Whooping Cough, at once. Mothers do not be without it. For sale by J D. Tully.

Wide Awake Druggists.

Messrs. Taylor & McDonald are alway alive to their business, and spare no pains to secure the best of every article in their line. They have secured the agency for the celebrated Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. For sale by J. D. Tully.

Thousands Say so.

Mr. T. W. Atkins, Girard. Kan., writes: "I never hesitate to recommend your Electric Bitters to my customers, they give entire satisfaction and are rapid sellers." Electric Bitters are the purest and best medicine known and will positively cure Kidney and Liver complaints purify the blood and regulate the bowels. No family can afford to be without them. They will save hundreds of dollars in doctor's bills every year. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Taylor & McDonald.

NATURE, after all, is the great physician. She hides all the secrets of health within her broad generous bosom, and man needs but to go to her intelligently for his every need. The discovery of the great Cough Remedy, GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM, is an apt illustration of this. As a cure for Coughs, Colds, Loss of Voice and Hoarseness, it stands unrivalled, while its low price and readiness of access places it within the reach of all. Try it and be convinced. All chemists keep it in 25 and 50 cent bottles.

ONE OF OUR BEST CITIZENS would say to the public that he has tried Hall's Catarrh Cure, and that it is all that is claimed for it. Price 75 cents per bottle. For sale by John McKee, druggist.

AN EXCELLENT REPORT.—Hon. Jos. G. Goodridge, of Brooklyn, N.Y., writes:—"I cannot express myself in sufficiently praiseworthy terms of Burdock Blood Bitters which I have used for the past two years with great benefit."

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, MAY 8, 1883.

EVER ready to slander Canada and things Canadian, so long as a Conservative Government is in power, the Globe publishes a letter attacking both our tariff policy and our makers of farm implements, professedly written by a "North West farmer," who, however, does not append his place of residence, and probably farms in King street East. This worthy ally of the Globe says he cannot blame his friends who are going to settle across the line, because they will endure no longer "these exorbitant protective duties," and who therefore very logically betake themselves where the protective duties are far higher. As to our Canadian agricultural implements he says:—"Trashy and unseasoned timber and badly tempered steel with indifferent workmanship, will flood our market under the protection of a 35 per cent duty," and further on he repeats that the North West farmer "cannot afford to throw away his money upon dozed timber, poor steel and poor workmanship, even although they be protected to the tune of 35 per cent." How do our honest and skilful mechanics and manufacturers like the certificates of character lavished upon them by their Reform friends?

REFUGE AND HOSPITAL.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I am not in a position to answer your correspondent as to dollars and cents, nor do I intend to mention anything about that training school of all vice and dissipation, but confine my few lines to the hospital. During the winter there was a man taken ill (who had only been in Canada since November), while at work on the "Missing Link;" one that had left loved ones, hoping to make a home for them, and to bring them out. He took cold, was neglected, and as a result of neglect and want of proper treatment, he died; and the doctor had no hopes of him for the same reason, when under his care. I can give a more detailed account of his sickness and care, if required, and others that have come under my own observation within a short time. But, as that dollar man wishes to measure everything with that corruptable measuring line, can all our loud talk, can keeping the money in our pockets give comfort to a poor man? He says there is plenty for all; if they will only put out their hand to reach it, they can have it. This man was sober, industrious, and careful; he put out his hand to reach, yes, and his body, too, but missed; then "One of Yourselves" would kick him because he fell, yes, jump on him. He may be one who was glad to get a grant once to start him, or he may have to thank others that they were born first; he may be "One of Yourselves" that will give an apple to one that has an orchard; one that can help fine folks, for weeks, because they have plenty; but poor, sick folks don't want anything; they have no feeling; they are not much above the brutes; we don't want them in Canada. But, Sir, if Canada has to be built up, it is the working man who has to do it. I am a working man, and have a fellow feeling for them, and I am glad that that hard-hearted "One of Yourselves," who has classed himself as anonymous, ashamed of his own name, is not one of the working class. But how glad to get the money from the navvies, to put and keep temptation in their way, to drain the last cent from them, but never help them when down, only keep them down. Send them to Toronto, shake the last remaining spark of life out of them in the cars, let them die on the road; say to them, "We have no place here for you, go where you can." Well might Burns say,

Man's inhumanity to man,
Makes countless thousands mourn.

Thanking you for a space in your valuable paper,

KELLY'S THIRD TRIAL.

DUBLIN, May 7.—The third trial of Kelly for participation in the murder of Lord Cavendish and Mr. Burke began to-day. James Carey swore that everyone of the Invincibles, with the exception of Brady, offered to turn informers. Carey said he was the last man who offered to testify against the prisoners. Joseph Hanlon, another informer, confirmed the evidence given by Carey and Kavanagh that Kelly was one of the four men who rode on Kavanagh's car on the evening the Phœnix Park murders were committed.

BISMARCK AGAIN BEARDED.

BERLIN, May 7.—In the debate on the budget for 1884-85 in the Reichstag to-day Herr Richter moved to refer the subject to a commission, it being impossible to make reliable estimates so far ahead. A SCARE AT HALIFAX.

Alleged Fenian Expedition from Boston to Blow up the Shipping.

A despatch from Halifax, dated the 7th, says that military and naval circles are excited over a letter of warning received there. A reporter obtained from parties in a position to know an inkling of the contents of the letter which can be pretty well relied on. Col. Clarke on Sunday communicated to the officers the information, said to be from Sir John Macdonald, that two suspicious vessels, manned, it was believed, by Fenians, and carrying a quantity of torpedoes and other dangerous explosives, had sailed from Boston a few days ago, and it was thought intended to make Halifax their destination. On arriving there, it was asserted that the torpedoes with which the vessels were laden, would be laid, as opportunity offered, beneath the water with the intention of blowing up shipping, entering or leaving. A line of torpedoes was to be stretched from Sambro up the harbour as close to the city as possible, and when the time arrived all would be fired. Particular mention was made of an extraordinary watch to be kept on the 14th inst., the day on which Brady, one of the Phœnix Park murderers, is to be executed, and it was also recommended that the guards at the various barracks, powder magazines, the dockyard, and the war-ships in port be strengthened. It could not be learned whether the guards on imperial property all over the city have been strengthened, but on H.M.S. Tenedos, now in port, this has been done, and sentries stationed at various points of the city have been instructed to be careful whom they allow to enter the gates at which they watch.

Raiding Indians.

Mr. White, comptroller of the North-West mounted police, received a telegram from Col. He arrested four of the raiding party, tried them and sentenced them each to five years in the penitentiary. The Indians who wintered in the Cypress hills are now moving north to the reservations.

OUR AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

As the Reform organs still persist in decrying our Canadian agricultural implements, and as these slanderous and unpatriotic reports are spread abroad to the great injury of this important trade, we think it well to lay before our readers a few statements on the subject, made upon the floor of the House of Commons.

Mr. Mackenzie made a set speech attacking the hated National Policy, and in this he seems to be the true exponent of the views of his party, to judge by the speeches of their orators and the utterances of their journalists, the politic coquettings of Mr. Blake with the N. P. before the general election being now to all appearance generally abandoned. The Reform ex-premier dealt at some length with the subject of Canadian agricultural implements in the North West. He told the House that "one of the inevitable results of protection of an excessive character was the deterioration of manufactured articles supported by such excessive protection." He quoted as a fact that "in the North West, Canadian agricultural implements and machinery have become so deteriorated within the last few years that it is next to impossible to sell any in that country." He stated that owing to the additional duties on their materials, "they have had either to make the articles cheaper and slighter, to put them together more hurriedly, or else encounter the difficulty of selling at prices which could not compete with the foreign articles." Again he quoted others as saying that "these articles are unfit for use, and it is next to impossible to obtain a sale for them in our North West." He described the result of the tariff policy as adopted by the people of Canada as "that we must leave our North West Territory uncultivated, or force our people to buy machines with which they cannot compete with their neighbours, owing to the inferiority of the article." Later on he quoted the member for Selkirk and others, "to show that we had lost the market for implements in the west in consequence of their inferior quality."

These injurious assertions could not be allowed to remain unanswered, and they were not. The three principal points of criticism by Mr. Mackenzie and others were that Canadian agricultural implements are inferior, that they are dearer, and that they cannot be supplied in sufficient quantity. In regard to each of these the refutation was complete, but we have only space to quote a few of the more salient repudiations of such calumnies upon our manufacturers and mechanics.

The Finance Minister replying to Mr. Mackenzie in the House remarked most truthfully, "I venture to say that every manufacturer will consider it an insult to be told that the implements they are manufacturing are not fit for use, or that they are inferior to those of the United States." He informed the House that a deputation of manufacturers had told him that:—

> "If Parliament would say to these Americans that they should not flood this market and prevent them getting in by making it a slaughter market, the Canadians manufacturers would pledge themselves to give to the farmers of that country implements as cheap as the Americans have been selling and of as good a quality; and moreover that they would furnish them in sufficient numbers to supply the people of that country."

Subsequently in Committee of Supply he read the following telegram from A. Harris, Son & Co, of Brantford:—

> "We are building for this season, 1,000 binders, 1,500 mowers, and 1,500 reapers. We are importing none. We did import 40 binders last season, but can now meet the demand. We guarantee our machines better than American, and prices as low. Have bought 2,000 Canadian ploughs for Manitoba trade. Canadian manufactures in all lines can meet the demand in the North-West, but if driven out now will lose that trade. Aurora produces 5,000 ploughs; Smith's Falls, 2,000; Brantford, 2,000; and 4,000 binders are being built in Canada for next season."

He also gave in detail the output of other large firms.

Mr. Royal, a Manitoban member, said:—"He has failed and always will fail to show that the National Policy has had the result of increasing the prices of agricultural implements in Manitoba." And again he most justly said:—

> "Our factories have had enough to contend with from the start without having to meet the statement throughout the country that their goods are inferior to those of the Americans while the contrary proposition is true."

Mr. Ferguson gave an account of the great increase of the output of the well-known firm of Frost & Wood, who make largely for the North-West market, and on the authority of Mr. Frost, said:—"The output was treble, and he stated in my presence, and in the presence of 500 electors, that he produced a better machine and had not taxed the consumers one cent."

Mr. McMillan exposed, without contradiction, the source of Mr. Sutherland's misrepresentations, namely a single Winnipeg firm who went up from London, Ont., and made large sums of money by selling Canadian implements, but who having bought largely in the States in anticipation of an increase of the duty, were now endeavouring to depreciate Canadian goods. Having refuted their misstatements as to quality, price, and amount of supply, he continued:—

> "It is stated that our agricultural implements are very considerably inferior to the American, and yet the hon. member for South Huron, who has taken such a very considerable interest in the manufacturing interests of this country, and also in the Tariff, announced to us that when he went to the Centennial our articles beat everything there, and yet we are told by the hon. member for Selkirk that they are inferior articles, and I cannot allow that remark to pass."

He then proceeded to read the following statement from farmers around Brandon, as to the very important article of ploughs:—

> "We, the undersigned, after a fair and impartial trial of different ploughs, have come to the conclusion that the Norwegian, manufactured by Geo. Jackson, of London, Ont., is the best, and have taken them in preference to any other we have tried.

	JOSEPH BRANT,	JAMES STEVINS,
	ROBERT ORR,	ROBERT STEVINS,
	NELSON ORR,	ALEX. MACKENZIE,
	—— PERCY,	And many others.

The Minister of Customs contributed a very striking fact to the discussion. He said:—

> "Harris & Son of Brantford, sold for $1,600 all their patterns in 1883, to one of the largest American makers, and they are making 5,000 of these machines. It strikes me that the American manufacturers with their large territory, and with the inventive genius of their people, would not come to Canada and buy the patterns of these binders and take them to the United States and manufacture them there, if they were inferior to those which we have been manufacturing and sending to Manitoba."

Mr. Cochrane, himself a farmer, said:—"We can produce ploughs, harrows and machinery as cheap in this country as in any other country. I know that we can buy machinery cheaper in Ontario to-day than we ever could before, although the duty is higher. It has been said that the duty on iron and steel would have the effect of raising the prices of machinery; that is not the case for we can get better machines to day for the same money than ever before."

Mr. Taylor said that in Gananoque they had perhaps the largest manufactory in Canada of spades, shovels, &c., and he well knew their prices and value as he had been in the retail business. Fortified by this actual knowledge he averred:

> "I know, as a fact, that these goods to which I have referred are selling cheaper to-day than during the last twenty-five or thirty years, and a great deal cheaper than from 1873 to 1878. I know that a great many more are being manufactured, that a great many are being shipped to Australia, and that this line of goods manufactured in Gananoque will compare favorably, and is preferable to some lines of goods manufactured in the United States, where a great many are manufactured by prison labor and are inferior to our Gananoque goods."

These quotations might if necessary be multiplied, but we have already given enough to show how thoroughly the calumnies against our agricultural implement makers were refuted. Lest however, any should say that these are only the biased views of politicians we will call attention to an extract elsewhere from the Monetary Times which certain cannot be considered as prejudiced by political partizanship.

These general facts are corroborated by the experience of our local firms, who are of high repute far beyond the confines of our County. We learn that they are making still better implements and even at lower prices that before the adoption of the National Policy, though it pleases the Examiner to speak of slovenliness and high prices.

It is a pity that Canadians whether in Parliament or through the press should depreciate their country and malign their fellow countrymen, if they hope thereby to make political capital.

CANADIAN IMPLEMENTS.

In spite of the disparaging remarks of a Winnipeg journal, about Canadian agricultural implements, the best proof of the excellent quality of these implements is that they are in much greater demand in the North-West than those of any other country. Good judges assure us that Canadian self-binders, mowers, reapers, wagons, seeders, ploughs, harrows, horse rakes, farm sleighs, agricultural engines and thrashers are, in every respect, equal to the best American. The Americans preceded Canada in the manufacture of some of these articles; and our first essays in the manufacture gave evidence of the experimental stage of progress. But the initial difficulties have long since been overcome, and superior articles are now turned out. By far the largest part of all the agricultural implements used in Manitoba and the North-West is of Canadian make. One firm alone, the Harris Manufacturing Co., of Brantford, has, since the 1st of January, shipped 35 car loads of implements to the North-West, and two carloads to British Columbia, part their own manufacture and part that of other Cananadian houses. This firm has also, within two months, shipped the same kind of goods to New Zealand and European Turkey, and expects soon to ship to Austria. The Watson Manufacturing Co., of Ayr, Ont., has already shipped, this season, to Winnipeg, twelve carloads of similar articles and has ten more cars to go. These goods are the company's own make, and it is sending forward about an equal quantity of the product of other factories. These specimens—and they are only specimens, for other houses in the same line are doing the same thing—will give some idea of the extent to which Canadian agricultural implements are being shipped to the North-West. This is the best proof of the estimation in which these goods are held in the country to which they are shipped.—Monetary Times.

NORTH OF LAKE SUPERIOR.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Energetically Pushing on the Work.

In the House of Commons Railway Committee, Mr. Abbott gave the following interesting information:—

From a memorandum which I have just received, I find that from Prince Arthur's Landing eastward active operations are in progress. The grading is well advanced for 66 miles, and several miles of track have been laid. By the end of the present season it is expected the track will have been to a point 100 miles east of Prince Arthur's Landing. Fourteen iron bridges, some of them of very large size, have been ordered for this section, all to be delivered before October 1st. Portions of the work are very heavy. A further supply of rails is now on the way for this section, to be delivered at Prince Arthur's Landing and Nepigon Bay. From Nepigon to Pic River, 130 miles, the work is very heavy, and will be commenced during the present month; in fact has probably already been commenced at Nepigon. On the opening of navigation it will be attacked at several other points. The distance from Pic River to Missanabe (the head waters of the Michipicoten), 140 miles, has been located to Magpie River, 103 miles. A trial line has been run for the whole distance, and the balance of the location will be commenced by the end of July. From Missanabe to Sudbury, a junction of 260 miles, explanatory surveys have been made, and a trial profile completed. Surveying parties are now being organized to make the final location this season. The line from Sudbury Junction to Burnside is located and under construction. The surveys prove beyond a doubt the complete feasibility of the line sought by the company on the north shore of Lake Superior. On the eastern division the track is now laid from Callendar westward to Burnside, 54 miles, and the grading completed about 40 miles farther. It is estimated that the main line for 120 miles west of Callendar will be completed this season. About 3,000 men and 200 teams are now employed on this part. Under these circumstances, with this extension going on, with this force of men employed, and with the prospect of a through route, which the Company and the Government and the people alike agree in believing is for the advantage of Canada, and which the Company believes is for its own advantage, what probability can any reasonable man see in the suggestion that the Company will abandon the through route for the imperfect and unsatisfactory connections it could make through other railways and by a circuitous route through a foreign country?

Mr. Whyte, late proprietor of the Mansion Saloon, King street, Toronto, writes as follows about Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters: "I have used Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters for nearly four years, and I believe it to be the best medicine in the world. I would not be without it for anything. I have induced scores of people to try it, and when taken according to directions, I have never known it to fail. I call the Bitters, "The Doctor." SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferers for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcula which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and [illegible] produces a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID [illegible] in itself, is the most potent remedy for all skin disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced; nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly affected with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

THE MAN IN POSSESSION

IN FIVE CHAPTERS.—CHAPTER II.

As I quietly glided across the entrance lobby of Britsleigh Hall, in the wake of Mrs. Stokes and the housekeeper, I looked about hurriedly for some place within which I could conceal myself for a few minutes. The scullery-door stood open. There was no one within the room. I stepped in, and gently closing the door, waited patiently, listening for the unloading of the remainder of the linen and the departure of Mrs. Stokes. What she thought of my sudden disappearance, I am unable to state. She did not, however, to my knowledge, express openly any manifestation of surprise. Perhaps she feared that if she did so, it might implicate her in some unpleasant affair, and therefore wisely chose to be silent; or, more probably, thought that I was, as she expressed it, 'a friend of the family,' stealing upon them unawares.

Watching my opportunity when the coast seemed clear, I stealthily sallied forth, and made for the entrance-hall and for the principal staircase. Probably the dog had not been unchained, for I neither saw nor heard anything of him. On reaching the first landing, I observed a door partly open. The room was superbly furnished. 'The drawing-room,' said I to myself. Within, in an easy-chair, sat a gentleman considerably past middle age, but tall and robust. The first glance at his countenance revealed a compound of the repulsive and the cunning, mingled with deep traces of continuous dissipation. He was reading a newspaper. I hesitated a moment, and then stepped boldly into the room. He looked up with an impatient expression of surprise and annoyance.

'Mr. Wintock, I presume?'—making a low bow.

"What do you want here, fellow?" he replied, starting to his feet. "How dare you intrude into a gentleman's mansion and private apartment after this fashion?"

"Very sorry to discommode you, sir, but business is business, though it is sometimes rather un[illegible] here on the part of Mr. W[illegible] explained the na[illegible] showed him my au[illegible]

He got into a towering passion, and turning to the mantel-piece, rang the bell violently. "You sneaking, pettifogging bumbailiff, leave my house this instant. Here, Benetti!"—raising his voice—"Benetti, you rascal, I want you!—Martha, loose the dog!"

Quietly walking to the door, I shut it, turned the key, and set my back against it.

Mr. Wintock seized the heavy drawing-room poker and advanced towards me. "You scoundrel! unlock that door; and stand out of the way this instant, or I'll smash"——

"Oh, if that's your game, governor, you had better not try it on," I interrupted, drawing one of my pocket companions and just showing him the muzzle; for my blood began to warm. "I don't want to do anything uncomfortable; but you know self-preservation is the first law of nature. If you are going to knock a hole in my cranium I shall try to drill one in yours. Not a perfectly legal act, perhaps, but certainly expedient under the circumstances.—Now, sir," I continued, "there's no use your getting into a passion with me, because I'm only an agent, you see, and obliged to do the bidding of my superiors. Besides, you will only make matters worse."

The first outbreak of passion over, he calmed down a little. "Well, that's true," he replied "as far as it goes. And how on earth you contrived to get in, I can't imagine."

"All stratagems, sir, are fair in war, you know."

"Did you get in—through one of my people?"

"No, sir; I did not."

"Hum," he muttered to himself; "I am glad there are no traitors in the camp.—They need not have been so sharp with me," he continued, addressing me. "The money will be paid without fail in a week at the latest."

"Extremely glad to hear it, indeed, sir. I sincerely hope it will. In that case, you need not care about my troubling you a few days. I don't wish to interfere with your family arrangements, in any way, or do anything inconsistent with my duty. Lodge me comfortably and feed me fairly, and you'll scarcely know I'm here. I'm used to this sort of thing, sir; you need not mind me in the least, I can assure you."

He had put down the poker and was leaning against the mantelpiece. Some one tried the door, and then tapped. "Did you ring, sir?" It was Martha's voice.

I unlocked the door and stood behind it.

Mr. Wintock stepped across the room and opened it. "Come again in a quarter of an hour."

"Very well, sir."

Martha retraced her steps down-stairs.

"Now, Mr.—a—a"——

"Meredith, sir, at your service."

"Mr. Meredith, then, as you seem to be a reasonable fellow, perhaps, all things considered, it will be as well to waive my first intention of pitching you headlong out of the window, and try to accommodate you during your brief stay as well as my limited means will permit." He said this with an air of chagrin and sarcasm that told plainly how much he was irritated at being overmatched. "Meanwhile, you shall, as you request, lodge well and be fed well, until you take your speedy departure."

Some further conversation, relative to the matter in hand, followed; and after a short time, he rang again for Martha, who, after a brief colloquy, received instructions to conduct me to the apartment I was for the nonce to occupy.

"Mr. Meredith," he said, as I was bowing myself out of the room, "there is one thing I should wish you to understand. We are very quiet people, and dislike being disturbed at at night. The dog has usually the range of the house after ten o'clock. It would be as well to keep your room after that hour till the servants are about in the morning. He is an extremely savage beast, and some accident might occur."

"Indeed, Mr. Wintock! Then would it not be advisable, to avoid all risk, to keep him constantly chained up?" I laid my hand carelessly on my breast-pocket as I spoke.

He understood the hint, and replied good-humouredly: "Well, well; perhaps it would. [illegible]"

He meditates a moonlight departure, thought I, as I left the drawing-room. "We shall see;" and I resolved to be more than ordinarily vigilant.

The room allotted for my temporary accommodation was in an upper story, in an angle of the building overlooking the most pleasant part of the park, and on the opposite side to that more immediately tenanted by the family. It was comfortably furnished, and my meals were regularly and liberally served. I do not, however, get much repose. My chief's caution, "to sleep with one eye open;" Mr. Wintock's behaviour at our first meeting, and especially his hint about the dog; together with the jealous suspicion with which Benetti evidently watched my every movement whenever I left my apartment—determined me to keep on the alert. It was my custom to remain the greater part of the night in my room, sometimes with a light, oftener without one, and as the weather was tolerably warm, not unfrequently with the window open. What sleep I had was chiefly by snatches in the day-time.

It was on the fifth night after establishing myself in my quarters at the Hall, and the great clock had struck the solemn hour of twelve. The house was wrapped in silence; not a sound seemed to break the stillness of the night. I had been reading, and overcome either by the lassitude consequent upon being shut up for several days, or the drowsiness attendant upon a protracted period of watchfulness, or perhaps by both, had dropped off into a dreamy doze. On the other side of the room—a spacious one—and opposite the centre table at which I was sitting, hung a large mirror; behind me was the door, shielded by a very handsome screen covered with richly ornamented oriental designs. Something partially roused me, and I looked up in that half-conscious, half-somniferous state subsequent to what is denominated as "forty winks." My candle was flickering in the socket. By its varying and fast decreasing light stood dimly revealed in the reflection of the mirror before me the vision of a haggard female face peering at me intently round the extreme fold of the screen, which reached to within a yard of my chair. Such an expression I had never seen before on mortal physiognomy, nor ever wish to see again. Long, raven-black hair hung dishevelled over a face, pale and haggard; the bloodless lips closed over the clenched teeth with desperate resolution; the brilliant flashing eyes glittered with almost a maniacal light; yet, distorted as were the features, they still bore traces of remarkable beauty.

For the first time since entering the Hall, the strange story of the "white face," which I had heard at the Three Nags, flashed across my memory. For a moment sense and reason seemed to reel, and I had well-nigh fallen from my chair. Suddenly, the lips parted in an attempt to speak, and the figure extended its attenuated arm, as if to touch me. At the same moment, a brawny hand was placed over its mouth, and it was forcibly dragged, or rather lifted back behind the screen just as my expiring candle rallied for an instant, and shot up its last bright gleam of flame. Then all was darkness.

Springing to my feet, I rushed to the door, overturning both chair and screen in my haste. There was neither trace nor sound of any one near my chamber. The lofty staircase, the long passages, were silent and deserted. It was with sensations not to be described that I returned to my room, lighted a fresh candle, and sat watching and listening eagerly the remaining part of the night; but nothing further occurred. Nor was there the next day, on the part of the inmates, the most trifling indication that anything unusual had occurred. I forbore to ask any questions, and kept my own counsel, determining, however, as far as possible, to unravel the mystery.

With this purpose in mind, I resolved not to confine myself so closely to my room as heretofore. Of the supernatural I did not for a moment dream; but it did strike me that the face said to be occasionally seen at the windows, and which had certainly appeared to me, might possibly be a clever device, in the one case to frighten unwelcome visitors from the premises, in the other to bring about my own speedy departure. Yet that dark sinewy hand—unless the whole thing were a delusion on my part—evidently coerced and prevented the intention of the figure. Then, again, it occurred to me that possibly it might be some insane member of the family, whom it was desirable to keep secluded, and yet not necessary to send away to an asylum, and who had during the night broken away from restraint. If so, what right had I to interfere, or to intrude myself upon Mr. Wintock's private affairs? I could not satisfy myself, and waited in a fever of excitement for some clue to guide me. So intensely absorbed did I become, so nervously anxious to discover the locality of my mysterious visitant, that I almost forgot the special business upon which I was engaged.

The next few nights passed without any further interruption of my privacy. My overwrought feelings gradually cooled down, and I began to question within myself whether or not the whole transaction was not a creation of my own imagination, a horrible nightmare, consequent upon the uneasy position in which I had sat and dozed. Dispassionate reasoning had almost brought me to this conclusion, when all doubts were solved by what shortly afterwards occurred.

Though of course I had the liberty of the whole house, which to a certain extent I availed myself of, it was my custom, at intervals during the day, to stand for a while at the open window of my room, to inhale, for health's sake, the fresh country air wafted over the demesne of that noble park. My room had indeed two windows; but one of these only looked out upon a receding angle of the house, a few feet distant; the other, at which I generally stood, commanded a view of the whole park. Rural scenery is to me at all times an exquisite delight. I have stood for hours at that ancient Gothic window, gazing upon the grand old trees and broad expanse of sward, decked with bright spring flowers, and listening with enthusiasm to the melody of the countless merry song-birds that broke upon the stillness of that dreary mansion.

MILITARY FUNERAL.

The Last Tribute of Respect Paid to the Late George C. Rogers.

The funeral of the late George C. Rogers took place on Monday afternoon, and if anything had been needed to prove the universal respect and esteem that was felt for him, the funeral would have shown it fully.

Mr. Rogers was buried with military honors, he having been Captain of No. 3 or the Ashburnham Company of the 57th Battalion, Peterborough Rangers. The following officers of the Battalion acted as pall-bearers:—Capt. Edwards, No. 1 Company, Peterborough; Capt. Langford, No 2 Company, Peterborough; Capt. Birdsall, No. 4 Company, Keene; Capt. Burke, No. 5 Company, Norwood; Capt. Howard, No. 6 Company, Hastings, and Lieut. Hammond, No. 4 Company. By special request of the friends of the deceased, the following, who were employees of Mr. Rogers in the mill, bore the body from the house and at the church:—Messrs. E. Pakenham, C. Brown, N. Mercier, R. Crowe, John Rennick and John Gilman.

The Battalion was represented by Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4 Companies, commanded by Major Grover and Major and Adjutant Bell. The members of the Cavalry Troop joined with the 57th Battalion, in their own uniform, and marching on foot. Altogether there were over one hundred volunteers who attended in uniform to pay the last tribute of respect to a popular and efficient officer. Lieut. H. B. Weller, of the Port Hope Troop of Cavalry, was also present in uniform.

The 57th Battalion Band headed the funeral procession, which proceeded from Mr. Rogers' late residence to St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, where the service of the Church of England was read by the Incumbent, the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, assisted by the Rev. V. Clementi. The music at the church was provided by several of the members of St. John's Church choir, led by Mr. Chas. E. Ewing, organist. From the church the cortege proceeded to the Little Lake Cemetery, in the following order:—The 57th Battalion Band, the 57th Battalion, the members of the Cavalry Troop, the hearse and pall-bearers, and the chief mourners, followed by a long line of friends and acquaintances in carriages. At the grave the burial service was read by the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, assisted by the Rev. V. Clementi, and the usual three vollies were fired over the grave by a firing party of 57th Battalion. There, also, a hymn was sung by the male members of St. John's Church choir, the music of which had been arranged especially for the occasion by Mr. Ewing, and it was well arranged, excellently sung and was very impressive.

The funeral was, perhaps, the largest that was ever seen in the town of Peterborough. Besides the military and band, there were one hundred and eighty vehicles in the procession. When the band was at the entrance of the cemetery, the rear vehicles were at the corner of Hunter and George streets. Nor is this a matter for surprise, when the many good qualities and the popularity of the late Geo. C. Rogers are considered. Although still a young man, he had endeared himself in the hearts of many, and those who were not so intimately acquainted with him, could not but respect his genial ways and his business energy and capabilities. While the funeral passed down George and Hunter streets, all the business places were closed, thus adding another proof that the whole community shared the sentiments of the Rev. Mr. Bradshaw, who so glowingly eulogized the late Mr. Rogers in his discourse on the 29th April.

Houses and Lots.

The great auction sale of Mr. Dumble's town property is adjourned until Thursday evening, the 10th instant, at 8 o'clock, in the Caisse House.

Telephone Connection.

Mr. A. T. Smith, agent of the Bell Telephone Company in Peterborough, informs us that a telephone line will soon be put up between Port Hope and Peterborough, and extended on to Lindsay, so that there will be direct vocal communication between these places, and also with the villages along the line. Port Hope is now connected with Toronto, Hamilton, Guelph, Galt, Cobourg, and all the intermediate cities and towns, and a line will also be put up between Cobourg and Kingston, which will connect with Belleville and other towns on its way. Thus when the connection is made between Peterborough and Port Hope we will be in a position to communicate by telephone with any of these places. The poles are now ready for putting up the line between Cobourg and Kingston, and the poles for our local line are also ready to be drawn to the places where they will be required. It is also very probable that the line will be extended to Lakefield. This telephone connection, when carried out, will be a great advantage to the town, and its convenience can now be appreciated in anticipation. In this connection it may be said that there are now sixty subscribers to the telephone system in Peterborough.

Nature, after all, is the great physician. She hides all the secrets of health within her broad generous bosom, and man needs but to go to her intelligently for his every need. The discovery of the great Cough Remedy, Gray's Syrup of Red Spruce Gum, is an apt illustration of this. As a cure for Coughs, Colds, Loss of Voice and Hoarseness, it stands unrivalled, while its low price and readiness of access places it within the reach of all. Try it and be convinced. All chemists keep it in 25 and 50 cent bottles.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, MAY 9, 1883.

PETERBOROUGH PROSPERING.

THE official statistics which we give in another column in regard to the population and property of our county town will be very welcome to our readers, as showing conclusively the great strides we are making in advance. The figures that we present speak so plainly that we need not analyse them. The fact that by the assessment the amount of real and personal property and income shows an increase of more than a quarter of a million, $280,025, is in itself very gratifying. If, however, we had to acknowledge that this increase of wealth was only additional riches heaped up in the hands of the few, our satisfaction would be much alloyed, but this is not so, for we have the pleasing certainty that the community generally has shared in the prosperity. There is not a mechanic or laborer now who cannot get a day's work or good wages for it, and there is no poverty unless caused by illness, accident or bereavement, or in a few exceptional cases by dissipation and misconduct.

The increase of population will also be regarded with satisfaction. It must be remembered, too, in this respect that the figures of the assessors showing an augmentation of 812 do not tell the whole truth, for they are assessors, not census enumerators, and can only deal with ratepayers and their families. There are many single men who being under age or assessed elsewhere are not accessible for statue labour, as an example of whom we may instance many young men in the banks, railway offices, stores, &c. There are also many more or less transient residents, who escape enumeration. If the full numbers were ascertained we are confident that they would show an increased population of more than 1,000 during the year.

It must be remembered by our country readers that these figures concern them just as much as the townspeople. So much more money to spend—so many more mouths to fill—means so much more consumption of farm products and an addition to the profitable home market for the smaller wares which our farmers and their wives bring into town.

Much credit for this increase must be given to the enterprise of our citizens, who have established new industries or enlarged their former operations. But the chief cause of our prosperity is undoubtedly the direct result of the policy of our present able administration at Ottawa, who are also entitled to a large share of the credit of private enterprises, which could not have been so successful without the aid of their fostering policy

THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

The Fenelon Falls Gazette, which, unlike some of its less patriotic brethren in this district, always has a good word for the Trent Valley Canal, remarks as follows in its last issue:—

"Last Saturday's Globe contains a savage attack on the Trent Valley Canal by a correspondent who signs himself "Observer," and who claims to have resided for twenty-five years in the district through which the canal is to be built, but gives no clew to his precise locality. Whether the writer was actuated by personal, political or geographical considerations, or by a combination of all three, can only be conjectured; but his enmity to the project is so obvious and his assertions so wild, that his object would have been better served by a more temperate and cautiously worded criticism. The Peterborough REVIEW, which has been from the first one of the most persistent and effective advocates of the canal, has in Tuesday's issue an admirable reply to "Observer," whose statements are proved false and his inferences illogical in a fashion that ought to operate as a caution to reckless writers for all time to come."

Explosion at Silver Islet.

DULUTH, May 8.—The first steamer from Silver Islet reports a boiler explosion in April. One man was killed and a number seriously scalded. The mine was greatly damaged.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate

IN SEASICKNESS.

Prof. Adolph Ott, New York, says:—"I used it for seasickness, among the passengers, during a passage across the Atlantic. In the plurality of cases, I saw the violent symptoms yield, which characterize that disease, and give way to a healthful action of the functions impaired."

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

THE PARNELLITES.

LONDON, May 8.—At a meeting of the Parnellite members of Parliament last night, Mr. Parnell presided, and a motion was passed in favour of the formation of sub-committees on the estimates, on foreign and colonial affairs, and on local affairs. The committees will be composed of five members.

DISCHARGED.

LONDON, May 8.—Wm. Mitchell, arrested at Leicester on a charge of having explosives in his possession with an unlawful object, has been discharged, there being no evidence to connect him with the dynamite conspiracy.

RETIRED FROM OFFICE.

DUBLIN, May 8.—The Governor of Limerick gaol has retired from office, it is supposed on account of complaints of harsh treatment by the imprisoned suspects.

SENTENCE COMMUTED.

DUBLIN, May 8.—The Lord-Lieutenant has commuted the death sentence on Patrick Delaney, who pleaded guilty to complicity in the murder of Lord Cavendish and Mr. Burke.

REPUBLICS IN EUROPE.

BERLIN, May 8.—The debate on the budget in the German Reichstag yesterday was remarkable for the conciliatory tone of the Clericals. Herr Windthorst, the Ultramontane leader, said order and true liberty could only be maintained by a powerful monarchical regime. A republic on the European Continent was impossible; even that in France would come to an end.

THE HABSBURG SEIZURE.

PORTSMOUTH, May 8.—The disabled steamer Habsburg, which was towed into Portsmouth by the British steamer Cornelia, was arrested on a salvage claim preferred by the latter vessel. She was subsequently released, and proceeded to Bremen in tow.

CATTLE TRADE REGULATIONS.

LONDON, May 8.—Lord Carlingford, Lord President of the Council and Minister of Agriculture, to-day refused the request of the deputation from the Central Chamber of Agriculture, that the endeavour to secure an enactment prohibiting the importation of cattle from countries where infection exists. He promised that the present power of the Government to prohibit the entrance of infected animals would be strictly exercised. One of the objects of the deputation was to obtain fresh restrictions on the American cattle trade.

GOVERNOR APPOINTED.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 8.—The ambassadors of the Powers have finally selected Wassa Effendi as Governor of Lebanon. Wassa is an Albanian Catholic. An immediate appointment was necessary, because the Porte feared Syrian outbreaks.

PRUSSIA AND THE VATICAN.

ROME, May 8.—Prussia's response to the last demands of the Papal Secretary of State have created an unfavourable impression at the Vatican.

JUDGE LAWSON PROMOTED.

DUBLIN, May 8.—Justice Lawson succeeds the late Judge Deasy as Lord Justice of the Court of Appeals.

OFFICIAL IN TROUBLE.

BERLIN, May 8.—The North German Gazette says German dealers will not fail to make a fitting answer to the charges of Mr. Tanner, United States consul at Liege, that oil, lard, flour etc., imported from America are adulterated, and all articles of food and drink sold in Germany are put through a process of adulteration.

ANOTHER ROW.

The C. P. R. Company and the Ontario Government.

There is not the least doubt about it; and a big one, too. Section B company for the past winter, have been doing an extensive business in the way of getting piles, timber, lumber and other materials. Some 3,000 men were engaged during the winter in getting out these materials, and there has been piled along the Thunder Bay Branch, waiting for transport to the west, to be used in construction, over 1,750,000 ties alone. These ties are worth 30 cents each, delivered on the railway, and are of good quality. The value of the materials now on the track is about $1,000,000, and materials to the value of $300,000 are yet to be delivered. The winter's operations have drawn to a close. It will be seen that a very large amount of timber has been cut by those cutting timber. But it is said that this company have not complied with this demand, and have not paid their license. But they are not going to be allowed to get of "scot free," for the department have given instructions to their agent here, Mr. Wm. Margach, Government Inspector of Timber, to proceed at once and seize all the ties and timber that has been cut by the aforesaid company, and Mr. Margach left here on Saturday last for that purpose. He took the train as far as Savanne, from which place he will take to the woods and seize everything that has been cut, posting up notices that anyone touching the materials will be arrested and dealt with as a person would be for stealing. His instructions are very emphatic, and he informs us that he intends carrying them out to the letter. Of course there will be a grand "kick" on the part of the company, but that is to be expected. Nevertheless the Government will hold firm until their demands are met. It may be claimed that the Ontario Government have nothing to do with the timber or lands in this disputed territory; nevertheless they intend to lay claim to it. This may be the means of a speedy settlement of the boundary dispute, as to which Province this territory belongs.—Prince Arthur Herald.

Destruction by the Lighting.

In the thunder storm on Friday night the barn of W. H. Robinson, near Gananoque, was struck by lightning and burned. The loss of the building would not have been serious had the contents been saved, but unfortunately they were lost, and they embraced two horses and ten cows.

Coincidences.

Voltaire's house is now used by the Geneva Bible Society as a repository for Bibles. The British Bible Society's house in Earl street, Blackfriars, stands where in 1378 the council forbid Wycliffe circulating portions of the Holy Scriptures, and where he uttered the words, "The truth shall prevail," and the Religious Tract Society's premises are where Bibles were publicly burned.

MR. SUTHERLAND JOHNSTON, a Sarnia Druggist, has sold an enormous quantity of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. He says they give splendid satisfaction. They act promptly in relieving all disorders of the Stomach Liver or Kidneys and are the "Best Blood Purifier." For sale by all Druggists at 50 cents a Bottle.

MILWAUKEE, May 9.—With a few exceptions, the saloons closed at midnight in pursuance of the Mayor's order. It is apparent that the compliance is due to the fact, that the majority are not able to take out licenses. They threaten to preserve order as soon as they secure a license.

FIGHT WITH INDIANS.

TOMBSTONE, Arizona, May 9.—The news of a fight between Mexicans and Indians is confirmed. The engagement occurred on April 28th, near Chihuahua mine. Col. Garcia had 136 men. The Indians had two days notice of his approach, and prepared for a desperate struggle, securing possession of the highest point of the mountain. After three hours hard fighting the Indians were dislodged and put to flight, leaving eleven bucks dead, and many were carried away wounded. During the fight five Mexicans were killed and nine wounded. A large amount of stock was recaptured. It is thought that 2000 Indians were engaged. Several were shot on the highest peaks, and came rolling down the sides to the very feet of the troops.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

LOCKPORT, May 9.—At the meeting of the Board of Excise yesterday, the Board having stated that no saloon licenses would be granted, no applications of that kind were received. Applications were received from 47 hotels, and 7 druggist and store keepers for licenses. The Board adjourned until the 10th instant, when it is expected the question will be determined how many hotels there are to be in Lockport.

THE SMALL-POX SCOURGE.

WHEELING, W. Va., May 9.—The small-pox plague has crossed Mercer county line, into Wyoming county, where 80 cases and 13 deaths are reported since Sunday, making 109 cases and 26 deaths in two counties. The people are rapidly becoming panic stricken. The health board is doing all in its power to furnish relief.

COAL MINE FIRED BY STRIKERS.

ST. LOUIS, May 9.—At West Belleville, on Monday night, several rows took place between the strikers and the men taking their places in Valston co-operative coal mines. Yesterday the strikers set fire to the mine. It seems impossible to extinguish the fire. The mine was the largest in this section, and owned by miners who formed a company of their own. When the mine was fired no one was working.

A STEAMER WRECKED.

BISMARCK, Da., May 9.—The steamer Big Horn, loaded with 250 tons of merchandise, struck a snag yesterday, five miles below the river, and sank above the main deck in five minutes. The boat and cargo are reported a total loss. No lives were lost. The steamer was valued at $30,000.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, MAY 9, 1883.

MR. MOWAT'S Toronto organ asks if it is fair to spend money "in bringing in foreign workingmen to cut down the wages of the highly taxed Canadian workingmen." Mr. Mowat's administration offers assisted passages to workingmen.

THE Ottawa Free Press has now high praise for Sir Charles Tupper, after all its past abuse of him, because he is supposed to be about to leave the Ministry. If Sir Charles recovers his health, as we trust he will, and either remains in the Cabinet or resumes his position, it will be rather amusing to see what the Free Press then says of him.

THE leading Reform journal asks if it is a "fair shake" to tax everything the working man drinks. It certainly is not fair, so while Mr. Mackenzie and his colleagues taxed the working man's tea and coffee thereby adding so much to their price, since we do not produce these beverages in Canada, Sir John Macdonald and his colleagues have removed the taxes from tea and coffee, so that the working man can consume more and pay less for them. As usual the Conservatives have proved themselves the true friends of the working man and of the temperance cause.

IF the Globe is to be believed, which is of course very doubtful, Mr. Mercier, the Liberal leader in Quebec, has been following the example of Mr. Mowat in Ontario by interfering with the operation of the law to shield a culprit. That self-styled "Liberal" journal says that it was virtually left to Mr. Mercier to decide whether the Premier (Mr. Mousseau) should be disqualified or not, and yet Mr. Mercier has abandoned the personal charges. But perhaps the Globe is only bragging and Mr. Mercier is not guilty of conniving at a violation of the law, because he knows that Mr. Mousseau is not guilty of personal corruption.

FACTS: NOT SHADOWS.

THE Globe says there is not "a shadow of ground" for believing the statement that Dr. Robertson's resignation of his seat in the Local Legislature of Prince Edward Island was held in suspense so that he might still continue to sit in the Assembly if he failed to be elected to the Commons. We quite agree with the Globe that such a supposition is not based upon "a shadow of ground," for, instead of shadows, there are two very real and substantial facts leading to the conclusion. There is the fact that at least one of Dr. Robertson's political friends in Prince Edward Island, handed over his resignation in the same manner to convenient allies, who, when he was defeated for the Commons, fraudulently returned it that he might keep his seat in the Assembly. There is also the fact that Dr. Robertson's convenient friends in defiance of the law kept back his resignation till after the election so that in case of his defeat he might have practiced a similar evasion of the statute. Under the mistaken idea, however, that he was legally elected, they subsequently sent forward his resignation, and between two stools Dr. Robertson fell to the ground.

TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION.

WE must express our regret that the supplementary estimates do not include a further grant for the purpose of opening another section of the Trent Valley Navigation. We cannot exactly say that it is a disappointment, for we hardly expected any other result, though we hoped the unexpected might happen. The contracts now in progress were awarded so late in the season, that a very small proportion of the grant could be earned in the current financial year ending next month, so the bulk of the appropriation had to be re-voted. With so many claims from different quarters, it is difficult to obtain a fresh grant, when there is already so large a sum in the estimates, even if it is only a re-vote. Next year this will not be the case, for the energy shown by the contractors warrants the belief that they will have accomplished their work and drawn their money before another financial year begins. If there is not then another grant for the extension of this navigation, we and many others will complain without hesitation of the neglect of a great work of so much importance, not to this locality alone, but to the whole country. Construction should be pushed on every year till the whole route is thrown open, and nothing else will satisfy the demands of those who are fully acquainted with the merits of this undertaking.

A Collision.

A Canada Southern Railway live stock train ran into a construction train standing at Woodslee Station on Friday night. Two cars loaded with hogs were turned over, and about twenty killed. Otherwise the damage was slight and traffic delayed but a short time.

DISTRICT INTELLIGENCE

[illegible]

From Our Own Correspondent.

WEATHER NOTES.—April has not been a favourable month for agriculture, nor what was expected after a long and severe winter. The morning of the first was ushered in with 6° below zero at sun rise, and the second 3° below. Up to the ninth it kept some times below, and some times above the freezing point, with no great change of temperature, but from that to the 22nd the temperature was high, scarcely coming to the freezing point, when our snow disappeared causing floods throughout the country, already known to everyone. During the remainder of the month it was decidedly cold, for the time of year with frost every night, some times severe. On the morning of the 28th it was too hard to plough in a great many fields. Although snow fell on seven days, the down fall was only 1 inch 90-100 of an inch, snow falling the last five days of the month, rain fell on seven days to the depth of 1 inch 86-100 of an inch. Our first thunder was on the 14th, with little rain, and again on the 15th. Our highest temperature was on the evening of the 14th, the thermometer standing at 56° above zero at sun set. There was an average temperature for the month of 33°, being only 1° below the average of April of 1882. Of migrating birds, cranes made their first appearance on the 2nd, robins on the 3rd, wild ducks on the 6th, and sea gulls on the 10th. Of our reptiles, frogs were first heard yelping out their well timed chorus of knee deep on the 15th, and snakes were first seen on the 28th. Ploughing commenced in some localities on the 14th, and seeding on the 18th, but only in exceptional cases; in fact spring work is backward owing to the lateness of the season. Fall wheat came out well but fields with wet parts in them were thinned some what during the heavy frost at the later end of the month.

YOUNG'S POINT.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.—On Thursday, the 24th, the managers of the R. C. Church here, intend to have a gala day by holding a grand pic-nic on the Queen's birthday, on the beautiful grounds adjoining the church, being the 6th anniversary of their opening. Full particulars will be given by posters.

SEARCH PARTIES.—Several search parties, relations of the deceased Robert P. Young, have been on the look out to try and recover his remains now that the Stony and Clear lakes are free from ice, but as yet they have been unsuccessful. It is hard to conjecture when and where he will turn up. Different rumours have been freely circulated concerning his decease; some say he has met with foul play, but there is a but.

ANNIVERSARY CHURCH SERVICE.—Rev. McAllan announced last Sunday that the Rev. N. Clark, of the C. P. Church, Lakefield, will preach in Ebenezer B. C. Church here, on Sunday evening, the 20th inst, being their anniversary services.

ATTEMPTED MURDER.

A Man Robbed and Thrown into the Bay in Toronto.

A most daring robbery and attempted murder was perpetrated on the Esplanade at the foot of York street, late on Monday night. At a few minutes past midnight Mr. James Harman, switchman for the Grand Trunk, heard cries for help proceeding from the direction of the Bay. He took his lantern, and running down to York street slip, found a man struggling in the water. He reached down and seized hold of his wrist, but was unable to lift him out. Then he shouted for help, and was answered by the night watchman on the Southern Belle and Mr. Ackroyd, who hastened to his assistance. After considerable difficulty they succeeded in dragging him out, but the man was so exhausted that it was some time before he could speak. He was removed to the St. James hotel, where it was found that he was somewhat under the influence of liquor. He was also terribly bruised about the head, blood flowing from a cut over his right eye and the left side of his face showed marks of violence. He said that he had just returned from Guelph, and while near the Union Station had a dispute with some men, who, when they got near the slip, robbed him of upwards of $40, and after beating him, threw him into the bay. Mr. Hodge did everything he could for the unfortunate fellow, and had him put to bed. When his pockets were emptied a couple of letters were found addressed to J. McCrea. One was directed to 45 Seaton street, and the other in care of Cobban & Co., Hayter Street. There was also a mourning card with the name of Maggie McKenzie upon it. He was dressed in a dark tweed suit, and is evidently a man of between twenty and 25 years of age. Who his assailants were is not known at present, but it is to be hoped that when he recovers he will be able to give a description of them which will lead to their arrest.

The Esplanade has been frequented by a gang of roughs during the whole winter, and it is quite likely that some of them have been the assailants. The young fellow certainly had a very narrow escape, as he was almost completely exhausted when Mr. Hardman came to his assistance.—Mail.

NATURE, after all, is the great physician. She hides all the secrets of health within her broad generous bosom, and man needs but to go to her intelligently for his every need. The discovery of the great Cough Remedy, GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM, is an apt illustration of this. As a cure for Coughs, Colds, Loss of Voice and Hoarseness, it stands unrivalled, while its low price and readiness of access places it within the reach of all. Try it and be convinced. All chemists keep it in 25 and 50 cent bottles.

The reason why the surgeons of the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, are making so many wonderful cures of catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and consumption are: They have none but skilled and qualified medical men connected with the Institute. They adhere strictly to their specialty and they use the spirometer invented by Mr. Souvielle, ex-aide surgeon of the French army, an instrument which conveys the medicines in the form of cold inhalations to parts diseased, which is the only way these diseases can be cured. They are treating hundreds of patients every month, having twelve surgeons engaged in their work in Canada alone. A Bogus Marriage.

OTTAWA, May 4.—A young man whose family is well known in this district recently made the acquaintance of a young lady living in Eastern Ontario. After some time he won her affections and proposed marriage. She consented, but her parents entered an objection. Matters remained in this unsatisfactory way until one day he persuaded her to consent to a private marriage. The ceremony was performed, and the couple came to this city to reside, the innocent and unsuspecting bride in the full belief that the wedding had been legally solemnized, and that she was his lawfully wedded wife. The pair lived happily together for a short time, but finally the man grew tired of the lady's society and left her, alleging that the ceremony which had been performed was a bogus one, the priest for the occasion being a layman and a friend of his. She appealed frantically to the betrayer not to desert her, but her entreaties met with no response from the hard-hearted villian, who left her to the tender mercies of the world. She wisely resolved to return to her friends and stated the case. They are now investigating the affair, and it is more than probable that unless some satisfactory settlement is arrived at the matter will be ventilated in a Police Court.

A Story of "Copperfield."

Florence Marryatt says that when Dickens was writing "David Copperfield," and at a time when its publication in a serial form was about half completed, an American firm procured somebody to write a conclusion, and thus put a bogus book on the market. This version of the story married David to Agnes rather abruptly. Dickens had intended the same thing, but when the news of this audacious piracy reached him he forthwith introduced Dora and made her David's wife with as little delay as possible. Every one can see that Dora has no real business in the plot, and perhaps this story correctly accounts for her appearance on the scene.

THE MAN IN POSSESSION

IN FIVE CHAPTERS.—CHAPTER II.

One evening just at dusk, I was leaning out, watching the fading twilight, and deeply intent upon the liquid music of a couple of nightingales, which had taken up their abode in a cluster of trees not far from the house, and were warbling their ravishing strains with thrilling effect in the solemn stillness of that deserted park. As I listened to them, some tiny scraps of a material of fine texture, apparently cut or torn from a lady's dress, dropped fluttering past me from above. On looking up, I beheld—attached to an improvised line of the same material, consisting of strips tied together, and which was evidently let down from an upper window—a white pocket handkerchief loosely folded. I could just discern a hand signalling me to secure the handkerchief. Though startled, I lost not a moment in doing so. The line was withdrawn, and the hand immediately disappeared. Shutting the window, I struck a light and sat down in no little haste to ascertain what this might mean. On opening the handkerchief, I found the interior covered with writing in large characters, not inscribed with pen or pencil, but seemingly traced with a piece of coal or a portion of burnt silk. With some difficulty, I deciphered the writing, as follows:—

SIR,—I beseech you to pity and aid an unfortunate lady, imprisoned in her own house, and deprived of her rightful property by the grossest villainy. If you are a gentleman, be the instrument of my release.—Next room but one to the roof—same size and arrangement of windows as your own—locked in. MARIA WINTOCK.

"Then the tale I heard at the Three Nags has some foundation after all," I inwardly exclaimed, as every nerve trembled with excitement. Refolding the handkerchief, I leaned back in my chair to cogitate upon this strange communication. "The Hall is indeed haunted, yet by no spirit, but a being of flesh and blood. This is no maniac's epistle; nor was the apparition in my room a freak of my imagination. No wonder the young lady disappeared so suddenly.—Ah, Mr. Wintock, that is your scheme, is it?—a prisoner till she accepts the hand of your worthless profligate son, and then her fortune will be a nice plum to relieve you from your difficulties. I wonder you have not killed her outright; but I suppose that would not serve your purpose.—Help you, poor lady? Yes; that Jack Meredith will, scapegrace as he has been, if he has but half a chance. But how?"

Ay, how? There was the rub. My duty forbade me to leave the house for assistance, and if I did so, I might not be able to effect an entrance again; and supposing this gained, might she not in the meantime be spirited away far beyond risk of discovery? Should I resort to open violence, the odds were terribly against me. George Wintock, doubtless a strong, active fellow in ripe manhood; his father, an antagonist by no means to be despised; and that brutal-looking Italian, who seemed to possess the strength of a second Hercules. That scheme would not work. What should I do? How communicate with my fair and oppressed correspondent?

After some consideration, it occurred to me that unless prevented, she would doubtless be on the watch for some kind of reply, and that I might avail myself of the same method of communication which she had tried with success. Taking out my pocket-book, and tearing from it a dozen leaves, I wrote on one of them as follows:

MADAM,—I am only a bailiff in possession, but heartily at your service. I will be at the window to-morrow night when the Hall clock strikes ten. Tell me how I can assist you. If you are prevented communicating with me then, let the little scraps fall as before as soon as an opportunity offers. I will keep a sharp lookout.—Your obedient servant, J. MEREDITH.

Tying this and the blank leaves along with a piece of stout twine for her use in future communications, in a roll with one of my pencils, and extinguishing my candle, I reopened the window. All was quiet without; and attaching her white handkerchief to the end of my walking-stick, I thrust it out and waved it backwards and forwards several times. The signal was perceived. The casement above was softly opened, and the line was again let down. Looping my note safely to the line, I had the satisfaction of seeing it ascend to its destination. It was eagerly clutched by the occupant above; her window was again softly closed; and I retired—but not to sleep, for every sense was strained with tumultuous excitement.

On the following evening, faithful to my promise, I was at my window a few minutes before ten. As the Hall clock boomed the last stroke, I felt a small roll of paper secure in my hand, and as before, retired to peruse it.

GENEROUS SIR,—I am most wretched. Oh, help me, for the love of humanity! I am threatened with the most horrible fate unless I consent to be dragged into a union with the younger Wintock, whom I utterly loathe; or to make over the greater part of my property to him and his father. They have more than once hinted at immuring me in a private lunatic asylum for life. Such things have been done. At times I feel as if I really were insane. Can you not procure assistance, and free me from these wretches? Surely the law is sufficiently powerful to protect you in aiding a defenceless, but grossly abused and oppressed lady. I have now been here several years, and hope is all but extinguished. They have kept me constantly locked up in my room since the night I succeeded in reaching yours, as I hoped undetected. Previous to then, I was only confined to the upper suite of apartments. I entreat you not to desert me. Oh, contrive some means of setting me free; and earn the everlasting gratitude of

M. WINTOCK.

P. S.—I will let down for your reply at this time to-morrow evening, unless prevented. Beware of Benetti.

"Well," thought I, "this is an adventure. But how is it to be accomplished?" After much consideration, I fancied that I had hit upon a scheme, and determined to communicate it to Miss Wintock, and, if she thought it feasible, put it in practice without delay. It met with her approbation, and we at once proceeded to execute it. The plan, however, required delicate handling, with courage, calmness, and resolution to carry it out. I told her the nature of the responsibility I should incur in deserting my post; but she urged me to undertake her release at all hazards, promising herself to liquidate any liabilities which might arise in consequence, so soon as she should be restored to the outer world and able to assume the disposition of her property. She had been detained a prisoner in the Hall since she was seventeen years of age. She had now just turned twenty-one. Her guardian had therefore no longer any legal authority over her. I felt that the urgency and peculiarity of the case would insure me lenient judgment, if not condonation for my breach of trust, in the minds of all right-thinking men.

"Be ready at two to-morrow morning," was my last billet, forwarded in the usual manner, "when the Wintocks are probably asleep. Keep up your courage and leave the rest to me." I then fixed at two o'clock in the morning as the time for attempting the rescue of the young lady as having the greatest chance of success; for notwithstanding Mr. Wintock's hint that the family disliked being disturbed at night, I had discovered that both he and his son were in the habit of spending some part of it from home—where, I cannot say, but probably in some kind of dissipation. Both went out about nine o'clock. Mr. Wintock usually returned about one. His son was much more uncertain.

I have said that the entire edifice, and especially the roofs, were of very irregular build, and that my room was situated at an angle of the house. On the other side of the angle was a suite of rooms but little used, the window of one of them being exactly on a level with Miss Wintock's, and about six feet distant from it, and to which room I discovered I could find access. Immediately above the room in question was a lumber room, with a ladder from the floor to a trap-door opening out upon the roof. Carefully watching an opportunity the next day, I slipped into the lumber room, in which, among other things, were a number of tools of various descriptions, and armed myself with a couple of stout screw-drivers with which I retreated, after noting that the ladder might easily be removed.

A little before two o'clock found me cautiously issuing from my apartment and stealthily creeping toward this part of the building. I did not much fear any alarm from the dog, as during my stay he had been kept chained up in the other part of the mansion. I suppose Mr. Wintock had profited by my hint respecting the animal. Possessing myself of the ladder, I very quietly removed it to the room whose window I have described as being opposite to and on a level with Miss Wintock's. The next were moments of breathless anxiety and suspense. Slowly opening the window, I waved her own white kerchief—the signal agreed upon between us—and her window was then as noiselessly raised. I then proceeded to push the ladder very gently across until it rested upon the sill of hers, forming a narrow bridge from window to window. She was at her post, and grasping the top staff, held it firmly. Seating myself astride, I gradually shifted a few inches at a time until I reached her. The Hall clock struck two as I stepped softly into her room, immediately withdrawing the ladder and closing the window. She was greatly agitated, and trembled violently. Taking my hand in both her own, she whispered a few words of impassioned thanks; and then we addressed ourselves to the task of getting out of and away from the house silently and safely. This we both felt would be no easy matter; for not only was the door of her own room locked, but also that of the room into which it opened, and through which we must pass before gaining the corridor which led to the staircase. Force I dare not use, because of the noise; and indeed it would have been difficult to force the doors, as both were of stout oak. Hence my provision of the screw-drivers.

The screws were rusted with age, and I was too little of a carpenter to work in the dark. I therefore lighted a candle I had brought with me, and laboured heavily for about an hour, Miss Wintock bending over me to aid me with its light, until her long raven hair rested carelessly on my shoulder, she holding and shading the candle with my hat, lest its reflection should betray us to any one out of doors, as George Wintock in his return home from his midnight revels might observe it in crossing the park. At length I was successful; the last screw of the second door yielded. Extinguishing the light we paused a few minutes to listen, and then stepped softly out in the dark corridor, I leading the van pistol in hand, and Miss Wintock leaning heavily on my arm.

Along the corridor and down the richly carpeted staircase we went on tiptoe and with bated breath lest the echoes of that gloomy old mansion should arouse her jailers. Every instant we expected the dog to give tongue. The night was cloudy; but suddenly the moon emerged from behind a cloud, and for a few seconds illuminated the sombreness of the antique entrance hall. I felt Miss Wintock start and shudder, press my arm and cling still closer to me, with the confidence of a very child. It made my heart leap, and every drop of blood in my veins thrilled with a feeling of rapturous delight hitherto unknown to me. I seemed for the moment to have the strength of twenty men, and almost longed to do battle on her behalf. We stood for a moment in the hall, undecided whether to try one of the long passages or at once seek egress by the principal entrance. We chose the latter. Softly we passed across the polished oaken floor, and I began slowly and with extreme caution to undo the fastenings. Gently, one by one, each bolt and bar was withdrawn, the huge lock was turned, and the ponderous door swung heavily upon its hinges. Greatly exhilarated at our success, I turned to my companion with a whispered word of encouragement on my lips, when an unseen enemy struck me a tremendous blow on the head, driving me through the open doorway like a ball from a wicket, and felling me like a log upon the gravel-walk beyond. At the same instant a succession of piercing shrieks, so wild, so heartrending, and despairing, burst from Miss Wintock, that it seemed as if her reason was passing away in a continuation of convulsive efforts to regain her liberty.

How long I lay insensible upon that cold gravel-walk I cannot say, but it could not have been many minutes. Probably my assailant was for the time too fully occupied in securing the re-captured lady to be able to inflict any further injury upon me. When I regained consciousness, the moon was obscured, and it was intensely dark, not a star being visible. Bruised, sore, and bleeding, I gathered myself up as best I could, and endeavoured to collect my thoughts. But in what manner to act for the best puzzled me. Should I wait till dawn, then hasten to the village, and endeavour to procure assistance in rescuing the young lady? For several reasons, I discarded this idea. Besides, I had in fact deserted my duty, and in justice to my employer, ought never to have attempted leaving the house. What was I to do?

ITALIAN KILLS ITALIAN

A MAN FROM THE LAND OF SUNNY SKIES MURDERED BY A COUNTRYMAN.

A Fatal Quarrel at an Ontario and Quebec Railway Construction Camp—A Description of the Murderer, who has Escaped.

This morning, at about nine o'clock, the following telegram was received here, addressed to the Chief of Police, from Norwood:—

"NORWOOD, May 9, 1888.

"Arrest for a murder committed this morning, near Westwood, on the Ontario & Quebec Railway, an Italian, about five feet four, stout, bald-headed, both dark eyes, suit jacket, and thirty-five years of age."

So far as can be learned, this man, whose arrest is asked for, murdered a countryman of his soon after they went to work, about seven miles this side of Norwood. At this part of the line, about half a mile from the boundary line between Dummer and Asphodel, in the Township of Asphodel, there is a camp of railway laborers, who are composed entirely of Italians. They number about forty, and have been working on the construction of the road since last fall. They have not very frequently visited Norwood, and then only one or two at a time, but they were not considered a very peaceable company. This morning, after commencing work, this dark deed was committed, one account says with a knife and another says with a club; but the former is the more probable. The murderer, after accomplishing this fearful act, made good his escape, and three Italians procured a team from a neighboring farmer and drove to Norwood, from which place the telegram was sent to the Chief of Police here, as it is thought that the murderer would be most likely to try to escape in this direction. The police are on the look out for him here, and have hopes of securing him.

Personal.

Mr. H. H. Smith has left for England, on business of public importance.

Houses and Lots.

The great auction sale of Mr. Dumble's town property is adjourned until Thursday evening, the 10th instant, at 8 o'clock, in the Caisse House.

The Mail for England.

The mail for the old country by the Canadian line will not be closed at the Peterborough Post-Office before next Friday at 6 o'clock, p. m. which will be the time for closing the mail for the summer season, as the Allan steamers are now starting from Quebec.

A Fall Into the Water.

While a young man from Peterborough was getting on the steamer at Bobcaygeon on Tuesday morning to come to Bridgenorth, he slipped and fell into the water. He got out again after being thoroughly wet, and came to town by way of Lindsay and the Midland Railway.

A Dead Porker.

A dead pig was discovered under the sidewalk at the corner of Charlotte and Water streets by some of the corporation workmen this morning. How long it has been there is not known, but the Health Inspector's attention having been directed to it, he will have it removed without delay.

A Slip.

While Mr. Edgar, a carpenter, was working on the roof of Mr. T. Fitzgerald's building, on Aylmer street, this morning, his foot slipped, and he narrowly escaped falling to the ground. He caught the ladder, and was prevented from descending further by the scaffolding. The result was that he injured his hand, on which there was an old sore, and he will have to remain idle for a time.

Railway Notes.

The work of grading on the line of the Ontario and Quebec Railway inside of the town is progressing rapidly this week. A gang of men and six teams are at work between Aylmer and George streets, where the line crosses Wolf street, and another gang are at work at the Midland crossing, near the corner of Townsend and Bethune streets. At the latter place a culvert is being constructed. The line is also graded for some distance west of the crossing. There are in all about three hundred and fifty men engaged on Messrs. McDonald & Hendrie's contract.

Men are at work preparing the stones, which were drawn last winter, for the Ontario and Quebec Railway bridge across the Otonabee.

Last fall some yards of the Toronto and Ottawa track was graded, at the point where it branches off from the Midland, and this week the rails were laid on it. The Ontario and Quebec road will cross the Midland at this place.

TWEED.

SUDDEN DEATH.—A woman named Mrs. Brown, living near Tweed, dropped dead yesterday of heart disease. Deceased and her husband were the only persons in the house.

IF YOU WANT large fresh oysters dished up in good style, go to T. Darcy's Restaurant and Oyster Parlour.

PRESBYTERY OF PETERBOROUGH.

The Presbytery of Peterborough met at Guelph on the 2nd of May. Arrangements were made for the ordination and induction of Mr. Craigie, at Bobcaygeon, on the 23rd May at 2 o'clock, p. m. Mr. Ewing was appointed to preside, Mr. Bennet to preach, Mr. Clark to address the minister, and Mr. Bell the people. Mr. Craigie's trial discourses and examinations will be heard at a meeting of Presbytery to be held in St. Paul's session room, Peterborough, on the 22nd May, at 2 o'clock, p. m.

The names of Messrs. Duncan and Cameron, ministers, and Dr. Taylor, elder, were added to the Committee on Presbyterial visitation, of which Mr. Beattie is convener.

On reconsideration the date of the next ordinary meeting of Presbytery was changed from the last Tuesday in June to the first Tuesday in July, at 7 o'clock, p. m. at Norwood.

It was agreed to take Mr. Wm. Robertson on trial for license at the meeting in Norwood.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK.

WEDNESDAY, May 9.—Wm. O'Brien was charged by P. C. Pidgeon with having been found drunk in a public place, and he was fined $2 or twenty days in gaol.

SHOULD HAVE A LICENSE.

Wm. Morgan was charged by T. Beavis with keeping a livery stable without a license, contrary to the town by-law. The defendant did not appear, and he was fined $1 and $2.30 costs.

OMEMEE.

A NEW BAND.—The Herald says that an effort is being made by some of our musical-minded young men to re-organize the Omemee Band.

FIENDISH WORK.—Mr. Henry Menerist, of Cavan, lost a valuable horse on Tuesday last. He had driven to Lindsay on Monday, and on the return to this village he noticed that the team acted in a strange manner, and one of them died shortly after. The other is still in a dangerous condition. Death was caused by poison administered by some fiend.

BOOMING.—The Omemee Cradle and Fork Factory has been running on overtime all this season, and is now putting up about one hundred and fifty cradles and forks per month. Although they are doing such a rushing business, Mr. English says that he will not be able to have all his orders filled before the commencement of harvest. So much for the N. P.

Oh, What A Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease Consumption. They will save hundreds of dollars in doctor's bills every year. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Taylor & McDonald.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcule which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widely increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly affected with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION. BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, MAY 10, 1883.

THE Examiner, it appears, does not like the REVIEW or its editors. The bad taste of the Examiner is of little consequence except to itself and to its unfortunate readers, who are afflicted with a column or more of scurrilous and silly abuse for lack of argument.

"REFORM" TACTICS.

Mr. Mercier has already achieved the unenviable notoriety in another case of introducing blackmail as a weapon in political controversy. The infamy of his own confession in the Chapleau case excited a feeling of indignation among his own friends such as has seldom been seen. The Witness led the attack in terms as scathing as they were well deserved. The Young Men's Reform Club were with the greatest difficulty prevented from openly passing a vote of censure upon him, and could not, with all the persuasion of older heads, be induced to pass a vote of confidence. Gentlemen like Mr. Norman Trenholme, whose unselfish fidelity to the party no one can dispute, did not hesitate to denounce the conduct of Mr. Mercier, and to bewail the act of the party in Quebec, which disgraced itself by electing him as leader.

The Mousseau case is the parallel of the Chapleau case, with this distinction, that while in the latter it was dirty dollars which prompted the blackmailing in the former it was personal political advantage. Had Mr. Mousseau consented to sacrifice some of his colleagues, and taken Mr. Mercier and a couple of his friends into his Cabinet, there would have been no contestation of the Jacques Cartier election, no pretended vindication of the purity of elections. Mr. Mousseau appears deliberately to have been entrapped into placing confidence in old-time opponents, in order that their corrupt practices might be used as a lever in the policy of blackmail upon which the Liberal party, by the election of Mr. Mercier as their leader, appear to have entered. It was a wretched conspiracy for the personal advantage of unprincipled and self-seeking politicians. Mr. Mousseau declined to accept freedom from this persecution at the expense of taking into his Cabinet men whose only object in life appears to be to secure the possession of the emolument and patronage of office. Every honest man will say that he was right.—Montreal Gazette.

A Terrible Encounter.

A despatch from Montreal says that a terrible encounter took place on Tuesday afternoon between two men who quarrelled in the ice-yard of David Morrice in Griffintown. Wm. Knowles had given offence to Wm. Turner, and the latter attacked him in the most savage manner, knocking him down and kicking him, after which he beat him in a shocking manner about the head. At length he was pulled away, Knowles having lapsed into an unconscious state. He was carried to the hospital and lies in a most critical condition. Meantime the police were appraised of the affair, and after some search found Turner, whom they locked up to await the result of the medical treatment of Knowles.

THURSDAY, MAY 10, 1883.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

On Friday Sir Charles Tupper made his annual statement regarding the Canadian Pacific Railway. Interesting and satisfactory as have been his previous statements, that of this year surpassed its predecessors in both respects. He utterly refuted the statement that a most improvident bargain had been made with the syndicate, and that the advantage had been all on their side, showing that their exertions had been of the greatest service to the country. He gave voluminous details showing the great progress that had been made, far surpassing al, expectations, nearly half of the line being open, with the prospect of further extensive sections being ready for traffic this year, and of the whole being completed far within the stipulated time. He further showed how substantial were the works, how reasonable are the rates, and how greatly the settlement of the country has been advanced. And all this will be done without increasing our debt, without imposing onerous burdens upon our people, and with the certainty of the cost being ere long recouped from the sales of land. In short it was shown that the hopes of the most sanguine had been more than fulfilled.

Mr. Blake spoke at length in reply, and though much of his speech was a repetition of his former criticisms, he deserves credit for the great forensic ability with which he availed himself of the various points which he could turn to the support of his efforts to belittle this splendid success. But the task was too great even for his talents, since no criticism of unimportant details, no manipulation of figures, could controvert the plain facts that the Canada Pacific Company is energetically and successfully carrying out their double task of opening our great North-west Territories, and promoting their settlement with a rapidity altogether unprecedented.

Mr. Pope then briefly set Mr. Blake right as to some of his statements, and the House going into Committee of Supply several items were passed.

On Saturday some measures were advanced a stage and a number of items were passed in Committee of Supply.

On Monday further progress was made with several measures. The opposition objected to Mr. Tennant being allowed to purchase timber fr om the Indians on Walpole Island, the apparent reason for the objection being that Mr. Tennant, though a Reformer, had run in opposition to an Ontario minister. In Committee of Supply a number of items were passed.

On Monday Messrs. Charlton, Ross, Patterson and Summerville objected to the Mail saying that they were in favour of the increased indemnity, Mr. Charlton claiming that he was the only Opposition member who had declared his intention of dividing the House on the question.

Several Opposition members flatly contradicted Mr. Charlton on this point. It appeared that Mr. Robertson, the Opposition whip, was the authority for the statement that all the Reform members but three were in favour of the increase. One or two members denounced the Globe's slanders on this subject, and Sir John Macdonald denied that it had even been mentioned in the Conservative caucus.

Further progress was made in Committee of Supply.

THE REGISTRY OFFICE JOB.

For more than five months—for nearly half a year—the county of Peterborough has been without a Registrar, because during part of that time Mr. Mowat and his colleagues desired to use the office as a means of corrupting these two constituencies, and because during the period since the election they have been afraid to face the consequences of their own misdeeds, and have not dared to appoint any of the different candidates they pretended to favour, knowing well how their corrupt duplicity would be resented by those whom they must necessarily disappoint after holding out to them hopes of the position, for the purpose of unduly and illegally influencing their votes and those of their friends.

This neglect of their duty, although natural, is entirely inexcusable. It is not because their Cabinet, or rather the remnant of it, has not been in council, for they have been appointing the usual batches of party electioneering agents under the guise of Division Court clerks, bailiffs, etc. It is simply that they are abnegating the functions of their position, because they dare not face the indignation of those they have deceived, and the condemnation of the public for their misdeeds.

It is no justification for their neglect that an efficient acting-registrar has carried on the duties of the office satisfactorily for this long time, since it is their duty to make a permanent appointment, for which they will be responsible in the regular manner.

Come, gentlemen, the longer you crane at the leap the worse it will seem—the longer you stand shivering on the brink the greater will be the shock—make your appointment, and let us see whom you have bribed by means of this office, and whom you have also deluded by corruptly dangling the bribe before their eyes.

PROGRESS IN THE NORTH WEST.

The following paragraph appears in the Toronto Globe, not in its editorial columns, but as news from its Winnipeg correspondent. The Globe as a newspaper is a credit to Canada; what it is as a party organ we need not particularize:—

"Winnipeg is not directly benefitted as much by the immigration this spring as it was last year, though at least double the number of people are coming in now. The reason is plain enough. The railroad runs over 300 miles west this spring, and settlers can get their supplies at various stations along the road. One day last week over 900 went west on one train. Every car was crammed, of course, inside and out, and many clinging to the steps, but as the train started they struck up and sang in lively style "One More River to Cross." It is expected that in a week or two the main line to Prince Arthur's Landing will be handed over to the Syndicate, when the greater portion of the immigration will come that way, as it will be far cheaper and all through Canadian territory, thus avoiding the annoyance of Customs inspection on both sides of the United States boundary. Judging from present appearances, fully 100,000 people will come into the Canadian Northwest this year, mostly from Europe, and only a national calamity could possibly check the powerful agencies now working unitedly for the rapid settlement of this country and the development of its wonderful resources."

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

RAILWAY ACCOMMODATION.

Several months ago the business men of this village under the lead of the Reeve of Lakefield met the President of the Midland Railway at Mr. Sherin's office in Lakefield and urged upon him the advisibility of allowing the evening train to remain over night in Lakefield, not only to give better accommodation to the travelling public, but in the interests of the railway company. The views of these men were not only brought before the President clearly and succintly viva voce, but were laid before him in writing. The President received these representations very graciously and promised to have an engine shed built at once, and in the course of three or four weeks to have the late train stop in Lakefield over night, giving Lakefield daily communication with Toronto. This deputation, if we may call them so, were loud in their exultations, and unlimited praise and kind words were showered upon the President. There were some, however, who shook their heads and doubted as to the result of promises made at that juncture. Well, these promises were fulfilled so far as the engine shed was concerned, but no further. The engine shed has been finished for a considerable time, but no train remains over night, nor can anyone find out when one will so remain. The public surely are entitled to an explanation. It may be impossible to carry out these promises, but it is possible to state the reasons why. Let us have these promises fulfilled or the reasons for their non-fulfilment.

TREE PLANTING.

A great many municipalities have begun, under the act recently passed by the Ontario Legislature, to encourage tree planting. The Lakefield village council have done nothing in that line yet. We would suggest that it would be advisable for the Council to give a bonus to every one planting trees in front of their property, the small sum of 25 cents as a supplement to the Government bonus, to be paid at the end of say two years upon all trees alive at the end of that time. Nearly everyone will agree that nothing adds so much to the beauty of a town or village as ornamental trees and tastefully laid out and umbrageous walks. The planting of say a thousand ornamental trees in this village would in the course of a few years add greatly to the appearance of the place. Who will be the first to move in the matter?

FLORAL.

One of the young and growing industries in this village that deserve notice and encouragement is the greenhouses and gardens of Mr. Carter, who from a small beginning of a few plants for his own use, has now an establishment which although small will vie with many a city house in the choice collections of house and bedding out plants which it contains, and which are deserving the attention of all who require plants for house or garden. The greenhouse is gay at present with plants in bloom, and flowers for the tomb or altar can be had at all times. Mr. Carter is always glad to receive visitors as well as purchasers, and deserves encouragement in his line of business.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

The train left Lakefield as usual on Saturday afternoon last, and when about two miles south of the village left the rails by some means, two or three of the cars are slightly damaged, but none of the passengers were hurt in the least. The engine and some of the cars of lumber did not leave the track. The passengers were taken on to Peterborough, the women on the engine and the men found excellent accommodation, on the top of the cars of lumber. On Monday morning early a wrecking train arrived from Port Hope, and during the day had the track thoroughly cleared and repaired.

Lakefield Lodge of True Blues will meet in the Orange Hall, Lakefield, on Thursday evening next, the 18th inst., at 8 o'clock.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

There was no meeting of the Lakefield Public School Board on Tuesday evening last. No quorum. The time appointed for the meeting of the Board is half-past seven. For some time the meetings have begun an hour later. If the members cannot attend until nine o'clock, let that be the appointed time, and let all attend at that time. It is not right to keep a couple of members waiting and wasting their time three hours, when one is quite sufficient. There is, we understand, some business of importance requiring attention. Surely the Board ought to see to it.

C. O. F.

In the election of officers of Court Lakefield, No. 43, C. O. F., the name of the Vice Chief Ranger should have been Bro. R. Q. Dench.

Can it be True?

The statement is made that the docket of the Supreme Court of Boston is so crowded with divorce cases that judgments are sometimes rendered at the rate of ten in an hour. It is said that professional perjurers commonly give the testimony, swearing glibly according to instructions, and escaping exposure because, through collusion, there is nobody to cross-examine them.

THE MAN IN POSSESSION

IN FIVE CHAPTERS.—CHAPTER III.

As I paused for a moment after my discomfiture, the singular construction of the roofs, as they appeared to me on my first view of them, recurred to me. "The very thing!" I said to myself. "It will be very odd if I don't manage to get into that house again."

With me to resolve was to act; and I immediately dived into the shrubbery, in order to work my way quietly and unseen to the back of the premises. It was well that I did so; for scarcely was I concealed by the foliage, when the front-door was again opened, and George Wintock and Benetti—the former bearing a light—stepped out upon the gravel walk, and commenced making a circuit of the premises. Holding my breath, and crawling upon hands and knees into deeper shade, I contrived to avoid them. At length, apparently satisfied, after their scrutiny, that I had made off, they retired into the house. I overheard enough of their conversation, however, to inform me that it was Benetti's hand which had struck me to the earth.

I watched the window of George Wintock's bedroom till I saw by his shadow on the window-blind that he had entered. After a while, the light was extinguished, and I concluded that he had retired to rest. I knew that he, his father, and the Italian were heavy sleepers, as they were accustomed to indulge in deep potations at night. How it came about that Benetti had discovered and frustrated my scheme, I never was able to fathom.

Having reached that part of the premises which I judged most convenient for my attempt—a low abutment, used as a woodhouse—I lost no time in cautiously climbing on to its roof, which I was able to do very easily, as its lowest edge was not more than seven feet from the ground. Fortunately, none of the rooms in which the inmates slept looked out upon that particular angle, so that I did not much fear detection; if I could only make progress noiselessly, and attain the higher roof before daylight, I could then hide behind its high parapet. Dark as was the night, or rather morning, it was sufficiently light for me to see what I was about. Slowly and with some difficulty, I dragged myself from roof to roof till I reached a stack of chimneys that rose side by side a few feet from the parapet, and which had been belted with an iron girdle, and fastened with thick iron rods to the wall just below it. By the aid of the rods I managed to reach the parapet just as the dawn began to break. Here I was compelled, from sheer exhaustion, to lie down a short time and rest in the leaden gutter inside. Truly I was but in a sorry plight—my apparel soiled from crawling in the shrubbery, and from clambering over the dirty roofs, and saturated with the blood that had flowed freely from the blow I had received. I began also to feel extremely faint from exertion, loss of blood and excitement. What would become of me if strength failed me? I might lie and die, and rot on the summit of this old mansion before any one would discover me. Yet not for a moment did a thought cross my mind of showing the white feather and giving up the adventure; my feelings were too overwrought for this, partly by an almost blind infatuation for the hapless Miss Wintock, and partly by that longing desire to retaliate which, whether rightly or wrongly, is generally felt by any one who has been put hors-de-combat at an unfair advantage.

A little rest and the cool fresh morning air somewhat revived me and I commenced creeping along the gutter. With my pocket-knife I loosened the leaden frame of a pane in one of the garret windows and extracted the glass; inserting my hand I was able to undo the catch and obtain ingress. Finding the coast clear I glided softly down to my room, locked myself in, and bathed my head and face, and taking a pull at my flask of creature-comfort, laid myself down awhile to rest my weary bones and aching head. I was much bruised, yet could not help inwardly chuckling at the surprise of the Wintocks and their swarthy coadjutor would experience during the course of the day, when they found that, in spite of his summary ejection, Jack Meredith was once more the Man in Possession.

And great indeed was the consternation of Benetti, when, on waking about midday and feeling urgent need of refreshments, I walked down into the kitchen, where he and Martha were sitting at dinner.

Neither heard me approach, as I purposely trod softly. Martha had just helped the Italian to a slice of mutton, when, slipping in, I coolly took a chair and seated myself at the table. Both of them started and stared as if I had been a ghost.

"Very fine joint of mutton, indeed, Martha—capital! and so delightfully cooked—not overdone. I should so like a taste just where it's so nicely browned on the under side;" pointing as I spoke. "Ah! you haven't a third plate. Never mind; I'll reach you one;" and I accordingly rose and handed her one from the dresser. The Italian muttered something in his own language, which if translated would, I suspect, have been anything but complimentary. "Extremely happy to see me at your social meal, no doubt you are, friend Benetti! I reciprocate the sentiment most warmly. Here's to your very good health"—taking up the ale-jug from the table and filling myself a glass. "Admirable! Right good stuff"—smacking my lips. "Pray, Martha, don't let the mutton get cold," seeing that she had not complied with my request. "There's nothing in the world I dislike so much as cold mutton."

I could see that both were for the moment thunderstruck; and as I took up my plate and held it imploringly, Martha proceeded to cut me the coveted slice.

"Now, a couple of potatoes and a few greens, with just a dash of gravy.—Thank you, Martha. You are a good soul. I think, in future I will always take my meals with you and Benetti, instead of giving you the trouble of waiting upon me up-stairs. It will save you a great many steps, and be so much more comfortable, for us all; for it's rather lonely sitting up there by one's self so much."

My companions were at first disposed to be rather glumpy; but seeing that I was determined to be on good terms with myself and them, they at last gave in, and we conversed amicably, though reservedly. I could see, however, by their occasional sly glances at my physiognomy, that both, and especially the Italian, derived considerable gratification in noting how severely I had been punished.

Acting up to my promise, I did not, during the remainder of the time I stayed at Briteleigh Hall, trouble Martha to wait upon me, having one object in view, namely, the discovery of Miss Wintock's whereabouts. I did not think it probable that she still occupied the same room above my sleeping apartment, or she would have devised some method of giving me at least a hint of it. Every night I was at my old post, the window. In vain I hummed and whistled every tune I was acquainted with. In vain I looked up to a catch some slight token of her presence. I felt that she was not there. She knew her case to be desperate; and if the window were fastened, failing other means, would doubtless have shivered a pane of glass as a signal. Yet was I convinced that she was confined somewhere in the upper part of the mansion; and for the following reasons. Firstly, when I essayed to go up into the lumber-room on the following morning after I had effected my second entrance, I found the door at the top of the staircase locked, thus precluding all communication with the upper suit of apartments except by the back or servants' staircase. It was not so on the previous morning, when the inmates thought me safely shut out, as I had passed through it on getting down to my chamber. Hence there must be a motive for endeavouring to prevent me exploring them. How I wished that I had made the circuit of the roof, and peeped into every attic through its window, before descending to my own room; and yet I felt that perhaps I had acted for the best, as my strength would not have held out much longer. Secondly, I took occasion to observe that old Martha, when she thought herself unperceived, often put aside some of the best portions of her viands, as if for some other person. With these she would suddenly disappear, but always in the evening. I contrived to ascertain that she invariably made for the back staircase; and arranged my plan, desperate as it was, accordingly. It was destined to be put into execution much earlier than I had anticipated.

The fifth morning after my clamber over the roofs, Mr. Wintock sent for me into his room. As I entered, I fancied that a smile of suppressed triumph flushed his countenance. Addressing me in a grandiloquent, sneering style, he said:—"Good-morning, Mr. Meredith. I am sorry that your stay at Briteleigh has been so protracted. But what cannot be helped, must be endured. I have been able to arrange my little affair with your principal, and consequently your presence here can now be dispensed with. I shall be glad if you will leave the premises at once."

Taken aback, I was at a loss for a moment or two for words to answer, as, from what I had heard previous to my coming to Briteleigh, I had not the remotest idea that Mr. Wintock would be able to liquidate the heavy demand upon him. Had Miss Wintock at last, thoroughly crushed and broken in spirit, acceded to one of his propositions, and either consented to become the bride of his son, or signed some document which gave him absolute power over her property? The thought was horrible. Yet it might be so; for as I had not been able to effect any communication with her since that unfortunate night, her energies, physical and mental, might have collapsed in despair.

Mr. Wintock, seeing that I was dumfounded, at once followed up his advantage. "I wish to make one observation before you go. You have interferred most unwarrantably and impertinently in the domestic arrangements of my family since you have been in the house, both in intruding yourself upon the privacy of a young lady resident here, and in endeavouring to facilitate her escape from her natural guardians. Possibly, you may not be aware that the young lady in question is a dangerous lunatic, and that a degree of wholesale restraint is absolutely necessary for her well-being and safety, though at times she may have apparently lucid intervals. I have no doubt your were misled by the craft peculiar to that sad affliction; hence, I am disposed to make due allowance for your extraordinary conduct. Otherwise, I should feel justified in communicating the circumstances to your employer, which would probably result in no very agreeable consequences to yourself. I my add for your satisfaction, that the young lady will shortly be placed in a suitable establishment, where she will be properly cared for. I hope, however, as you are a young man, that a due consideration of the extremely absurd manner in which you have acted, and the slight inconvenience you have suffered"—here, with a bland smile, he passed his hand significantly over the upper part of his face—"may prove a warning to you to conduct yourself more discretely in future." He looked me full in the face and waved his hand towards the door.

How I repressed the fierce tempest of passion that inwardly shook me, I cannot tell. "Sir," I replied as calmly as I was able, "I am not in a position to doubt your word; but"——

"But what!" he angrily demanded. "I tell you, man, that I posted a cheque for the amount last evening, and that I expect a discharge and receipt by to-morrow's post. Will that satisfy you?"

"Then, no doubt, sir, the same post will bring me from my principal the usual release, without which I am not justified in deserting my post. Immediately upon its arrival, I will comply with your wishes."

"You were ready enough, however, to leave it to suit your own insolent purpose!" he hotly spurted out. "But one day will not make much difference, I daresay; therefore, to-morrow be it."

I bowed and withdrew to the kitchen, indignant, bewildered, and with a sickening sensation at the heart. I was completely foiled and beaten. "The last night I shall be here—young lady mad—confined in a madhouse—tell my employer—slight inconvenience," kept echoing through my brain, till I felt dizzy with the whirl of confused thought, and mechanically passed my hand across my face as Mr. Wintock had done. The remembrance of the indignity enraged me beyond endurance; and I determined, if human craft could accomplish it, that I would trace out Miss Wintock that very night and ascertain from her own lips whether, when I left the house, I could do anything for her. Might not a solicitor, upon proper representation, take the case in hand, and forcibly obtain the release of her person from the fiends who now held her in confinement? Doubtless, much energy and skill would be required; but the strong arm of the law was, or ought to be, all-powerful. Yes! I would see her. Old Wintock might storm and rave as he liked. I should bid him farewell on the morrow; and if he tried to injure me with my employer I hoped my statement would be believed; and if not—supposing I got my discharge and was thrown out of work—the world was wide, and I should be a kind of martyr in a good cause—the cause of beauty in distress.

Plain Truths!

The blood is the foundation of life, it circulates through every part of the body and unless it is pure and rich, good health is impossible, if disease has entered the system the only sure and quick way to drive it out is to purify and enrich the blood.

These simple facts are well known and the highest medical authorities agree that nothing but iron will restore the blood to its natural condition; and also that all the Iron preparations hitherto made blacken the teeth, cause headache, and are otherwise injurious.

SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS will thoroughly and quickly assimulate with the blood, purifying and strengthening it and thus drive disease from any part of the system, and it will not blacken the teeth cause headache or constipation and is positively not injurious.

St. Johnsbury, Vermont Oct. 31st 1882.

For six years I have been a great sufferer from blood disease, dyspepsia and constipation, and became so debilitated that I could not retain anything on my stomach, in fact life had almost become a burden, and when hope had almost left me, I was induced to give SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS a trial I am now taking the third bottle and have not felt so well in six years as I do at present.

SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS effectually cures dyspepsia, indigestion and weakness, and renders the greatest relief and benefit to persons suffering from such diseases as kidney and liver complaints dyspepsia, indigestion etc.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcule which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, MAY 10, 1883.

Concert.

We call attention to the concert to be given in Bradburn's Hall to-morrow evening, at which our readers can spend a pleasant evening. It is in good hands, and promises to be an enjoyable entertainment.

Personal.

Mr. P. Paquin, V.S., of the firm of Crevier & Paquin, left this morning for a visit to his family in Minneapolis, Minnesota, he will be away for a short while on private business and to take his holidays, for the benefit of his health.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is bright and warm. Last night was cool. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Strong winds and gales from the east and south-east; cloudy to fair weather, with rain; slightly higher temperature.

Midland Railway of Canada.

The traffic of the above railway for the week ending May 5th, 1883, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $5,354.08; freight, $17,333.97; total, $22,688.05, as compared with $23,276.63 for the corresponding week of 1882, being an increase of $411.42; and the aggregate traffic to date is $295,912.26, being a decrease of $175.31 as compared with 1882.

Large Funeral.

The Port Hope Guide says that the funeral of the late Mrs. Nathan Choate on Tuesday afternoon was very largely attended. There were friends present from Lindsay, Peterborough, Warsaw, Brighton and other distant places. Rev. T. W. Jeffery, pastor of the Methodist church, (of which church Mr. Choate had been a member for the past thirty years or more), conducted the services at the residence and at the cemetery.

Hymeneal.

On Tuesday, in St. Peter's Cathedral, the Rev. Father Conway united in wedlock Mr. D. A. MacDonald, of Peterborough, and Miss Mary Moreland, of Bridgenorth. On the evening previous a number of Mr. McDonald's friends assembled at his residence and presented him with a handsome walnut clock, and short speeches were made by Messrs. J. McIlmoyle, J. Henry and T. Dolan, to which Mr. McDonald replied in suitable terms. Mr. McDonald entertained his guests to refreshments, and a most enjoyable evening was spent in singing songs, cracking jokes, &c. It is the intention of the happy couple to take up their residence in Haliburton, and we join with their many friends in wishing them many and happy days.

STABBED WITH A STICK.

THE HORRIBLE MANNER IN WHICH THE WESTWOOD MURDER WAS COMMITTED.

A Sharply Pointed Stick Used in Place of a Knife—A Bolt for the Woods—An Inquest to be Held by Dr. Bell, Coroner.

On Wednesday two Italians, belonging to the railway construction camp where the murder was committed on Wednesday morning, came to town, to see what could be done in the matter. One of them could not speak the English language at all, and the other very imperfectly. According to the statement of Posquandonio Rossi, who was present when at the time of the quarrel and its fatal termination, the men were all at their breakfast, at about half-past six o'clock in the morning. Domenico Ottaviane was cooking some beef, and Angelo Carmenino, who was sitting at the meal, complained that he was very slow in doing the cooking and told him to make haste. Some more words passed between the two men, when Carmenino jumped up, and picking up a sharply pointed stick, struck or stabbed Ottaviane with it in the breast. The stick was about a foot and a half long, and was used as a "spit" in cooking and turning over the meat, and it either penetrated to the heart or caused a rupture of the heart. Ottaviane fell as soon as he received the blow, and expired in a few minutes after. Carmenino, as soon as he struck Ottaviane, bolted through the door and ran as fast as he could to the woods.

Rossi and two others then went to Norwood and telegraphed a description of the murderer to Peterborough, Belleville, Port Hope and other places and then came to Peterborough. They said that Carmenino and Ottaviane had been good friends up to that time, and had not had a quarrel previous to that time so far as they knew, and one of them added expressively that Carmenino "was bad man."

Dr. Bell, of Peterborough, Coroner, on being informed of the particulars, decided to hold an inquest. P. C. Adams went to Westwood early this morning to summon a jury, and Dr. Bell followed later. Dr. Kincaid also went to the scene of the murder, at the Coroner's request, to make a post mortem examination.

The murderer is still at large, although an active watch is kept for him.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK.

THURSDAY, May 10.—Peter Myers was charged by P. C. Pidgeon with having been found drunk in a public place. He acknowledged that he had imbibed too freely, and expressed contrition. He was fined $1 and paid it.

The Cells.

One prisoner, arrested for drunkenness, was the sole inhabitant of the police cells last night.

Mechanics' Institute.

The annual meeting of the members of the Peterborough Mechanics' Institute will be held in the rooms of the Institute on the evening of Monday, the 21st of May, at 7.30 o'clock.

A Dry Drill.

The members of Electric Hose Company of the Fire Brigade turned out in uniform on Wednesday evening and practiced on Water street, near the market square. These drills are principally for the purpose of teaching the members to uncouple and couple the hose quickly.

A Runaway Accident.

On Wednesday evening a team of horses owned by Mr. H. Wakes from Emily, who occupies Mr. Geo. Fowler's farm, ran away on Aylmer street. Near Charlotte Street the occupants were thrown out, and a lady, the wife of the owner of the horses, was severely injured. The horses were captured.

Art Union of London.

We have been informed that at the recent drawing (in London, England) of prizes given by this society, Miss A. Dugan, of Peterborough, was successful in obtaining one in the shape of an oil painting of the value of £45 sterling, which will reach here in August or September next. This is the fourth prize drawn by subscribers in Peterborough during the past five or six years. Mr. Roper is agent for Peterborough.

Railway Notes.

On Wednesday afternoon, while Herbert Folke, of Peterborough, a brakeman on a freight train, was coupling cars at the station, his hand was caught between the cars and severely bruised.

The Port Hope Guide says:—

"George Barnett, Esq., of Swinborne, Wiltshire, England, father of Mr. J. D. Barnett, Mechanical Superintendent of the Midland Railway, registered at the St. Lawrence on Tuesday evening. He came over on the Sardinian, which arrived on Monday morning. His son went down to New York to meet him. Mr. Barnett, senior, is, with one exception, the oldest railway man in England. He is hale and hearty and good for twenty-five or thirty years more service. He will remain in this country for a couple of months."

Danger of Sling-Shot.

Two young sons of Mr. James McCracken, who resides in the Gore near London, were out in the yard, one of them having a sling-shot in his possession. By some means the boys got into a difficulty, and the elder boy hit the younger one in the eye, knocking it completely out.

A Windfall.

A moulder named George Richmond, employed in Hamilton, is reported to have fallen heir to a sum of money, believed to be over $20,000. The windfall is from the estate of his father who recently died in Plymouth, England.

Oh, What A Cough!

Wil you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50 cts., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will Cure your Cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year., It relieves Croup, and Whooping Cough, at once. Mothers do not be without it. For sale by J D. Tully.

A Dead Show.

"I cannot agree with my neighbor," said a citizen as he consulted a lawyer the other day.

"Build a fence fourteen feet high between you," promptly returned the lawyer.

"Yes, but it would shut out all my light."

"Can't you raise your roof so as to make his chimneys smoke?"

"I'm afraid my foundations wouldn't stand it."

"Keep your piano going."

"I do, but he has an organ."

"Set the police after him for his ash-heaps."

"I have too many of my own."

"Let's see — let's see!" mused the puzzled lawyer. "Say, suggest to some of his friends get up a surprise party on him!"

"I'll do it! I'll have the thing fixed this very week! Here's $5, and I'm much obliged besides. Revenge is mine at last!"

A Young Married Man Disappears.

A report comes from Loughboro', near Kingston, to the effect that a young man named Delaney, who recently got married, disappeared on the evening of the 30th of April. His wife woke up early in the morning and found him gone; a window was open and it is supposed he went through it. Thinking that he might have committed suicide in Sydenham Lake, a search was made in its waters, but without success. Sydenham village was also searched, but the missing man could not be found. He is a stout, muscular man, having a prepossessing appearance. One of his eyes was slightly disfigured, and he wore a slight auburn moustache.

The reason why the surgeons of the International Throat and Lung institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, are making so many wonderful cures of catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and consumption are: They have none but skilled and qualified medical men connected with the Institute. They adhere strictly to their specialty and they use the spirometer invented by Mr. Souvielle, ex-aide surgeon of the French army, an instrument which conveys the medicines in the form of cold inhalations to parts diseased, which is the only way these diseases can be cured. They are treating hundreds of patients every month, having twelve surgeons engaged in their work in Canada alone. Send a three-cent stamp for a copy of their International News, published monthly at 173 Church street, Toronto.

Word was received here this morning that Charles McAllister had been killed on Thursday evening at Uptergrove station, on the Midland Railway. McAllister has been employed in Mr. Wm. Hamilton's foundry, and on Thursday went to visit his friends, who live in Mara township. He left here on the 4.45 train in the afternoon, at got off the train at Uptergrove, a station a short distance on this side of Orillia. There is a high platform at this station, and it is said that McAllister fell off the platform. His head struck on a rail on the track, and the injury caused his death. McAllister was to have come back to work at Mr. Hamilton's on Saturday.

What does he Purpose?

The question is being asked by Mr. Wowat's opponents, as well as by some of his supporters, what he purposes doing about the vacant treasury portfolio. Mr. Wood is an able and a trustworthy man, but he does not represent a constituency, and cannot be responsible to parliament. His successor should be appointed without further delay. In the case of Mr. Crooks, the same argument does not apply. Mr. Crooks has a constituency, and is at present absent for the benefit of his health. There can be no ground for insisting upon his resignation as long as he is responsible for the transactions of the department of which he is the head. But it is almost as certain as anything can be that there will be a change in the Ministership of Education before the Legislature is convened.—Toronto Telegram.

Disastrous and Fatal Fire.

HARRISTON, Ont., May 10.—This morning a fire broke out in the premises of T. R. Lennox, stove and tin merchant, and the building being of wood, the flames rapidly communicated with the premises of M. Blackwood, harness-maker, all of which were reduced to ashes. A New Prohibition Scheme

Mr. Beaty, M. P., is agitating his new system of partial prohibition. It proposes to do away with the sale and manufacture of spirits, and permit the use only of good beer and light wines. In this way he argues that the revenue from intoxicating liquors will be gradually decreased, and eventually enable the government to successfully grapple with the greater question of total prohibition. Mr. Beaty's system has many sympathizers in the House of Commons.—Mail.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, MAY 11, 1883.

THE Toronto Evening Canadian gives the Globe the following piece of advice, which is equally apliacble to other "Reform" journals:—

"The Globe gladly publishes a letter in which Ontario manufacturers are accused of employing "dead timber, poor steel and poor workmanship." For very shame's sake the chief Reform organ should abandon its system of slandering everything Canadian."

The Globe still persists in reiterated its falsehood that one of the Montreal sugar refineries "has shut down," though, it well knows that the only "shutting down" was a temporary suspension of operations for the purpose of cleaning up. Such villainous reports might destroy the credit of the company and throw its numerous employees out of work, but what would that matter to the Globe if it can by its aid make another attack upon the policy repeatedly adopted by the people of Canada!

MR. CHARLTON, while posing as the only pure patriot who would not accept an increased indemnity, was accused by a number of his own political friends of not speaking the truth. We must say that we believe his friends to be right, but we may point out to them that they should not conclude that Mr. Charlton uttered a wilful falsehood, but should give him the benefit of the doubt, till he is proved guilty. It may be that Mr. Charlton was not in favor of the increase while speaking, but that he had been in favor of it shortly before, though he had forgotten the circumstance. It really must be very difficult for Mr. Charlton to tell what were his opinions at any particular time on any particular subject without consulting the records, and his friends should not be too hard upon him.

ARBOR DAY.

THE success that has just attended even the first observance of "Arbor Day," as set apart by the Government of the Province of Quebec, is very satisfactory, and promises even better results in the future when the people become more familiarized with the subject. It is rather the fashion in some of the other Provinces either to sneer at or patronize Quebec as an unprogressive and little energetic community, but in this respect, as in some others, it has set an example that their critics may well follow.

The establishment of "Arbor Day," the setting apart of a public holiday for the planting of trees, is not a new idea, but is borrowed from our neighbors, where in several of the States the treeless prairie has already been converted into fairly wooded country. The usefulness of this process is plainly evident. So far in Canada there seems to have been a ceaseless war waged against the forest. Settlers and lumbermen have agreed, however much they might disagree on other points, to strip the land of its forest wealth, without a thought of maintaining a future supply. The circumstances of the case, the dense forests of the earlier settled portions of Canada from which the intending agriculturalist had to hew out his farm, and the timber regulations which have almost forced upon the lumbermen the policy of maketing their pine as rapidly as possible, have alike tended to foster the idea that the mere cutting down of a tree was a meritorious act which could not be repeated too often. As for the future, that might take care of itself, and our forests were deemed practically inexhaustible. The result is that our pine lands have been trenched upon to an enormous extent, that the settled country has been stripped of sheltering trees till winter killed wheat, or cattle sweltering in the summer sun testify to the improvidence of those who frequently burned timber which would now be more valuable than the cleared land.

It would be well for Ontario and the other Provinces to follow the lead of Quebec in this matter. The direct effect of "Arbor Day" would be beneficial to a very great extent, and besides it would have the further indirect benefit of inculcating throughout the community the lesson which is already being slowly learned, that if trees are cut down others must be planted, and above all that a more sensible and economical policy in regard to our public forests, a large portion of the capital of the people, should be adopted and enforced by the Government.

Commutation of Sentence.

The sentence of Chabot, who was to have been executed at Arthabaskaville, Que., for the murder of Ayotte, has been commuted to imprisonment for life. The case was a somewhat complicated one, for while Chabot was undoubtedly the principal in the murder with three others, it was difficult to prove him to have been personally guilty of the deed.

DEPRECIATING CANADIAN INDUSTRIES.

The International of Emerson, Manitoba, estimates at its right value the patriotism of those who are calumnating our Canadian mechanics and manufacturers. It says:—

Mr. Hugh Sutherland, M. P. for Selkirk, having recently stated in his place in the House of Commons, that "though Canadian machines (presumably agricultural machines.—Ed. Int.) they were much inferior in make to those of American manufacture." Mr. John Abell, of Woodbridge, Ont., machine works, in a letter dated the 20th ultimo, to the Toronto Globe, takes strong exception to Mr. Sutherland's statement, and characterizes it as insulting alike to the manufacturers and mechanics of Canada. Mr. Abell, moreover, adds that he is willing at any time to meet in fair competition before impartial judges, any American portable engine or thresher ever brought into the Dominion by the Winnipeg firm of dealers referred to by Mr. S. (we presume Westbrook & Fairchild.—Ed. Int.) Mr. A. says that at the competition he will be able "to show Mr. Sutherland that not only are his manufactures equal to those of his American friends, but that they actually excel them—the engines using less fuel and water, and, with the threshers, doing eminently superior work." To suit his own purpose Mr. Sutherland does not hesitate to depreciate Canadian industry, but he is prepared to discourage it. This is not at all surprising seeing that Mr. Sutherland is not in favor of protecting Canadian manufactures except where he himself is personally interested. His views as expressed on the tariff neither square with his every-day opinions nor show him to be much of an authority on what he has undertaken to prate about with an inordinate amount of noise and egotism.

ARBOR DAY.

The Montreal correspondent of the Toronto Mail says:—The judicious appointment by the local Government of an annual "Arbor Day" has met with immense and most gratifying success, not only here, but throughout the whole province. Tuesday, May 7th, was a gala day both in the city and vicinity, and from the despatches published this morning Montreal has nothing to boast of as compared with other cities and the rural districts. In fact, it was observed as a fete day everywhere. There was a good deal of enthusiasm among those present when the the trees in the names of her Royal Highness the Princess Louise and his Excellency the Governor-General were planted on the mountain side here. All the elite present took part in the operation. The Mayor and corporation thoroughly entered into the spirit of the celebration. There is now no danger of our magnificent forests being wasted, since the whole population is enlisted in their preservation as well as perpetuation.

CAMPBELLFORD.

A PORCUPINE SHOT.—The Herald says that a large porcupine, weighing about 40 pounds, was killed on the premises of Mr. Henry Fraser, Seymour township, a few days ago. The animal was shot by Miss E. Fraser.

BUSINESS INCREASING.—Mr. R. J. Eley, furniture dealer, has increased his business facilities by the purchase of a steam engine. It is his intention to do a much larger business in manufacturing than he has been accustomed to do.

MINISTERIAL CHANGE.—Rev. J. Egan, who has ministered to the spiritual necessities of the M. E. congregation in Campbellford, for some months past, has been appointed to Uxbridge. The gentleman appointed to fill the vacancy is Rev. D. O. Crossley, the well-known and talented minister who has just completed a term of four years on the Brighton circuit.

OFF ON THE SURVEY.—Mr. C. F. Caddy, surveyor, has taken his departure for the Northwest, accompanied by six assistants from the village and neighborhood, John Amey, W. Mackey, John Odell, George House, James West, and George Odell. They will be joined by Chas. Platt when they reach Winnipeg. The party will put in their summer's work twenty miles west of Moose Jaw, and do not expect to return home until the latter part of October next.

NORWOOD

AN ADDITION.—The Register says that Mr. D. Askey, the enterprising proprietor of the Norwood Woollen Mills, is building and extensive addition to his mills. Business is "booming" with him.

RETURNED HOME.—Mr. J. P. Brown and Mr. E. H. Elliott and family, who left here about five week's ago for Oregon, have returned home. The country was not at all satisfactory. Only another instance of people being misled by glaring posters and advertisements setting forth the advantages of far distant lands, which on investigation generally turn out not as represented.

"SENT UP" FOR A MONTH.—A drunken railroad navvy named Jno. Williams went into the Methodist church on Saturday afternoon and interrupted funeral services that were being conducted by using profane and obscene language. He was marched off to the "cells" on the "double quick" by Police Constable John Baskin, where he was detained until Monday morning, when he was brought before J. B. Pearce, Esq., J. P., and found guilty of using profane language in a public place. He was "sent up" for one month at hard labor.

PORT HOPE.

FISH PROPAGATION.—The Times says that Col. Williams having made application to the department of Marine and Fisheries for a deposit of young fish from the Newcastle hatchery near Port Hope, Mr. C. Wilmot, jr., formerly well known here in connection with the Ontario bank, arrived in town on Tuesday with the first instalment. The supply consisted of 50,000 salmon trout fry scarcely one month old, but healthy and kicking lively. The tug Albert Wright was secured, and steamed up about a mile west, where the fry were deposited. They immediately sink to the bottom and hide under stones, remaining there for several months, or until the sac surrounding their bodies is completely absorbed. Another instalment, an equal supply of whitefish, has yet to come.

Our Fisheries.

The grand Dominion of Canada seems determined to take a high place in the forth-coming Fisheries Exhibition at South Kensington, and perhaps no part of the world is richer in fish, and what pertains to the finny tribe, than the rivers, lakes, and seas of that important colony. The exhibits coming thence are estimated at 600 tons, all of which must by this time be here or on their way. Among the specimens already to hand are a salmon of 79lbs' weight, which will be comparable to that of an ordinary sized sturgeon. Newfoundland will also be well represented; eighty packages were already received thence at the beginning of the week, and many curiosities will doubtless come from a country which has long been celebrated for its great fishery throughout the civilized world. Our North American colonies are therefore likely to contribute largely to the attractions of the exhibition.—London Timber Trades Journal.

One in Six.

The huntsman of a well known English pack returned home lately by rail in a third class carriage in which were already five men, and, as he entered, seeing a parcel of thin papers on the floor under the seat, he picked them up. Looking at them, and then at his companions he asked if any gentleman had lost a bundle of papers, Each man said "No," and the huntsman handed the bundle to the station master saying, "As they seem to be bank notes, I had better leave them with you." The men agreed that he had done right, but after a time one began to feel in his pockets, and with many imprecations on his stupidity, announced that he had lost a bundle of notes received that day at market. A discussion ensued as to what was to be done, and it was agreed that the best thing was for the owner to get out at the next station, take a hack, and go back as hard as he could. As the victim hurried off, the huntsman laughed a quiet laugh and said, "I thought there would be one rogue out of six men. It was a bundle of play bills."

Photographing the Vocal Organs.

Some attempts have been made in London to photograph the human vocal organs in the act of singing. The principal object was to obtain a picture of the ligaments known as the vocal cords, which are situated at the top of the larynx. These can be viewed in the laryngoscope, a small mirror, which when placed at the back of the throat serves at once to reflect light upon the membranes, and to form an image of them visible to the observer. With the aid of this instrument numerous observations have been made upon singers, and much valuable information has been collected, but all previous efforts to obtain a photograph by substituting a camera for the observer's eye, have entirely failed. The difficulties were overcome by the use of a powerful Siemens electric lamp, supplied by a dynamo machine. By means of this light some excellent photographs were obtained of the laryngoscopic image. The patient in each case was Herr Behnke, at whose instance tht experiment was made.

THE MAN IN POSSESSION

IN FIVE CHAPTERS.—CHAPTER III.

Putting a good face on matters, I told old Martha and Benetti that I was to depart on the morrow, as Mr. Wintock had settled all claims upon him. It was evident by the covert smile on the face of each that the intelligence game them great satisfaction. In the course of the evening, I sauntered out of the kitchen as if to go to my room; and no doubt, as I bade them good-evening, they concluded that I had retired for the night. Instead of doing so, I quietly slipped up the back staircase. Here, as in the other, there was a door at the top, which shut the upper range of apartments from the lower. The staircase itself, however, was much darker. This door was also locked, confirming my suspicion that Miss Wintock was above-stairs. As is often the case in ancient mansions, there were several nooks and recesses in this old circular staircase. Within one of these, on the landing, I ensconced myself and waited patiently. I did not much fear discovery, as old Martha's sight was none of the quickest, and she usually wore a bonnet and a shawl of an evening, as she suffered somewhat from rheumatism. At length I saw her coming, hobbling slowly up the stairs, and bearing a lighted candle and a covered dish.

"All right, Jack, my boy; you're on the right scent," said I to myself. "Lie close!"

And close I did lie as ever weasel in a hole. Old Martha reached the landing, put down her dish and candle, drew the key from her pocket, and proceeded to unlock the door. Then entering with her burden—which she again put down for a minute inside—was about to relock it, when I emerged from my hiding-place and stepped in also, shutting the door after me. The old dame turned deadly pale and would have screamed, but my hand was on her mouth. I learned that trick from Benetti the night Miss Wintock was forcibly carried back from my room.

"Now my dear soul, don't make a riot, because there's no need for it. I mean you no harm, and wouldn't hurt a hair of your old gray head for the world. I only want a little private conversation with you. There now"—taking the key from her trembling hand, and transferring it to my pocket after locking the door—"we can have it all quietly to ourselves without fear of interruption—it's no use, Martha," I added sternly, seeing that she was about to remonstrate. "It's my turn for a little while now. What is the use of your calling out? No one can possibly hear you."

Martha's teeth chattered and her knees trembled.

"What is it you want with me, man?" she asked.

"Now, be civil, old lady. No 'meaning,' if you please. Just take up the dish and candle, and I will bear you company. I want a few minutes's speech with your young lady."

"I cannot! I dare not! Mr. Wintock would kill me."

"Stuff! He'll do nothing of the kind. Besides, he is not obliged to know anything about it, unless you are silly enough to inform him."

Old Martha bent as if to pick up the dish and candle. There was a slight noise below. Possibly Benetti had returned for a moment into the house for something. In an instant her mouth was at the key-hole; she was about to shriek for assistance; but I was too quick for her.

"You treacherous old beldame," I whispered, "if you try that dodge again I'll gag you.—Now, just listen to me. I know all about the rascally doings in this house. I know that Miss Wintock is forcibly confined somewhere in one of these attics. She is no more insane than I am, so that tale will not serve Mr. Wintock's purpose. To-morrow I'm off to London; and I'll move earth, sea, and sky till I set the authorities on the right track to find and release her. I know Mr. Wintock's motive—her property. He won't have a feather of it to fly with; he is more likely to land in jail. You shall come in for your share of punishment in illegally confining her. Let me see her for a few moments, and I promise you, on the word of a man, that whatever transpires you shall be held free from blame."

After some further expostulations on her part, and renewed threats and promises on mine, Martha took her dish and candle and proceeded to Miss Wintock's apartments. I kept close to her, eyeing keenly every movement; for I felt that if only half a chance occurred, she would play me false.

Never shall I forget the sight that presented itself on my entering Miss Wintock's wretched garret. Stretched on a miserably narrow pallet lay the beautiful but haggard girl, dressed as I last saw her, but with a stout leather girdle belted tightly round her waist, and which, fastened by a thick, strong cord passing round one of the bed-posts, effectually prevented her from moving except within a very limited area. The casement was strongly barred on the inside, and the catch securely fastened. In this remote room, at the very top of the house, there was not the slightest opportunity of communicating with the world without.

Old Martha noticed the start I gave at first entering the room, and commenced a hypocritical whimpering. "Indeed, Mr. Meredith, its no fault of mine, nor could I help it. 'Tis all master's doing and Mr. George's, and I am too old and too feeble to do anything but obey orders."

"Silence, woman!" I sternly retorted, as I thrust her into the only chair in the room, and advanced to the side of the poor, suffering and ill-used young lady.

The death-like pallor of her countenance, the drooping of the long dark eyelashes, and the listless rolling of the languid eyes, evinced the intense mental anguish that racked her. The instant her eyes rested on me, a sharp faint cry of joyful recognition escaped her, and she stretched out her hand. In the tumult of my distracted feelings, I seized it and pressed it warmly to my lips. A deep flush came rushing into her neck and face until she crimsoned to the temples. The next instant she was, if possible, even paler than before, and her short, rapid breathing told of the excitement under which she laboured.

"O Mr. Meredith—I was afraid that—I thought—I hoped you would not desert me," she gasped.

"Not while I have life, dear Miss Wintock," was the prompt reply. While I spoke, my pocket-knife was out, and I was sawing like a maniac at the cord to sever it.

Old Martha began to wring her hands and to remonstrate, but her remonstrances I speedily checked.

The cord was speedily cut through; and gently raising Miss Wintock to a sitting posture, I asked: "Are you able to stand?"

"Yes; thank you very, very much. At least I'll try." She gave me one glance of appealing trustfulness, and burst into a passionate fit of weeping. "Oh, take me away with you from this horrid place! I shall go really mad; I know I shall; I am so now, almost. O my poor brain!"

I tried my utmost to soothe her. Even old Martha aided me. Perhaps her womanly feeling was touched; for I believe she was more the unlucky victim and tool of circumstances than of an intrinsically bad and hardened nature. She produced her old-fashioned smelling-bottle, bathed Miss Wintock's hand and face, and induced her to eat some of the food she had brought; and I persuaded her, with some difficulty, to take a sip or two from my spirit flask, which I had previously put in my pocket in case of emergency.

At length the young lady became calmer. But I saw that it would be necessary to use extreme caution, or she would suffer a relapse, as she continued to entreat me, in the most pathetic language, not to leave her again in the power of the Wintocks. I looked at my watch; it wanted about twenty minutes to nine. Precisely at nine, in readiness for the evening ride, Mr. Wintock's gig and mare would be in the yard near the side-door, and Mr. George's horse shortly afterwards. Mr. Wintock would probably, as he often did, keep his gig waiting for him till a quarter past. George Wintock would be off shortly afterwards. Though I had spoken so confidently to Martha, I was not at all sure that some unlucky accident might not intervene if I remained where I was. Benetti might miss Martha. In fact, I was terribly uneasy and in a sad dilemma. Stay where I was for any length of time, I dared not. Leave Miss Wintock in her present state of mind, I could not. Indeed, I think she would have attempted to force her way with me, had I shown any indication of leaving her. A hasty and perhaps rash resolve took possession of me. If I could only get Miss Wintock below and conceal her till after the departure of the Wintocks, we might succeed in getting away unseen down to the village, where I hoped to house her safely and obtain assistance in protecting her; for surely none who knew her would refuse to aid; and even if discovered, I should then only have the Italian to deal with. Our time had been singularly ill-chosen before. We had waited till both Mr. Wintock and his son had returned home before making our attempt.

I again bent over Miss Wintock, and asked: "Do you think you could walk a little?"—at the same time giving her a meaning look.

The rapid glance of intelligence with which she replied reassured me.

"Now, Martha," I said, "I'm extremely obliged to you for all you have done; and depend upon it, you shall not be forgotten. But I must have the loan of that bonnet and shawl for a little while;" removing the one from her head and the other from her shoulders.—"It's no use to resist, old lady! A wilful man must have his way, and so you may as well be quiet. Now, sit down again in that chair, and don't stir unless I bid you, for time is precious.—'Pon my word, Miss Wintock, that bonnet becomes you as well as it does Martha;" placing it upon her head. "Rather a left-handed compliment to you, though. There; tuck up your hair safely out of sight in the crown; don't show any of it, on any account. Now for the shawl; close up to the throat—so. Here's a pin. That will do admirably. I declare I should not know you from Martha herself at a yard's distance, if I did not see your features.—Now, Martha, old girl, I'm just going to lock you in this room a little while—only a little while, you know, for I will leave the door on the landing open. Benetti will be sure to find you by-and-by; as, if you don't make your appearance below, he will no doubt seek you here, guessing that something has happened.—Nay, Martha", as she rose from her seat in great trepidation; "I don't wish to do anything ungentlemanly. I do not at all fear your giving an alarm from the window; it is too strongly barred for you to force it. You wouldn't like to take Miss Wintock's place, I suppose?" pointing so the pallet from which I had released her. "Very well. Then keep quiet, and no harm will come to you of this. You can tell Mr. Wintock that you were overcome by stratagem and force, if you like. We will leave you the light, as we can do better without it."

The hint was sufficient. Perhaps, too, in her heart the old creature might not be unwilling that her charge should escape. Before I had done speaking, Miss Wintock and I were out in the long corridor. The door was locked on old Martha; while Miss Wintock carried the dish and cover, to enable her to impersonate Martha as faithfully as possible.

"Now for it once again," I said to my companion; "and I trust with better luck. But you must be as cool as you can, and keep your wits about you. A hitch now will spoil all; for I fear this is your last and only chance. Whenever you feel inclined to faint, think of your liberty or a lunatic asylum."

"Do not fear me," she whispered. "I will do my utmost, or perish in the attempt. They shall not tear me from you a second time."

"Very good. Be as quick as you can, till we reach the last turn at the bottom of the stairs. Then, if the coast is clear, I will go forward and reconnoitre."

Hurriedly whispering these and other hints, I led her to the turn of the stairs, and then went forward by myself. A few seconds afterwards Martha's double came limping down along the passage into the scullery as directed. The impersonation was excellent and complete, and but for the serious stake at issue, I could have laughed outright. However, this was no time for indulgence in levity, but for nerve, watchfulness, and action.

The outer door of the kitchen passage stood open. Benetti usually left it so while he went to get the horses and vehicle ready for his masters. I stole softly towards it, to get a bird's-eye view of what might be going on without, endeavouring the while to arrange some definite plan of proceeding.

A rapid glance informed me that the elder Wintock had not yet departed. The gig, with the fine high-bred mare he was accustomed to drive, still stood in the yard. The animal was a noble specimen of great strength, speed, and spirit; but would stand as quietly as a lamb in the Hall-yard while waiting its master's pleasure, though it required a strong hand to hold the ribbons when once upon the road. Benetti was busily engaged in the stable, saddling and bridling Mr. George Wintock's horse. I could hear his "Whoa, Dandy!" and other ejaculations less amiable in his broken English, as the animal seemed to be giving him some trouble. In another five minutes he would bring him out into the yard equipped ready for his rider.

Instantaneously an idea whizzed through my brain like a flash of light, upsetting whatever of scheme or intention I might have already formed. In an instant I was at the scullery door. "Whist! Now—quick. Here; take my arm! Jump into the gig the instant you reach it. Trust to me for the rest."

Miss Wintock looked up at me in wonderment, but immediately obeyed.

Out at the open door and across the yard with Miss Wintock on my arm. "In with you Miss; quickly for dear life!"

She needed no second admonition, but half lifted by me, sprang nimbly into the vehicle. I was about to follow, but as ill-luck would have it we were not to get away so easily. The mare, hearing our footsteps, had begun to paw the ground, impatient of delay; and the face of Benetti immediately appeared at the stable-door. Probably he thought his master had come out, and might require his services.

I should have been unconscious of the fact; but in stepping into the gig, Miss Wintock slightly turned her head and caught sight of the Italian's swarthy visage. Her short, suppressed cry and eager finger at once pointed out to me the cause of her terror. Bennetti comprehended the state of affairs at the first glance, and with a fierce whoop came rushing at full speed to seize the mare's head. There was not time for me to mount. Stepping forward a pace or two, and exerting my utmost strength, I dealt him a buffet which fairly balanced that which he had dealt me at the Hall door, followed up by a kick upon the shins, as he staggered backward and fell, literally yelling with agony. The mare snorted, and began to move. Snatching the reins, I sprang into the gig; and had just cleared the yard as George Wintock came rushing out to ascertain the cause of the disturbance.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.—You can be weak, nervous, debilitated, and despondent, disqualified for work of head or hand, or you can enjoy a fair share of health and peace of mind. Burdock Blood Bitters will alleviate your misery and do you a world of good if you will persevere in their use for a few weeks.

NATURE, after all, is the great physician. She hides all the secrets of health within her broad generous bosom, and man needs but to go to her intelligently for his every need. The discovery of the great Cough Remedy, GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM, is an apt illustration of this. As a cure for Coughs, Colds, Loss of Voice and Hoarseness, it stands unrivalled, while its low price and readiness of access places it within the reach of all. Try it and be convinced. All chemists keep it in 25 and 50 cent bottles.

The reason why the surgeons of the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, are making so many wonderful cures of catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and consumption are: They have none but skilled and qualified medical men connected with the Institute. They adhere strictly to their specialty and they use the spirometer invented by Mr. Souvielle, ex-aide surgeon of the French army, an instrument which conveys the medicines in the form of cold inhalations to parts diseased, which is the only way these diseases can be cured. They are treating hundreds of patients every month, having twelve surgeons engaged in their work in Canada alone. Clear Up.

Health Inspector Beavis expressed his intention to lay informations in the Police Court this morning against certain parties who had not paid enough attention to the state of their premises, but finally decided to give them another chance. He says he will do so to-morrow, if the yards are not attended to to-day.

A Runaway.

On Thursday evening a team of horses attached to a waggon containing two men ran away on George street, near Dublin street. They only ran a short distance, and were turned in towards the sidewalk and stopped. One of the men was thrown out, but was not injured. The pole of the waggon was broken.

A. C. A.

The adjourned meeting of all those interested in promoting the success of the approaching camp of the American Canoe Association, will be held in the Council Chamber on Tuesday evening next, the 15th inst., at 8 o'clock. It is quite time to be getting to work, and we trust there will be a large turn-out on Tuesday evening.

P. B. C.

The adjourned annual meeting will be held at the Boat House on Monday evening next. There will no doubt be a large meeting, as the business to be transacted is of importance, including the reception of reports, election of officers, and making general arrangements for the work of the season. A number of new members will be proposed for election. The selling of the racks in the boathouse will probably be arranged for at the same time.

The Weather.

The probs. say "lower temperature," and we presume we must submit. The weather this morning was cold and to-day is bright and warmer. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Fresh to strong south westerly to north westerly winds; fine weather; slightly lower temperature.

Promenade Concert.

The band will give a promenade concert in the drill shed on the evening of Wednesday, the 23rd of May, under the auspices of the Fire Brigade. The proceeds will be used in defraying the expenses of remodelling the band uniform and providing two new uniforms. The new suits are being made, and others repaired, at Habiliment Hall. The concert should not be forgotten, on the eve of the Queen's Birthday, and there should be a large attendance.

THE ASPHODEL MURDER

AN INQUEST HELD ON THE BODY OF THE ITALIAN, DOMENICO OTTAVIANE.

The Evidence Taken—An Agreement to Fight—A Stone Thrown—Did the Knife Take Effect?—The Fatal Blow—A Verdict of Murder Against Carmenino.

On Thursday Dr. Bell, Coroner, accompanied by Dr. Kincaid, went to the construction camp on the Ontario and Quebec Railway line, to hold an inquest on the body of Domenino Ottaviane, who was killed on the morning previous. P. C. Adams had preceded him, and had summoned a jury. The inquest was held in the shanty where the quarrel commenced.

The camp or shanty is a log one about 14 by 18 feet, and at the east side, at the south corner, there is a wooden "lean-to" about twelve feet long, on the side facing the concession line. The entrance to the camp is through this addition. Inside the camp there are four or five small benches and a few blocks of wood, which are used as seats, and a small, rough table, but this table was not used for eating purposes, as they did not use any table for that purpose. The jurymen, while the inquest was in progress, had to stand. There is a small box stove in the building, and outside there is a fire place, constructed of stone and clay, with a pole over it held up by posts at each end, where cooking was also done. They have no cook employed, as each man attends to the cooking of his own food. There are about thirty-five Italians in the camp. It was at the stove inside the building that the quarrel commenced. Ottaviane was using the stove and Carmenino wanted it, which led to the dispute. They went outside to fight, in the manner stated in the evidence, and Ottaviane received the fatal blow while standing about ten feet distant from the north end of the building. He then walked back in front of the shanty, about ten feet, and that is where the blood issued from his mouth, as stated by a witness. He fell about four feet from that spot, and laid there until that night. The Italians were told by some parties that they should not touch the body until ordered to do so by a coroner, and it consequently remained where he had fallen until that night, when the body was taken into the building and placed on a bench.

When Carmenino had given the fatal blow he ran to the woods, and remained in the edge of the woods, watching what was going on, until about eleven o'clock, when a constable from Norwood arrived with some men, and he at once ran away, and could not be found. While he remained at the edge of the woods he could see the body of his victim still lying on the ground.

The weapon used was a maple stick about two feet long. It was about an inch around at the larger end, and tapered to a sharp point at the other end.

The following are the names of the jurymen, who served on the inquest:—Wm. Sharp, foreman; Chas. McDonnell, John Sargent, Byron M. Wylie, Michael Ryan, Thomas Lancaster, Jno. Drummond, Joseph Walker, Jas. S. Christie, Wm. McI. White, Wm. A. Wylie and A. H. Cook.

The Italian witnesses who were examined, three in number, could not speak the English language, and Frank Finimore, an Italian also, having been sworn, acted as interpreter. The first witness called was POSQUANDONIO ROSSI, who, on being sworn, said:—I knew the deceased since last November. He worked on the Ontario and Quebec Railway since March last. He was about thirty years of age. He has been a sober man of late. Was present at his death, at about half-past six o'clock on Wednesday morning, at the boarding shanty. The deceased was cooking his breakfast on the stove, when Angelo Carmenino came in and told him to "hurry up," as he wanted the stove to cook also, or he would fight him. The deceased replied, "You have been here about a year, and have not bought any plate or pail yet, and always want to use the stove first." Angelo Carmenino said, "You need not care whether I buy anything or not. If you will come down to the woods I will fight you." The deceased said he was not afraid; that he was as strong a man as he was, and said all right. They both went out at the door. The deceased had a short pocket-knife in his hand with which he had been cutting fish. Angelo Carmenino, just before going out at the door, picked up a sharp stick about two feet long. In his other hand he had a stone weighing about two pounds, which he threw at the deceased. The decease dodged it, and the stone struck his hat. The deceased then struck his opponent twice on the shoulder with the knife, but I do not know whether it cut him or not. I then looked towards the road, and in a moment afterwards, on looking back, I saw deceased bleeding from the mouth. Angelo Carmenino then threw down the stick and said he was going away. He immediately left, going in the direction of the woods. The deceased staggered, when I went, with two others, to his assistance and caught him before he fell. I was at the time about ten or twelve feet away. The deceased died in about three minutes afterwards. I never heard of them quarrelling before. I stayed with the deceased until he died, and then went with others to search for Carmenino in the woods, remaining there about twenty minutes, but did not find him. The deceased never spoke after the altercation. The stick and knife produced I identify as those in the hands of Carmenino and the deceased at the time of the altercation.

LUIGI ROSSI, sworn, said:—I was in the shanty when the row between the deceased and Angelo Carmenino took place. I never knew them to quarrel before. I saw Carmenino pick up the sharp stick off a bed when they proposed going out to fight. I did not see the deceased have a knife or offer to fight. I saw the deceased struck with a stone on the arm which he raised to defend his head. I saw Angelo Carmenino stab the deceased in the side, under the arm, with the sharp stick. I corroborate what the previous witness said as to the conversation which took place previous to their going out. The deceased, immediately after being stabbed with the stick said, "I am killed." I was then about fifteen feet away. I did not hear Carmenino say anything. I saw Carmenino go off towards the woods, and saw the stick drop to the ground. I went to the assistance of the deceased immediately after he was stabbed. He died in three or four minutes.

ROBERT KINCAID, M. D., sworn, said:—I am a regular licensed practitioner. I held a post mortem examination on the deceased, as requested by the jury, and found him a man of about thirty-five years of age, five feet eight inches in height, well proportioned, and fully developed. I observed a wound in the left side between the second and third ribs, extending upwards and backwards, which was evidently made by a dull cutting instrument. Said wound penetrated through the integument, superficial and deep fascia, the muscles of the chest, pleura, left lung, and into the left auricle of the heart. The wound was of sufficient extent to cause almost immediate death. The wound at the point of entrance was small, but fully an inch in diameter in the lung, and about three-quarters of an inch where it entered the left auricle. In all respects the deceased appeared healthy. The wound described was, in my opinion, the cause of death.

GIOVANNO DALSEMO, sworn, said:—I was present when the row took place between deceased and Angelo Carmenino. I corroborate the evidence of previous witnesses as to the conversation which took place in the shanty. I saw the knife in the hands of the deceased, which he had been using cutting fish, and also saw Angelo Carmenino, just as he was going out, pick up the sharp stick off the bed. I saw the deceased strike Carmenino twice on the shoulder with the knife, but do not know whether it cut him or not. At the same time Carmenino stabbed him with the sharp stick. Carmenino, after stabbing him, said, "You are not as strong as me." I said to deceased, "You are killed," and he replied, "All right, if I am killed." I saw the stick drop to the ground, and Carmenino start off towards the woods. I was about ten feet distant when the stabbing took place.

This concluded the evidence. The Coroner then addressed the jury, reviewing the evidence, and left them to consider their verdict.

The following is the verdict rendered by the jury:—"That the deceased came to his death in the Township of Asphodel, County of Peterborough, on Wednesday, May 9th, 1883, from a wound inflicted by a sharp pointed stick, in the left breast, in the hands of Angelo Carmenino, and that the said Angelo Carmenino did feloniously, and of his malice aforethought, murder Domenico Ottaviane."

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcula which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Martin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT.

Concert Under the Auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church.

A concert was given in Bradburn's Opera House on Friday evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the George Street Methodist Church. The attendance was large. Much care had been taken to arrange for a programme that would give satisfaction, and in this the managers were successful, as the large audience appeared to be well pleased with the entertainment. The performance was commenced by a selection from the string band, which was rendered in first-class style. Then followed a college song, "Victoria," by the Glee Club of Victoria College, Cobourg. The singing by this club, composed of ten young men and their pianist, was looked upon as the chief feature of the programme. Their singing, although perhaps not as brilliant as some had expected, was of a high order and drew forth loud plaudits. Mr. Herrington, of the Glee Club, then gave a recitation, "The Red Jacket," in a manner which proved that his reputation as a reciter was well deserved. A vocal duet, "Haste, Crimson Moon," by Miss Huston and Mr. Elliott was admirably rendered and loudly applauded. The Glee Club sang the "Jubilate," and was followed by a piano solo, "Il Barbiere di Saviglia," by Miss Minnie Errett, whose rendering of this solo displayed considerable musical ability. Mr. Will Dixon gave an exhibition of ventriloquism, causing great merriment, and drawing forth loud applause. The Glee Club sang the "Rowing Song," for which they were encored, and in response one of their number, who possesses a good basso voice, sang a solo. The second part of the performance was opened by a selection from the string band which was loudly encored, and the orchestra responded to the call with a lively air. Mrs. J. E. McIntyre sang, in her well-known admirable manner, "The Birds that Came in Spring," and in response to a loud recall she sang a humorous song, "Don't Come Teasing Me." The Glee Club followed with a "Foot Ball Song." They were encored and sang "Jingle Bells," which was received with applause. Mr. Huycke, of the Glee Club, recited "The Benediction," a piece admirably suited for a recitation, and to which he did full justice. An overture "Hippodrome," by Messrs. Best Sanderson and Lech, was well received, and deserved the loud applause it drew from the audience. Miss Huston and Mr. Elliott sang "The Gipsy Countess." This duet was received with much favour by the audience, and the vocal trio, "Good Old Days of Yore," by Messrs. Buddeo, Shaw, and Elliot, met with a loud recall. "Fair Jeannette," a duet by Miss Huston and Miss Wells, was beautifully rendered and deserved the encore in response to which they sang "Beautiful Night," drawing forth another round of applause. Mr. Herrington then recited, with rare ability, a humourous sketch of a choleric gentleman named Brown, and in answer to a recall kept the audience in a merry mood for some minutes longer with "his first recitation." Mrs. McIntyre, by special request, delighted the audience with another solo, and the Glee Club closed the entertainment with "Marching Through Georgia," which was a fitting conclusion to a very successful programme. Prof. Heathfield and Miss Errett presided at the piano for the local vocalists, to the satisfaction of all concerned. The concert was a successful one in every respect, the audience being large and well pleased with the entertainment provided.

LIBERALS DISCONTENTED.

LONDON, May 12.—It is stated that a large proportion of the abstentesism on the part of Liberals from voting during the recent division in the House of Commons has been deliberate, and that there is a growing indisposition among some Liberals to support the Government.

THE REPOSE OF HIS SOUL.

LIVERPOOL, May 12.—The Irish people here have arranged for saying masses on Monday for the repose of the soul or Joe. Brady, who will be hanged in Dublin.

SEDITIOUS WRITINGS.

BERLIN, May 12.—The Assistant Secretary of the Royal Library was convicted of a charge of distributing seditious writings, and sentenced to six months.

THE RESULT OF THE SESSION.

LONDON, May 12.—The Times, summing up the result of the session of Parliament, says it cannot be denied that during the last three months the situation became distinctly worse. The triumps of the Ministry have been eclipsed by the confused details of its later policy, and its followers have lost the habits of discipline. The action of the Cabinet itself somehow fails to convey the impression of unity and directness, which can alone ensure victory.

REMANDED.

LIVERPOOL, May 12.—O'Connor, brought from London yesterday, was remanded to-day on a charge of being concerned with O'Hielhy and Kennedy in the dynamite plots.

SUFFERING IN SWITZERLAND.

GENEVA, May 12.—The peasant farmers in the valleys and the borders on higher grounds are suffering from the extremely backward season. Snow and frost continue and prevent any efforts of starting crops, while their winter's stock of cattle feed is exhausted and there is as yet no grazing.

AMERICAN.

ALARMING STATE OF SOCIETY.

SHAMSVILLE, Ohio, May 12.—At the Southern Ohio Episcopal Convention a committee made a report stating that at the ratio since 1850, in twenty years the divorces in Ohio will equal the marriages. Five-sixths of the divorces granted in 1882 were for causes not recognized by the Bible. Collusion and fraud prevail to an alarming extent. The committee recommend more stringent divorce laws. The report was adopted unanimously. The committee was instructed to petition the Legislature, and to take steps for the formation of a divorce reform league, including Catholics and Protestants.

A PITCH-IN.

BINGHAM, Vt., May 12.—A D. S. & W coal train ran into the rear end of a passenger train near New Milford. One man was probably fatally injured.

HEAVY LOSSES.

CHICAGO, May 12.—It is stated that Amos A. Stone lost a large amount recently because of failure of a number of Colorado railroads in which he was interested. Stone, by the failure of the Union Iron and Steel works lost $200,000. He also lost $500,000 by the failure of Ayers, Sons & Brown, and Bonnell & Co., Youngstown, Ohio.

A TRAGEDY.

CLEVELAND, May 12.—Amos A. stone, who was shot yesterday, was found sitting in a bath but partially dressed and with a bullet hole in his left breast. The tragedy has created great excitement. INFANTICIDE AND SUICIDE.

ROME, Ga., May 12.—Mrs. Sanders, married two months ago, suicided with strychnine fifteen miles from here. Her new born infant was found under a brush pile. It is supposed that it was killed by herself to hide her shame from her husband.

A FATAL ROW.

SCOTTSBORO, Ala., May 12.—John Carter was killed by three men named Waller, whom he beat at log-rolling. Carter fatally stabbed one assailant.

A RIFLE MATCH.

SARATOGA, May 12.—A rifle match took place yesterday between teams from the Saratoga and Brattleboro rifle clubs. It was shot on the respective ranges of the clubs. The Saratoga's won by 631 to 619.

A LITTLE GIRL KILLED.

JERSEY CITY, May 12.—A little girl here yesterday, while attempting to rescure her sister, was killed by a stone falling from a stoop. The younger child was bruised.

A COSTLY INVESTIGATION.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 12.—It is said that the alleged fraudulent items in Marshal Strobach's accounts amount only to $50. The Department of Justice has already spent $3,000 in the investigation and the cost of the Government will exceed double that sum before the trial is concluded. The indictments against Strobach are the result of six week's work by Brewster Cameron and a corps of agent of the Department of Justice.

SHERIDAN AND WALSH.

NEW YORK, May 12.—John Devoy says that two very prominent Republicans stated recently that all the evidence obtainable has been submitted inofficially to the Government at Washington and the Government has already passed judgment in favor of Sheridan and Walsh.

A FAMILY POISONED.

OAKLAND, N.J., May 12.—Five members of the family of John Post were poisoned by arsenic put in flour used in making dumpling. It is feared that Catherine Hines, a domestic, will die. The others are recovering. Post suspects a man with whom he had quarreled.

A STONE THROWN.

PETERSBURG, N. Y., May 12.—An unknown party hurled a large stone through a window of a postal car of a train near Tivolia on Thursday night. Smith Sherman, the postal clerk, was knocked senseless, and his hip was fractured.

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, May 12.—Twelve Indians attacked several citizens twenty-five miles west of Jolley, killing one and wounding another. It is thought that the Indians have scattered into small bands. Soldiers have been sent out.

WHERE THEY ORIGINATED.

DUBLIN, May 11.—It is reported that further revelations have been made at the Castle inquiry covering missing points in the chain of evidence against Sheridan and others. The tendency is to show that the idea of the Invincibles originated among the prisoners in Kilmainham at a period when several prominent members of the Irish Parliamentary were confined there.

THE KINGSTON CASE.

DUBLIN, May 11.—Kingston, Healy and Gibney, charged with conspiracy to murder Poole, were arraigned to-day, and committed for trial. Healy was bailed in £100, but bail was refused in the case of Gibney and Kingston.

CHINA AND JAPAN.

LONDON, May 11.—The international fisheries exhibition was opened to-day by the Prince of Wales in presence of a distinguished company. The thanks of the Queen were conveyed to all countries participating.

THE DYNAMITERS.

LONDON, May 11.—To-day all the dynamite conspiracy prisoners except O'Connor, whom the Crown is unable to connect with the others, were committed for trial on a charge of treason-felony. Lynch, the informer, was committed on a charge of misdemeanour. O'Connor, on leaving the dock, was rearrested by Liverpool detectives. The trial of the dynamiters begins on the 28th of June, at the Old Bailey.

Ladies desiring Neat and Stylish Millinery, at close prices, will be agreeably surprised at the variety to choose from on visiting Turnbull's Show Rooms.

THE HALIFAX SCARE.

Suspicious Action of an Unknown Steamer at the Harbour's Mouth.

HALIFAX, N. S., May 10.—The interest attaching to the Fenian scare has been abating somewhat, but to-day a report that suspicious vessels had been hovering about the harbour's entrance was discussed with some degree of excitement by the public. It was ascertained that there really was foundation for the rumours, it being an actual fact that at least one mysterious craft, a steamer, had appeared at the mouth of the bay acting in an unusual manner, and departing without entering the harbour. About three o'clock this morning a signal was hoisted on the citadel staff for a steamer reported to the eastward. She was made out by the signal officers to be brigatine-rigged, but her name could not be discovered, as she did not approach near enough to the signal station. She came towards the port from a south-easterly direction, passed on to the westward, and an hour or so afterwards returned, and seemed to hover at the mouth for a short time, apparently undecided whether to come in or not. She then turned about and put to sea again without having made any signal. This curious action of a steamer is very unusual, though there have previously, but not recently, been one or two similar cases.

The reason why the surgeons of the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, are making so many wonderful cures of catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and consumption are: They have none but skilled and qualified medical men connected with the Institute. They adhere strictly to their specialty and they use the spirometer invented by Mr. Souvielle, ex-aide surgeon of the French army, an instrument which conveys the medicines in the form of cold inhalations to parts diseased, which is the only way these diseases can be cured. They are treating hundreds of patients every month, having twelve surgeons engaged in their work in Canada alone. NEW GUINEA.

THE annexation of New Guinea is certainly an important event in the history of the British Empire. The fact of a colony having a dependency of great magnitude, though not an unprecedented circumstance, is no doubt remarkable, especially when it is considered that Queensland, the youngest member of the Australian colonial group, is not a quarter of a century old, and with a sparse population had already a territory as large as that of first class European powers. The very fact that Queensland has undertaken a task apparently so out of proportion to its abilities, but upon which it is entering with the assent and approval of its sister colonies as being for their general advantage, will be a strong lever to hasten the establishment of the very desirable Australian Confederation.

This new addition to the British Empire is undoubtedly an acquisition. One of the largest, if not the largest island in the world, it has enormous tracts of rich land fitted for tropical produce, while in the elevated districts in its interior, a bracing atmosphere and temperate climate will be found, even in those low latitudes.

Some action was necessary, for the Dutch, the Spaniards, and the Portuguese had more or less shadowy claims by discovery, and these might have been confirmed by settlement, when our Australian cousins might have found them inconveniently near neighbours just on the other side of the Torres Straits. Our growing traffic through these narrow seas also makes it advisable that the attempts of piratical natives on becalmed or disabled ships should be thus checked.

Scientific men will be delighted at having this new field thrown open to them, for much of it is still "terra incognita." In spite of partial explorations by Dutch, Portuguese and British vessels, its geography is even yet imperfectly known, and its flora and fauna have only been examined sufficiently to show that they abound with new and strange forms, with a rich harvest yet to be reaped.

Previous attempts have been made for the acquisition of this island to the British flag, but without permanent results. We hope the present movement will be more successful.

INTER-PROVINCIAL TRADE.

THE report of the Parliamentary Committee on Inter-Provincial Trade is so valuable and interesting that we give it in full as follows:—

"The Select Committee appointed to take into consideration and report how Inter-Provincial Trade may be best promoted, the earnings and enlarged traffic of the Intercolonial Railway be further increased by products from Ontario and Quebec, East to the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland and by returning freight, beg leave to submit the following as their report.

The Committee have had before them persons from various parts of the Dominion conversant with the trade carried on between the several Provinces of Ontario, Quebec New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, and have examined them touching the growth of that trade since the Union of the Provinces in 1867, its present position, the opportunities for its enlargement, and the conditions under which its much greater development may fairly be anticipated.

They are gratified in being able to state that, upon all these points, the evidence given appears to them to be important and encouraging.

For example, it is shown that while, in 1866, goods to the value of $1,200,000 only were imported into the Maritime Provinces from Canada, in 1882 their importations from the Upper Provinces had risen to $22,000,000, and although the volume of trade has been largely from the West to the East, yet it found that the importation of coal from Nova Scotia into Quebec has, within a few years past, greatly increased, and the trade in herring and codfish from Cape Breton and Nova Scotia has, in the language of one of the witnesses, "developed to very large proportions." "Inter-Provincial Trade," he says, "is growing daily, and the feeling between the Provinces is very much better than it was some years ago."

Another states: "As far West as Montreal a very considerable trade is already done in fish and in oils, and in West India goods and coal." It is, however, felt that this trade has, by no means, reached its just proportions, and that much may be effected in the way of removing impediments and extending its volume.

The witnesses concur that the facilities are not at present what they ought to be. The railway commodation for traffic, it is alleged, is not adequate to the demand upon it. The merchants and others examined state that the Grand Trunk Railway cannot do the business. One gentleman, it will be seen, states: "We have freight now out about two months from London to Quebec, of which we cannot get any tidings, and there were also quite a large quantity out for a month before I left home. This has been the case all winter. We have now one customer in the town of Chatham to whom we ship a good deal, and to whom we recently shipped five car loads, and this shipment has failed to reach him, although it has been on the road somewhere for six weeks.

Another says: "We in Toronto are from 800 to 1,300 miles from Halifax, and in the winter season, more especially this winter, we have found that the delays have been very annoying, and it has taken as long as six weeks to get our shipments through to their destination. This is one of the great obstacles to the trade, and in the summer it frequently takes thirteen days and sometimes it is done in ten days."

Again: "You have no idea of the annoyances we are subject to. We have exceptionally great difficulty in keeping this trade alive. Recently there were 126 cars of freight in one yard awaiting transfer. The Grand Trunk is not at fault, because all its rolling stock was employed to its fullest extent."

Another refers to a recent block of coal cars at the Chaudiere Junction, to overcome which the Intercolonial Railway authorities offered to send out their own locomotives, if the Grand Trunk would let them haul the coal over the road to Montreal and get their cars back; and the same gentleman speaks of a letter from a Chicago correspondent, saying that he had been obliged to discontinue the fish trade from Halifax as to some of the freight had been forty days in transit from Halifax to Chicago.

To meet these difficulties the chief practical suggestions which have been submitted to Your Committee beyond the increase of railway accommodation by through competing lines—which must of necessity be a matter of considerable time—are the putting on immediately of a line of propellers to connect the western ports of Lake Ontario with the Intercolonial Railway at Point Levis, and the deepening, as speedily as possible, of the St. Lawrence Canals to a uniform depth with the Welland Canal.

It is claimed that not only would a line of propellers, regularly run in connection with the Intercolonial Railway, afford the requisite relief to traffic, but that it would effect such a reduction in the rate of freight as to divert into our own channels a large amount that goes from Ontario by way of the United States, and to enable the coal of Nova Scotia to be placed in the cities and towns of Ontario at as low a price as that at which it can be imported from the neighboring Republic; while the other products of the Lower Provinces would also thus reach the market of the Upper in much greater quantities than they now do. It is however, alleged that with the control which the railway system is able to exert, no line of propellers could be established without a guarantee of freights for each trip to a specified amount, or a subsidy granted by Government, though it is thought that once fairly established, they would continue in after years without it. The better opinion appears to be that ten thousand dollars for six months for each boat put on would be required, though some assert that an efficient line of from three to four boats could be secured for from $25,000 to $30,000.

With regard to the deepening of the canals, it is strongly contended that this is indispensable for the proper development of the Inter-Provincial trade. A gentleman from Ontario, of large experience, affirms: "that the most direct means of increasing the trade with the Lower Provinces would be the enlargement of the St. Lawrence Canals, at the earliest possible period, to a uniform size of the Welland Canal, in size of lock and depth of water, so that large vessels could pass through them. Vessels carrying large cargoes would have a tendency to cheapen the rate of freight. They could go to the Lower Provinces, discharge their cargoes, and take in return cargoes of coal and carry it up at a low rate of freight, say $1 to $1.25 per ton. They could also take fish and what other goods they could get. In this way coal could be probably laid down in Western Ontario at a less cost than the American coal, and it would consequently go largely into consumption throughout Ontario."

Another resident in Cape Breton, interested in its mining enterprises, declares: "Were the canal enlargement completed we could send over a million tons of coal into Ontario. Once enlarged the grain trade must flow to Montreal, our coal to the West, freight will be reduced, and Canada will supply her own demands."

The Committee have deemed it to be their duty to thus advert to the facts and opinions which have been elicited in the course of their enquiry, and they now beg leave to present herewith the evidence and statements in detail as given before them for the consideration of the House.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

HENRY N. PAINTER,
Chairman.

THE NEW LICENSE BILL.

The Mail's correspondent writes as follows from Ottawa on May 10th:—

"The licensing committee to-day considered the report of the sub-committee, and agreed to report a bill to the House, which they will do to-morrow. It will contain about 125 clauses. The number of hotel and saloon licenses in cities and towns is to be one to every 250 up to a thousand of the population, and one to every 500 above that. Hotels in cities and towns are to have six beds, and in rural districts three beds, and stabling and provender for six horses. Both hotels and saloons are to be able to give meals before they can obtain licenses, except that the board of commissioners may exempt a certain number of hotels and saloons from the provision as to meals. Every application for a license must be signed by one-third of the electors in the polling sub-division, and a petition against it signed by a majority of the electors will be fatal to the application. In addition to this the majority of the electors of a sub-division can by petition prohibit the issue of any license in the division. Shop licenses are limited to one to every 400 up to 12,000, and one to every thousand beyond. No quantity less than one imperial pint can be sold under a shop license, and it must not be drunk on the premises. No shop license is to be granted for any place where other goods are sold, but this provision is not to apply to any who hold licenses at the time of the passage of the Act until the 1st May, 1800, to give time for the leases to expire. Vessel licenses cover the sale only to passengers and at meal times. The hours of closing are to be from 7 on Saturday night to 6 on Monday morning, and on all other nights from 11 to 6 a.m. On Sundays hotels are to be allowed to supply their guests only in their rooms or at the table between 12.30 and 1 p.m., and 5.30 and 6.30 p.m. No liquors are to be sold to anyone under sixteen years of age. If it is shown in open court that a person wastes his estate, greatly injures his health, or interrupts the peace of his family, the justices may prohibit the sale of liquors to him for one year. A husband or a wife or the parents or guardians of a minor may by a notice in writing to a license holder prohibit the sale of liquor to those parties. In addition the Commissioners have power to further limit the number of licenses. The municipal councils in rural districts have a similar power, and may also prescribe additional conditions as to accommodation. If an application for license be refused on the ground that the applicant is an unfit person, he is to be disqualified for three years. An additional license for six months may be granted for a place of summer resort. In country towns five licenses may be granted, and in towns or villages of less than 500 inhabitants two licenses may be granted. There are special provisions with reference to Niagara Falls, where three licenses are to be allowed and Victoria, British Columbia, where the proportion is to be one to each 200 up to 8,000 of the population and one to each thousand above that. The existing acts in the provinces are to be ratified till this act comes into force and this act is to come into force 1st January next, not to interfere with existing licenses."

THE MAN IN POSSESSION

IN FIVE CHAPTERS.—CHAPTER IV.

We started off as for dear life. At first, the mare shied a little, and seemed inclined to be troublesome. But she found that it was a practised hand that held the reins, and resigned herself to obedience accordingly. Instead of driving down the avenue to the gate which led into the village, and which was only about three hundred yards from the house, I turned off sharply on leaving the yard, and chose the gravel-road which, leading to the principal entrance of the mansion, passed on through the entire breadth of the park to another gate on the far side of it, and which opened into the high-road. By adopting this course, the odds were considerably in my favour, for I hoped to reach the park gate and emerge into the high-road before any one could start in pursuit. Once fairly on the road, I would try the mettle of the mare. If, unfortunately, we should be overtaken, and it came to a close fight—which I scarcely doubted—the farther we were from Britsleigh Hall the better, and the greater chance I should have of dividing our pursuers and grappling with them singly. Of one thing I was certain, and it rendered me sanguine of success—as Mr. Wintock only kept two horses beside the mare, only two mounted horsemen could follow. He would not try a vehicle; for his others were heavier than the gig, and would place our pursuers at a great disadvantage.

"Soho, soho, lass!—steady!" as the mare, being fresh from the stable, began to lay her ears back and to address herself to her work. It was with difficulty that I could restrain her from dashing off at full speed. We should require her utmost by-and-by. I did not wish to wind my animal at starting, but to husband her strength for a long pull.

Steadily across the park at a sharp trot. The gate is reached. Throwing the reins to Miss Wintock, I leap down, unbar the gate and lead the mare through. Up again and off, rather faster than before, though I still hold the mare in check, for I could see there was a heavy drag for her up a long steep hill a few miles distant. If we can only reach its summit we will then be not more than a dozen miles from Raleigh station, whence we can reach the metropolis. It was rather a trying task for the mare; but she must and shall do it. Miss Wintock had scarcely spoken since our exit from the Hall, seeming as if fearful of distracting my attention but evidently in a state of great excitement; and every sense is on the alert, for she looks back repeatedly and earnestly through the looming darkness, and starts nervously at the slightest sound.

The foot of the hill is gained. It is a much heavier drag for the mare than I had anticipated; for the road on this part has lately been gravelled, and with a vehicle behind and two persons in it, no animal can fairly be expected to ascend it at full trot.

Suddenly Miss Wintock grasps my arm. "Listen! They are already on our track!"

I turn my head. The sharp percussive ring of horse's hoofs strikes faintly on the ear. We are pursued, and by more than one person; there are at least two on the trail and they are following us at full speed. No doubt the Wintock's have saddled the extra horse, and will leave untried no means, fair or foul, to regain their captive.

The mare toils and pants as the steep acclivity begins to tell upon her powers. It is brutal to give her the whip, but it must be done. She must strain every muscle to the utmost, even though I feel that I am doing the plucky animal a gross injustice.

We are more than halfway up the hill, and the remainder is not nearly so steep; in fact, simply a gentle rise. With a snort, a proud toss of her flowing mane, and a loud neigh of defiance, she pricks up her ears and increases her speed. She has caught the clatter of the rattling hoofs behind her, and with the instinct and emulation of all spirited animals, is determined not to be distanced. Gallant creature! not another stroke of the whip, if I have to fight our battle out on foot on the road. Indeed, there is no occasion; on gaining the ridge of the hill she has bolted. The foam is frothing and dripping in fleeces from her bit; the wheels are whirling with a fierceness that renders us dizzy. I can hear and feel the strain upon the shafts as her iron-clad heels dash the sparks from the flints on the road and every instant expect them to snap like rotten tow. Will the axles hold and the springs stand? The friction is enough to make tires and spokes fly asunder.

The moon is just rising above the horizon. By her light we can discern two mounted riders coming on behind at a great pace; one is considerably in advance of the other. No doubt they are the Wintocks. They are gaining rapidly upon us. Ah! the foremost is Mr. George. I recognise the horse also; it is the swift dapple bay he usually rides, and which is more than a match for the mare at any time, much more so with a vehicle and two persons behind her. There is no help for it, and we cannot escape an encounter.

How furiously our pursuers ride! George Wintock is within a hundred yards. I fancy I can see by the light of the moon that his visage is ghastly with passion. I can see his coadjutor strike the rowels fiercely into the flanks of his charger, in order to come up with him. The mare is getting over her pet, and is slackening her speed. I tighten my grasp of the reins and speak coaxingly to her. She is under command and well in hand. Shall we pull up at once and do battle? No; we will hold on till the last minute.

The foremost rider is close upon us; the second is not far behind. With loud imprecations, they shout to us to stop. I glance at my companion. The cool night-air and the hope of escape have wrought wonders; the storm, almost [illegible] light on those lustrous dark eyes reassures me.

"Can you take the reins for a minute?"

She stretched out her delicate fingers by way of reply.

"Pull evenly and not too tightly. Keep her in the middle of the road if you can. Be cool, and let her go her own pace."

"Draw up, or you're a dead man!"

I turned. George Wintock was within a yard of me, his hunting-whip raised, the heavy handle about to descend on my skull.

Springing to my feet and bracing myself as best I might, I faced the ruffian, parrying his blows and keeping him at bay. Finding I had the longer weapon, he immediately changed his tactics for a dastardly mode of attack, of which no man, let alone a sportsman, who is supposed to love his horse, could ever possibly be guilty.

Spurring his steed, he rode past us to the mare's head, and raising himself in the stirrups, aimed a crushing blow [illegible] behind the ear, intending to fell her to the ground, in which case we should be [illegible] at his mercy.

It was well meant; but at the critical instant the mare swerved slightly, so as to evade its full force. It was, however, sufficiently powerful to make her stumble and sink almost upon her knees. But the ruffian had for once reckoned without his host. He was within reach of my whip-handle, and, as the mare rose, I, wrought to a pitch of desperation by our position, and incensed by his cowardly and brutal act, swung the butt-end with [illegible] sweep, striking him on the side of the head, breaking his whip-handle into several pieces, and hurling him headlong against the bank skirting the roadside. I had the satisfaction of seeing the horse gallop riderless away.

A shriek burst from Miss Wintock, and I clutched the reins. It was high time, for the poor mare mad with agony, was up on her hind-legs, fighting with her fore-feet in the air. For a second it seemed as if we should topple over; the next, she was staggering from side to side like a drunken man. Mechanically, I drew one of my small pistols—in my excitement I had till that moment entirely forgotten them.

"Keep off, sir!—keep off, as you value your life!" I shouted to the elder Wintock, for he was close upon us.

His reply was a torrent of imprecations and threats.

"Give it to me!—You attend to the mare," cried the heroic girl as she snatched the pistol quickly from my hand. "I know how to use it, and will not be retaken alive!"

In truth, there was full occupation for both my hands, as momentarily I expected the poor animal to fall in her flurry. It was as much as I could do to keep her on her legs.

Encumbered with the mare, there was no chance of defending myself in the gig. I was about to pull up short, jump into the road, and face the enemy on foot, when a heavy blow from the butt-end of Mr. Wintock's whip across the back of my head struck me from my seat. Had I not let go the reins with one hand and caught at the side of the gig, I should have fallen on the mare's back. As it was, I slipped sideways to the bottom of the gig, leaning powerless against the splashboard. The mare gave a lurch, and was nearly down, but with a struggle recovered her footing. Mr. Wintock's arm was raised to repeat the blow. I gave myself up for lost, for he struck with tremendous force. Suddenly there was a vivid flash and a loud report. Miss Wintock had fired straight at our assailant, who on the instant had pulled up short, so that the ball struck the animal instead of the man! Stung with the wound, alarmed at the noise, it uttered a loud snort, bounded aside, galloped a short distance, and then fell, Mr. Wintock narrowly escaping being crushed as it stumbled and rolled upon the ground.

The report of the pistol startled the mare and seemed to arouse her failing energies. Pricking up her ears, she shook herself till the harness rattled again; then started forward at a brisk pace, though not nearly so fast as before. The Wintocks had got the worst of the encounter. Yet our plight was but a sorry one. I could scarcely keep my seat in the gig, from the effects of the blow, which had almost stunned me. My wound, too, bled profusely, saturating Miss Wintock's white kerchief, which, as we rode along, she had contrived to bind around my head, in spite of her own nervous agitation.

We had gained the level road and our progress was easier. But the mare had been cruelly used, and it was evident would not stand a long journey without rest. The station was still many miles distant. In her present state, she must knock up long ere we could reach it. Indeed, I was far from feeling sure that I could myself hold out during such a journey. There was, too, just a chance that Mr. Wintock, being well acquainted with the locality, might, by misrepresenting the case, or by bribery, or by an admixture of both, procure fresh horses and aid without returning to Britsleigh Hall, and then recommence the pursuit. It was an ugly fact—I had literally stolen the mare and gig. I had also eloped with his ward; for so he might term it, although she was no longer a minor. These, on the face of things, were plausible pretexts by which he might almost command assistance from any [illegible]. Before us stretched a long dreary common which we must cross. There might be other dangers, from tramps and from gangs of gypsies, who not unfrequently encamped in that locality. In my present state I could be but of little use to my fair companion as a defender.

Plain Truths!

The blood is the foundation of life, it circulates through every part of the body and unless it is pure and rich, good health is impossible, if disease has entered the system the only sure and quick way to drive it out is to purify and enrich the blood.

These simple facts are well known and the highest medical authorities agree that nothing but iron will restore the blood to its natural condition; and also that all the Iron preparations hitherto made blacken the teeth, cause headache, and are otherwise injurious.

Sulphur and Iron Bitters will thoroughly and quickly assimulate with the blood, purifying and strengthening it and thus drive disease from any part of the system, and it will not blacken the teeth cause headache or constipation and is positively not injurious.

St. Johnsbury, Vermont Oct. 31st 1880.

> For six years I have been a great sufferer from blood disease, dyspepsia and constipation, and became so debilitated that I could not retain anything on my stomach, in fact life had almost become a burden, and, when hope had almost left me, I was induced to give Sulphur and Iron Bitters a trial I am now taking the third bottle and have not felt so well in six years as I do at present.
>
> MRS. S. L. MOORE.

Sulphur and Iron Bitters effectually cures dyspepsia, indigestion and weakness, and renders the greatest relief and benefit to persons suffering from such diseases as kidney and liver complaints, dyspepsia, indigestion etc.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, MAY 12, 1883.

POLICE COURT.

WOMEN'S WAR.

SATURDAY, May 12.—Sarah Ann Britton was charged with using insulting language towards Ella and Mary Peterson, and also with assaulting Ella Peterson. Two similar charges were also laid against Belle Webster. Although the evidence showed that the language used was more annoying than insulting, there was enough to convict them of the offence. Sarah Britton and Belle Webster were each fined $1 and $2.85 costs for using insulting language, and $1 each without costs for assault.

Land Sale.

The sale of Town Lots will be continued on Saturday night at 8 p.m., at the Caisse House.

Public Buildings.

We understand that a grant for Public Buildings will be in the supplementary estimates.

The Cells.

The police cells were entirely empty again last night. No tramps and no arrests.

Is Your Watch Clean.

Watches that are continually stopping and getting out of order, can be properly repaired by leaving them at Hughan's Shop, office lately occupied by E. Barnham, Simcoe street.

Shoulder Dislocated.

Mr. W. C. Taylor, whose right shoulder was dislocated and his arm injured by a runaway accident on Thursday, is able, we are pleased to see, to be on the street again. His injuries were attended to by Dr. Fife.

Admitted to Bail.

The Port Hope News says that Aitkins and McClung, the men who were charged with the coroner's jury with having been instrumental in causing the death of Little at the late Centreville tragedy, were admitted to bail on Wednesday, $4,000 security being given in each case. Mr. W. R. Riddell is acting for the accused.

Another Runaway.

A team of horses belonging to Mr. James Elliott, of Smith, attached to a waggon and driven by his son, ran away on George street to-day. They ran against the lamp post near the Methodist church and were stopped. The horses, waggon and driver were uninjured, but the post was knocked down and the lamp broken.

Personal.

Mr. J. W. Nesbitt, formerly book-keeper in Peterborough for the firm of McDougall & Ludgate, subsequently having charge of the limits and mills for the Bank of Toronto, and who has more recently been managing the lumber business of Mr. R. C. Smith at Fenelon Falls, has been appointed assistant manager of the American Lumber Company of Northern Michigan. The company is to be congratulated on having secured the services of such a competent, trustworthy and zealous officer.

CARMENINO FOUND.

Discovered a Short Distance from the Scene of the Tragedy.

The Italian Angelo Carmenino, who killed Domenico Ottaviano on Wednesday morning last, was discovered on Friday evening a short distance from the scene of the tragedy.

Mr. O'Shea saw the Italian in the field, and it is thought that he was trying to reach the house. He fell just as he was seen, and Mr. O'Shea went to his assistance and took him to his house. He gave him a cup of tea and other refreshments, but the Italian appeared to be too much exhausted to eat.

Parties have been continually searching for Carmenino since Wednesday, but he evaded them. It is said that he slept at night in a barn on Mr. Christie's farm. It is probable that he was without food during this time, and in addition to that, he was severally wounded on the shoulder, from which it would appear that the blows which Ottaviano aimed at him with the knife took effect.

Mr. O'Shea put the Italian in a waggon, fixing him up as comfortably as he could on the bottom, and drove him to Norwood on the same evening. A physician was called to attend to his wounds, which are said to be serious, and doubts are expressed of his ultimate recovery.

White and Colored Shirts at cost until the 24th of May, at W. J. GREEN'S. See window.

Town Council.

A regular meeting of the Town Council will be held in the Council Chamber at 7.30 o'clock on Monday evening.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is cloudy and cool, with showers. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh westerly to north westerly wind; fine weather, and higher temperature. Sunday will be fine.

Pedestrianism.

The peds. who are to take part in the race on Monday and Tuesday nights are all in good condition, and will no doubt make a lively race. Bird is the favourite in the betting, with Hartly for second place. McNaughton being a walker is at a discount, but may be able to make a good score. The Orchestra has been engaged for both nights to enliven the performance.

A Peterborough Inventor.

It will be seen by the following extract that Mr. Romaine is still exercising his well-known abilities as an inventor of machinery, and his many friends here will wish him success:—

"A meeting of the Immigration and Colonization Committee was held on May 10th, Mr. White (Renfrew), in the chair. Mr. Romaine, of the Stationery Department, was examined before the committee relative to his new steam machine for agricultural purposes. The machine is adapted for breaking the soil, seeds and harrows it, and with a change in the machinery at harvest time reaps and threshes. It has been patented in Canada, and Mr. Romaine has now taken out the papers for getting it patented in the United States. He also referred to the tramway scheme he proposes for the benefit of settlers in the Northwest, bringing the produce of the soil to the nearest shipping stations on the Canadian Pacific Railway."

House Keepers' attention directed to Turnbull's Stock of Lace Curtains, Curtain Nets and Lambrequins, in latest patterns.

Railway Notes.

A despatch from Montreal says that at the annual meeting of the Canada Pacific railway a new board was elected for the current year. The personnel is the same except that Mr. James J. Hill has retired and Mr. Rudolph V. Martinsen of Amsterdam and New York, and Mr. L. Scott of Erie, Pa., have been added to the directorate.

The Port Hope Times says that immense quantities of through grain are arriving at Midland from Chicago for the eastern markets. It will, in all probability, be shipped in greater part by rail.

The Norwood Register says that Mr. McDonald is, as usual, "rushing things" on this contract. Last week he placed a large number of men on a heavy cut on the west end of Mr. D. Coughlan's farm. Work all along his section of the road is progressing rapidly and satisfactorily.

Esmeralda.

The drama "Esmeralda," which ran so many nights in the Madison Square Theatre, New York, will be presented in Bradburn's Opera House on the evening of Thursday, the 17th of May, by the Madison Square Theatre Company. This is what the New York Critic said of the play:—

"When the curtain fell on the second act a new playwright was revealed to America. No piece so direct in its simplicity, so unerring in its pathos, had been given to the boards by a native writer. There was a general hum of satisfaction in the house; the critics were pleased in spite of themselves; there was nothing in the handiwork to condemn; no verbiage, no claptrap, no bits of description, nothing that might be expected from the pen of a novelist; and the lay public, the men and women who go to the theatre, not for criticism, but for emotion, looked exultantly at one another with moistened eyes. 'One touch of nature, at last,' said they."

The New Colors in Dress Goods, such as Cadet Grey, Light and Dark Terra-Cotta, Hussard Blue, Moss Beige and French Grey, with Satins to match, at Turnbull's.

A Singular Accident.

A lad named Daniel McIntyre had his leg split from the toe nearly up to the hip by a bolt-saw in Clark's factory, Woodstock, on Thursday afternoon, and died in fifteen minutes.

More Immigrants.

A further instalment of four hundred immigrants passed through Montreal on Thursday for the North-West. They were mixed English, Irish, and Scotch; the Hibernians, however, were the most numerous. They were a comfortable looking class of agriculturists.

FROM ALL OVER.

MR. J. H. WOODSIDE will shortly establish a foundry at Prince Arthur's Landing.

A MAN named Beauwart was drowned in Tobacco creek, near Nelson, Manitoba, while duck-shooting a few days ago.

THE New Brunswick Royal Gazette contains a proclamation setting apart May 18th, Loyalist day, and May 24th, as public holidays.

THE New Brunswick Government offer two hundred dollars reward for the apprehension of Elisha S. Steeves who shot and killed Constable Dryden at Elgin.

CATARRH is the seed of Consumption, and unless taken in time is a very dangerous disease. Hall's Catarrh Cure never fails to cure. Price 75 cents. For sale by John McKee, druggist.

THREE Mexican generals have been placed under arrest for twenty-four hours for failing to take the part assigned them in the celebration of the nation holiday.

ONE OF OUR BEST CITIZENS would say to the public that he has tried Hall's Catarrh Cure, and that it is all that is claimed for it. Price 75 cents per bottle. For sale by John McKee, druggist.

AT Thornhill, on Thursday night a man named Kirby attempted suicide by hanging, while under the influence of drink. He was cut down, and saved by the timely assistance of a physician.

WE have a speedy and positive Cure, for Catarrh, Diphtheria, Canker mouth and Head Ache, in Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. A nasal Injector free with each bottle. Use it if you desire health and sweet breath. For sale by J. D. Tully.

A LARGE panther climbed over a ten-foot stone wall around a cattle pen, near Woodstock, Virginia, and seizing a calf, started off with it. The calf was, however, fastened with a rope to a young steer, and in the morning both were found hanging across the wall dead.

NATURE, after all, is the great physician. She hides all the secrets of health within her broad generous bosom, and man needs but to go to her intelligently for his every need. The discovery of the great Cough Remedy, GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM, is an apt illustration of this. As a cure for Coughs, Colds, Loss of Voice and Hoarseness, it stands unrivalled, while its low price and readiness of access places it within the reach of all. Try it and be convinced. All chemists keep it in 25 and 50 cent bottles.

FIVE thousand dollars worth of gambling apparatus were burned in a public square at Nashville yesterday afternoon, by order of the court. Five hundred gamblers have left the city on account of the Act making gambling a felony. A large number of the sports have gone to Chicago.

THE Steubenville, Ohio, Presbytery has suspended the Rev. W. W. McLane for heresy. He has published a book denying that the Saviour offered Himself as a sacrifice for sin, and denying the mediatorial work of Christ. Mr. McLane made a lengthy address in his own defence. He will appeal to the General Assembly.

Oh, What A Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50 cts., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will Cure your Cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves Croup, and Whooping Cough, at once. Mothers do not be without it. For sale by J. D. Tully.

DRUGGISTS throughout the country all speak highly of Dr. Carson's Bitters. The general opinion expressed is that it gives the best satisfaction of any medicine they sell, and never hesitate to recommend it in all cases of Disordered Stomach, Biliousness or Indigestion. Price, 50 cents a Bottle.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcule which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Diseases. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widely increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly affected with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

THE STRINGENCY IN THE WEST.

DUBLIN, May 13.—The poor law guardians in the west of Ireland are making vigorous progress in their arrangements for the removal to America and the colonies of the starving poor.

EMIGRANTS FOR BOSTON.

GALWAY, May 12.—Eight hundred emigrants, assisted by the Government and Mr. Tuke's committee, embarked yesterday for Boston.

STRONG DENUNCIATION.

DUNGANNON, May 12.—Mr. Leamy, M. P. for Waterford, speaking at a meeting of the Irish National League at which four thousand people were present, denounced the Government policy which sought to induce the Vatican to withdraw priests from politics. He described Lord Errington, the English envoy, as a sneak and scented popinjay.

BYRNE AND EGAN.

DUBLIN, May 12.—It is now stated that the precise charge against Byrne is that he sent John Walsh to Ireland to establish the Invincible association. Of the four men recommended to Walsh as likely to undertake the management in Dublin, two were recommended by Byrne and two by Egan. Two of the four, who are well-known Fenians, declined to be sworn on the knife, but Carey and McCaffrey consented, and afterwards Mullett and Curley were obtained. The authorities have reason to believe that "Number One" was an emissary of the same man. Tynan and Byrne were together at Nice and Cannes.

AFRAID OF BEING SHOT.

DUBLIN, May 12.—Kinsella, who confessed that he was concerned in the murder of Lord Leitrim, was arraigned to-day. His story is not believed, and it is thought he is a lunatic. The judge was about to discharge Kinsella when the latter said he was afraid he would be shot; he was therefore remanded.

POLISH TACTIS.

BERLIN, May 12.—The North German Gazette ascribes the rejection by the Reichstag of the bill to increase the duty on wood to the hostile votes of the Polish deputies, whose efforts, it says, are wholly directed towards the restoration of the Kingston of Poland, and who favour every measure detrimental to the empire, especially if, as in the present case, it is advantageous to their brethren in Austria and Russia.

AN AUSTRIAN BLUNDER.

VIENNA, May 12.—The charge against Schonerer, a member of the Chamber of Deputies, of using seditious language, has been withdrawn. In a speech at a festival in memory of Richard Wagner, Schonerer favoured the fusion of the German provinces of Austria with German. The prosecution from the first has been regarded as a mistake, as it intended to unduly exalt the importance of the affair.

SOCIALISTS SENTENCED.

LEMBERG, May 12.—Twenty-four Socialists have been sentenced to terms varying from three months to a few days.

HYGIENIC EXHIBITION.

BERLIN, May 12.—The hygienic exhibition was formally opened to-day by the Crown Prince. A large number of state and city officials and many deputations were present. The Crown Prince heartily welcomed the foreign commissioners; he hoped the exhibition would prove a success, as its object was to benefit humanity of all nations. His remarks were greeted with great enthusiasm.

A CHINESE IRONCLAD.

STETTIN, May 12.—The ironclad built for the Chinese navy has made a successful trial trip. The vessel is of 6,000 horse power. Her departure for the East will possibly be expedited because of the Tonquin affair. She is especially intended for coast defence.

AMERICAN.

TYNAN TO BE ARRESTED.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Mr. Carroll, counsel for the alleged conspirators, thinks Tynan will soon be arrested, and it is probable that the arrest of Sheridan and Walsh will immediately follow.

MR. SUTHERLAND JOHNSTON, a Sarnia Druggist, has sold an enormous quantity of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. He says they give splendid satisfaction. They act promptly in relieving all disorders of the Stomach Liver or Kidneys and are the "Best Blood Purifier." For sale by all Druggists at 50 cents a Bottle.

Triangle Package Dyes.—The genuine are in three-cornered packages to distinguish them from the old fashioned common colors in square envelopes. 30 colors. Perfect in all their shades. Satisfaction guaranteed. Price 10c. For sale by all druggists.

JOE. BRADY HANGED.

DUBLIN, May 14.—Joe. Brady, convicted of participation in the Phœnix Park murders, was hanged at 8 o'clock this morning. Brady was the first man hanged for connection with the crime.

BRADY'S EXECUTION.

DUBLIN, May 14.—A vast concourse gathered outside the prison yards in which Brady was executed this morning. A strong force of cavalry, infantry and police were present. There was no attempt at disturbance. The morning opened beautifully, but there were showers at about the time the execution took place. Brady rose at 6.35 o'clock. Canon Kennedy, of St. James' church, and Father O'Reilly administered the sacrament to the prisoner in the prison chapel. All three remained praying until the arrival of Marwood, the hangman. Brady submitted quietly while his arms were being pinioned and walked slowly and unflinchingly to the scaffold. The black flag, indicating that an execution had taken place, was hoisted over the prison at three minutes past eight. Immediately a hearse and coach with mourners was seen at a distance coming towards the prison. The police, however, prevented their approaching. There had been reports that after the hanging, Brady's friends would endeavor to excite the people to a demonstration by parading an empty hearse through the city. Brady was visited by his mother last evening. A wreath of flowers was received by Brady, to which was attached a card bearing an expression of grief at his fate from Irishmen living in Liverpool. Brady made no statement to the jail chaplain, or to the governor of the prison. One of the last things which he did was to write a letter to his mother. He carried a prayer book in his hand to the scaffold, and was thoroughly resigned and firm. His body fell nine feet and death was instantaneous. Brady was dressed in the same clothes which he wore during the trial. It is estimated that the crowd outside the jail numbered ten thousand. The throng was even greater than the others which collected when the executions were public. When the black flag was raised the jail crier cried, "Hats off," and every head was uncovered. The crowd shortly afterwards dispersed fast.

AMERICAN.

YELLOW FEVER.

OSWEGO, May 14.—On Monday Benjamin Bradway, of Fruit Valley, was taken violently ill and died on Saturday. The physicians decided that the disease was backbone fever, which is a phase of yellow fever. It is supposed that Bradway contracted it from a letter received from a relative who had the disease in New Orleans. Bradway was visited by many persons during his illness and it is feared that the malady may spread throught the community.

A YACHT CAPSIZED ON SUNDAY.

NEW YORK, May 14.—The pleasure yacht Grayling, belonging to ex-Commodore Fish, of the atlantic yacht Squadron, was by a sudden gust capsized and sunk in the bay yesterday. Fish was at the wheel. He and three friends and a crew of ten were rescued by another yacht.

THE NEW YORK SENATE.

NEW YORK, May 14.—The Time's Albany despatch says that the opinion is gaining ground that there will be an extra session of the Senate in the latter part of may or the first of June to ratify and complete whatever may be decided upon in the meantime in regard to the marsha and harbor matters.

THE SUNDAY LAW.

JERSEY CITY, May 14.—Notwithstanding the police order most of the saloons were open yesterday.

DEFALCATION.

LONG ISLAND CITY, May 14.—The examination of the books of the Water Department thus far shows over sixteen thousand dollars missing.

EXTRADITION TREATIES.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—It will be strange if one of the first results of the present Irish agitation is not a new extradition treaty with Great Britain. It is more than likely that the two Governments are now engaged in secret negotiations upon that subject. The present treaty is the oldest of the existing treaties of the United States, and the first ever adopted by our Government, with the exception of the article in the treaty of 1794, which expired in 1806 without any law having been passed by Congress to carry it into effect. The obstacles which prevented the revision of the treaty thus far have been chiefly of English making. "Conspiracy to murder" is included in a number of treaties of Great Britain with other powers, but thus far it is not named in any treaties of the United States. The United States now has treaties of extradition with thirty-one foreign countries. In twenty-one these political offenses are expressly excluded from the application of the treaty, but no attempt is made to define such offenses.

DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 14.—Fifty buildings were blown down and two hundred more badly damaged by a cyclone here yesterday. The property destroyed was chiefly dwellings and shrubbery. Kemp's brewery suffered severely. The new German Evangelical Church, costing $36,000, and also a new Methodist Church were destroyed. The line of ruin traversing the City extends nearly three miles, and presents a most chaotic appearance. Trees, bricks, rafters, and household effects are scattered in endless confusion, blocking the road at many places. From Main street the hurricane continued on to Grand Avenue, thence to McGee street, destroying all the houses on the south side of the street for one block. From Oak to Locust, on 14th street, all the houses facing the park were wrecked. The destruction in the vicinity of Wyandotte was much greater than at first supposed. For several miles through the country along the track of the storm everything was swept away. Many farm houses have gone. Several persons were killed. The length of the cyclone must been fifteen miles.

DROWNED WHILE FISHING.

NEW HAVEN, May 14.—Charles Thomas was drowned in the Quinnipiac river while assisting to pull in a shad net. The body was drawn ashore yesterday in a net with twenty bushels of fish.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, MAY 14, 1883.

IN alluding to the departure of Mr. H. H. Smith, for England, the Port Hope News, with the usual want of truth of its class, falsely states that he has hied off to a foreign country at the public expense. Mr. Smith has not gone at the public expense, and if not a deliberate invention this assertion shows that the News is ready to write without the least knowledge of its subject if it is a Conservative that is to be blamed. The rigmarole as to distributing Tory funds and avoiding an appearance in the courts is of a piece with the rest of the falsification. And as to Mr. Smith going to a foreign country, England may be a foreign land for Reform journalists but it is not so for loyal Canadians.

So long as a political opponent can be attacked it does not matter to some "Reform" journals what unfair means they may adopt. The Ottawa Free Press has a statement in one column that Mr. Bowell was absent without any excuse, except want of sympathy, from the banquet given to Mr. Mousseau, and in another column of the same issue it is insinuated that he did not receive an invitation as an intentional snub from the French Bleus for his interference against the increased sessional allowances, which they favored. Both statements are transparent falsehoods, and one of them must necessarily be untrue as they are directly contradictory, but what does that matter if the Free Press has an opponent to abuse? The truth is that Mr. Bowell was present at the banquet.

WITH its usual patriotism the Globe is raging against the very idea of any mechanics coming to Canada. We are not surprised at this, for the Globe wants to see mechanics landing in the States to work there for us so that the profits of manufacturing for us and of supplying the mechanics with the food they require may be enjoyed by the States rather than by Canada. To aid in bringing about this desired result the Globe does not hesitate to employ falsehood, asserting that there are already more mechanics than can find employment. Its columns refute its falsity, for on Saturday we find under the head of "Mechanics Wanted" that there are advertisements for 64 persons, while under the heading of "Situations Wanted" there is only one mechanic, and he is seeking the post of manager. Besides if there were already enough mechanics to supply all Canada at present will not the tens of thousands of emigrants require some mechanics to supply their wants? But we forget—the Globe thinks that they should give their custom with its profits to foreigners.

PROMISES FULFILLED.

IF the Reform journals can find no other means but falsehood for attacking the Macdonald administration, they might have the common decency to remain silent. The Ottawa Free Press says:—

> "The Franchise Bill and the License Bill cannot, of course, be taken up and passed at this late period. Thus two of the three Government measures promised in the speech from the throne are to be included in the slaughter of the innocents."

On referring to the speech from the throne we find that not three, but nine Government measures were specifically promised, being a Franchise Bill, a Factory Bill, measures for the consolidation and amendment of the Customs Acts, the Militia Acts, and the Public Lands Acts, a Civil Service Bill, Bills respecting Banking, Certificates of Masters and Mates, and the authorisation of debentures to redeem at lower interest a maturing loan. Thus, even if the Franchise Bill is held over for another session, which is by no means certain, eight out of nine of the promised measures will have been passed, besides other important legislation not specifically mentioned in the Governor-General's speech. As for the License Bill, a measure was not promised for this session, but consideration was invited and has been given to the subject, which necessitated a careful investigation of the wants and previous legislation of the several Provinces. And even as to this question it is by no means certain that a measure will not yet be passed before prorogation.

THE FORGERS' FRIEND.

THIS week the Cobourg World has a column and a quarter editorial defending the stealing of letters for a party purpose, and sympathising with the thieves and forgers. This is only what might have been expected from a journal which has just had to confess having committed a very similar offence by mutilating a sentence spoken by a political opponent, because the omitted words directly contradicted the interpretation that was dishonestly put upon them.

Of course, there is some more abuse of the REVIEW, and we are taunted with "not seeing anything wrong about" the so-called Tupper-Macdonnell correspondence. Well we must admit that we do see a great deal that is wrong about the correspondence, and we have already stated so pretty plainly. In the first place the genuine portion of the correspondence is evidently stolen, and indeed the Hamilton Tribune has admitted that it is a receiver of stolen property, it being proverbial that "the receiver is worse than the thief." In the second place the portions of the correspondence which are of importance have been forged, of which fact there is the clearest internal evidence besides trustworthy testimony. In the third place the object of these crimes is to attack, by fraud and falsehood, statesmen who are the chosen leaders of the people of Canada, and who cannot be successfully combatted with fair weapons. In the fourth place the means by which this crime is intended to be utilized is by stirring up jealousy between creed and creed, between race and race, in the hope that political opponents may be thwarted and injured, however much the country may be made to suffer by internal dissentions fostered in this diabolical manner. In short there are men in the penitentiary who are less criminal than these thieves and receivers of stolen property, these forgers and utterers of forgeries.

The World will observe that we see very much that is wrong about these stolen and forged documents.

THE DISPUTED TERRITORY A CRISIS.

The independent Reform New Market Era says:—

> "Speaking of the seizure of one million dollar's worth of lumber, by the Ontario Government, which had been cut in the disputed North-West Territory, the Hamilton Tribune says:—"This will at once bring the whole question into court, and will be the commencement of possible litigation which will ultimately decide the question at issue," (meaning the boundary line.) The same journal adds—"We are glad that the Ontario Government have summed up courage enough at last to stand up for provincial rights in a manly way. The people are tired and weary with the shilly-shallying policy and wanted something of a more decided turn." So much for the Tribune; on the other hand, the Peterborough Review is far from seconding the motion of our Hamilton confreer. While the latter believes that Ontario has "a just claim to the Territory in question;" yet regards the seizure as "only a roundabout and inconconclusive manner of raising the question." The Review further states, that "though an authoritative and final decision will no doubt be obtained as to whether the immediate locality in question belongs to the Province or the Dominion, it is most probable that the Privy Council, with its usual refusal to travel outside of the points at issue, will give no opinion as to the boundary generally. It would thus require an infinity of such cases to settle the whole question." If the Privy Council has to be appealed to at all, it appears to us the whole matter had better be referred at once and thus settle the boundary for all time. The difficulty appears to be that the dispute has got into the hands of the politicians; and while they are playing shuttlecock with it, for party purposes, the question will remain unsettled—the Province be deprived of any advantages it might otherwise derive by its immediate adjustment, and the territory continue in a lawless and undeveloped state. Some day it will be made clear upon whom the real responsibility for this delay of settlement exists, and along with the discovery will follow a righteous retribution. The present seizure will probably result in forcing a crisis: and we hope it will.

Hanlan's Great Speed.

That the champion has lost none of his great speed is demonstrated by his great spurt, after a hard hour's rowing, with Geo. W. Lee, who had only just embarked. The following story is from the Boston Globe: Hanlan went out for a six-mile spin at speed, on Friday afternoon last. As he was finishing, and when about an eighth of a mile from Vesper boathouse, Lee who had been waiting for him, started up at a rattling pace, and with a lead of a couple of lengths in his favour, invited "Sir" Edward to a "battle with the blades." "Come on, now," was what Hanlan heard, and, although pretty well tired out, accepted the invitation, and the two men engaged in a contest which was much enjoyed by a couple of newspaper men, and a few friends from Boston. Lee struggled hard to keep his lead, but the latter was too much for him, and as the bow of Ned's boat poked out in front of the Jerseyman's, almost opposite the boathouse, the Newark sculler had lost his power of speech, and instead of the "Come on, now," of Lee, the air was resonant with the merry laughter of the champion. George thinks he will wait nearer the boathouse next time.

Digging for Hidden Treasure.

The peaceful hamlet of North Gower, in Carleton County had a sensation. Years ago a close-fisted resident named Griffith died, and it was generally supposed left a large amount of money after him. He was of such a miserly disposition that it was thought he buried his treasure, and its whereabouts was entirely unknown. Mrs. Griffith died a short time since, and willed her property and all the money she had to her daughter. Nothing was mentioned of the alleged hidden wealth. A few evenings ago, two men entered the house, unawares to the occupants, and worked all night digging for the gold. The daughter, who was the only occupant of the house, strange to say, was not awakened by their noise. Next morning she noticed the result of their labours. The holes dug in the cellar were very deep. She now thinks they succeeded in unearthing her father's gold. When the circumstances of the affair were reported around the place great excitement was caused. The two unknown "gold diggers" were noticed on the previous evening, and they appeared to those who saw them to be strangers.

New Transatlantic Steamship Line.

At a meeting in Halifax of merchants and others interested in the traffic between Nova Scotia and England, a proposal was considered to run two steamers between Halifax and London direct, specially in the interests of the Province. It is not intended in the meantime to provide for the passenger traffic, but to have first-class new vessels, carrying each 2,000 ton cargo, and with all the latest improvements in hull and machinery. A subsidy of $25,000 per annum has been voted by the Dominion Government for such company trading from Halifax and St. John, N.B.

The Alabama Claims.

Some mathematician has figured out that the Alabama claims amount to over ten million dollars of the first class, and seventeen millions of the second class. About $9,500,000 is in the treasury to pay them. A year of work has disposed of 105 cases, and at the present rate it will take about fifty-five years to settle up the whole.

AFTER THIRTY YEARS.

Return of a Kidnapped Boy to a Long Lost Relative—A Romantic Story.

About thirty years ago an orphan boy named Demers, nine years of age, who was at the time living with his uncle, one Moses Durand, in this city, suddenly disappeared. He was sent on a message one morning to a grocery store, near his uncle's house, and never returned. Search was made for the missing boy, but without success, and after the lapse of a considerable time, his uncle who was very much attached to his young relative, reluctantly gave up hopes of his re-appearance. A few days ago, however, he was visited by a man in the prime of life, whose brown and bearded face and general appearance showed that he had seen a great deal of the world. The stranger seemed greatly affected at the sight of the old man, and finally with evident difficulty stated to Durand that hearing he was a horse dealer, he had come to see if he could purchase a horse from him. Some what struck by his visitor's behavior, Durand kindly asked him what was the matter, when he was inexpressibly astonished to hear from the young man that he was his long lost nephew. The scene that ensued can more easily be imagined than described. Demers after having satisfied his uncle of his identity, told a strange story in connection with his disappearance. He said that as he was returning from the shop to which he had been sent he was met by an American planter from Tennessee who kidnapped him and took him to his plantation in the South. He was there set to work with the black slaves, and remained thus engaged until the outbreak of the American rebellion, when he was drafted into the confederate army and fought through the campaign in various avocations and finally became a trader. He never forgot his Montreal home of his uncle, and whenever he met a Canadian in the course of his travels he made enquiries about his relative. He invariably failed, however, in finding out anything of his whereabouts and finally came to the conclusion that he was dead. Circumstances prevented his prosecuting the search in person until a few days ago when he arrived in Montreal. He at once made enquiries with the result of finding that his uncle was a dealer in horses and an innkeeper and resided on St. Lawrence street. He then went to his house and disclosed his identity as related above. It is hardly necessary to state that the uncle at first failed to recognize in the full grown man before him, the boy who had disappeared so mysteriously thirty years before.—Montreal Witness

A Duel in Form.

C. Muller and Wm. Beseborn, married men, had a duel with broadswords at Bowmanville, Illinois, as alleged over the affections of a maiden. Six carriages, containing the principals, seconds, surgeons, and friends proceeded to the rendezvous. Muller, the challenging party, was cut rather severely about the head and cried "quits." No arrests were made.

A WONDERFUL CHANGE.—Rev. W. E. Gifford, while pastor of M. E. Church, Bothwell, suffered from chronic dyspepsia so badly as to render his life almost a burden. Three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters cured him.

MENTAL depression, headache, and nervous debility, are speedily remedied by that excellent blood-purifying tonic, Burdock Blood Bitters. The Editor of the Mitchell Recorder states that he was cured of biliousness, liver derangement, and sick headache, by the use of this medicine.

Fish Propagation.—Mr. Robertson, M.P., has recieved from the Minister of Marine and Fisheries an order on the Newcastle fish hatchery for 100,000 young whitefish and 100,000 salmon trout fry, to be deposited in the Bay of Quinte west of Trenton.

COBOURG.

Incendiarism.—The Sentinel-Star says that a fire occurred in an outbuilding in rear of the Registry Office on Tuesday night about 10.30, destroying it. It is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

Sought After.—There were seventeen applications for the position of harbor master, made vacant by the resignation of Mr. A. A. Burnham, who intends leaving for the North West shortly. Mr. H. B. Crease received the appointment.

TRENTON.

Mining Company.—Letters patent have been issued incorporating Wm. Chisholm, of Cleveland, O., Samuel J. Ritchie, of Akron, O., G. McMullen, of Picton, Ont., William Coe, of Madoc, J. B. McMullen, of Picton, Henry B. Payne, of Cleveland, and A. W. Coe, of Madoc, for the purpose of mining and assaying minerals at Coe Hill, in North Hastings, by name of "The Coe Hill Mining Company," with a capital stock of $750,000, to be divided into 750 shares of $100 each. The chief place of business of the Company will be Trenton.

BOBCAYGEON.

Accident.—The Independent says that two young men whilst attempting to paddle up the rapids in a canoe were upset and had a narrow escape from drowning. They were carried some distance down the river, and were much exhausted.

Assessment.—The summary of the Assessment Roll, for the year, gives the total rateable property at $152,115. There are 271 persons between the ages of 21 and 60 years, and 54 hogs. We thought there were more. The Tax on dogs, is one dollar on a dog, and two on a bitch. There are 66 dogs reported and one bitch. This may be perfectly correct, and it may be that we have one citizen, who is much the [illegible] this world.

[illegible]

The Storehouse.—The Herald says most of the material for Messrs. Laidley & Waugh's new grain storehouse, on Sturgeon st., is now on the ground, and in conversation with Mr. Laidley the other day he informed us that work on the building will be commenced almost immediately.

A Freak of Nature.—On Wednesday morning, before breakfast, a very diminutive hen's egg—no, a hen's diminutive egg—was placed on our table by a young man who is so bashful that he does not want us to give his name. The egg weighs two drachms, one scruple, and is of peculiar shape, representing the bladder of a fish. It is the production of one of Mr. M. R. Mick's hens.

Fire.—On Tuesday evening about half past six o'clock an incipient fire occurred at the rear of the Methodist Church. As soon as it was noticed the fire alarm was sounded and very soon a large crowd of villagers gathered and with a few pails of water extinguished the flames before any serious damage was done, as only a slight hole was burned in the porch which covers the back door of the church. The fire originated from the carelessness of the janitor throwing out hot ashes, and we hope this will be a warning to him to be a little more careful in the future.

LINDSAY.

Cattle Buying.—The Warder says that Mr. Jim Kain has recently purchased 100 head of young cattle for the Messrs. Cameron Bros., of Woodville. It is the intention to send them out to their cattle ranche in Carden for the season and in the fall to make meat of them. Messrs. Cameron have a large enclosure comprising several square miles, which they have fenced in property. The prospects are that they will make a big thing out of it.

Accident.—An accident at the derrick on the new bridge site on Tuesday evening came near being serious. The draw pin in one of the beams some how came out, letting a heavy beam fall and scattering the large number of men in all directions. Mr. Walters received a severe blow on the arm and one of his men was severely injured otherwise, having to be carried home. He is now however recovering quickly. The work on the structure is being rapidly pushed.

Navigation.—The steamer Eva is now making her regular trips between Lindsay and Bobcaygeon and intermediate ports, and so far her business under her new captain, Mr. A. McAllum, has been very good. The Eva has been newly fitted up and certainly looks gay, as indeed she ought, as no prettier boat is to be found on the inland lakes. The Ontario is also actively engaged, we believe, in bringing up stone and other material for the new Midland bridge across the Scugog and has all the business she can do; and the Beaubocage, under the management of Captain Lane, is also meeting with good prospects for the coming season's business. The Beaubocage has during the past winter undergone considerable repairs and comes out as smart as fresh paint and cleanliness can make her.

These are Solid Facts.

Mack's Magnetic Medicine—the great brain and nerve food—will restore lost nature to young, middle-aged and old. Life is too short to waste away. Read the advertisement in another column, and if you are afflicted make no dely in procuring the cheapest and best medicine ever sold.

The editor of the Grand Rapids Sachem says:—"We are usually sparing in our encomium towards patent medicines, but observation and enquiry has satisfied us that the preparation of Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., styled 'Burdock Blood Bitters,' as a blood purifying tonic is worthy of the high reputation it has established among the people."

Nature, after all, is the great physician. She hides all the secrets of health within her broad generous bosom, and man needs but to go to her intelligently for his every need. The discovery of the great Cough Remedy, Gray's Syrup of Red Spruce Gum, is an apt illustration of this. As a cure for Coughs, Colds, Loss of Voice and Hoarseness, it stands unrivalled, while its low price and readiness of access places it within the reach of all. Try it and be convinced. All chemists keep it in 25 and 50 cent bottles.

Manitoba Coal Fields.

Mr. George Pocock, of West Lynne, has received a proposition from some English capitalists for the working of his coal fields. Mr. Hardmann a practical mining engineer of considerable experience in the collieries of South Wales and New Zealand, will leave England at once to make surveys and all necessary arrangements before operations are begun and the plant sent out. The plant will be placed first of all, and driting or shafts begun, whichever is most practicable, in order to get out a considerable quantity of coal and get things in good working order, so that coal may be shipped as soon as the line of railway is opened through. Mr. Pocock is satisfied that the coal is in inexhaustible quantities, at all events enough to supply the country for a thousand years. The coal has been tested practically in Winnipeg and South Wales with good results. The tests in South Wales were witnessed by a mining firm, Hardman & Co., who have interested themselves in the project of Mr. Pocock.

A Dog in Court.

At Bow street police court, London, a fine Newfoundland dog appeared lately in the witness box, his fore paws resting on the edge, while he gazed intelligently around. His evidence was interpreted to the court by his master, a Mr. Lyford. It was to the effect that the dog had run down the steps of the Thames embankment to enjoy a splash, when he observed a woman in the water. His first impulse was to plunge in after her, but a moment's reflection told him that there would be great difficulty in landing her without assistance. He therefore hurried back to his master, looked up into his face, gave two short barks, and ran down the steps again. When he saw his master following he jumped into the river, and dragged the woman toward the embankment. Meanwhile Mr. Lyford had walked into the water up to his knees, and was able to reach the woman with his cane, and to assist in pulling her to the steps.

The Fur Trade.

The fur trade of Chatham is of considerable importance, as the amount of money paid for furs in a season is about $10,000. About 25,000 skins of different kinds are shipped annually. Of these about 20,000 are muskrat, 2,500 coon, 600 fox, and the remainder skunk, mink, otter, etc. These fur-bearing animals are all nearly trapped in Kent county by Indians and white men.

Turning out Locomotives.

The locomotive works will complete five engines this week, and when the improvements now in progress are complete six per month will be turned out. The company have signed a contract for five locomotives for the Michigan Central Railway, to be filled when those for the C. P. R. and Kingston and Pembroke Railway are finished.

Three Children Burned.

On Friday afternoon the barns of one Wilkinson, living seven miles east of St. Louis, Mo., were burned. Three children, the oldest a girl aged 7, perished. It is supposed the fire was set by the children while playing.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, MAY 14, 1883.

New, Fine

White and Colored Shirts at cost until the 24th of May, at W. J. Green's. See window.

The Town Council.

A regular meeting of the Town Council will be held this evening in the Council Chamber at 7.30 o'clock.

The 24th in Cobourg.

The Sentinel-Star says that the preparations are almost completed for the grand firemen's tournament here on Queen's Birthday, and, should the weather prove favorable, no doubt there will be a large number of visitors in town.

The Weather.

To-day is partly cloudy and the air continues cool. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Strong winds and moderate gales from the east and south east; fair to cloudy weather with rain; higher temperature.

Police News.

The police cells were empty on Saturday and Sunday nights, and there was no business at the Police Court this morning.

P. C. Pidgeon went down on the Grand Junction train this morning to serve a summons on a man near Hastings for fishing during the close season. The information was laid by Inspector Gilchrist.

Personal.

The Rev. Mr. Dadson, editor of the Canada Baptist, occupied the pulpit in the Baptist Church on Sunday, morning and evening, and preached good discourses on each occasion.

The Rev. James Graham, of Dundas, brother-in-law of Mr. J. Frith Jeffers, delivered an excellent discourse in the George Street Methodist Church on Sunday evening. The rev. gentleman is to lecture this evening in Victoria University, Cobourg.

Railway Notes.

The Norwood Register says that work was commenced last week on the fourth and last abutment, on the completion of which, Mr. Leonard, the contractor, will betake himself (with his gang) to Tweed, where he has another large contract waiting on him. His work here was performed in the most satisfactory manner.

The Belleville Ontario says that obstructions have been found on the track of the Central Ontario Railway which, happily, were discovered in time to prevent serious results. Without the fear of detection before their eyes some miscreants deliberately drove large iron spikes between the joints of the rails, near Picton; and near the Four Corners, Hillier, a plank laid quite across the track. The company are using the utmost diligence to discover the perpetrators of these malicious acts, and have offered a reward of $100 for their detection.

Watches and Jewellery.

Anything in the Watch or Jewellery repairing line left at Hughan's New Shop, Simcoe street, office lately occupied by E. Burnham, will be promptly attended to; charges moderate.

Fine Cattle.

The Omemee Herald says that on Tuesday last Mr. Howden, of Peterborough, passed through this village with a drove of fourteen head of excellent fat cattle. They were bought from two farmers in Ops, and no doubt netted them a large sum.

The Races To-Night.

To-night the go-as-you-please pedestrain contest commences in the drill shed. There will be a number of entries in the race, which will continue for three hours to-night and again to-morrow night Sporting men should bear this in mind.

A. C. A.

Subscriptions for membership of the American Canoe Association are coming in, showing that the townspeople mean to take an active interest in the camp. At the meeting to-morrow night there will be an opportunity to learn full particulars as to the association, and all who want to see the meet a success, for the credit of the town, should make it a point to be present.

New Mill.

The Haliburton correspondent of the Lindsay Warder says that Mr. Sperry intends commencing the running in a few days of his new shingle and tie mill. He has moved here from Peterborough, and we welcome him to Haliburton. The mill which he is about to open will employ some forty or fifty hands, which will be quite an addition to our numbers.

P. B. C.

We would like to see at the general meeting this evening such a turn-out of members as there used to be a few years back, when there was scarcely standing room for all. There has been too much indifference for the last year or two. This year the members will have to be particularly active, if they mean to take a proper part in the camp of the Canoe Association.

A Serious Accident.

On Saturday evening, while Mr. John Corkery, of Ennismore, was going home from Peterborough, the horse which he was driving ran away and he was thrown out. He was very seriously hurt by the fall. His spine was injured and his head was slightly hurt. In consequence of the injury to the spine his limbs are paralyzed. Dr. Sproule was summoned to attend him on Sunday evening, and is doing for him all that medical skill can do, but his recovery is considered doubtful.

The Italian Homicide.

Mr. John Breakenridge, J. P., held a Magistrate's Court in Norwood on Saturday night, and committed Angelo Carmenino, the Italian who killed a countryman near Westwood, to the county gaol. Dr. Ford and Dr. Pittigrew attended to the prisoner, who is in charge of the Norwood constable. A correspondent writes that Carmenino had not tasted food from Wednesday morning until he was taken to McGregor's Hotel, Norwood, on Friday night, and that he was completely exhausted. His clothes were saturated with blood, from the wounds on his shoulder, and his shirts had to be cut off him. He is said to have been a hard working man, and appears to have been economical also, as he had $175 in his possession when he was found by Mr. O'Shea. The doctor thought that he might be so far recovered that he could be brought here to-day.

St John's Church.

St. John's Church was well attended yesterday at both morning and evening services. There were two celebrations of the Holy Communion, one at 8.30 and the other at the 11 o'clock service. Yesterday being Whit-Sunday the music was especially good. In the evening an anthem, "Come, Holy Ghost," was sung, and the hymns and chants were of unusual excellence. Next Sunday, which will be Trinity Sunday, there will be two celebrations of the Holy Communion—one at 8 and the other at 11 o'clock. Mr. Ewing, the organist and choirmaster, deserves the highest praise for the high standard of excellence to which he has brought the choir. They are well balanced, sing in good time, and show first-class taste. We understand that another organ recital will soon be given, when no doubt a programme will be rendered, the like of which has rarely been heard in Peterborough.

The Peterborough Band.

The following letter appeared in the Toronto Mail:—

"Sir,—In your issue of Monday last appears the following:—

'Reader, City.—Cannot say what place the Peterborough brass band holds among the provincial bands.'

"I am at a loss to conjecture exactly what "Reader" wants to know, but for his information I may state that as an amateur band the Peterborough Fire Brigade Band carried off the first prize and a diploma in Toronto a few years ago, defeating easily all the bands of that class which competed. Later at Ingersoll as a military band, they took third prize, the 13th and 7th being each a few points ahead. Our band is now regarded as one of the leading musical organizations in the Province, and if 'Reader' has any desire to hear them play, he can visit Cobourg on the coming 24th of May, when I feel confident he will hear first-class music from the finest set of instruments in the Dominion of Canada. If your correspondent desires any further information I will be happy to furnish him with it through your columns.

"Yours, &c.,

"FIREMAN."

PEDESTRIANISM.

The Go-as-you-Please Race in the Drill Shed —The First Night.

On Monday evening the six hours go-as-you-please walking match was commenced in the drill shed. The attendance of spectators at the commencement was not large, but their numbers increased during the evening, and, although the weather was unfavorable, the attendance was quite large. There were eight entries for the race, and six competitors started.

Mr. W. A. Sanderson was chosen referee, and Mr. John Fanning scorer. The Peterborough Orchestra was present during the evening, and added to the pleasure of the occasion by playing many admirable selections.

At 8.06 o'clock the race was commenced, the following pedestrians starting:—M. Bird, P Welsh, Thos. McNaughton, D. Hartley, A. Mercier and W. McAvealy. At the start Bird was the favorite, and it appeared to be generally expected that he would win the race. The starters went off in good style, and for the first hour and a half the race was one of the finest ever witnessed here. McNaughton, who is known as a good walker, surprised his friends by the exhibition of running powers which he made, he having scored nine miles in the first hour. The race was sharply contested, as at the end of the first hour Bird had the lead with a score of nine miles and three laps, McNaughton being three laps behind him and Welsh three laps behind McNaughton. Hartley was fourth, with eight miles and four laps, and Mercier and McAvealy had each scored eight miles in the first hour, and were four laps behind Hartley.

Three minutes before the last third hour was completed, Mercier and McAvealy, who were still even, stopped running and continued at a fast walk. The others were still running and Bird held the lead. The score at 9.33 was:—Bird 13 miles 6 laps; McNaughton 13 miles 3 laps; Welsh 12 miles 12 laps; Hartley 12 miles 2 laps; Mercer 11 miles 8 laps and McAvealy 11 miles 6 laps.

At 9.50 McAvealy and Mercier started to run again, and ran for five minutes, when McAvealy left the track with a score of 13 miles and 2 laps and did not return. McNaughton fell back to a walk at 9.45, and left the track to change his shoes, returning almost immediately, and keeping up a fast walk to the end of the fourth half hour. He was passed during the time by Welsh, who drew up towards Bird. Hartley dropped to a walk at 9.50, and after a short run continued to walk until the second hour was completed. The score then stood:—Bird 17 miles 5 laps; Welsh 17 miles; McNaughton 15 miles 14 laps; Hartley 14 miles 14 laps and Mercier 14 miles 13 laps.

During the next half hour Bird and Welsh still held the same relative positions, the former leading by five laps, and Mercier passed Hartley, who had left the track for five minutes at 10.05, and had continued alternately walking and running. McNaughton continued a fast walk, making occasional short spurts at a fast gait, and Bird and Welsh still kept up a steady run.

At 10.30 Hartley left the course for ten minutes, and returned at 10.40. He walked until he had made two laps, and then made a spurt, running one lap at a fast gait amid cheers, but he then retired from the course and did not return, his score being 16 miles. Mercier and McNaughton continued walking, occasionally running for a few minutes, and then returning to a walk. Mercier was running when time was called and the race was concluded for the evening. Bird and Welsh were at this time running side and side, but Bird still held his lead of five laps. The score at the finish was as follows:—Bird 23 m. 14l., Welsh 23m. 9l., McNaughton 20m. 6l., Mercier 19m. 15l., Hartley 16.m, and McAvealy 13m. 2l.

Everyone of the spectators appeared to be well pleased with the exhibition, and their cheers during the evening showed that they were enjoying the sport. The score made in the first hour was a surprise, and the closeness of the score of Bird and Welsh kept up the excitement.

The race will be continued this evening at eight o'clock, and it is expected that all of those who started will be on hand again. The attendance will, no doubt, be larger to-night, in order that the end of the contest may be witnessed.

New Director.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Peterborough Real Estate Investment Company (Limited), held this morning, Mr. Geo. A. Cox was elected a member of the Board in the place of the late Col. Haultain. The company is to be congratulated on this accession to its Directors, and the marked ability which Mr. Cox has shown in other matters will no doubt add further strength and popularity to this already prosperous concern. As will be seen by their advertisement in another column, a dividend for the current half year at the rate of seven per cent. per annum his just been declared.

AN EXPLODED SLANDER.

The Dominion Parliamentary opposition seems to be utterly without a policy unless it be to thwart the Government, to delay the construction of our great railway, now so fast opening up the country, and to attack the policy, adopted by the people of Canada, of fostering Canadian industries.

So too with their journals; having nothing to suggest, no policy to support, they devote their attention to fabricating new slanders or reiterating old ones long ago exploded.

The Globe asks :—

"Did Sir Hugh Allan give his $360,000 for naught? Was he a likely man to do such a wasteful act? Is it not absolutely certain that he gave this money to the Macdonald Ministry as the price of the Pacific Railway charter sold to him?"

These questions have long ago been answered, but still the old slander is impudently revived.

Sir Hugh Allan did not give $360,000 to the Macdonald Ministry. His own private letters and public statements, the only evidence of his expenditure of such an amount, show that he gave, out of a total of $360,000, sums amounting to $162,600 to members of the Ministry, of which $117,600 was for the Quebec elections and $44,000 for the Ontario elections. What became of the remainder—of the far larger portion of the $360,000 spent by Sir Hugh? We have his own account of the way in which he spent it. He says that in order to forward his plan of securing Quebec control of the Canadian Pacific Railway and a continuation of it to tide water by means of the Northern Colonization Railway he opposed Sir Geo. Cartier and his Bleu supporters. He describes his manner of doing this by subscribing a controlling amount of the stock of some papers and subsidising others, by employing journalists and young lawyers to write up his interests and agents to talk them up, besides exerting his own personal influence, till, as he says, Sir G. Cartier had "a slim chance of re-election," and he had secured 27 of his supporters. In short he had spent a very large sum to oppose the Quebec Conservative and support the Quebec Reformers, because he thought Sir G. Cartier too favourable to the Grand Trunk to suit his views. He subsequently gave a smaller sum to counteract this, but it was too late to undo his own work, for, as he had anticipated, Cartier was defeated, and his following was greatly reduced. Sir Hugh Allan's operations in the Province of Quebec, consisted in the expenditure of larger sums of money to oppose than to assist the Conservatives, and to the votes thus lost to the administration it was due that the conspirators against it were able to succeed in overthrowing it.

There remains the sum of $45,000 given by Sir Hugh Allan for election purposes in Ontario. There never was any proof that even a portion of it was used illegally, and if scattered throughout the numerous constituencies of the Province or a considerable number of them, it might well be used legally. But even if a portion of it were used illegally, the wrong would be in a measure palliated by the fact that, as Sir John Macdonald said, the Reformers were using far larger sums to corrupt the electorate. This is not a matter of supposition, for the truth of it was proved by evidence in the law courts. If we merely look to the effect upon the popular verdict this contribution from Sir Hugh, large as it was, only partially reduced in this Province the falsification due to corruption by the opposition.

As to the question whether it is not certain that he gave his money as the price of the charter sold to him, it is certain that he did not. The charter was not given to Sir Hugh Allan's company, but to one composed of leading Canadians chosen by the government, and any administration that had not included him in its choice would have been blamable. He had only a thirteenth voice in this directorate, the other twelve members being men of influence in all of the six colonies, including Mr. E. R. Burpee, the brother of a colleague of Mr. Mackenzie, Col. John Walker, of London, his friend and supporter, such able engineers as Mr. Sandford Fleming, C. E., and Mr. Walter Shanly, C. E., such a distinguished statesman as the Hon. A. G. Archibald, of Halifax, a merchant of repute like Mr. D. Innes, of Hamilton, and so on. If the charter was sold it was to these gentlemen and on their behalf. Who will credit this?

As to why Sir Hugh Allan committed what the Globe considers such "a wasteful act," we have his reasons as given by himself. He tells us that he desired the success of the Government because he approved of its railway and canal policy, and believed that its being maintained in power would be advantageous to the many enterprises in which he was interested. It must be remembered that he and the other members of his firm were millionaires, that in their steam fleet alone they had an amount of capital invested that must be greatly benefitted by the extension of railway facilities and the settlement of the country, to say nothing of their interest in railway projects. Sums that would seem enormous to smaller men would not startle capitalists of their calibre. The wish to retain in power a Ministry whose general policy would benefit their enterprises might seem to them worth a sacrifice. At all events such is Sir Hugh's explanation.

The first charge made by the conspirators was that Sir John Macdonald had sold the charter to Sir Hugh Allan and to American capitalists who had found the money. They knew that this was not true, for they must have learned from their ally McMullen that he was blackmailing Allan and selling his letters because he and his American friends were refused any control of or share in the enterprise by Sir John Macdonald and his colleagues. Still they harped upon these and other false charges, till by perverting the minds of some members, by bribing others with office, and with the aid of the reduced majority from Quebec, caused by Sir Hugh Allan's exertions against the Cartier wing of the Ministry, they succeeded in their conspiracy, and the administration resigned. Then the foresight of Sir Hugh Allan was proved, for the country had to wait till they returned to power before the construction of our great railway was pushed in real earnest, and the settlement of the country made rapid strides. If they had remained in power the increased profits of the Allan's line of magnificent steamers would alone have more than recouped their expenditure on elections.

We are asked if we see nothing to blame in the transaction. Certainly we do and we have not denied it. Even if spent legally we do not believe in the propriety of raising large election funds to influence the choice of the electors, which should be left free. Neither do we think it for the good of the country that enormous contributions should be obtained from one man or firm however great the interests they have at stake, because such a practice might be abused. It must be remembered, however, that such is still the practice in the United Kingdom, and that the Reformers were then using such means corruptly on an enormous scale. The mistake made by Sir John Macdonald and his colleagues was that they endeavoured to fight fire with fire. Finding that the Reformers, as was afterwards proved in the courts, were spending gigantic sums in the constituencies, they tried to counteract their efforts. It would have been better to have given way for the time before such illegitimate influences, and their recall by the people would have been speedy. But this fault is no valid reason for saying, as the Globe does, that the chosen leaders of Canada, the foremost statesmen of the Dominion, were "bought like a herd of swine."

WHY?

There are many reasons why H. LeBRUN, of the City Clothing Store, has now the confidence of the public, and some of them may be very briefly stated.

First—The firm has had a business experience, extending over ten years.

Second—The establishment is the largest in the town, and the stock the most extensive.

Third—The City Clothing Store sets the prices, which are always lower than any other house in Peterborough.

Fourth—The styles are always correct, for the reason that Mr. LeBrun employs none but the most skilful workmen.

Fifth—The fit, finish and durability of every garment made is perfect, because all the details of the business come under the minutest inspection.

Sixth—H. LeBrun, City Clothing Store, never allows a customer to go unless they are satisfied. The good reputation of the firm will be sustained in the selection he has made.

THE MAN IN POSSESSION

IN FIVE CHAPTERS.—CHAPTER IV.

Miss Wintock seemed to share my unspoken thoughts. Turning to me, she said: "Mr. Meredith, you have been brought into sad trouble on my account. It would have been better, perhaps, for you to have left me to my fate."

"My dear young lady, do not pain me by indulging such a thought for a moment. If occasion demanded it, I would gladly do the same again. The risk to me is nothing. I only wish I could see my way clearly what next to do for the best. But I confess myself totally at a loss." I spoke faintly and despondingly.

"Can we not seek shelter for a while, at least at the first inn we happen upon? Your wound could be looked to, and the mare might rest a little."

"I fear that would not do. The Wintocks, knowing that we are on the high-road, will probably guess that we shall make all haste to the metropolis. Depend upon it, they will not part with you without another effort. It is now getting very late. If we stop we must put up till morning, for I do not see how we could start again from a strange inn until early dawn. No doubt our pursuers will make every inquiry in following us, and will be quickly on our track. What if they should overtake us and give me in charge of a constable for stealing the horse and gig? Not that I care for myself; but you would be left without a protector and entirely at their mercy. And yet I fear that I could do but little in that way just now. Indeed, I am at my wit's end, for it is plain that we cannot travel much further in our present plight."

"Then why not leave the high road at once? See! there are lights in that valley yonder to the left; and there is a turning a little way on which apparently leads that way. Let us try it. Possibly we may find a safe refuge. They will not dream that we dare stay so near the Hall. If they hunt for us at all it will be farther away."

The suggestion struck me as a capital one, and in fact there seemed to be no alternative. "Good!" I said; "very good! A lady's wit excels a man's invention any time." So saying I turned the mare's head, and leaving the high-road across the common drove steadily down to the valley where the lights appeared.

At about two miles' distance we found a scattered village. The lights we had seen were reflected from the windows of the only inn in the place. The house was just about to be closed for the night; for the one or two who always stay to the latest minute to drain an extra glass, were departing, some of them with rather an unsteady gait. Ringing the yard-bell, I gave the mare and gig into the sleepy hostler's keeping, and, with Miss Wintock on my arm, walked into the house. Boniface was seated in the bar-parlour, taking it very cosily. Making myself quite at home, I handed my companion to a chair and called for refreshments. While he was serving us, I said: "Landlord, I want a sleeping apartment for this young lady."

The fellow was a mere clod, sheepish, carroty-haired, and bloated; apparently a good-tempered kind of calf, yet sufficiently astute where his own interest was concerned. He eyed us both for a moment very suspiciously. Truly, neither of us cut a very respectable figure. Mis Wintock in her plain dark dress, surmounted by old Martha's horridly antiquated bonnet and threadbare shawl; and I with my wounded head bound up in a blood-stained handkerchief. There was sufficient reason for the man's distrust. "Very sorry, sir!—very sorry, indeed! can't have it. Never let beds to strange folks this time o' night."

"Well, but my good man, you see"——I commenced remonstrating.

He gruffly cut my speech short. "Noa! I doan't, and I doan't want to. You can't have any beds here; and that's flat."

Just then the landlady entered the room. She seemed to be rather a genteel sort of person compared with her spouse, and to be about retiring to rest. I at once appealed to her.

"Madam, I am requesting the landlord to oblige me with a night's accommodation for this young lady. We have been attached on the road, and compelled to turn out of our way; and we cannot possibly reach our destination to-night. I am agreeable to make any shift myself—a shakedown in your hayloft, or a stretch on the settle by the fire here. Put me anywhere you please, so that you make the lady comfortable. You have our mare in the stable and our gig in the yard; put them under lock and key as security, if you like. We are willing to pay to the full any reasonable charge as well, in advance. What more can you require?" As I spoke, I took out my purse, not very heavily lined, truly, but sufficiently so for present need. Money Miss Wintock had none.

The landlady glanced suspiciously at Miss Wintock. She could not make her out at all. Her costume was decidedly not that of a lady; but the word "attack," awakened her curiosity.

"Deary me! attacked by them tramps. I am glad they did not rob you, for I see you have still your purse. How did you manage to get away from them?" And then she hurriedly proceeded with a string of eager questions, scarcely waiting for a reply.

"She is really a lady born and bred," I interrupted. "You surely will not turn her out again into the road at this hour of the night?"

"But I cannot understand why a lady should come abroad in such a dress as that," she replied sarcastically; while she spoke, an idea seemed to force its way into her mind, and she archly added, "unless it is a runaway match. In that case, my husband and I would rather have nothing to do with it. We might get into trouble."

"I sh'ud think not—I sh'ud think not! No runaway folks in Bob Simpson's house, if he knows it. Come, young people, you must go fudder; we can't have folks like you here," blurted out the landlord, moving from the room, and calling to the hostler: "Ben, putt that 'ere mare in again; lady and gen'l'man's a-goin' 'on."

I was about to remonstrate further and more strongly; but Miss Wintock rose indignantly to her feet. Hitherto, her natural shyness, combined with the false and very unpleasant position in which she was placed, had kept her silent. Unpinning the old shawl, and raising the hideous bonnet, she shook her glossy black hair until it hung down in clustering masses on her shoulders. "Yes, landlord, I am a lady—though you seem to doubt it—and a very shamefully oppressed and injured one. I am not compelled to enlighten a stranger respecting my private affairs; but this gentleman has just risked his life in my service. You see he is not in a fit state to drive me on to the next town, even if it were not so late. I beg of you as a man—if you have any manhood in you—and for humanity's sake, to accede to his request. I pledge you my word, my honour as a lady," she continued proudly and passionately, and with a short scornful laugh, "that you incur no risk. We are no burglars, that you should dread us so."

The moment Miss Wintock threw aside her bonnet and began to speak, the landlady fixed upon her an earnest scrutinizing look, bending forward with parted lips and scanning her features narrowly. "Why—surely—can it be?" she exclaimed in wonderment, eagerly seizing the young lady by both hands, "Why, Bob, 'tis Miss Wintock, as I'm alive! Don't you remember dear young mistress, that used to be at the Hall?—Oh! my dear young lady, who could have dreamed of seeing you in such a pickle! Whatever has happened? Where have you been so long? They said you left the Hall and went abroad, after your poor pa's death.—Stay here! Yes; that you shall—for a twelvemonth if you like, and have the best bed in the house too."

The sudden outburst of the landlady took Miss Wintock by surprise, and the warm-hearted creature rattled on in such voluble style as to admit of no reply.

Bob Simpson had returned to the bar-parlour, after bawling out his orders to the hostler from the passage, and had stood as if stupified during Miss Wintock's transformation and passionate appeal. It was more than his very limited stock of brains could cope with. He had half turned away again, possibly with the intention of hastening the hostler's movements. But his wife's exclamations brought him to a sudden halt, and he remained staring and gaping with open mouth, as the mutual recognition took place, Mrs. Simpson, in her delight, almost forcing Miss Wintock back into the chair from which she had risen.

"Eh! What? Bless me! Miss Wintock! Jump o' my wig, who'd ha' thought it!—How d'ye do, miss? Glad to see ye' and thank'ee kindly;" and he took her tiny hand in both his great rough clumsy ones and moved it up and down, as if he were slowly plying a pump-handle Off he started again into the passage and to the back-door which led into the yard. "Ben!" he shouted, "take that 'ere mare out again. Gie her a rub down and feed her well. Lady and gen'l'man ain't a-goin' on agen."

It was a lucky bit our turning off from the high-road, for the landlady proved to have been an attached servant of Miss Wintock's parents, who had lived with them first when quite a girl, had grown to womanhood in their service, and afterwards married a comfortable though not very intellectual partner. The numerous kindnesses she had received from her dear young mistress as she still fondly termed her, and whose special attendant she had been, now bore grateful fruit; and she was most assiduous in her kind attentions to us both, though it was evident that her curiosity was excited to the highest pitch by Miss Wintock's sudden appearance at such a time, alone, in such company as mine, and above all in such strange attire.

"Ye're safe housed for the rest o' this night, miss, at least," said her host, as, poising his glass to drink the young lady's very good health, he glanced up at the old-fashioned blunderbuss suspended over the mantel-piece, and to which was appended a card with "Loaded" inscribed upon it in legible characters. "I sh'd like to see any little half-dozen on 'em try to git you out 'o Bob Simpson's house! I'd make 'em—I'd make 'em"—— But here the action of his brain did not keep pace with the warmth of his feelings, and he was at a loss; "I'd make every one on 'em grin like a monkey with his head on a choppin'-block."

"Bravo! my worthy friend; you're a Briton to the bone," I replied, grasping his hand. "Once safe in London, we do not fear. It is the getting there. I don't think it likely we shall be traced till daylight. Then no doubt the Wintock's will be on the alert, and scour the neighbourhood far and near. A thousand unlucky chances may happen to bring us together; or they may even now have procured fresh horses and proceeded to Raleigh, and intercept us when we arrive in the morning, when we enter the suburbs."

"Now listen to me a minute, Bob," interrupted his better-half. "It is only five miles across country by the by-roads to Slowham station. (This I did not previously know). The train passes through on its way to London about eight in the morning. I will lend Miss Wintock another dress and a bonnet and cloak. You let Mr. Meredith have your loose great-coat, and the broad-brimmed, low-crowned hat you drive to market in. It is too large for him, but we can easily pad it. Ralph shall drive the pony and cart over with them the first thing in the morning so as to be in time. He needs to know nothing. As soon as they are fairly on the road, let Ben start with the horse and gig to Briteleigh Hall. It won't do for them to be found on our premises; that might get us into an awkward mess. Should he meet any of the Wintocks' people on the road he can speak the truth, and say that a lady and gentleman left them here in the night, desiring them to be sent back in the morning. And if not, let him drive on to the Hall, and leave them in the yard with the same message. To-morrow being market day he is sure to get a lift part of the way back at any rate."

Shortly after settling our plan of action we retired to our several rooms, but only for a short space, for we were astir again before daylight. Bob and his spouse insisted upon giving up their bed to Miss Wintock; whilst I lay down in a spare one.

Punctual to the minute agreed upon, Ralph was at the inn-door with the pony and cart; and we took a grateful and affectionate leave of our host and hostess. We reached Slowham just in time to catch the train, and by noon we were safe within the precincts of the metropolis.

Plain Truths!

The blood is the foundation of life, it circulates through every part of the body and unless it is pure and rich, good health is impossible, if disease has entered the system the only sure and quick way to drive it out is to purify and enrich the blood.

These simple facts are well known and the highest medidical authorities agree that nothing but iron will restore the blood to its natural condition; and also that all the Iron preparations hitherto made blacken the teeth, cause headache, and are otherwise injurious.

SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS will thoroughly and quickly assimulate with the blood, purifying and strengthening it and thus drive disease from any part of the system, and it will not blacken the teeth cause headache or constipation and is positively not injurious.

St. Johnsbury, Vermont Oct. 21st 1882.

For six years I have been a great sufferer from blood disease, dyspepsia and constipation, and became so debilitated that I could not retain anything on my stomach, in fact life had almost become a burden, and when hope had almost left me, I was induced to give SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS a trial I am now taking the third bottle and have not felt so well in six years as I do at present.

MRS. S. L. MOORE.

SULPHUR AND IRON BITTERS effectually cures dyspepsia, indigestion and weakness, and renders the greatest relief and benefit to persons suffering from such diseases as kidney and liver complaints, dyspepsia, indigestion etc.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcule which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widely increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

CHARITY ORDERS.

Councillor SAWERS moved, seconded by Councillor MCNAUGHTON,—That the Chairman of the Charity Committee be instructed to furnish a statement of the orders given in charity and the names of the members of the committee who recommended that the order be given.

Councillor CAHILL opposed the motion. He did not think that the Council should enter into the quarrels of Councillors.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON said that each ratepayer should know where every cent of the town money went.

Councillor KELLY did not think it would be right to publish the names of those who received charity.

After further discussion, and some bitter personal reflections, the motion was carried.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor SAWERS,—That the Mayor, Mr. Smith, be granted leave of absence for three months, and that Councillor Menzies be appointed acting Mayor during his absence.—Carried.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Councillor CAHILL read the following report of the Finance Committee:—

To the Town Council of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Committee recommend the payment of the account of Teker & Co., for $57.75.

They recommend that the petition of Mr. G. W. Hall, for exemption from taxation, be granted, provided that he employs continuously in his business twenty persons, and that a by-law be passed for that purpose, the exemption to be for one year or more.

Your Committee, to whom was referred the matter of obtaining the money necessary to purchase the old Bank of Toronto buildings, beg to report, and recommend that the Town Treasurer be authorized to pay Mr. James Stevenson on the first of July next the sum of $1,500, part of the purchase money of the buildings, and that the town take over possession of said buildings on the above date. We also beg to recommend that the Commissioners of the Town Trust be requested to hand over to the Town Treasurer any moneys now in their hands or hereafter to be received from the sale of lands in the south reserve.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

W. PATERSON, JR.,
Chairman.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON opposed the granting of Mr. Hall's petition. He was willing to grant exemptions to large manufactures, but not to an establishment that only employs boys. There was no one to see whether the conditions were carried out.

Councillor RUTHERFORD, although he felt somewhat as Councillor McNaughton did, would not oppose the granting of the petition at this stage.

Councillor DOUGLAS said that ten years was too long a time. Three years of exemption, in order to give him a start, would be sufficient.

The report was adopted on a vote.

STREETS AND BRIDGES.

Councillor CAHILL read the following report of the Street and Bridge Committee:—

To the Town Council of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN,—Your Committee beg to report and recommend as follows:—

1. That the sidewalk applied for on Brock street be granted.
2. That the sidewalk on King street be reconstructed four feet wide.
3. That a sidewalk be built on McDonald street from George to Water street, and that the sidewalk on Queen street be properly reconstructed.
4. That a sidewalk be constructed on Aylmer street from Edinburgh, to Antrim street.
5. That the sum of $157 be expended in grading at the Goose pond, and that the south end of Aylmer street be graded, cost, say, $30.
6. That Sherbrooke street west from Aylmer street be graded and gravelled.
7. That the application of Mr. B. Shortly be granted. The above work to be performed by contract or other wise, as may be deemed expedient.
8. Your Committee have awarded the contract for supplying the corporation with lumber for street and bridge purposes to Mr. W. B. Kelly, of Bridgenorth, his tender being the lowest, viz., $8.90 per thousand for pine plank and $10.75 per m. for cedar scantling, and recommend that the Town Clerk be instructed to enter into a contract with Mr. Kelly.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

THOS. CAHILL,
Chairman.

—Adopted after some discussion.

AN O. AND Q. CULVERT.

Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor DAVIDSON,—That the Ontario and Quebec Railway be granted the road on the boundary between the town and the township of North Monaghan, where their line of railway crosses said road, while constructing a culvert across said road, the Company to properly fence said place, and to put up proper notices that the road is being closed for traffic.—Carried.

THE FIREMEN AND POLL TAX.

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved, seconded by Councillor DOUGLAS,—That in accordance with the statute of Ontario firemen are exempt from poll taxes, be it therefore resolved that firemen in the employ of the Corporation be exempt from such poll tax, and any fireman that may have paid poll tax have the money refunded.—Carried.

THE PLANS OF THE O. AND Q. RAILWAY.

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved, seconded by Councillor DOUGLAS,—That the plans and profiles of the Ontario and Quebec Railway be submitted to Mr. J. E. Belcher, town engineer, to examine and report to the Council,—Carried.

THE COW BY-LAW.

Councillor HARTLEY moved, seconded by Councillor RUTHERFORD,—That the matter of the enforcement of the cow by-law be referred to the Committee on Appointments.—Carried.

EXCAVATIONS.

Councillor DAVIDSON moved, seconded by Councillor CAHILL,—That the Street & Bridge Committee be authorized to avail themselves of material from excavations form cellars where they think it advisable to do so.—Carried.

Councillor RUTHERFORD, in reply to Councillor Sawers, said the fire stable would be ready in about a week's time.

THE FIRE BRIGADE.

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved, seconded by Councillor HARTLEY,—That Samuel Clegg be appointed Assistant Chief of the Fire Brigade at a salary of $90.

The motion was referred to the Committee on Appointments.

THE FIRE STABLE AGAIN.

Councillor SAWERS moved that a Committee be appointed to examine the fire stable when completed, and expressing disfavour of the practice of Councillors doing work for the town. There being no seconder to the motion it was not put to a vote.

Councillor SAWERS said he was not surprised that he got no seconder to the motion, as there was more than Councillor Rutherford in the ring. The town, he said, had been swindled.

Councillor DOUGLAS said that Councillor Sawers was on the committee which recommended the acceptance of the tender for the erection of the stable.

Councillor SAWERS then moved a motion favoring the practice of Councillors doing work for the town, and asked Councillor Rutherford to second it. The motion also received no seconder.

COMPLAINTS.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON said complaints were made of the dirt scraped up on the market being allowed to remain there, and a similar complaint was made of Water street.

Councillor CAHILL said that everything could not be done in one day, but all these matters would be attended to.

STREET WATERING.

Councillor RUTHERFORD, in reply to Councillor Cahill, said that the matter of watering the streets was an important question this year. It was agreed that the town team should do it, and it would then be paid for by a general tax. The cart was wearing out, and they should consider the advisability of using hydrants for this purpose. The people looked to the Council to attend to these affairs, and they should deal with them now. They were indebted to the Water Company for pushing their works in accordance with the town by-law. The works, he understood, would be tested to the satisfaction of the Council at any time they wished. He wished to make the present system of fire protection as efficient as possible, but no matter what course he took he was attacked.

Councillor YELLAND was surprised that the watering cart was defective, as they had paid $80 two years ago for repairs.

Councillor SAWERS asked from whom the Chairman of the Fire, Water and Gas Committee has purchased a waggon for the town?

Councillor DOUGLAS—"I will tell him who the waggon was got from. I was got from me." He explained the circumstances under which it was purchased, and said the price was $80.

Councillor CAHILL said that Charlotte street needed watering, and the cart should go further down George street. It would be in the interest of the town to procure two or three carts, to be drawn by one horse, and some arrangement should be made for getting the water from the hydrants.

Mr. C. STAPLETON was invited to address the Council. He said there was no doubt that arrangements could be made by which water could be got from the hydrants for watering the streets. One team could then do more than one could do now. If they appointed a committee to confer with the company some arrangement could be made.

Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor DAVIDSON,—That the Fire, Water and Gas Committee take steps to ascertain upon what terms water may be obtained from the hydrants for street watering purposes; also whether the water is to the paid for by a general tax, and to ascertain the best and cheapest means of having a larger area watered than at present.—Carried.

PLANK FOR A CROSSING.

Councillor HARTLEY moved, seconded by Councillor DOUGLAS,—That the Clerk request the Midland Railway to lay plank on the crossing on Aylmer street, between Dublin and Edinburgh streets.—Carried.

THE MARKET.

Councillor KELLY moved, seconded Councillor YELLAND,—That the Market Committee be requested to consult with the town Commissioners about widening the platform around the market building, as the present one is too narrow, and report to the Council.—Carried.

The Council adjourned at ten minutes to eleven, till Tuesday, May 29th, 1883.

A TERRIBLE MURDER.

A Young Man Shoots His Father Three Times—A Verdict of Wilful Murder.

CHATSWORTH, May 14.—On Saturday evening last a murder of an unusually brutal character was committed about a mile and a half east of the village of Williamsford station, on the line of the Toronto, Grey, and Bruce railway, in the township of Holland. It appears that about four o'clock a farmer named George Lambert, about fifty years of age, came into his house for supper, and whilst in the act of washing his hands was shot through the back by his son Joseph, a young man aged about twenty, of eccentric habits, but not heretofore looked on as dangerous. The shot was fired through a stove-pipe hole from the room upstairs. The old man staggered backwards and fell on the floor, when his wife, who was in the house at the time, ran to his assistance, but was unable to get him to his feet. Meantime the murderer was loading his gun for a second shot, when his mother ran upstairs and implored him to desist. On his threatening to shoot her next, she rushed downstairs, and while she was in the act of doing so the second shot was fired, taking effect in the dying man's head and killing him outright. The murderer then loaded his gun a third time, came down stairs, took the murdered man by the bootleg, and dragged him about forty yards to the foot of the garden, where he began to prepare a grave. He then got some lumber which he commenced to measure and saw up for a coffin. By this time some fifteen or twenty of the neighbours, who were alarmed by the mother, had congregated, but were unable to do anything, as the murderer threatened to shoot the first man who approached him. A warrant was obtained for his arrest, but it was not considered advisable to do anything in the way of enforcing it till other devices for the capture of the murderer were exhausted. At length a man named Hanly, under pretence of rendering the murderer assistance, succeeded in getting beside him, when he took him by the legs and threw him on the ground, after which he was handcuffed and taken to the village. He says that in committing the murder he was carrying out his father's instructions. It is said that he wished to get the farm, and that the fact of his being kept out of it engendered the feelings which prompted him to commit the murderous act.

A coroner's inquest was held this afternoon, and a verdict of "wilful murder" returned. The murderer was taken to Owen Sound, where he will be detained till his trial comes off.

PLEADED GUILTY.

DUBLIN, May 16.—Daniel Delaney, charged with conspiracy to murder, was arraigned to-day and pleaded guilty. Edward McCaffrey withdrew his plea of not guilty to the same charge and constituted the plea of guilty. Sentence was defered. Thomas Martin, indicted for conspiracy to murder, pleaded guilty, but was allowed his liberty on undertaking to leave the country. Kingston and Gibney were then arraigned on a charge of conspiracy to murder, and both pleaded not guilty.

SULTAN AND KHEDIVE.

PARIS, May 16.—The Times says the Sultan is dissatisfied with Lord Dufferin's explanations, and that the Sultan will send an envoy with a decoration for the Khedive for the purpose of regaining his influence with him.

TRUE OR FALSE?

LONDON, May 16.—The Head Constable of Liverpool maintains that the story of the discovery on a trans-Atlantic steamer of an infernal machine in a box entrusted to the steward is a hoax. The box only contained brick. The Times correspondent at Liverpool insists on truth of the story and declares that the police are anxious to minimize the importance of the affair.

AMERICAN.

BRADY A MARTYR.

SYRACUSE, May 16.—Eleven Irish Societies here were organized yesterday by the National League of Onandago County. The Rev. Dr. O'Hara said:—"We saw a judge perjure his soul, and a Queen's Counsel and Jury brought there to convict on black perjured testimony. Such a jury would convict an angel. Poor Brady died a martyr for his country. Never will the name of Brady be forgotten, and the name of his mother will live with that of the mother of Maccabees and Gracchi."

STRIKE ENDED.

ROCKDALE, Pa., May 16.—Five hundred strikers in the common mills of Biddle & Son, have returned to work at the old wages.

A DISPUTE SETTLED.

BOSTON, May 16.—The Railroad commissioners have settled a long dispute. Nearly all the railroads refused to check bundles and parcels. The commissioners decided that packages not excessive in weight, and containing personal apparel, shall be checked.

THE BOER TROUBLES.

NEW YORK, May 16.—A London despatch says that Cape advices show a continuance of the Boer troubles and renewed hostilities. The authorities believe quiet will soon be restored.

REPORT DISCREDITED.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The British consul here and the agents of the leading steamship lines discredit the story from London about an alleged attempt to destroy an ocean steamer by means of an infernal machine.

THE HEAVY STORM.

STEVENSON, Dak., May 16.—The storm of the 9th and 10th instant blew down the telegraph wires and the poles for miles. Travel is stopped. Wood is so scarce that one hotel purchased an old hotel to use as fuel. Several mills have shut down, it being impossible to haul ore. The alkali creek has become a river.

ALLEGED SLAVERY.

NEW YORK, May 16.—Robert Cooper alleges that he and several others were induced to go from Jamaica, West Indies, to Mexico, where the men were ill-treated, and the wages promised them not paid. The men refused to work and were sold as slaves for three years to pay the cost of their passage, which the Railway Company had agreed to pay. Cooper was released because he threatened to appeal to the British Government. He managed to reach New Orleans and was sent here by the British consul. He leaves for Jamaica shortly, and the authorities there will investigate.

COLLAPSE OF A RAILWAY.

BOSTON, May 16.—The collapse of the Massachusett's Central Railway created great excitement all along the line. Over four millions have been sunk in the enterprise. The trustees took it under mortgage for $350,000. No trains will be run after to-day, the Courts having refused to grant the petition of the trustees for an order to confirm the contract with the Boston and Lowell Railway for operating the road. The road cannot be made to pay running expenses, and the trustees will not incur further liability. Thousands of people will suffer from the failure. Many towns on the line are stockholders, and the losses to individuals will entail great hardship. The employees have not been paid for months.

A TOWN DEMOLISHED.

EMPIRE, Ky., May 16.—A tornado swept over here on Monday evening. Every house in the town was overthrown. Heavy timbers were carried a long distance. The railroad track is covered with debris. Two men and a boy were killed, and a woman and child fatally injured. A great many people were severely hurt but not dangerously. The tornado swept a path 500 yards in width, and carried everything before it, uprooting great trees and whirling and breaking them like twigs. It is feared that it has caused great loss of property and destruction of life all along its course, but it is hoped that it has narrowed at the wooded district east of Empire. The destruction at Empire is complete. The inhabitants number 1,000, principally colliers and their families. The distress is great.

THE APACHE WAR.

ELPASO, May 16.—There are unconfirmed rumors that Crook had a fight, and that the Apaches still prevail. Serious fears are entertained by the Mexicans as to Crook's safety. At Janos, 150 miles south-west of here, the point from which all military news must come, the officers have been unable to obtain any decisive intelligence. Crook was, however, expected there nearly a week ago. It is now known that he has undertaken to penetrate to the heart of the mountains directly to the south-west.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, MAY 16, 1883.

It was asserted formerly that the Suez canal would not pay, and would not be extensively used by shipping. It has now been determined to construct another canal by way of Alexandria.

In accordance with its usual disgraceful tactics, the Globe is now slandering Mr. H. H. Smith because he has committed the two great crimes of siding in the recent successes of the Conservative party, and visiting England.

In alluding to our editorial on the Trent Valley Canal, the Hamilton Tribune says :—

"The Peterborough Review, which, we may remark en passant, is an ably conducted newspaper, although by no means an admirer of the Tribune, regrets, &c."

We do admire and have expressed our admiration of the ability and enterprise displayed by the Hamilton Tribune, but we do not admire, and must censure the adoption by a journalist in his professional capacity of a code of morals which he would not adopt in his private life. The editor of the Tribune would certainly spurn with indignation the very idea of making use of stolen property to further his own private ends, and we cannot see why he should think it justifiable for him to do so as a journalist. We shall continue to condemn such offences, whether practised by friend or foe, or "armed neutral."

WHAT OUR SCHOOLS ARE DOING.

Mr. Mills, principal of the Ontario Agricultural College, in his annual report for 1882, says :—

"No one will deny that the first and most important function of all our public schools is to teach well the elements of an English education—reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic, English grammar, composition, and the outlines of geography; but, if in addition to these, or in connection with them, anything else can be taught in the rural schools, there is no doubt that agriculture, underlying as it does, the prosperity of every class in the community, should receive attention before algebra, euclid, or anything else that has yet found a place on the programme of studies."

UNFOUNDED ASSUMPTIONS.

Either the Montreal Witness has met with some strange advocates of the National Policy, or it makes assumptions that are utterly unfounded. It says :—

"The National Policy organs now allow that protection does not increase the price of grain or agricultural products, but, say they, it gives the farmer the home market and increases the home demand. The farmer always had the home market, and besides no farmer cares, or has reason to care, the snap of his fingers whether his products are consumed at home or abroad if he gets only the same price."

We have never seen any advocate of the National Policy that allows any such absurdity. The Review and other journals have over and over again published the market figures showing that the price paid to our farmers for wheat is relatively greater than before the N. P., as compared with Liverpool prices, and that was then the chief market for our surplus wheat. If by the "home market" the Witness means the Canadian market, it is not true that the farmer always had it, for the Maritime Provinces were chiefly supplied with breadstuffs by United States farmers, whereas they are now chiefly supplied by Canadian farmers. If it means the nearest market to the farmer, the assertion is again incorrect, for, as our farmers well know, they get better prices in town for their poultry, butter and eggs, fruit, vegetables, etc., because our well-paid mechanics and others can better afford to buy them.

Again the Witness says :—

"There is no National Policy organ now that will contend that prices of woollen, cotton, and iron goods would not be lower if the duty was lower."

We know no well-informed advocate of the National Policy that has ceased, or would cease, so to contend. To lower the duties until they were no longer protective would invite foreign manufacturers to make Canada a slaughter market, especially when their trade was dull, and would check our own internal competition. Then up would go the prices. This has been the experience of the past, and there is no reason to suppose that the result would now be different in similar circumstances. Why, already other opponents of the N. P. are saying that over-competition among themselves is ruining our manufacturers. If this be so in any degree it will soon cure itself, for fresh capital will cease to be attracted to the industries that are overdone, and our rapid increase of population will soon overtake our manufacturing facilities.

The people of Canada have made up their minds to manufacture for themselves, and such fallacies will not persuade them to abandon the wise policy they have deliberately adopted.

AMERICAN CANOE ASSOCIATION.

Steps Taken for the Reception of the Canoeists at Stoney Lake.

A meeting was held in the Town Hall on Tuesday evening, to consider the steps to be taken for giving a fitting reception to the American Canoeists expected here for the annual meeting of the association in August at Stoney Lake.

The Rev. V. Clementi was voted to the chair and explained the object of the meeting, alluding to the honor done to Peterborough by the association in electing Mr. E. B. Edwards their commodore, to the great loss sustained through the death of Mr. George C. Rogers, and appealing to those present to aid in the object they had in view.

Commodore Edwards gave details of arrangements that had already been made, and offered suggestions as to other things to be done. He explained that the association had assented to the fees of Peterborough members of the association being applied to the expense of the meeting in Stoney Lake. He mentioned the names of some who had already joined. The use of two islands had been secured for the association.

Mr. H. C. Rogers, who had been in charge of the first squadron of Peterborough canoeists who had visited the association meeting in Lake George, spoke of the hospitality which they had then received and the obligation to return it. This had been a headquarters of canoeing in Canada and its reputation should be sustained. Visitors to our beautiful lakes would be likely to return and bring their friends.

Mr. H. T. Strickland made a suggestion as to the mode of carrying out the organization.

Mr. G. M. Roger, who had been among the party visiting Lake George, spoke in strong terms of the courtesy of the members in the United States, and of their liberality in appointing a Canadian their chief officer, and in coming so far to meet on our waters. He thought their coming would be productive of great good.

Mr. H. Calcutt suggested letting the canoeists of other localities participate in the organization for the reception.

Commodore Edwards thought that they would be glad of any assistance volunteered by the towns of the Midland district, but that we could look upon people, say from Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, and Quebec, as our guests, as well as those from the States.

Mr. H. C. Rogers took the same view. He knew that the American members of the Association wished no elaborate entertainment, but to get into the backwoods, with the double object of exchanging ideas and experiences as to canoes and canoeing, and having a holiday tour.

Messrs. E. J. Toker, G. B. Sproule, John McClelland, and others also spoke.

The following reception committee was appointed :—Col. H. C. Rogers, Chairman, N. D. Beck, Secretary-Treasurer, the Rev. V. Clementi, H. T. Strickland, H. Calcutt, G. M. Roger, Dr. R. P. Boucher, E. J. Toker, John McClelland, John Miller, J. Z. Rogers, W. H. Budden, T. D. Belcher, G. B. Sproule, J. Hawkins, A. White, J. C. Emmerson, and J. R. Stratton, with power to add to their number.

It was resolved that the Secretary should write to the Secretary of the Lakefield Canoe Club, asking them to suggest some names to add to the above Committee.

It was arranged that the next meeting of the Committee should be held on Tuesday evening, at half-past seven o'clock.

A PUZZLED CABINET.

In reference to Mr. Wood's resignation, and the difficulty experienced by Mr. Mowat in replacing him, the Evening Canadian says :—

"He would like to take in Mr. James Young or Col. Clarke, both of whom have safe seats in the western Grit belt, were it not that the east claims the position as its own. Col. Clarke would make an admirable man for the place, but the geographical conditions are against him. They are still more strongly against Mr. Young. Mr. Ferris, of East Northumberland, is more favorably situated, but his seat is not invulnerable. The defeat of a new Treasurer would settle the fate of the Government. Mr. Gibson, of Hamilton, would make a good compromise between the two sections, and his friends claim that a place in the ministry was promised him; but he was elected by a fluke, and hardly dare risk another contest. But the very fact that these difficulties exist shows that Mr. Mowat has practically lost the confidence of the country. A ruler who fears the people is no longer qualified to rule."

A Dakota Paradise.

Reform journals have been bragging for some time about the number of Canadians who had gone to the United States, particularly to Dakota. The Hon. David Mills proved the other day that 60,000 or 70,000 Canadians had gone to Dakota within the past two years. Dakota must be a pleasant place in which to live. The rate of taxation for territorial purposes is 3 mills on the dollar, or 50 per cent. higher than municipal taxation in Hamilton. Doubtless these Reformers who are deceived by Reform journals in fleeing from the terrors of the N. P., with its 19 per cent. burdens, to the mild United States tariff, with its 30 per cent. burdens, will bless their lucky stars when they get to Dakota and find themselves asked for taxes for the territorial government at the rate of 3 mills on the dollar; and will also heap benedictions on the heads of Philosopher Mills and Statesman Blake, whose glowing accounts of Dakota induced them to go there.—Hamilton Spectator

An Infernal Machine.

It is stated that just before a steamer plying between Liverpool and New York left Liverpool on her last voyage, carrying a number of emigrants, a man gave the steward a box, requesting him to convey it to New York. The steward's suspicions were aroused, and he consulted the Captain, who ordered the box to be opened. The box contained an infernal machine. The contents were thrown overboard, but the box was retained, and the address upon it noted. The discovery was not made known publicly in New York on the vessel's arrival there, but the British Consul-General was notified. The steamer has just returned to Liverpool.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

MENTAL AND BODILY EXHAUSTION, ETC.

Dr. G. Kaiser, Indianapolis, Ind., says :—"I have prescribed it for dyspepsia, impotency and mental and bodily exhaustion; and in all cases it has given general satisfaction."

A Destructive Fire.

A destructive fire occurred in Leamington, Ont., on Monday morning about nine o'clock. The fire broke out in the millinery store of Mansant, which resulted in a terrible conflagration, spreading east and west along South Talbot street, sweeping the entire row of a dozen stores. The flames were communicated to the buildings across Talbot on the north side, sweeping the entire business part from the M. E. church on Talbot street to the Town Hall on Erie street, about forty rods of continuous frame stores and shops, including the Scott House hotel. The fire then communicated with the large brick block on the north-west corner of Erie and Talbot streets, totally destroying it, and spreading northward the entire length of the block, destroying Truax's store and the Post printing office, with several other buildings. There are about five acres of ground where there is nothing to be seen but smouldering debris, and here and there a safe peering above the ruins. The loss is estimated at $150,000.

The editor of the Grand Rapids Sachem says:—"We are usually sparing in our encomium towards patent medicines, but observation and enquiry has satisfied us that the preparation of Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., styled 'Burdock Blood Bitters,' as a blood purifying tonic is worthy of the high reputation it has established among the people."

One of our best citizens would say to the public that he has tried Hall's Catarrh Cure, and that it is all that is claimed for it. Price 75 cents per bottle. For sale by John McKee, druggist.

THE MAN IN POSSESSION

IN FIVE CHAPTERS.—CONCLUSION.

Once safe in London I speedily sought out and engaged a temporary lodging for Miss Wintock. Next, I proceeded to wait upon my chief, to whom I rendered a faithful account of what had transpired, and who, instead of blaming me, was pleased to commend my conduct highly. I knew the solicitor who always transacted his law business.

"Do you think, sir," I asked respectfully, "that I had better go to Mr. Wrightly, or can you advise me of any one better?"

"Wait on old Wrightly at once," was his reply, highly pleased at my asking his counsel. "He is as sharp as a ferret, and as persistent as a leech."

Jumping into the first cab I met, another half-hour saw me in Mr. Wrightley's office.

I need not detail the steps which eventually led to the recovery of the greater part of Miss Wintock's property. Sufficient to say that the astute old lawyer at once undertook her case, conducting it with a perseverance and skill seldom surpassed; and that also, while matters were in progress, he very kindly and thoughtfully provided her with a safe retreat, by receiving her into his own house and family. At first, the Wintocks threatened proceedings against me on account of the mare and gig; but these they were soon glad to forego, for the shrewd old practitioner at once commenced the battle, and they had much more important interests to engage their attention. It was, however, about two years before things were finally settled. During the early part of that time, I called once or twice, at her own request, to see Miss Wintock, and she had by degrees drawn from me much of my past history.

Long before the expiration of the two years alluded to I had, however, bidden farewell to my occupation as a bailiff, for one morning my chief called me aside. "Meredith," said he, "here is a note from Mr. Wrightly, requesting me to send you to him immediately."

"Good-morning, Mr. Meredith," said the latter, as I entered the little private room at his chambers in which he usually sat to receive clients. "Take a chair. I want a word or two with you. I have been given to understand that you were formerly employed in the law. Is it so?"

I began to blush and stammer, for I could not for the life of me guess what was coming.

"Ah, well! I see; committed yourself. Never mind. Do you like your present position, he?—Not particularly enthusiastic in it," he continued, in his sharp shrewd way of speaking. "Very good. Glad of it!"

I bowed, for I had literally nothing to reply.

"Now, young man," and he fixed his keen gray eyes searchingly upon me, "I can perfectly comprehend a hot-brained inexperienced youth sowing his wild oats, and afterwards reaping the bitter crop, too often throughout his after-life. But your conduct in Warley's affair has given me a favourable impression of your character and disposition; and I am induced to hope that with the energy you evidently possess, you may yet accomplish better things.—Stop!" he said, raising his hand, seeing that I was about to answer. "Hear me out. I conclude, from the few scraps of your history which I have heard, that you have received a genteel education. Indeed, your manners indicate that you have not always occupied your present position in society. Had you the opportunity of regaining your former status among your fellow-men—on your word as a man, would you do your best to retain it?"

His word fell upon my ears clear, cold, and calm, yet melodious as the ring of a silver bell. I sprang to my feet. The gorgeous sunshine was gleaming with golden rays through the narrow window of that little room, tinting with hues of gladness even the piles of musty deeds that lay ranged upon its shelves. I felt its loving warmth strike to my inmost heart, as I stood erect before him with quivering lip, vainly struggling to force out the glad words of thanks that would not come, for my emotion was to deep for utterance. Could it really be that there was yet one more chance for me of hope in life? for my present existence, passed in a low and degrading occupation, that I thoroughly hated, could not be termed living.

Mr. Wrightly perceived my agitation. "Enough!" said he with a smile, and waving his hand. "Sit down again, and compose yourself. Actions shall speak for you in the future; I like them better than words. There is just at this time a vacancy in my office; the post is open to your acceptance. Fill it worthily; it is the first step of the ladder. In due time you may rise to competence at least, if not eminence. Uprightness, energy, and perseverance—you know the rest.—There; no thanks. I owe you some recompense for bringing me a good client."

How my heart bounded within me as I left Mr. Wrightly's presence! I could not resist the conclusion that Miss Wintock's representations had influenced him. Doubtless, she wished to repay me in some way for my services. What nobler offering could she present me than the opportunity of redeeming myself, and regaining my former social status.

"And John Meredith will prove himself not unworthy of her kindness!" I exclaimed, as I threw myself upon my couch for the night, to dream of the past, present, and improbable future, mingled in inextricable confusion; for amid the tempest of conflicting emotions, a second hope had flashed momentarily, like a brilliant meteor, upon my unhinged mind. I dared not breathe it even to myself, far less encourage it. Vainly I tried to banish the remembrance of Miss Wintock from my senses. Mr. Wrightly's residence was some distance from his chambers. Sometimes I had to wait upon him there, and occasionally saw her for an instant. Her kindly grasp of the hand, with occasionally a few words of friendly interest, had served to feed and fan the flame that was smouldering in my breast; and yet I felt that my case was utterly hopeless, because of the gap between our relative social positions.

During Miss Wintock's stay at Mr. Wrightly's, a Major Courtly became a constant visitor. It began to be whispered that as soon as her affairs were settled, he would be openly acknowledged as her accepted suitor. When first I heard the news, every faculty seemed for the moment paralysed. Then I awoke to the depth and intensity of the feeling I entertained for her. That night, in my chamber, I cast myself on the floor in a wild tempest of passion, grief, and despair.

A few weeks after the trial—which resulted in her favour—was over, it was currently reported among our clerks that Miss Wintock would shortly leave Mr. Wrightly's family for an establishment of her own in the country. I felt it was good for me that it should be so. My idol removed from immediate proximity, I hoped to regain by degrees equanimity and composure of mind. Happiness of a joyful life was broken.

CONFIRMATION.—The Post says that on Sunday morning, May 6th, Bishop Jamot of Peterborough administered the interesting rite of confirmation to some 350 candidates in St. Mary's Church. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity, all the standing room being fully occupied. The candidates for the sacred rite occupied the pews and aisles in the front part of the church, and as the girls were all dressed in white for the occasion the scene was pleasing as well as impressive. His lordship prior to the ceremony delivered an instructive and eloquent address to the young people, and exhorted them to fulfil faithfully the vows they were about to assume. He urged all those who were confirmed to take the pledge for five years, as that period would carry them over the years of the greatest temptation, and it is gratifying to have it to state that all took the pledge. His lordship expressed his gratification at the care and thoroughness of their instructions by Rev. Fathers Lynch and Sweeney; and also on another occasion expressed his satisfaction with the condition and work of the parish .... In the afternoon a reception of the Sisters of the Sodality was held, and a large number of young ladies were admitted into the membership of that society. At vespers Bishop Jamot preached an eloquent sermon. His Lordship was assisted in the services of the day by Rev. Fathers Lynch and Sweeney.

The Sullivan-Mitchell Match.

Ten thousand people witnessed the Sullivan-Mitchell match in New York on Monday. In the first round Sullivan knocked Mitchell down twice and was himself knocked down once. In the second round Mitchell was twice knocked down, going off the platform once and hurting his leg. In the third round Mitchell went down twice and failed to come to time. The match was accorded to Sullivan; Mitchell fought gamely, but was overmatched. Capt. Williams stopped the contest at the end of the third round, fearing Sullivan would kill Mitchell.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN EXTERNAL MEANS OF CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcule which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produces a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widely increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, MAY 16, 1883.

The Cells.

The police cells were again untenanted last night.

New, Fine

White and Colored Shirts at cost until the 24th of May, at W. J. Green's. See window.

Sporting.

Mr. W. M. Burleigh, the champion fifteen ball pool player, will be at Mr. Fancher's next Friday evening. At a tournament at Rochester recently Mr. Burleigh overcame all competitors. He is prepared to play anyone here, and to win fifteen games out of twenty-one.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is clear and bright, but the air continues remarkably cool. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh winds; fine, warm weather.

Railway Notes.

Mr. G. P. Magann, of Toronto, who has the contract for fencing and farm gates on the Ontario & Quebec Railway, has commenced operations. Several gangs of men are at work between here and Toronto, and a large gang started here on Monday to work east. Mr. Magann expects to have the fencing completed by the middle of August.

Entertainment.

On Tuesday evening an entertainment was given under the auspices of Carswell Lodge I. O. G. T. in their hall. Mr. J. Matheson, W. C. T., occupied the chair, and there was a good attendance. The programme consisted of singing, ricitations, readings and an amusing dialogue. The entertainment was a very good one, and the audience appeared to be well pleased with it.

A Peterborough Inventor.

The Montreal Star gives further particulars as to Mr. Romaine's new steam agricultural machine. It says:—

"Mr. Romaine, of the Stationery Department, at Ottawa, has invented a steam agricultural implement which breaks the ground, sows the seed and harrows it with one set of machinery, and with another reaps, binds and threshes the grain and manures the soil. He proposes to build one at a cost of $20,000, eighty horse power. It will take ten men to run it, and will work an average of seventy acres a day."

A Well Appreciated Judge.

The Lindsay Post says:—

"Deputy Judge Hudspeth held division court at Woodville on Tuesday, and at Victoria Road on Wednesday. There were thirty-five cases at the former place, and forty-five at the latter. Mr. Hudspeth disposed of them all except three, to the satisfaction of all parties. Seventy-seven cases in two days—is there any county judge who can beat that?"

It certainly is a marvellous record of work done, and the satisfaction of all parties, even of those unsuccessful in their suits, is all but unprecedented. We may congratulate Lindsay and the county of Victoria on having an exemplary judge, and phenominally reasonable litigants.

PEDESTRIANISM.

The Go-as-you-Please Race in the Drill Shed—Bird the Winner.

The race was continued on Tuesday night by Bird, Welsh, Hartly and Mercier. McAvealy and McNaughton did not put in an appearance on the course. At the start Hartley took the lead and kept it for a few rounds, and at the end of the first hour he was only three laps behind Bird. The race was commenced at 8.12 o'clock and until 8.28 Bird and Welsh ran together, but at that time Bird made a spurt and continued at a rapid gait for some time and gained considerably on Welsh. Bird ran the whole three hours. Welsh ran until 8.40 and then walked for ten minutes, when he recommenced running and kept it up until 9.25. He left the track five minutes before the time was up. Hartly ran until 9.26, and from that until the three hours were completed he alternately ran and walked a few minutes. Mercier ran from the start till 8.40, and then dropped to a walk. Occasionally he ran a few rounds until 10.05, and then continued walking until five minutes before the race was concluded, when he left the course.

The score for the second night at the close was:—Bird 19 m. 7 l., Hartly 15 m. 11., Welsh 13 m. 13 l., Mercier 13 m. 10 l. This score was lower than that made on the first night. Hartley was loudly applauded as he gained on the others, but he was so far behind on the previous evening that he could not make it up, and had to take fourth place. The total score for the two nights was:—1st M. Bird, 43 m. 5 l.; 2nd P. Welsh, 37 m. 6 l.; 3rd A. Mercier, 33 m. 9 l.; D. Hartly 31 m. 11 l. The score of the two who did not run on the second night was:—McNaughton 20 m. 6 l.; McAvealy 13 m. 3 l.

During the evening Williamson, of Omemee, went on the course and gave an exhibition of his running powers. He possesses considerable speed, and would no doubt make a good race. Some excitement was caused by Bird running him for a short distance, but as he had the three hours to run that night he did not keep up the faster rate of speed long. There is now some talk of arranging a match between Bird and Williamson, to take place some time in July.

Pulp Mill at Work.

The pulp mill at Dickson's dam has now commenced operations and was making pulp this morning.

New Jewellery Store.

Get your Watches, Clocks, Jewellry, all repaired at Hughan's New Shop. Remember the place, office lately occupied by E. Burnham, Simcoe street.

Personal.

Mr. Charles Richardson, who has been for the past twenty years foreman for Mr. Hilliard, will remove next week with his family to Michigan. He has, with this view, sold all his property.

The Supplementary Estimates.

In the supplementary estimates for next year, which have just been brought down, there are the items of $15,000 for Postoffice, Customs, &c., at Peterborough, and $8,000 for completing the dredging here. We understand that there are other items for maintaining and improving the navigation of these waters, but we have not yet received the particulars.

The Annual Drill.

We learn that both the 57th Battalion "Peterborough Rangers," and the Cavalry Troop will go out to drill this year. In this connection the Belleville Ontario of May 14th says:—

"A private letter received here this morning from Col. Villiers, D. A. G., states that Belleville has been selected as the place for holding the Brigade Camp on June 19th. The camp will put in twelve day's drill. Col. Lazier is entitled to a great deal of praise for his untiring exertions in negotiating for the location of the camp here"

The same paper also says in another paragraph:—

"The Brigade camps will begin on June 19th, and last twenty days. Col. Villiers comes to Belleville this week to inspect the grounds."

A Correction.

The Orillia Packet must have a correspondent at Victoria Harbour who is not very trustworthy, since he states that Mr. Cox and some of the staff of the Midland Railway visited that station on May 3rd, when orders were given for the removal of the Mail pictorial advertisement, and the substitution of one for the Globe. On making enquiries we find that in the first place Mr. Cox has not visited Victoria Harbour Station this year, in the second place the advertising at the station is not in the hands of the railway company, but of their lessee, who has the sole control of them, and in the third place the advertisements were only removed for cleaning and rearrangement, and have been replaced, that of the Mail included.

Theatrical

To-morrow evening the Madison Square Theatre Company will present the drama "Esmeralda" in Bradburn's Opera House. This company and the play they appear in are highly recommended by the press generally. They bring scenery with them from their New York theatre. The following is from the New York Clipper:—

"The long runs which the plays at the Madison Square Theatre have enjoyed, seems to have become a species of trade-mark. Successes thus obtained must be based upon actual merit, hence the trade-mark not only assures the public that they will find a meritorious entertainment in the running attraction, but, in a certain degree, it is a guarantee that the new plays produced there are at least believed by the management to be as worthy of patronage as their predecessors. For these reasons "Esmeralda" has been witnessed by large audiences since its first production, and because the attendance has not fallen off, proof is given that the public has indorsed to opinion of the management."

MR. SUTHERLAND JOHNSTON, a Sarnia Druggist, has sold an enormous quantity of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. He says they give splendid satisfaction. They act promptly in relieving all disorders of the Stomach Liver or Kidneys and are the "Best Blood Purifier." For sale by all Druggists at 50 cents a Bottle.

A Startling Discovery.

Physicians are often startled by remarkable discoveries. The fact that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and all Throat and Lung diseases is daily curing patients that they have given up to die, is startling them to realize their sense of duty, and examine into the merits of this wonderful discovery, resulting in hundreds of our best Physicians using it in their practice. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Regular size $1.00.

MENTAL depression, headache, and nervous debility, are speedily remedied by that excellent blood-purifying tonic, Burdock Blood Bitters. The Editor of the Mitchell Recorder states that he was cured of billiousness, liver derangement, and sick headache, by the use of this medicine.

HIGHLY SATISFACTORY.—Impure blood and low vitality are the great sources of most diseases for which Burdock Blood Bitters is the specific. S. Perrin, Druggist, of Lindsay, writes that Burdock Blood Bitters give more general satisfaction than any blood purifier in the market.

DRUGGISTS throughout the country all speak highly of Dr. Carson's Bitters. The general opinion expressed is that it gives the best satisfaction of any medicine they sell, and never hesitate to recommed it in all cases of Disordered Stomach, Billiousness or Indigestion. Price, 50 cents a Bottle.

The reason why the surgeons of the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, are making so many wonderful cures of catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and consumption are: They have none but skilled and qualified medical men connected with the Institute. They adhere strictly to their specialty and they use the spirometer invented by Mr. Souvielle, ex-aide surgeon of the French army, an instrument which conveys the medicines in the form of cold inhalations to parts diseased, which is the only way these diseases can be cured. They are treating hundreds of patients every month, having twelve surgeons engaged in their work in Canada alone. Send a three-cent stamp for a copy of their International News, published monthly at 173 Church street, Toronto.

THE COW NUISANCE.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I have understood that during last year a by-law of the town was passed, providing that it should not be lawful for any cow or other like animal to be permitted to go at large after the first day of January last. My observation, however, induces me to think that instead of the nuisance being abated, it has, in fact, increased, and already this spring considerable damage has been done to lawns and shade trees, I recently being myself a severe sufferer. I do not wish it to be thought that I put the blame alone on the "poor man's cow," for I discover that my wealthy neighbours are as selfish and scruple no less than others to endeavour to find pasture on the streets and in other people's lawns, &c., for their four-footed animals.

But why do our Council trifle with this matter? Let the appointment be made of some officer, whose duty it shall be to enforce the law, and we shall soon, I trust, be freed from these pests. Nothing less will work a cure, and I urge upon the Council this step, as absolutely necessary to create an ambition in property-owners to render their homes attractive and to beautify the town.

Yours,
W. H. MOORE.

Peterborough, May 17, 1883.

LICENSE COMMISSIONERS.

The following are the clauses as to the constitution of the Board of License Commissioners under the proposed Dominion Act:—

There shall be a Board of License Commissioners to be called "The Board" composed of three persons for each license district.

1. The commissioners shall be:—

(a.) In the Province of Ontario, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, Manitoba, and Prince Edward Island, the County Court Judge, or the Junior Judge of the County, as may be selected by the Governor in Council. In the Province of Quebec, the Superior Court Judge of the judicial district, except in the cities of Montreal and Quebec, where it shall be the Judge of the Sessions of the Peace. In the province of British Columbia such of the judges as the Governor in Council may appoint.

(b.) The warden of the county or mayor of the city, when there is both a warden and a mayor, having a jurisdiction within the license district, the former to be the second commissioner. In the cities of Montreal and Quebec, in the Province of Quebec, the Recorder shall be the second commissioner. In the Province of Prince Edward Island, the sheriff of the county shall be the second commissioner.

(c.) The third commissioner shall be a person appointed by the Governor-in-Council, who shall hold office for one year, or for the portion of the year yet unexpired in which he is appointed, but he shall continue to hold office until his successor is appointed.

2. In the Counties of Chicoutimi, Gaspe and Bonaventure, in the Province of Quebec, the Governor-in-Council may appoint two commissioners, who, with the warden, shall form the board; and in any unorganised district, the Governor-in-Council may appoint three commissioners.

3. The judge shall be chairman of the board, and two of the said commissioners shall form a quorum. In the absence of the judge, the warden or mayor, as the case may be, and in Prince Edward Island, the sheriff, shall be the chairman.

In the event of a tie the chairman shall have an additional or casting vote.

A Great Fire.

A fire occurred in Toronto about ten o'clock on Saturday in which property representing $40,000 was burnt to ashes. Only two or three individuals witnessed the conflagration, the existence of which was not known to the crowd that was passing within a few yards of the fire. The brigade was not notified of the affair, nor are they probably aware yet of what has taken place. The fire was in the Deputy Receiver-General's office on Toronto street. Only a few seconds were occupied in the work of destruction. The property destroyed was in the shape of condemned $1 and $2 bank notes, and the bundle was consigned to the furnace by Mr. Henderson, caretaker of the building, in the presence of a few witnesses.—Evening News.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

On Friday, Sir John Macdonald explained that the Dominion and Quebec Governments were both aiding the exploratory surveys of the James' Bay region and eastward to Labrador, though it was undertaken by a scientific society. Negotiations were proceeding with the imperial government for an examination of Hudson Bay and Straits.

In Committee of Supply a number of items were passed. Mr. Blake raised an objection to the appointment of Judge Clarke as a paid Commissioner, but Sir John Macdonald showed that it was only following the precedents in the United Kingdom, in Canada, and of Mr. Mowat in Ontario, and Mr. Guillet said there were no complaints in his constituency of neglect of duty by Judge Clarke.

On Monday, Mr. Landry read an address presented by Orangemen to Mr. White, M. P., for Hastings, but not being prepared with a motion the subject dropt.

A discussion was raised as to the propriety of employing Mr. Harris, a Canadian artist of high repute, to paint an historical picture in commemoration of Canadian confederation. Sir John Macdonald welcomed the idea, and after speaking of the great importance of that event and of the bright future before the country he spoke feelingly of the great services rendered at that time by the late Hon. George Brown, as well as by Sir A. Dorion and Messrs. Mowat and Macdougall. He would place a sum in the estimates to carry out what seemed to be the general wish of the House.

Further progress was made in Supply.

On Tuesday, Mr. Bowell read a despatch from London from Mr. McLelan, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, saying that the Canadian contributions to the International Fishery Exhibition were praised by the press and were publicly declared by the Prince of Wales to be remarkably good and by the Duke of Edinburgh to be ahead of all the colonies and equal to the United States.

Sir Charles Tupper moved the second reading of the Railway Consolidation Act but Mr. Blake "blocked" it, because he had only had it in his hand for five days in English and not at all in French, which of course must have inconvenienced him sadly, though the Quebec members seemed content with it in English.

The supplementary estimates for 1883-4 were brought down.

Some Reform journals, ever ready to slander a political opponent without the slightest regard for truth, are now calumniating Mr. H. H. Smith, because he has paid a visit to England on business. Mr. Smith is employed by the Canada Pacific Railway Company to assist in the organization of the emigration they are promoting to Canada. Probably neither the company nor Mr. Smith felt bound to consult these journalists before offering or accepting the position. Though the appointment is not a public one, we think that it is, as we said, one of great public importance. Those who wish well to Canada will rejoice at the settlement of the country being promoted by our great national railway, and will hope that Mr. Smith's well known business abilities will enable him to be of service in this good work. The Canada Pacific is now doing work for us, which otherwise would have to be done at great expense by the Government at the cost of the people.

A PETERBOROUGH INVENTOR.

Mr. R. Romaine Describes His New Invention for Cultivation by Steam.

The Evening Canadian says that at a meeting of the Committee on immigration and colonization yesterday morning, Mr. Robert Romaine explained his new system of laying out cities, towns, and township tramroads combined with his system of modern steam farming, whereby farming and the cartage of the products to and from the farm might be wholly carried on by means of steam power, without the aid of horses or other animal power. The improvements have for their main object the introduction of the system into the American and Canadian prairies of the West and North-West. In the course of his explanations Mr. Romaine said it was a well understood fact that the British tenant farmers, who, as a rule, had plenty of capital, and were prepared and willing and anxious to stock and work large farms in the North-West, hesitated because of the large number of horses and men absolutely required to be kept during our long winter of nearly six months in the year, doing little or nothing, and then obliged to rush at their spring and summer work, and get their crops in and then harvested before the October frosts set in. He maintained that if this system could be brought into general use, one of the greatest incentives for well-to-do farmers in Europe and elsewhere to induce them to emigrate and settle on the prairie lands would be gained. Mr. Romaine illustrated his remarks by several drawings. A unanimous vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Romaine for the valuable information he had given to the Committee.

AN OUTCOME OF THE FLEMMING SWINDLE

A side issue of the famous Flemming swindle will shortly be ventilated in the civil courts. It appears that all the creditors here who subscribed towards taking proceedings against Flemming received a small dividend out of two thousand odd dollars that the latter was forced to disgorge. The syndicate who pushed the matter to the end received 100 cents in the dollar. There were some creditors in the city, however, who refused to subscribe at all, giving as a reason that they had no desire to pose as victims, and that they did not believe anything could be got out of the bucket shop proprietor. These parties felt extremely sore over the successful termination of the matter, and thought that they too ought to receive a share of the spoils. One of the gentlemen who composed the syndicate is out-door agent for an insurance company, and one of the dissatisfied ones a St. Paul street merchant, went to the agents of the company here and made such complaints against him that the company made him find security bonds, putting him thereby to considerable trouble and annoyance. For this action on the part of the merchant, the agent is about to open a civil suit for defamation of character, claiming $20,000 as damages.

It is also reported that another member of the syndicate is about to bring a similar action against the same party for having asserted publicly at the Club Canadien last Sunday night that the said syndicate were a set of swindlers. —Montreal Star.

GRAND DIEU, TES JUGEMENS SONT REMPLIS D'EQUITE.

Great God, thy ways are righteous, just, and true,
Love is thy nature, mercy thy delight;
But mine is guilt of such a darkened hue,
That e'en thy goodness wavers at the sight,
Nor can thy love reverse the sentence that is due.

Yes, yes, my God, my sins surpassing weight
Leaves to thy will supreme one only choice;
'Tis thine the sad amount of woe to state,
For Truth, eternal Truth, all hope denies
And Goodness watches while the offender dies.

Then do thy will, since this thou hast decreed;
Reject with scorn these supplicating tears;
Pour all thy lightnings on my rebel head;
No cry, no murmur shall offend thy ears,
But conscious guilt shall silence e'en my prayers.

Convinced that all that thou canst do is good;
Self-judged, self-bound, before thy feet I lie;
All questions ended, and all hope subdued,
In anguish worship, and adoring die,—
But where's the place on which thy wrath can fall,
Which is not covered by the blood of Him, who died for all?

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

THE FIRST DRIVE.—The first saw log drive this season passed through here last week on route to the mills of Mr. Fowlds at Hastings; John Nowall is foreman. They were very fine logs and numbered 6,000. They came down Jack's Creek, being cut in the Township of Methuen.

SAW LOG DRIVES.—Mr. Geo. Chalmers' two drives are getting on well so far. P. Cassidy's drive out of the Township of Methuen has got out as far as Boschink Narrows, and A. Wynn's drive got out of Eel's Lake into Eel's Creek last week.

THE SAW MILLS.—Mr. P. Young, jr., has now commenced work in earnest for the season with a good gang of men to cut ties, lumber, etc. All kinds of lumber can be purchased at the mills here for buildings and other purposes.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.—On Thursday, May 24th, the annual out-door tea meeting in connection with the B. C. Church here, will be held on the grounds adjoining the church. Addresses will be delivered at 2 o'clock, p. m., by Rev. Messrs W. Johnston, N. Clarke, and others. Tea at four o'clock. The steamer Fairy will leave Lakefield at 12 o'clock, with passengers for the grounds. The Indian Brass Band from Chemong Lake is expected to be present. We wish the managers every success in they undertaking. It is a great treat that the young folks look forward to yearly with much pleasure.

FALL WHEAT.—Nearly all the fall wheat in this section of Smith and Douro looks excellent, in fact it has not looked better for years, in spite of the backward spring.

THE STEAMERS FAIRY AND CRUISER.—The fine little steamer Fairy is now plying on the upper lake; she commenced running last week. A new cabin has been built, and she has been thoroughly overhauled and looks well. The Cruiser paid us a visit last Saturday; she also has been thoroughly overhauled and painted. F. Lillycrap, our old friend, is captain.

FINE FISH, PETER.—Our energetic fish inspector, Mr. Cochrane, was on the war path last week and caught several parties illegally fishing on Clear and Stony Lakes, with spears &c. One man, an old offender, was addressed thus: "That is a fine fish, Peter"—holding it up. So Peter handed over seven fine fish, all cleaned and ready for cooking, spear, &c., and was informed that his attendance would be required at Lakefield before a J. P., along with some more delinquents, some time next week.

BEES.—Mr. P. Young, sen., has 13 fine hives, with the bees in splendid condition, this spring. Mr. Young has been very fortunate with his bees this year, as we hear of a great many bee-keepers being unlucky, all their bees having died.

THE GRIST MILL.—Mr. McLean has the grist mill in fine working order now, for the water has gone down considerably, so as to allow him to run again. So farmers and others come along with your grists. The new machinery placed in the mill recently allows him to please his customers the more; they get more flour out of their wheat than formerly, along with the middlings and bran.

FOOT RACE.—On Thursday forenoon last, a foot race took place from Stewart's store to the Lakeview House. The contestants were a well known curler and a lacrosse player from Peterborough. The C. C. S. won. Mac. must have eaten too much salmon at Burleigh Falls for breakfast that morning, as he looked good on the muscle. We have not heard what the bets were.

CAUTION. — The creek called Miller's creek is unusually high this spring, therefore, parties will have to be careful going through with a horse and buggy. Should they attempt it, they should be ready to stand upright on the seat till they get across safe. The horse and buggy will be out of sight about the middle of the creek.

SHADE TREES.—M. John Young planted a number of shade trees opposite his lot on the hill, and some malicious person or persons have destroyed one of them. Mr. Young will prosecute any persons should they be caught, and will give five dollars reward to any one who will give information.

PORT HOPE.

SKATING RINK BURNED.—About half-past nine o'clock on Saturday night it was discovered that the skating-rink was on fire. The firemen were promptly on hand, but the building being a very light material the flames had got such headway that it was almost completely destroyed before the fire was extinguished. How the fire orginated is a mystery; it started near the north-west corner, and as the wind was from that direction it spread rapidly. The building was owned by a stock company, and was insured for $1,200, about half its value, in the North British and Mercantile Insurance Company. Most of the curling-stones were saved, and those lost were covered by insurance. The rink will not be rebuilt on its present site.

Factory Burned.

The steam sash and door factory of Mr. Thos. McNee, Markdale, was burned on Monday. Some of the machinery was saved. The loss is estimated at $9,500, and is partly covered by insurance.

LATER despatches from the scene of the lamentable tragedy in Grey county state that the prisoner displays an utter indifference concerning the terrible crime, and asked for some one to shoot him to save him from the gallows. He claims that his relatives will prove that the shooting was done at the request of his victim.

NATURE, after all, is the great physician. She hides all the secrets of health within her broad generous bosom, and man needs but to go to her intelligently for his every need. The discovery of the great Cough Remedy, GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM, is an apt illustration of this. As a cure for Coughs, Colds, Loss of Voice and Hoarseness, it stands unrivalled, while its low price and readiness of access places it within the reach of all. Try it and be convinced. All chemists keep it in 25 and 50 cent bottles.

The reason why the surgeons of the International Throat and Lung Institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, are making so many wonderful cures of catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and consumption are: They have none but skilled and qualified medical men connected with the Institute. They adhere strictly to their specialty and they use the spirometer invented by Mr. Souvielle, ex-aide surgeon of the French army, an instrument which conveys the medicines in the form of cold inhalations to parts diseased, which is the only way these diseases can be cured. They are treating hundreds of patients every month, having twelve surgeons engaged in their work in Canada alone. Send a three-cent stamp for a copy of their International News, published monthly at 173 Church street, Toronto.

HASTINGS.

THE DORA.—The Star says that the steamer Dora with a load of lumber for Mr. P. Brennan made her first trip to this place last week.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. John Johnson met with a painful accident on Monday last. He, with an assistant, was engaged hewing railway ties, and accidentally laid his left hand just on the spot the assistant was chopping, the axe severing the little finger and a portion of the third finger.

A RUNAWAY.—Whilst Mrs. Wm. Armstrong, of Percy, was returning from the village last Thursday, the colt which she was driving took fright and ran away. Mrs. Armstrong and her son were thrown from the buggy, the former receiving several very severe bruises, but the little fellow escaped without injury. The buggy was wrecked.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.—Mr. S. B. Stiele, a Percy farmer, was arrested on the charge of poisoning a horse and cow of Mr. Wm. White's a few weeks ago. The accused was brought before J. Thacker, J. P., of Alnwick, and sufficient evidence being produced Stiele was committed and taken to Cobourg, but was released on bail. The case will be heard at the Fall Assizes.

FENELON FALLS.

THE PULP MILL.—We learn from the Gazette that during the past week over a dozen men have been kept constantly busy on what may be termed preliminaries to the erection of the pulp mill. The mill will be completed in about six months, and will run all the year round, except from 12 o'clock on Saturday nights until 1 o'clock on Monday mornings. A lime kiln 18 feet square and 18 feet high is also being built.

A Fatal Fire.

On Monday night a fire broke out in a wooden building in Beaverbridge owned by Mr. M. McLeod and occupied by Mr. Pawson. The house was entirely burned with everything it contained. Mrs. Pawson and her son, aged ten, perished in the flames.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN EXTERNAL MEANS OF CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcule which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

Language of the Umbrella.

One of the funny writers of the day has said that there is language of umbrellas as well of flowers. For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it will indicate that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it that a hat or two is going to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, means courtship; when the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings it indicates marriage. To punch your umbrella into a person and then open it means I dislike you. To swing your umbrella over your head signifies I am making a nuisance of myself. To put a cotton umbrella beside a nice silk one means exchange is no robbery. To purchase an umbrella means I am not smart, but honest. To lend an umbrella indicates I am a fool. To return an umbrella might mean something if anybody ever did it. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind presages profanity. To carry your umbrella in a case signifies that it is a shabby one. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to tear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies I am a woman.

The Cells.

Three tramps and one prisoner, arrested for drunkenness, occupied the police cells last night.

A Fire Alarm.

On Wednesday evening, at about half past eight, the fire alarm was sounded, but before the engine was got out of the shed word was received that its services were not required. The cause of the alarm was the discovery of an incipient fire in a shed connected with Mrs. Morphet's dwelling on Hunter street, which was extinguished with a few pails of water. The boards were scorched and some clothes were burned.

A Runaway.

A team of horses attached to a farm wagon, which were standing in front of Mr. Bell's hotel without being tied, became frightened at the watering cart on Wednesday afternoon, and ran away. They ran along Simcoe street to Water street, up Water to Brock street, and along Brock to Bethune street, where they turned up the "Missing Link" line. After running a short distance on the railway they were caught by two young men, and, which was somewhat remarkable, nothing was injured.

Theatrical.

This evening the Madison Square Theatre Company will appear in Bradburn's Opera House in "Esmeralda." Among the flattering notices it has received from the press is the following from the New York Evening Telegram:—

"The success of Esmeralda cannot be doubted. It is a charming story, touchingly and skilfully narrated, and it is dramatic in the purest, nay, highest sense. Every line is telling, and the interest in the fortunes of the people is not allowed to flag for an instant. The narrative is like all that Mrs. Burnett has written. Pure, simple, and frieghted with humanity. The heart strings are touched firmly, and with a certain hand. . . A play that young folks can see and enjoy with impunity and profit. . . It will enjoy a long and happy career. . . It is acted by skilful and conscientious artists."

Peterborough in the North-West.

We find in the Minnedosa Tribune, published in the flourishing young town of that name in Manitoba, the following items in regard to names well known in Peterborough:—

"It will be learned with very general regret that our popular friend, Mr. Ramsay, of the firm of Wallis, Ramsay, & Co., bankers, has decided to move to Montana. He is loth to leave Minnedosa, but has such a good opening in view that he feels it his duty to take advantage of it. The business of the firm will be continued here by Mr. Wallis and Mr. Robert Walmesley. We understand that Mr. Ramsay is to open a private bank at Livingstone, Montana, a thriving town near the National Park of the United States. The "Dean's" genial face will be sadly missed, and he will carry away with him the best wishes of the whole community for his future welfare and prosperity."

"Mr. Beck, of Crawford, Wallis & Beck, Winnipeg, is making arrangements to build a brick block next to Harris Son & Co's warehouse, this summer. It is understood that one of the apartments on the ground floor will be fitted up for the bank."

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.

THURSDAY, May 17.—Michael Murray was charged by P. C. Pidgeon with having been drunk and acting in a disorderly manner. He carried a bad mark on his cheek, in consequence of the spree. He pleaded guilty, at the same time saying to the Magistrate, "Please be easy on me, sir. Your brother gave me two chances in Cobourg." "He gave you one too many," said the Magistrate, and he marked down $3, which Murray handed over.

VAGRANCY.

Patrick Glenn, an old man, was charged with being a vagrant, and was sent back to gaol for six months. "We have no more comfortable place to send you to," remarked the Magistrate.

THEFT.

Wm. Adams, eleven years of age, was charged by Mrs. Soper with stealing $1.50. He pleaded guilty. The case was allowed to stand, and he was liberated, to appear for sentence when called upon.

UNLAWFUL FISHING.

Michael Lynch was charged by Mr. Gilchrist, Fishery Overseer, with fishing with a spear and catching fish during the close season. He pleaded not guilty.

The evidence of Mr. Gilchrist was taken. The fish was caught on the 30th of April in the Trent River.

The MAGISTRATE said that the Government was endeavoring to preserve the fish in these waters and should be aided. He would make the fine heavy, in order that it might be understood that this law could not be trifled with. For using the spear he was fined $50 and for fishing in the close season $30.

The Ennismore Accident.

Dr. Sproule has operated upon the spine of Mr. John Corkery, who was so severely injured at Ennismore on Saturday last, and has good hopes of his ultimate recovery, although he may be paralyzed for some time to come.

An Improvement.

The new fence round the George Street Methodist Church is a great improvement. It is handsome, and does credit to Mr. A. Clegg, who designed it and superintended its erection.

The Weather.

The weather to-day is beautiful. The sun is shining and the air is warmer. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh south easterly to southerly winds; fine weather, and higher temperature.

Midland Railway of Canada.

The traffic of the above railway for the week ending May 12th 1883, was as follows:—Passengers and mails, $5,299.39; freight, $15,631.09; total, $20,930.48, as compared with $18,900.38 for the corresponding week of 1881, being an increase of $2,030.10; and the aggregate traffic to date is $316,343.84, being an increase of $1,654.79 over 1881.

Drawing.

The services of Miss Cooper, of Peterborough have been secured to give drawing in Mr. J. Braden's and Mr. T. Braden's rooms in the Central School. Her present engagement is only for two months, but it will probably be made permanent. when the lessons will be extended to the other public schools. Lessons in drawing are required by the department regulations.

Indian Remains.

What appears to have been at one time an Indian burial ground was discovered on Wednesday afternoon. Some men were engaged in putting up a new fence around Mrs. Watts' residence, on the corner of Aylmer and Sherbrook streets, and while digging a post hole bones were discovered. Further shovelling disclosed the remains of Indians, and five sculls were turned out, together with the other bones belonging to the human frame. A piece of bone about five inches long, and barbed at the edge, evidently an arrow-head, was found, and another piece of bone ornament which was probably worn as beads. Mr. James Stevenson has at present got possession of these curiosities, and they will be given to the Mechanics' Institute. He also has the two jaws of an Indian, which must have been in the ground for years, but in which the teeth are perfectly sound. There are most probably more remains of the noble red man buried at this place, and as relics of this race are now becoming scarce, it might be as well to explore further, and see what could be found

A Fireman's Funeral

The Bradford, Pa, Era contains the following account of the funeral of the late Mr. Edward J. Carew, a native of Peterborough, where he has relations living:—

"Members of the Fire Department turned out in force yesterday afternoon to do honor to the memory of their late esteemed brother, E. J. Carew. A procession 120 strong, headed by the Bradford band, marched to the residence of Mr. Carew on Jackson avenue. After a brief delay the column started again and to the music of a dead march moved to St. Bernard's church, F. S. Johnson here acting as a guard of honor about the hearse. The church was crowded with friends and many were unable to gain admittance. Beautiful floral tokens such as wreaths, a sickle, a pillow and other appropriate designs contributed by the various companies and friends laid about the bier. Rev. Father Coonan delivered a few touching remarks on the uncertainty of life and the lesson of death and the other services were of an affecting nature. The line of march was then taken up to St. Bernard's cemetery, where in the presence of a large concourse all that was mortal of a brave young fireman was laid away for the long sleep."

A Rattlesnake Scare.

Intense excitement exists among the colored population of the western part of St. Thomas on account of the alleged existence of a bed of rattlesnakes beneath a house lately occupied by Mr. Dorsey on the Blackwood Hill. The family have heard the hissing of the supposed snakes for some months, and at last became so scared that they decided to leave the ramshackle dwelling, which is to be torn down and an examination made of the premises.

The gold fever which broke out on the Buffalo poorhouse farm a few days ago in consequence of the supposed discovery of precious metal there has subsided. A specimen was shown to Prof. Pohlman, of the Society of Natural Sciences, who, after examining it, pronounced it to be nothing more than iron pyrites, or in other words "fools' gold."

DANIEL CURLEY HANGED.

DUBLIN, May 18.—Curley, the second man convicted of participation in the murder of Lord F. Cavendish and Mr Burke, was hanged in Kilmainham gaol at 8 o'clock this morning. The gaol was guarded by a force of military similar to that on the occasion of the hanging of Brady. Cannon Kennedy and Father O'Reilly arrived at the prison at an early hour to attend Curley. After the priests had prayed privately with the condemned man in the cells, mass was performed in the prison chapel, in the presence of the Governor and Wardens, where Curley received the sacrament. Meanwhile a group of men which gathered outside the prison were on their knees saying mass for Curley. When the black flag announcing that the execution had taken place was hoisted over the prison every man in the crowd outside, which numbered barely a thousand, uncovered his head, and the murmurs of sympathy with Curley were uttered. A rush was then made for the garden near by, where Curley's relatives assembled, and where his father was kneeling praying for the repose of his son's soul. The crowd dispersed quickly. Curley walked to the scaffold with but little assistance. He seemed resigned to his fate, and was calm and firm. He declined to make a statement to the priest in connection with the crime. Death was instantaneous. In a letter which Curley wrote to his wife he said:—"I will take my secrets to the grave with me, and let those who are at freedom enjoy it. I will die in peace, forgiving my enemies."

THE CARRYING TRADE.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Reports from the Consuls in Canada show a large increase in the carrying of grain from Chicago and northern parts of the United States by Canadian railways, and indicate the prospect that the Canadian canals will be made free to compete with them of New York.

THE APACHE WAR.

ELPASO, Texas, May 18.—A correspondent of a New York paper, who is a trained soldier and a scout, has left here in search of Gen. Crook. The Mexican officers are aiding the enterprise. Couriers will be at the correspondent's commands. The Central Mexican Railway officers have serious doubts of the correspondent reaching Janos. It cannot be disguised that the Mexican military chieftains are alarmed about Crook. The roads and villages of Chihuahua, east of the Sierra Madres ranges, are being raided by small parties of Apaches, who seem to have been driven out of the range itself.

OBIT.

NEW YORK, May 18.—Walter J. Morris, a prominent engineer, died here on Wednesday, aged 47. He was chief of the engineers on the staff of the Confederate General Albert Sidney Johnson at the battle of Shiloh, and was concerned in large railroad enterprises in Peru and Turkey.

A WARRANT FOR SHERIDAN.

NEW YORK, May 18.—The World's Washington despatch says that yesterday the British Minister forwarded a warrant for Sheridan's arrest, obtained from the State Department to the British Consul in New York. The evidence from England has now arrived, and hence the pending arrest of Sheridan. No further steps are likely to be taken at the State Department until after the examination of Sheridan by the United States Commissioner in New York. He will forward the report to Washington, and if the charges are deemed sufficient to warrant his extradition, an order will be issued from the State Department delivering Sheridan to the British officers. The charge against Sheridan is complicity in the Phœnix Park murders. The State Department is in daily expectation of a demand for warrants for the arrest of Walsh and Tynan. The British Minister said yesterday that he notified all the British officials to keep a sharp lookout for Tynan, and to cause his arrest the moment they discovered his whereabouts. He will be arrested on the United States Commissioners' warrant, which can be done without any demand being made on the State Department. He said also that he would not ask for the arrest of Walsh until he had evidence against him.

SHERDIAN'S VIEW OF IT.

NEW YORK, May 18.—Sheridan, on learning of the substance of the World's Washington despatch, manifested no apprehension, and said:—"It only bears out what was for some time believed, that a warrant for my arrest has been issued and the British representatives were awaiting to get their case in good shape before serving a warrant on me. I felt rather confident I shall not be extradited."

SPEAKING of Mr. Anglin's amount in Toronto, the independent Reform Toronto World says:—

> "It is doubtless felt in reform circles that the Mowat government needs help, and we may suppose that this is a principal reason why Mr. Anglin has been invited to come to the rescue."

IN commenting upon Mr. Woodworth's Quixotic attack upon it in the House of Commons, the Winnipeg Times says that it is an independant Conservative journal, and hopes to become the "organ" of the settlers. This is both an intelligible and laudable position, and one which we can heartily commend. But while looking closely after local interests the Times might keep in mind more than it appears to do that a Dominion like ours can only prosper through sectional interests being waived for the general good. If the settlers remembered that but for the policy of the Conservative Government they would not be settlers in the North West at all, they might perhaps be a little less impatient at having customs duties to pay occasionally.

WATER VS. RAIL.

> "Freights could undoubtedly be carried cheaper by water with profit, and so canals and waterways had become very severe competitors for this traffic."

(The solicitor of the Grand Trunk before the Railway Committee in opposition to Mr. McCarthy's Bill).

> "Mr. Thomson said last week a quotation had been made at 15 cents per 100 pounds for freight from Montreal to Duluth by water. How were railways to meet such rates and meet their indebtedness?

(From Globe report of the Toronto Board of Trade on Mr. McCarthy's Bill).

We call attention to the above quotations because, as our readers will remember, when the REVIEW, a few years ago, ventured the opinion that our water ways must always prove the best and most economical carriers of the bulkier and heavier articles of freight, we were laughed at by these same railway men as being an age behind the times, and the public was positively assured that the water ways could no longer compete with the railways for any class of the carrying trade of this continent, inasmuch as it could be and was being done cheaper and more expeditiously by rail than it could or ever would be by water. Circumstances, however, have changed, and with the change of circumstances comes a change of agreement. Then our railway men wanted to kill off the water ways of which we were advocating the improvement, and they were then quite ready to prove that water carriage was a thing of the past, and that the work was being done cheaper and better by the railways than it could in any other way be done, and as a consequence it would, of course, be a wilful waste of public money to spend anything on the canals of Canada, and especially on the Trent Valley route. Now, however, it will be seen that this contention is altogether abandoned.

THE LIBERAL PARTY AT OTTAWA.

The following article is taken from the Toronto World, which certainly cannot be classed as a "Tory" organ, but is in fact a Reform journal, though of very independant standing. If we had written it some of our Reform friends would have charged us with attacking and blittling Reform statesmen:—

> "While we are ready to give Mr. Blake credit for several excellent speeches at Ottawa this session, we must not blind ourselves to what appears to us to be mistakes in the matter of policy.
>
> (1). While the liberals have been characterized as upholders of the provincial idea as against the federal principle, and denounced Sir John Macdonald for robbing Ontario of her rights, the session hardly opened before Mr. Blake got up in his place and told Sir John Macdonald that he had given too many seats to this province in his cabinet, and that in substance Ontario ruled the ministerial roost.
>
> (2). Mr. Blake and many of his followers voted against the Orange incorporation bill, through what appears to us to have been a hope that they would thereby conciliate the French Canadians. But if Mr. Blake ever hopes to get a French Canadian majority without first controlling one in Ontario, he is doomed to disappointment. As a party leader he should have attempted to conciliate the people of Ontario by voting for a measure that gave the Orange section of them that incorporation which they sought, and which the Bleus of Quebec were bound they should not get. Even Mr. Hawkins displayed more foresight on this question.
>
> (3). Mr. Blake and his party and his leading party organ have shown a wonderful sympathy for the Grand Trunk, and for its interests in matters legislative, and a corresponding aversion towards the Canadian Pacific. But the whole attitude of the Grand Trunk is one of determined hostility to the province of Ontario, from which Mr. Blake hails. The Grand Trunk would keep the syndicate out of Ontario if it could, it would not let another line into Toronto if it had its way, it would monopolise all the railways of the province if it were able, and even buy up the competing water lines. The Pacific railway on the other hand—though its own pecuniary interest it is true—is proving the saviour of the province. By it we are to have a new line to Ottawa and Montreal, a direct through road from Chicago to Montreal, and if it can get hold of the Northern and similar roads, competition at many other points.
>
> As an independent journal that wishes to see the liberal party prosper, we must tell its leaders that they are running their heads into the ground. We should certainly have expected to have found such sticklers for Ontario and her rights; but on these three specific points they have been found wanting. And as we said before, Mr. Blake must first get a hopeful following in Ontario before he can expect to have a majority from other provinces. Mr. Mackenzie sacrificed Ontario in 1876 on the same rock; he never heeded what the Ontario people said when asking that our home manufacturers be encouraged; he was always saying, "But the maritime people will object." The result, however, proved that not only Ontario, but all the seacoast provinces have been upholders of the National Policy."

CAMPBELLFORD.

CHURCH DEDICATION.—The Herald says that the new Methodist Church will be dedicated on Friday and Sunday, June 22nd and 24th.

RISING UPWARDS.—Mr. Smith's grist mill has gone into a large framework of Stone, and is rising upwards steadily and surely. The enterprising proprietor is keeping business before him—pushing ahead, and will soon have a dusty mill and its millers at work again.

PICKING UP THE BALL.—A meeting of the members of the Campbellford Cricket Club was held at the St. Lawrence Hall on Thursday evening, when the following gentlemen were elected officers of the club for the present year: President, A. L. Colville; Vice-President, Dr. McCrea; Sec-Treasurer, J. D. Lynch; Managing Committee, A. Denmark, R. Bonnycastle, E. Nancarrow and Thos. Tate; Honorary Members, Abraham Abbott, S. Abbott, Joseph Whitehead, Edward Platt and Israel Humphries. The Secretary was instructed to accept the challenge of the Stirling club to play in that village on the Queen's Birthday.

THE PAPER MILL.—The Intelligencer's correspondent writes that the paper mill at Ranney's Falls, just below our village, is again in operation, and the new company intend running it day and night; 20 hands have already been engaged, and the business will be carried on steadily throughout the year. Some of the most skilful workmen are employed, in order to secure the best material for the merchandise.

PORT HOPE.

THE FIREMEN.—The Times says that after considerable discussion on Monday night, the firemen were granted $100 for the purchase of helmets. The helmets, which by the way are very nobby and intended as much for protection as show, will cost $125. The firemen pay the difference, as well as for shirts and belts. The boys are not going to be "left" on the 24th in Cobourg.

A DOG STORY.—Mr. George Pethick missed his dog lately, and for four days could find no trace of him. It was at last suspected that he had fallen into an old dry well belonging to Mr. Clancey. One day at noon, by means of light reflected by a looking-glass, he was seen at the bottom between 65 and 75 feet below the surface. The poor dog, which seemed none the worse for the fall, was overjoyed to find he had been discovered. The problem of how to bring him out was solved at last by lowering a rope with a slip-noose at one end. Doggy fully understood what the noose was for, and, jumping into it, was hauled half way up, when unfortunately he slipped out, and fell to the bottom. The noose was sent down a second time, the sagacious canine again responding. This time he was successfully brought to the top. All of which is respectfully submitted as made known to us.

MILLBROOK.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM THE FLAMES.—On Wednesday morning about two o'clock a fire broke out in the north end of the driving-shed of the premises formerly known as J. Ryper's hotel, opposite Sargent's carriage factory, and lately occupied by Mr. W. Irwin, tinsmith, whose place of business is directly opposite. So rapidly did the flames progress, owing to the heavy wind from the north, that the inmates barely escaped with their lives. Mr. Irwin was not home. Mrs. Irwin, with a little boy and a six months' infant in her arms, escaped in their night dresses, and had to borrow clothes to put on next morning. Their servant, in rescuing some of her things, got her face and hair scorched. Mostly everything was burned. In the stable a valuable horse, harness, rigs, etc., were all burned. The surplus stock, stored in one of the small shops at the south end of the building also was lost. Mr. Irwin was not insured. The building belonged to Mr. James Collins, of Port Hope, and was insured.

NORWOOD.

A LARGE SHIPMENT.—The Register says that Messrs. John Finlay & Son shipped over 3,000 set of hubs this week. This is the largest shipment ever yet made from the factory, and proves conclusively that business is "booming" with the firm.

AN UPSET.—As Mr. Wm. Sedgwick and wife, of Belmont, were driving along Peterborough street on Wednesday, the horse was suddenly possessed of a desire to visit McGregor's sheds, and in attempting to carry out its designs, ran one of the wheels over the sidewalk, upsetting the vehicle and throwing the occupants out. Beyond the smashing of a basket of eggs, no damage was sustained.

Asleep Since Christmas.

Shermann Platt, a young man belonging to a respected family at Newton, Conn., has slept almost continuously since Christmas. In the meantime he has not once spoken. He sits in a rocking-chair, his eyes closed all day long, paying no attention to his friends. Twice a day he rouses, and in a half dazed fashion, enters the adjoining room, where his meals are served. He eats very little. The doctors admit they do not understand the case. Platt was bright and active until attacked my malarial fever last fall, after suffering sunstroke. He was to have been married this spring, but does not recognise his intended bride. No efforts to rouse him are of any avail.

A Gigantic Land Slide.

A gigantic land slide occured on the banks of the river Yamachiche, in the County of Maskinonge late on Tuesday night. The inhabitants were startled by the noise made by the slide, which took in several acres of land and went across to the other side of the river. The stream is impeded by the debris, and as the water is rising rapidly at the spot there is danger impending of a flood. A force of men are employed in making a passage, and if they succeed it is possible no further damage will be done.

The editor of the Grand Rapids Sachem says: —"We are usually sparing in our encomium towards patent medicines, but observation and enquiry has satisfied us that the preparation of Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., styled 'Burdock Blood Bitters,' as a blood purifying tonic is worthy of the high reputation it has established among the people."

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—AN EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcula which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

THE MAN IN POSSESSION

IN FIVE CHAPTERS.—CONCLUSION.

One morning I was in my accustomed place at the chambers, gloomily poring over a deed instructed to me by Mr. Wrightly, when a perfumed billet was laid on my desk by one of the juniors. It ran thus:

"Miss Wintock presents her kindest compliments to Mr. Meredith. Probably he is aware that she is about to leave town for Briteleigh Hall the day after to-morrow. She would therefore be pleased to see him any time this evening. She cannot help feeling rather surprised that he is the very last of her friends to congratulate her upon good fortune."

"Well, I'll go and have it over," I soliloquised. "Little does she guess the agony of mind to which it will subject me."

I went. Punctually as the clock struck seven, I was ushered into the library. Miss Wintock and Miss Wrightly were sitting together, each with a book. Miss Wrightly was charming. But my every sense and feeling became absorbed and entranced in the contemplation of her friend. She had always appeared to me strikingly handsome even under the unfavourable circumstances of her captivity; but now, she dazzled me with the brightness of her queenly beauty. Time, repose, communion with congenial spirits, had combined to develop her form and perfect her lovely face. She might have sat for a model in ancient Greece.

"Good-evening, Mr. Meredith. I am so glad to see you once more before leaving London. But what a recreant knight! We have neither heard nor seen anything of you since the day of our triumph."

I murmured very confusedly something about not liking to intrude upon her.

"Oh, nonsense! You were not such a coward on a certain night which I shall ever well remember. And yet I have been very busy indeed, or I should have sent for you earlier. Now you are come, we must have a little chat. So, take a chair, and make yourself at home.

I sat down and we talked awhile, Miss Wrightly occasionally joining in the conversation. By degrees I overcame my embarrassment. We chatted of the past, of our hair-breadth escape, and of the trial; then I took the opportunity of thanking her most gratefully for her interest with Mr. Wrightly on my behalf.

She raised her delicate hand with an imperative gesture of displeasure. "Mr. Meredith, I do not wish to hear a word more about that. You have only to thank your own noble conduct. I always felt, from the first moment you befriended me, that you were in heart, as in bearing, a gentleman."

Other desultory conversation followed, and soon afterwards I rose to take my leave.

"Stay one moment longer," she requested, as she tripped across the room to a little cabinet. "I have a trifle here for your acceptance; you must not go away without it.—There!" she added, as she placed in my hand a beautifully executed miniature of herself. "You will not refuse to wear this as a memento of your services to me."

I bent over it and kissed it fervently, and also the snow-white hand that she placed in mine to bid me farewell.

"And now, Mr. Meredith, good-bye! Let me hear now and then of your welfare. You will perhaps occasionally leave town for a few days' holiday. Whenever you may chance or choose to come in the neighbourhood of Briteleigh Hall remember I shall expect a call from you.—Nay, no excuses. I command it!" She spoke with a bewitching imperiousness that awed and fascinated me.

"Miss Wintock," I stammered, "I shall be most happy—most delighted to—to; but perhaps—I fear"——

Gazing upon me for an instant with a fixed look of astonishment—"But perhaps what?" she asked.

"Miss Wintock, I appreciate your kindness far more highly than any poor words of mine can express; but, in fact, I dare not trust myself. It is for me extremely painful to decline your kindly meant invitation; but it would be even more painful for me to accept it; and it is quite possible,' I blurted out, scarcely knowing what I said, "that Major Courtley might not entirely approve of my doing so."

Both ladies regarded me with looks of intense and puzzling wonder, as if they thought I was going distraught.

"Major Courtly!" each involuntarily repeated very slowly and in the same breath. The next moment both burst into a simultaneous peal of merriment; and Wrightly, with both hands to her face, to conceal her confusion, hurried out of the room. Miss Wintock was the first to recover her composure. For myself, I was completely confounded, and stood speechless.

"Mr. Meredith," she gravely replied, "this is a serious matter, though I have been silly enough to laugh at it. What can Major Courtly have to do with your giving me a friendly call now and then at my own residence, if I choose to entertain you?"

"I—I thought that he had a right to—I have heard that you were"——

"Major Courtly is the affianced suitor of Miss Wrightly, the lady who has just left the room," she quickly interrupted. "What next."

There was a mischievous archness in her glance. It flashed in my mind that she half-suspected my secret. I lost all self-command. Out it came in a headlong torrent of words that would not be controlled. In the frenzy which shook me, I had taken her hand in mine, when she gave me one startled look, and with her face averted, stood motionless as a statute, her color alternately fading from crimson to the pallor of swooning, and then as quickly flushing to the brightest crimson again. I told her all—of the love first kindled while she bent over me by dim candle light in her dark prison chamber—how, through the long dreary months which had since elapsed, it had gathered intensity, until it had become the quintessence of my existence—how that, realising the impassible gulf that yawned between her station and mine, I had resolved to come and bid her farewell, and then to see her no more, but to bury my secret within my breast for ever, and bear my burden as best I might. Bending for an instant over the hand that, cold as marble still rested in my own, I raised it passionately to my lips, and was about to rush from the apartment, when a sudden dizziness seemed to overtake her. But for my assistance she would have fallen to the floor.

I was sobered in an instant, horrified at the consequences of my own impetuosity as I conveyed her to the sofa. I was about to ring the bell for assistance, when she languidly opened her eyes. "Do not ring, at least for a minute or two; I shall be better presently. A little water—pointing to the table.

I hastened to comply, but my hand trembled so violently that I could scarcely help her, as kneeling on one knee I raised it to her lips. "Oh!" I cried, "forgive me, Miss Wintock, the alarm and terror I have caused you." I believed that intense terror at my excited manner and speech, commingled with anger at my effrontery, had caused her to swoon. "I will summon Miss Wrightly, and never intrude my hateful presence upon you again. Would that my tongue had been"——

She laid her hand gently on my arm. "Do not speak, please. I cannot talk yet."

"She sat for some minutes without speaking and with her eyes cast down. Presently a few pearly drops began to steal gently from under the dark pencilled eyelashes. For my own part I scarcely dared to breathe. At last the colour began slowly to tint her cheeks. Suddenly she removed her hand from my arm, and with a great effort, stood erect. "John Meredith," she said, "I know you to be brave; I believe you to be sincere. Tell me solemnly—was that your whole mind and soul, or only a mistaken feeling of enthusiasm at parting with a dear friend?"

"Dearest Miss Wintock, it was indeed my whole heart and soul, my"——

"Then take me to your heart, John! Be my protector through life, as you have been my gallant deliverer from worse than death."

It was not till some time afterwards that I left the house. Miss Wrightly did not return to the library; and we sat sweetly conversing of the bitter past, the joyful present, and the hopeful future. At length the supper-bell warned us that we must part, and I tore myself away, once more to dream—but this time blissfully—of Maria Wintock.

A few months later we had a quiet wedding in the metropolis, Mr. Wrightly officiating as father, and his daughter as one of the bridesmaids. But at Briteleigh my lovely bride was received with a hearty ovation, the villagers turning out en masse to meet and welcome her. New servants had been appointed to the Hall, and there was a jovial spread at the Three Nags for the tenants and workpeople on the estate, including the friendly landlord and landlady of the inn where we spent that memorable night, nor did her liberal hand forget the aged and the poor in the village itself.

NATURE, after all, is the great physician. She hides all the secrets of health within her broad generous bosom, and man needs but to go to her intelligently for his every need. The discovery of the great Cough Remedy, GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM, is an apt illustration of this. As a cure for Coughs, Colds, Loss of Voice and Hoarseness, it stands unrivalled, while its low price and readiness of access places it within the reach of all. Try it and be convinced. All chemists keep it in 25 and 50 cent bottles.

The reason why the surgeons of the International Throat and Lung institute, 173 Church street, Toronto, are making so many wonderful cures of catarrh, catarrhal deafness, bronchitis, asthma and consumption are: They have none but skilled and qualified medical men connected with the Institute. They adhere strictly to their specialty and they use the spirometer invented by Mr. Souvielle, ex-aide surgeon of the French army, an instrument which conveys the medicines in the form of cold inhalations to parts diseased, which is the only way these diseases can be cured. They are treating hundreds of patients every month, having twelve surgeons engaged in their work in Canada alone. Language of the Umbrella.

One of the funny writers of the day has said that there is language of umbrellas as well of flowers. For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it will indicate that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it that a hat or two is going to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, means courtship; when the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings it indicates marriage. To punch your umbrella into a person and then open it means I dislike you. To swing your umbrella over your head signifies I am making a nuisance of myself. To put a cotton umbrella beside a nice silk one means exchange is no robbery. To purchase an umbrella means I am not smart, but honest. To lend an umbrella indicates I am a fool. To return an umbrella might mean something if anybody ever did it. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind presages profanity. To carry your umbrella in a case signifies that it is a shabby one. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to tear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies I am a woman.

A Bad Fall.

On Thursday afternoon Mr. Harry White, of Otonabee, while engaged in painting a house in Ashburnham, fell from the ladder on which he was standing to the ground, causing dislocation of the hip point. He was placed in a light waggon and brought to Dr. Sproule's office, where his injury was attended to, and he was then taken home.

The Weather.

Last night the weather was beautiful. To-day it continues bright and warm. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Fresh to strong south-easterly to southerly winds; fair, followed by cloudy weather, with rain; higher temperature.

A Fine Team.

Mr. T. Cavanagh, of the "Stewart House," has purchased a fine team of dark brown horses from Mr. Pratt, of Cobourg, who had recently purchased them from Mr. Atwood, near Baltimore. They are brothers, sired by "Donald Dinny," and stand sixteen and a half hands high. They are five and six years old respectively, and their combined weight is 2,700 pounds. They are good mates in color, size and build, there being very few pounds difference in their weight. They are, without doubt, one of the finest teams ever brought to Peterborough.

Bears Performing.

The town was visited or invaded to-day by three bears led by ropes. Their keepers made them perform in the streets. They bowed most ungracefully to the crowd, danced most clumsily and did something with a long pole. While this performance was going on one of the party went around with a hat soliciting contributions. Why he thought he deserved them it is hard to say. By the way, any circus or other show that visits the town has to pay for a license. Does the by-law cover this show? If it does not, it should be made to cover it so completely that no one would ever see it again.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK.

FRIDAY, May 18.—Four men charged with drunkenness appeared in Court. Michael Murray stood up. "I gave you a chance yesterday," said the Magistrate. The prisoner remembered it, but said that whiskey got the upper hand of him, and if he was only allowed another chance he would sign the temperance pledge. His pleading had no effect, and as he had not $5 he was sent to "Castle McWilliams" for thirty days.

Michael Powers had the additional charge of having been disorderly to answer for, but he said that he had never been in a lock-up before. James Bentley was very penitent. It was, he said, the first time that he had been in court, and he would take good care that he would not be brought there again. Patrick McCabe also said that it was the first time he had ever appeared before a Magistrate, and he hoped it would be the last. These three were allowed to go, with a warning as to what they might expect if the constables had to take them in charge again.

A WAGES CASE.

Thomas W. Kendrick brought a suit against Francis Gorman for $24.57, which he claimed to be due him as wages. The defendant did not appear, and judgment was given against him for the full amount and the costs.

The Nuisance Commenced.

Complaints are already being made of boys firing off fire-crackers and "torpedoes," a nuisance which annually appears as the 24th of May draws near. They should not be discharged in the streets, and the constables should look after the boys who do so.

Three Questions.

Our neighbor Belleville has a bicycle club, and in other towns similar clubs are being formed. Could not some of our bicyclists make a move towards forming one here? And is Peterborough to be without a cricket club this year? And is it not time that the quoit club was organized for the season? Don't all speak at once, gentlemen.

Horse Stolen and Recovered.

On Thursday afternoon Mr. James Stoddart, of Smith, came into town with a horse and light waggon to get repairs made to some machinery. The horse was put into the shed at Snowden's hotel, and at about ten o'clock Mr. Stoddart went after it, but it was gone. A long search for the missing animal followed, and it was finally found this morning at the first cut on the "Missing Link." It had been noticed near the works there, and and put into the stable. Who took the horse, or who drove it to that place, is not known.

Dear Sport.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Lynch, of Asphodel, was fined $70 in the Police Court for unlawful fishing. There was only one fish caught with the spear, that night at least, and supposing it were of the average weight of eight pounds, it will cost him $10 a pound. But he was not allowed to keep the fish, as the Overseer confiscated it, and the sport was all he had for the money. And even this, too, was not his, for another man speared the fish while he paddled the canoe. The jack and spear were also confiscated, and altogether it was a rather expensive few minutes paddling. Ten dollars a pound for a maskinonge and then not get it! But, as the magistrate correctly remarked, this law should be obeyed, as the intention of the government in setting apart these waters for fish propagation was a laudable one.

Theatrical.

There was a large attendance at Bradburn's Opera House on Thursday evening to witness the production of "Esmeralda" by the Madison Square Theatre Company. It is easy to understand why this drama has been so successful. Both as a story and as a play it is worthy of high praise. The language is never faulty, it contains many touches of pathos and is often really poetical, and the flashes of wit and humor serve to heighten the enjoyment. And the company is composed of good artists, who know how to maintain the characters they personate. Mr. Leslie Allen, the North Carolina farmer, was as innocent and as obedient to his "spirited" wife as she could wish, and Mrs. Allen portrayed the strong-minded and cold-hearted woman very naturally. Miss Viola Allen in the title role won the hearts of the audience with her naivete in the first act, and when, her spirit aroused by continued appression, she was transformed into a woman claiming her rights, her action in dismissing the hated Marquis and boldly declaring for her old lover brought down the house. Mr. S. S. Black, as "Dave Hardy," sustained the character well, and Miss Louise Thorndyke, as "Nora Desmond," portrayed the romantic yet true hearted girl admirably. Mr. Harry Rainforth, the artist "Estabrook," was very amusing, and his love scenes with "Nora" kept the house in good humor. The other parts were all well taken, and few companies have visited here with a better class of actors.

DESTROYING FISH.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—In your Police Court news of yesterday, I see one Michael Lynch was fined $50 for spearing fish and $20 for fishing in the close season. Now, I have no fault to find with this, and hold up both hands to have our laws put in force, but I would ask why our Inspector singles out this individual (who probably was fishing to make a living or provide food for his family), and allows the saw mill dust annually to go into the river, destroying more fish each season than thousands of such as Michael Lynch could do with any contrivance they could invent.

Yours,
ROD AND REEL.

SATURDAY, MAY 19, 1883.

A TERRIBLE CYCLONE.

Here and There a House Left Standing—Fifty Persons Killed and One Hundred Injured.

By Telegraph to the Review.

RACINE, May 19.—The first cyclone in the history of this station, struck Racine at 7 o'clock last night, passing through the extreme northwestern portion of the city, demolishing 150 houses and barns. Fifty persons were killed and 100 more or less seriously injured. The day was ushered in bright and cool, with a fresh wind blowing from the south-east. Towards noon the sky was overcast, and about four o'clock a sharp electric storm prevailed, though but little rain fell. The sun again came out for an hour. During the afternoon the temperature was about 70 degrees. About six o'clock heavy masses of clouds again gathered in the west, and the air became oppressive and warm. The cyclone was announced by the breaking of the clouds, which took on a whirling motion and struck the earth with a noise like the roar and rumbling of thousands of railroad trains thundering over a bridge. Part of the storm was over half a mile long and perhaps a quarter of a mile wide. In this territory, only here and there a building is left standing. All brick and frame alike collapsed, and sites are marked only by heaps of debris. Many occupants of houses escaped by seeking cellars and other places for comparative safety, but the cyclone came with such lightning quickness that many were killed before reaching the cellars. In only a few cases were houses moved from the foundations. Those in the centre of the storm simply exploded and fell to ruins where they had stood. Some nearer the circumference were turned around, and it is said that some eight articles, such as waggons, were swept into the lake by the cyclone as it moved from the city. Out upon lake Michigan there was presented a grand spectacle. Whirling columns of air seemed like wreaths of smoke, as they bore with them the spiral columns of water. All the physicians in the city responded nobly to the call for assistance, and did what they could to alleviate the sufferings of the wounded, who were at once conveyed to St. Luke and St. Mary's hospitals, where they will receive the best of care. The dead were taken, some to the houses of friends and some to the Court House. An inquest will be held to-morrow. The first building struck was Hortick's factory, half a mile west of the city limits. In a dwelling near by seven people were seriously injured. The space from the factory to the Chicago and Northwestern track is a quarter of a mile. It is thickly populated by working men, the most of whom owned the houses. Through this distict the devastation is complete. Scarcely a house is left standing. A little daughter of Barney Willing was blown fifty rods from where the house stood against a wall and killed. The house of Kastaneck was partly blown down. Two young brothers were found dead and near by the mother was found fatally injured. Fourteen persons were in Datura's brick store when the tornado burst. The building was completely levelled. There was not a hole among the ruins large enough for a man to get his foot in, but when the storm passed, slowly there emerged from the ruins here and there individuals pulling, digging and scraping the dirt, begrimed and terror-stricken. The entire fourteen escaped comparatively unscratched. A cigar factory had 17 persons in it. The building was completely wrecked, but all were uninjured. Later reports indicate that the tornado wrought immense damage outside the city.

LEVELLED IN AN INSTANT.

CHICAGO, May 19.—The particulars of the cyclone near Harwood are meagre. Shortly before six o'clock a dark cloud was seen swinging over Chemong, a small village near Harward. Roaring was heard and suddenly a funnel snaped cyclone formed, and swooped down on the place with fearful rapidity. Houses were torn to pieces like cardboard, and whirled through the air. Large buildings were levelled in an instant. It is understood that a number of persons were killed and at least twenty wounded. Passing to the east the storm struck Belvidere, doing considerable damage. Here the wind changed to the Northwest and widened to a mile. Lawrence, a small station six miles north of Harwood was badly damaged, and the surrounding country desolated.

IN JEFFERSON COUNTY.

WATERTOWN, Wis., May 19.—In Jefferson County orchards and windows were damaged by the storm. There are rumours of buildings having been blown down. The loss is several thousand dollars. A portion of the roof of the college was blown off. Windows were broken by huge hail-stones.

A WIND STORM.

DULUTH, Minn., May 19.—There was a severe wind storm in this city and surrounding country yesterday, lasting but a few minutes. Several buildings were wrecked. Lumber piles were scattered for squares around. Considerable damage was done to the mills. A miller was carried some distance.

THE CYCLONE AT CLINTON.

CLINTON, Ill., May 19.—A cyclone visited this visinity last night, doing immense damage. On the line of Salle Creek many houses were destroyed. Six miles south of Clinton the wind tore down a house, killing Peter Clifton, his wife and an eight-year-old daughter, and fatally injuring another child. A family named Bennison were injured seriously. Many other families were more or less injured.

Orders have been sent to the commander of the French squadron in the China Sea to add all the vessels he can spare to the Tonquin expetition, and also to send all his available forces of troops. Sultan Said Omar, sovereign of the Grand Camero Islands, some hundred miles from Madagascar, has petitioned the French Government to establish a formal protectorate over his dominions.

THE FISHERY EXHIBITION.

LONDON, May 18.—The interest in the fisheries exhibition is increasing. To-day the Princess Beatrice and children of the Duke of Edinburg, who are among the visitors, were introduced to the commissioners in charge of the American and Canadian departments, and appeared much interested in both annexes.

CAREY RELEASED.

DUBLIN, May 19.—James Carey, concerned in the Phœnix Park assassination, and who turned informer, was to-day released from custody. Carey declares his intention to remain in Dublin and he will prosecute the tenants occupying his houses who refused to pay rents since he became an informer. Ever since Carey turned an informer his house has been guarded by the policemen, and to-day the guard was doubled.

THE HAYTI INSURRECTION.

RAILWAY MATTERS.

BOSTON, May 19.—It is stated that parties representing the New York and West Shore and Buffalo Railway are negotiating with capitalists here for the control of the Fitchburg, Boston, Hoosack Tunnel and Western and Troy and Greenfield Railways.

THE APACHE WAR.

ELPASO, Texas, May 19.—Mexico advice state that Chattos' band of 60 Apaches have entered Chihuahua through the Sierra Madres. They killed one man at Majoeyes and another at Ojilos, and two south of Buena Ventura. This is the band that had the boy Charley McComas, who doubtless was killed. The Mexican troops are in hot pursuit. The Indians captured five Mexican women below Gallegors. They were wives of soldiers. One woman was sent back with a message that the Indians want peace. There is reason to believe that Crook is in camp near Janos. Two hundred and fifty infantry left Casa Grande to penetrate the mountains and make an exploration of the fastnesses. A forced march will be made.

A Startling Discovery.

Physicians are often startled by remarkable discoveries. The fact that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and all Throat and Lung diseases is daily curing patients that they have given up to die, is startling them to realize their sense of duty, and examine into the merits of this wonderful discovery, resulting in hundreds of our best Physicians using it in their practice. Trial Bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Regular size $1.00.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold, a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup, and Bronchitis, while it's wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parellel in the history of medicine. Since it's first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a Cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10 cts., 50 cts. and $1.00. For sale by J. D Tully.

ARBOR DAY.

The London Daily Telegraph mentions with approval the custom of tree planting on "Arbor Day," favored in the United States, and recommends it to the notice of landlords in the British Isles. The growth of timber has a twofold advantage. It is always a profitable crop, and besides, the presence of trees tends to equalize the rainfall, preventing sudden floods on the one hand and prolonged droughts on the other. With the abundance of timber still growing in Canada, we are apt to be careless on this important economic question. But the axe of the speculator is exerting its power, more perhaps in the destruction of saplings than in the removal of full grown trees. It has been urged on the Dominion Government that some encouragement should be offered to tree planting. The advantages arising from the presence of trees ought to prevent the farmer from entirely denuding his land; but the desire for quick gains frequently makes the farmer careless for the future and indifferent to difficulties that he is laying up for posterity.—Mail.

No Warrant Issued.

United States Commissioner Osborne, in New York, says there has not been any warrant issued from Washington for the arrest of Sheridan, and if the warrant is issued it will in all probability be issued in New York.

Killed by a Jack Knife.

A few days ago a son of Wm. Early, of the fire department, St Catharines, was playing with an open-bladed knife, and tripped. In falling, the point entered his skull near his eye. For a time he appeared to be getting better, but dangerous symtoms set in and he died.

Peaches in Lincoln County.

Peaches and apricots are in full bloom in Lincoln county, but Mr. Kilbom, of Beamsville, says the peach crops promise poorly. There is not any more than one quarter of the usual number of blossoms that an ordinary crop should have.

A Tyrannical Taskmaster.

The executive committee of the cigar makers' union in Chicago, heard the testimony of six young girls employed by one Behrman. It was shown they work from six in the morning to nine at night and three nights each week, making bunches of cigars. They receive three dollars, and Behrman charges them a cent a minute for lost time. When the health inspector visits the place the proprietor hides the children under age.

An Abandoned Market.

The heirs of an estate in Montreal are suing the city for the return of a lot of land now converted into a square which was donated by their ancestors to the city in 1808 for a market. The deed contained a clause that if the market ceased to be held, the deed would be revoked and the property was to be restored. The market has long since been abandoned, and hence the action which has been commenced in the Superior Court to recover the lot. The value of the land at present is enormous.

Lodged in her Heart.

A Gore Bay, Manitoulin Island, letter says: A sad affair occurred at Julia Bay, near this place, on Saturday morning, in which a young girl, Katie Turner, some 12 years of age, lost her life. Two lads of this village, Thomas Porter and James Smith, of about 14 or 15, were out at a farm belonging to the Smiths, where Katie Turner was staying for a few days, and seeing some wild geese near the bay, Porter having his gun with him, the two lads went into the house for Smith's gun, which they proceeded to load. After putting on the cap, young Smith let the hammer down too suddenly and the gun went off. The poor girl, who happened to be standing in front of it, received the charge in her breast, and died immediately. It is supposed that a part of the charge lodged in her heart.

No Place like Home.

"You seem in a bad fix," said a philanthropist to a man sitting on the curbstone looking much depressed in spirits.

"Not so awful bad as I might be," was the reply.

"Have you no home?"

"Oh, yes, I've got one."

"Why don't you go there, then?"

"Because, I don't want to."

"But you should, for the poet says, 'be it ever so humble, there's no place like home.'"

"And right the poet was, too. I was home not an hour ago, and the house was turned upside down, all the beds out of the window, and the furniture in the corners, and my wife with a dish rag around her head, and the children so dusty you couldn't clean 'em with a feather brush, and the hired girls raising Sam Hill, and four niggers beating carpets, and the paper hangers at work, and a window cleaner with a hose turned on, and no dinner and no prospect of any, and the deuce to pay generally—oh, you and the poet are shoutin', and you're right, too, there's no place like home."

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, MAY 19, 1883.

THE Port Hope News is still slandering Mr. H. H. Smith for visiting that "foreign" country, England. In doing so it both misquotes and misrepresents the REVIEW. We did not say that Mr. Smith had gone on public business, and our words did not convey the idea that he had gone at his own expense. If the News quotes, it should do so honestly.

THE independent Reform Toronto World says:—

> "The Globe used to declare time after time that the Chinese would have to be brought in to build the Pacific Railway, and that the contractors should be allowed to get their labour wherever it was cheapest. Now that same paper is trying to make workingmen's capital against Sir John Macdonald because he is following out what was formerly advocated in its columns."

THE leading Reform journal is again advocating a change in our constitution, by the amendment of the British North American Act. This is rather strong evidence that when there has been a difference of opinion, the Conservatives, and not the Reformers, have hitherto been in accord with the constitution as it now stands. Of course the Globe threatens "the life of the Dominion" if it cannot have its way.

THE Globe, with its usual ruffianly style, which makes it a disgrace to Canadian journalism, is still showering insults upon Mr. H. H. Smith because he has ventured to go to England on business which we still maintain is of public importance. It appears that he should have consulted the Examiner before going to the Mother Country. The REVIEW comes in for its share of abuse, the Globe, according to its usual code of morality, misquoting us that it may attack us for what we did not say. We did not state that Mr. Smith's was "a public mission."

SOME Reform journals are suggesting, without any foundation for it, that both the Dominion and Provincial Governments are likely to impose license fees upon those engaged in the liquor trade, who will be thus doubly taxed. What is the proper interpretation of the British North American Act, we will not undertake to say, not being learned in the law, but the theory adopted by the Dominion authorities is very intelligible, namely, that the Dominion has the power to regulate the trade and the Provinces the power to impose license fees to go to the municipal and Provincial treasuries. Whether this theory of the division of the jurisdiction is correct or not, there is no need to misrepresent it.

DURING the last session of the Ontario Assembly we were told that Mr. Mowat and his supporters were compelled to vote against the Conservative motion in favour of an extension of the franchise, because it was moved as an amendment to the motion to go into committee of supply, which necessarily implied want of confidence. The latest file of English papers shows that Mr. Gladstone, his colleagues and supporters had voted for an amendment to a motion to go into supply, and thus, according to this contention, voted want of confidence in themselves. The truth is that Mr. Mowat and his allies are with good grounds afraid of the votes of the young men of our cities and towns, while Sir John Macdonald is cheerfully giving the franchise to them.

WE have over and over again pointed out to our Reform contemporaries that the Canada Pacific Railway Company and the St. Paul Minneapolis and Manitoba Railway company were by no means identical, as they incorrectly assumed to be the case in order to make political capital by holding our national railway accountable for all the shortcomings and overcharges of the Minnesota road. Facts have now proved the accuracy of our contention; Mr. Hill the leading proprietor of the Minnesota company has retired from the Directorate of the Canada Pacific, and the Winnipeg papers contemplate a keen tussel between the two roads. Mr. Stephens on the other hand indentifies himself with our own road, and with the other directors in making every effort to secure the north west traffic for the Thunder Bay route, pending the completion of the through line north of Lake Superior.

WHENEVER we have to refer to the Port Hope News we treat it as a journal, and without dragging in the names of editor or proprietor, such being the well understood etiquette among respectable journalists. When the News calls the REVIEW "Mr. Carnegie's paper" it is guilty not only of an impertinence in breaking this rule, but of a wilful falsehood, which it uses to give point to its other falsehood that Mr. Carnegie and the REVIEW contradict each other as to Mr. Mousseau's speech in reference to the Boundary Award. Mr. Mousseau tells us that he suggested to his friend Mr. Masson certain conditions that they should ask. It appears that his suggestion was not carried out, for Mr. Mousseau and Mr. Masson tell us that they neither asked nor obtained any such pledge. These are the facts and neither Mr. Carnegie nor the REVIEW had said anything at variance with them, though both have contradicted the false assumptions of Reform journalists and speakers, founded upon mutilated or falsified versions of Mr. Mousseau's words.

BUCKING AGAINST A LOCOMOTIVE.

IN alluding to the farewell speech of Mr. Anglin on leaving St. John, N. B. for Toronto, the Herald says:—

> "On one point he spoke plainly enough; he declared himself strongly opposed to the national policy. Here we have to differ with him, radically and fundamentally; and must advise him that the more he does to perpetuate the free trade blunder of Ontario's Reform leaders, the worse it will be for the party. It is not wise to "buck" against a locomotive. As the immortal Stephenson said, "It'll be a' the waur for the coo." But probably the leaders of the party have their minds made up, as was the case with Pharaoh of old."

LINDSAY.

CANOEING AND ROWING CLUB.—The Post says, that a very successful meeting of those interested in the formation of a canoeing and rowing club was held at the Jewett House on Tuesday evening. A large number of canoeists and boating men were present and the feeling in favour of having a strong local club was most enthusiastic. Mr. J. G. Edwards, who has been an active man in pushing the project, laid before the meeting the proposition upon which it was intended to form the club. After some discussion it was decided to appoint a committee of Messrs. F. D. Moore, Stewart, McGachen, Edwards, T. Walters, Barron, Foley and Dobbin to examine a suitable location upon which to erect the proposed boat house, and to prepare an estimate of the probable cost of land and building, and to report at a meeting to be held on Tuesday evening of next week. It was decided to have a constitution and by-laws, which will be framed and submitted for approval. The election of officers was held over until a full general meeting could be called, but as a precautionary matter to ensure the empounding of fees from joining members, Mr. McGachen was elected treasurer, and Mr. F. Dobbin secretary. Twenty-three members gave in their names, and many more are yet to be added to the list, who were not present. It is proposed to put up a boat house capable of accommodating from 60 to 70 canoes. A gymnasium and bath-room will be part of the equipment. On the whole the prospects are very bright for a successful and active club.

BOBCAYGEON.

QUARRY.—The Independent says Mr. A. P. Macdonald's quarry, on Pigeon Lake shore, has a business-like appearance at present. The site is exactly at the spring well known to boating men, on the north-west shore. The spring is being carefully ditched, and will not be in any way damaged for use. The work is now in charge of Mr. Gardner, a gentleman of large experience in such work, having been engaged for some years on the Lachine canal. He has about forty men employed, who have already prepared some thousand yards of massive masonry. The stone is of a lime formation of a quality that will make a magnificent piece of work, but is rather hard to cut on account of the quantity of flint that is mixed through it. Some of the blocks, the hollow quoins particularly, display skilful workmanship. Two teams of horses are employed and two blacksmiths kept busy. During the week Mr. Macdonald has opened another quarry, further down the shore, on the top of a cliff that stands perpendicularly some fifty feet in height. At this point Mr. Macdonald expects to obtain larger blocks with less flint. The operations will be continued all summer, and this development of one of our greatest resources will add materially to the prosperity of the neighborhood.

BELLEVILLE.

SHARP TRICK.—The Intelligencer says that a very sharp trick was perpetrated on the market on Thursday morning. They divided the hide of an old horse into two parts, which they sold to a buyer as two separate hides to $2 each, and afterwards sold the two half hides to a partner of the first buyer at $1.25 each. Thus, by dishonesty for which they ought to be made to smart, they realized $6.50 for a hide which was worth probably $2. We cannot commend this example to others for imitation.

COBOURG.

A BROKEN LEG.—The World says that on Tuesday morning, when Mr. Jos. Holmes was engaged in his lumber yard, by some mischance a heavy piece of timber rolled upon his leg, smashing the bone below the knee, and dislocating the ankle. The break was a bad one,—the bone protruding through the flesh. The fracture was reduced, and the patient is doing as well as could be expected.

An Independent Member.

The St. Catharines News, a Reform organ, is not quite so certain about Mr. Neelon as are some of its allies. It says:—"It is a fact, also, that Mr. Neelon is much less pronounced in his allegiance to the Reform party than Mr. Norris. We state nothing new when we assert that Mr. Neelon will not swerve in his allegiance to Mr. Mowat on all the principal planks in his platform, but it will not be at all difficult for the Opposition to offer a resolution to catch Mr. Neelon's vote, even in amendment to the address. Under these circumstances, it is not prudent to risk too much on Mr. Neelon's support, though there is no doubt, as we before stated, that Mr. Neelon has the fullest confidence in the Mowat administration on all matters directly affecting the Province of Ontario."

Assisting Emigrants.

Lady Gordon-Cathcart has set a good example to other Highland proprietors in her treatment of her crofters on the Outer Hebrides—Barra and Uist—having recently promised to give a present of £100 to every family who would emigrate to Canada, of £25 on departure and £75 on arrival at Manitoba, or wherever they pleased to settle. Ten families left last week, and some more follow this. They are in charge of Mr. McDermid, the factor on the estate, who last year visited Canada in order to judge whether it was suitable country for such people. Lady Gordon-Cathcart also took over the holdings and stock of the emigrants at a valuation, the amounts paid varying from £40 to £120.

A PREACHER'S WIFE SHOT.

Mrs. Stoddard, wife of the Rev. E. L. Stoddard, of St. John's Episcopal Church, Jersey City Heights, N. J., was yesterday morning accidentally shot and killed at her residence, No. 95, Summit avenue. Her husband was too overcome by the sad catastrophe to give the particulars of the shooting, but from the sexton of the church, who is a confidant of the pastor, the following facts were elicited:—At about 7.30 o'clock yesterday morning Mrs. Stoddard was in the act of removing some collar boxes and other articles from one of the closets on the second floor of the house, when a loaded pistol, the property of her husband, fell from the top of one of the shelves and caught in her hair. She turned quickly to catch the weapon, and by so doing hit it against one of the shelves, which caused it to explode. The bullet entered behind the left ear and passed through the brain, coming out close to the temple. Mr. Stoddard, who was in the room at the time, rushed forward and caught her in his arms. He carried her to the bed in the room, and summoned assistance. Drs. Carpenter, Forsman, and Wilkinson responded promptly, but were unable to save Mrs. Stoddard's life. She died in less than an hour, without recovering consciousness. Coroner Hughes viewed the body late in the afternoon, and summoned a jury, and with County Physician Converse will begin an examination into all the facts of the case today. Mrs. Stoddard was thirty years old, and was the daughter of the late Joshua Washburne, of Boston, and was married to Mr. Stoddard ten years ago.—New York World, May 15th

The work in connection with the buildings will be proceeded with at once. It has been decided to open the Exhibition on the 24th of September.

Fatal Horse Disease.

The influenza among horses at Montreal has been very fatal. For some time past the mortality has averaged 25 a week.

An Oil Boom in Bothwell.

The famous Bothwell oil wells, which figured as the Oil El Dorado in 1864-5, and in which scores of aspiring capitalists of Ontario and from Detroit sunk thousands of dollars, are to be put in operation again. A company has been formed in Pennsylvania, reported to be under the control of the Standard Oil Company, and it is believed that with more modern appliances for pumping and refining the expense of operating will be materially reduced and the wells worked successfully.

"Reformed" Spelling.

From a letter written by Mr. Thomas Bengough in the Toronto World we take this sample of "reformed" spelling :—"Speling (or riting) is simply a method of speaking thrue the medium of pen and paper (and sumtimes print) insted of with the vois, and where the vois cannot be emploid. Hwy shud not the mediary methods be simple, truthful and flexibl? A child that can tauk thrue a telefone on first trial rekwires three year's time to lern to spel according to the present orthografy—and then doesn't kno how."

Friends of Temperance.

The independent Reform Toronto World says: —"In connection with the temperance agitation two questions will present themselves to persons of an inquiring mind. First, is it possible for a Conservative government to bring forward a good temperance measure? Second, is Professor Foster really a sincere and honest temperance man? Judging from the out line of the committee's bill which has been published, it looks as if both these questions will have to be answered in the affirmative."

Robbed on the Street.

The streets along the water front in Toronto are these nights infested with footpads looking for prey, their chief game being newly arrived emigrants and men who have returned from railway works with big boodles. On Thursday night Thomas White, who has just come down from Algoma Mills, was felled on Front street by a couple of men, who then went through him for $35 and a silver watch. Mr. White reported the case to the police, who last night arrested a John Smith as one of the guilty parties.—World.

North-West Town Burned.

A telegram which has been received from Qu'Appelle announces the burning of the business portion of the town, the station of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the immigrant buildings just completed. The fire began at five o'clock on the evening of May 12th, and immediately seized the immigrant sheds forty feet distant, then ran into the town. The loss is estimated at $100,000; insurance nominal. Qu'Appelle was established eight months ago, and was one of the most thriving towns in the North-West. Merchants and others who have suffered are unanimous in saying that they will stand by the site and rebuild.

Premier and Axeman.

In an article on the institution of "Arbor Day" on this continent, the London Standard says :—"It has long been an accepted tradition with Americans that no axe is worth wielding unless it has been made at Pittsburg, or at one of the many Sheffields or Birminghams scattered over the United States. Even Mr. Gladstone is said to prefer an American to an English axe, although it is on record that a Canadian lumberman, who once saw him ply the weapon at Hawarden castle, declared that our vigorous Prime Minister has still much to learn before he can pretend to possess such proficiency with the axe as is common in the backwoods of Canada."

A Magnificent Fir.

One of the finest conifers in Germany, known as the Royal Fir, stands near the village of Albernhau, in the Erzgebirge mountains. Its diameter, forty inches above ground, is six feet ten inches, sufficient to conceal a horse and rider placed lenghtwise behind the trunk. It begins ramifying at a height of thirty-four feet, and the full elevation to top of crown measures 154 feet. It is thought to be the tallest and strongest representative of the species, not only in Germany, but in the whole of Europe. This noble tree, which is supposed to be 500 years old, now shows signs of decay, having died out on the apex of the crown since the year 1874. The enormous dimensions of the tree may be better realized by cordwood measure. The shaft is estimated at 51⅞ cords; limbs and brushwood, 12¾ cords, making in all 64⅝ cords.

A Patient Wife.

"I have heared," said the kind-hearted Austin female philanthropist to the woman who lived in a dilpidated shanty in the suburbs, whose head was tied up, and who had one arm in a sling, "I have heard that your husband beats you, and I thought I would consult with you to see if you could not restrain him."

"You are mistaken, madam; my husband never beats me. We have lived together fifteen years, and he has neve beat me yet."

"I am so glad to hear that I am mistaken," replied the female philanthropist.

"No," continued the woman, sadly putting the bandage over her eye, "he has never struck me a blow yet. He has kicked me in a dozen different places forty different times; he has taken me by my two ears and bumped my head on the floor, or on the corner of the mantel-piece; he has poured hot water down my back, pulled out my hair by the handful, and he has stuck pins in me a time or so; he feeds the dogs on my new spring bonnet, but he has never beat me yet, and until he does, I don't think I ought to complain."—Texas Siftings.

NATURE, after all, is the great physician. She hides all the secrets of health within her broad generous bosom, and man needs but to go to her intelligently for his every need. The discovery of the great Cough Remedy, GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM, is an apt illustration of this. As a cure for Coughs, Colds, Loss of Voice and Hoarseness, it stands unrivalled, while its low price and readiness of access places it within the reach of all. Try it and be convinced. THE Cunard Company have made an application to the Austrian Government for a concession allowing them to establish a regular line of steamers between Trieste and North and South America.

THE Queen is said to have ordered a large brass, bearing a eulogistic inscription, in memory of John Brown, which is to be placed on the walls of the Prince Consort's mausoleum at Frogmore. A bust and statue are also in preparation, and at Craithie an elaborate monument is to be placed over the grave, and a "cairn" on one of the adjacent hills.

Hidden Treasure.

A prominent gentleman in this city received a letter from a Spanish officer yesterday which, if the facts set forth are true, is of considerable interest. The gentleman referred to was very reticent in regard to the matter, and only a few of the particulars could be drawn from him. It appears that the officer in question was in the Cuban army during the insurrection. Being suspected of having given some information to the insurgents he was imprisoned, but soon managed to escape. He then joined the insurgents, and when an opportunity offered, he left the Island and came to Canada, taking with him a large sum of money. He settled in Toronto for some time, when thinking that he would be comparatively safe in visiting Spain, he went to that country with the intention of bringing his wife to Canada. Before leaving he buried his money, which amounts to $[illegible] in Toronto or its outskirts. Shortly after his arrival in Spain he was arrested as a deserter and lodged in gaol, and at present sees no chance for freedom. He has written asking this gentleman to forward sufficient money to bring his wife to Canada, who has the plans of the ground where the money is buried, and who will give him one-fourth of the amount for his pains.—Mail.

Language of the Umbrella.

One of the funny writers of the day has said that there is language of umbrellas as well of flowers. For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it will indicate that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it that a hat or two is going to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, means courtship; when the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings it indicates marriage. To punch your umbrella into a person and then open it means I dislike you. To swing your umbrella over your head signifies I am making a nuisance of myself. To put a cotton umbrella beside a nice silk one means exchange is no robbery. To purchase an umbrella means I am not smart, but honest. To lend an umbrella indicates I am a fool. To return an umbrella might mean something if anybody ever did it. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind presages profanity. To carry your umbrella in a case signifies that it is a shabby one. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to tear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies I am a woman.

Coffee-Houses.

At the annual public meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Association in Toronto, a speaker said, as reported in the World, that coffee-houses, which had been well patronized in other places, were being started in Brockville and Peterborough. Where is it being started here?

Victoria College.

At the annual convocation of Victoria College, Cobourg, in the juniors Mr. W. Elliott, of Peterborough, passed in French, and was second in first-class honors in philosophy. Miss Willoughby, who studied in the Collegiate Institute here, took second-class honors in French, and was second in first-class honors in English.

Church Building Fund.

The Port Hope News says that the Methodist congregation in that town has contributed $40,000 to the building fund in two years. In the past two years $10,500 in cash has been paid into the building fund of the George Street Methodist Church and the debt lessened to that extent. Evidently the people of Peterborough and Port Hope are liberal in church matters.

An Old Resident Gone.

We have to record the death of one of the oldest residents in this district, Mary Ann Fawcett, widow of the late Thomas Fawcett. Mrs. Fawcett came to this country nearly 60 years ago with her husband, who died just 20 years ago. Her maiden name was Sumerson, and she was a native of Whitby, Yorkshire, England. She died at the advanced age of 84, generally respected by her neighbours. She left no family.

A Trip for the Queen's Birthday.

A party is being got up to take a trip on the 24th by canoe from Hastings to Trenton with a view of becoming acquainted with the windings and rapids of the Trent before the American canoeists come over. They propose to go by train to Hastings on the afternoon of the 23rd, or to Campbellford on the morning of the 24th, returning by train on the morning of the 25th. Perhaps some of the Trenton or Belleville paddlers will come up to Campbellford to meet them. Who wants to go?

Personal.

Mr. Thos. Beavis has been taken suddenly ill. Although not in good health for some time, he was attending to his duties as usual yesterday. There is very little hope of his recovery.

Fatal Result.

The injuries which Mr. John Corkery, of Ennismore, received through a runaway, have resulted fatally. He died at about ten o'clock this morning. The funeral will take place from his late residence to the Mud Lake Cemetery at one o'clock on Monday.

Police News.

The police cells were untenanted last night. No tramps sought shelter and no arrests were made.

A statute labour case was disposed of this morning in the Police Court. The case of the fireman will come up on Tuesday next.

"Hazel Kirke."

"Hazel Kirke" has been presented over 2,500 time. Estimating that 500 persons have witnessed each performance, we have a grand total of over 1,500,000 people who have gazed upon the great play. Leaving out blind, deaf, and one-armed men, 2,000,000 of eyes have seen, 2,000,000 of ears have heard, and 2,000,000 of hands have applauded "Hazel Kirke." The Madison Square Theatre Company will present this play in Bradburn's Opera House on Monday night, bringing with them the scenery from their New York Theatre for that purpose.

Real Estate Sale.

At the auction sale of real estate in the Caisse House on Friday afternoon, by Mr. C. Stapleton, auctioneer, the Cook property, a brick store and dwelling on the corner of George and McDonell streets, was purchased by Mr. Geo. Schneider for $3,500. Mr. James Elliott's farm, part of lot 17 and lot 16 in the 4th concession of Smith, was purchased en block by Mr. Chas. McGill, manager of the Ontario Bank in Peterborough, for $20,500. The two hundred acres, namely lot 16, were again offered for sale and $11,500 was bid, but it was withdrawn.

The Boating Club.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Peterborough Boating Club was held on Friday evening. There was a large attendance and thirteen new members united with the club. The annual report of the captain, Mr. E. B. Edwards, was read, and a resolution of condolence with the family and friends of the late George C. Rogers was passed. The following officers were elected:—

President—Rev. V. Clementi.

Vice-President—Mr. R. E. Wood.

Captain—Mr. E. B. Edwards.

Secretary—Mr. C. S. Shaw.

Treasurer—Mr. A. Elliott.

Executive Committee—Messrs. F. J. Lewis, W. H. Budden, John McClelland and J. Hawkins.

Rowing Committee (to assist Captain)—Messrs. W. H. Budden, A. Elliott, C. S. Shaw and G. M. Roger.

Confirmation.

On Sunday last His Lordship Bishop Jamot administered the rite of confirmation to two hundred candidates in St. Peter's Cathedral. There was a very large congregation present, all the available room in the edifice being occupied. The candidates for the sacred rite were seated in the pews in the front part of the Cathedral, the girls, who were all dressed in white, occupying the pews directly in front of the altar. Prior to the ceremony His Lordship addressed the candidates, exhorting them to faithfully fulfil the vows they were about to assume. All those who were confirmed, at his Lordship's request, took the temperance pledge for five years. There are a number of candidates yet to be confirmed, as the number was so large that it was thought advisable not to administer the rite to all the candidates at one time, and confirmation services will again be held in the Cathedral in the latter part of June. Bishop Jamot went to Keene to-day, where he will administer the rite of confirmation to-morrow.

Midland Railway Improvements.

The Lindsay Post contains the following in reference to changes and improvements in the Midland Railway and the Midland work shops:—

"Mr. Geo. A. Cox, president of the Midland Railway, took a hurried run over certain sections of the line last week. On Friday he passed over the Wick-Manilla link and came into Lindsay. Two ballasting trains were put on this section on Monday, to finish up, and the line will be open in two or three weeks. Mr. Cox inspected on the ground the plans for curves, switches and other improvements at the junction here. Probably by the first of June these will be completed, and on the new time-table a train will run from Port Hope at 6 a. m., connecting with train from Peterborough at 7 a. m., passing Lindsay about 8 a. m., and via Manilla and Wick to Toronto by 10.30. The return trip will be made in the same way. The new route will save an hour or so from Lindsay to Toronto. At Wick connection will be made with trains from and to Midland. There will also be some other changes in train service not yet decided upon. The new bridge under contract by McNeely & Walters was also visited, and arrangements decided upon in connection therewith. It will be some months before this contract and the Omemee-Peterborough link are finished. The latter has turned out to be an exceptionally hard undertaking.... With regard to the location of the workshops, now a matter of so much public interest, Mr. Cox stated when here that there location would be decided by the full board and that each place would have ample opportunity to show its claims by advantages. Mr. Cox also stated that while he had large private interests in Peterborough they would not in any way influence the company's policy in this matter, which would be determined solely in the interest of the railway. The best point on the railway would be selected. One large establishment is found to be necessary; and a selection of a location will probably be made in a couple of months."

Mr. Sutherland Johnston, a Sarnia Druggist, has sold an enormous quantity of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters. He says they give splendid satisfaction. They act promptly in relieving all disorders of the Stomach Liver & Kidneys and are the "Best Blood Purifier." For sale by all Druggists at 50 cents a Bottle.

The Weather.

To-day the weather is warm and cloudy with appearance of rain. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Fresh to strong south easterly to south-westerly winds; warmer weather, with showers in some localities.

You save 25 per cent by buying Turnbull's 10 cent Prints.

The Annual Drill.

It is not yet finally decided where the camp for No. 3 military district, to which the Peterborough corps belongs, will be held this year, but it is very probable that they will be sent to Niagara, where No. 2 district will drill. It is now expected that all the force in Peterborough, the 57th Battallion, the Cavalry and the Field Battery, will go to Niagara, but nothing will be known definitely for a day or two.

Billiards.

On Friday night Mr. Wm. Burleigh, of New York, gave an exhibition of the manner in which he could propel the ivories. The seance took place at Faucher's billiard parlor and the attendance of lovers of the game was very fair. Burleigh is undoubtedly a good player, but when he undertook to win 18 out of 21 games of fifteen ball pool, he evidently did not know that Peterborough possesses in the person of Mr. A. D. Faucher a player who is hard to beat. Faucher won the first two games played with ease, Burleigh then won three in succession, Faucher followed with one, Burleigh took one, then Faucher scored another, defeating Burleigh. Mr. Faucher is a fine player and very few of the professional players can give him many games. The exhibition closed with a number of fancy shots. The billiard playing proper was of very little moment.

Ladies can scarcely realize that the Prints shown on Turnbull's Counter, are only 10 cents a yard.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalculæ which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly affected with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—BOTTLES CONTAINING NEARLY HALF A PINT.—SOLD BY CHEMISTS EVERYWHERE. Made in London, Eng.

BRUTAL MURDER.

An Old Man Killed at Halifax—Unconcerned Onlookers.

HALIFAX, May 20.—About half-past two this afternoon a young man named William McDonald, 26 or 27 years of age, and an older one named Charles Hughes, who is about 40, accompanied by another person, went to the house of James Kennedy, No 134, lower Water street, and asked him to give them liqnor from the adjoining bar. The men were under the influence of liquor and their request was refused. They parleyed at the door for some minutes, but failing to persuade Kennedy to give them what they wanted they finally departed, angrily muttering in tones audible to some of the bystanders their intention of returning. At about a quarter to seven in the evening, two of them, McDonald and Hughes, did return, still intoxicated, but quite able to take care of themselves and know that they were doing. Kennedy was standing in his dwelling doorway when the men approached, and in answer to another demand from them for liquor again refused. The two repeated their demand several times, but not succeeding in persuading the old man to comply with it they then attempted to push their way into the house, and severely beat the old man in the face, knocking him down and brutally kicking him. They went outside and attacked a son of Kennedy. The old man seeing the new aspect of affairs ran to his assistance, when the attack upon him was renewed. By this time some three or four hundred men, women, and children were crowded about the combatants quietly looking on, not one offering to raise a hand to help Kennedy or his son. But a few minntes had elapsed before the defenseless old man, suddenly rendered insensible by one of the blows, staggered back from the two ruffians and fell to the ground unconscious. He was carried at once into the house, where he died ten minutes afterwards. His assailants were arrested.

Homicide near Sherbrooke.

SHERBROOKE, Que., May 19.—The coroner returned last evening from investigating the cause of the death of Timathee Paradis at Kateville. It appeared that Paradis, led on by one Samuel Little, assaulted one John Timberlake at the house of Evan Call. Little and Paradis insisted on fighting all or anyone, and after throwing stones at a party at Call's who had just finished raising a barn, the crowd led by Mrs. Call rushed upon Little and Paradis, who started towards their waggon to get their pistols, when Paradis fell from the effects of a blow on the back of his head, and died almost instantly. A post mortem examination showed that death was caused from the effects of the wound on the back of the head, and the jury found accordingly, but were unable from the evidence to find out who dealt the fatal blow.

The Welland Jail.

The excitement over the county jail investigation at Welland is intense. The testimony shows that the surgeon has used drugs purchased for the institution in his private practice, that tobacco has been charged as oatmeal, and that the male and female prisoners have been allowed to sleep in the same cells.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

MENTAL AND BODILY EXHAUSTION, ETC.

Dr. G. Kaiser, Indianapolis, Ind., says:—"I have prescribed it for dyspepsia, impotency and mental and bodily exhaustion; and in all cases it has given general satisfaction."

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

ANOTHER HOAX.

LONDON, May 20.—A box with a fuse attached was discovered on the steps of Peterborough cathedral to-day. When examined at the police station it was found to contain four bottles filled with various coloured liquids with numerous wires and springs. On the lid was the representation of a skull and bones, with the words, "Beware of the Invincible Army." The box was marked "Depot Branch Office, 57 Broad street, New York." On a slip of paper inside were the words, "Conscience makes cowards of all men." Although the affair was considered a hoax the worshippers at the Cathedral were much alarmed.

THE INFORMER.

DUBLIN, May 19.—It is announced that Carey's return home is only temporary, and that the Crown still holds him as a witness to testify in the cases of Sheridan, Tynan and Walsh.

DISCHARGED.

DUBLIN, May 19.—Kinsella, the supposed lunatic, who stated that he took part in the murder of Lord Leitrim, was discharged to-day and sent back to the workhouse.

A SCARE AT HULL.

HULL, May 19.—Rumours were in circulation on Saturday afternoon that an attempt would be made to-night to destroy the docks with dynamite. The number of watchmen has been doubled.

AN EXPOSITION AT ROME.

ROME, May 19.—A meeting to-day adopted a resolution in favour of a universal exhibition at Rome, and resolved to petition Parliament on behalf of the project. Coccapieller urged the crowd to proceed to the Quirinal and request the King and Queen to assume the leadership of the movement, but the police prevented the people carrying out his suggestion.

A HOLLOW TRUCE.

COLOGNE, May 19.—The Gazette, in an apparently inspired article, says:—Any special cordiality shown M. Waddington during his stay in Berlin must have been personal. French Government circles make no effort to appear conciliatory towards Germany; the French Minister of the Interior has no scruples about welcoming the banner of the Alsace-Lorraine Society; the Opportunist papers circulate libels on the German army, and nobody in France dares to exhibit a liking for Germany. Thus we should be very mean-spirited to care whether ordinary civilities to M. Waddington caused satisfaction in Paris or not.

REWARDS FOR INFORMERS.

DUBLIN, May 19.—The Crown proposes to distribute the reward offered for the detection of the Phœnix Park murderers among the informers. It is believed it will also send abroad forthwith all informers who desire to leave the country.

THE EMIGRATION GRANT.

DUBLIN, May 19.—The Irish Local Government Board has informed the poor law boards that the $110,000 Parliament voted for promoting emigration from the distressed districts has been expended.

MURDERERS CAUGHT.

DUBLIN, May 19.—Seven arrests were made for the murder of Mrs Smythe in the county of Westmeath a year ago. The guilty parties were arrested on charges made by McKean, an informer.

The Time for the Session.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Montreal Gazette says:—

A petition drawn up by Mr. Beatty, M.P. for Toronto, and signed by 112 members of the Senate and Commons, has been presented to the Privy Council, setting forth that the prospects for the future are that the increasing interests of Canada will necessitate a session longer than of three months duration, that it is a hardship to many members to be absent from their business in the spring, at which time more immediate attention is required in many cases than at any other period in the year, and that it would be a great relief in many respects to have Parliament called at an earlier date in the year, say not later than January 15th. This would afford time to get through with the business of the country before the active work of spring is demanded. The petitioners conceive it possible to get up the preparatory work of legislation as well as reports at that date, as the fiscal year ends on 30th June and approximate accounts could be prepared up to the 31st of December. They therefore represent the advisibility of calling Parliament at an earlier date in the year than heretofore.

Wood Pavement.

THE new wood pavement in the Champs Elysees, which extended only half the length of the avenue, has stood the test of an entire winter, and so it is to be laid to the Arc de Triomphe. This pavement has been put down by an English company. The process of putting it down is as follows:—The ground is first excavated about a foot in depth. A layer of stones about the size of walnuts, and mixed with cement, is then laid down. On this a second coat of cement, about an inch in thickness, is carefully spread. The blocks, which are previously prepared by being saturated with some resinous compound into which tar enters largely, are set upon this cement; they are six inches thick by a foot in length and three and a-half inches in breadth. A space is left between each block, and after they are laid a thick preparation of tar is poured over them, followed by an application of fine gravel. Finally, the interstices are filled with cement.

An Extraordinary Suit.

A suit has just been commenced at Rochester by the directors of the Intercolonial Bridge company and the Niagara Falls Suspension Bridge Company against the Grand Trunk Railway company, to recover $75,000 damages because the defendant failed to furnish the plaintiffs with nineteen free passes over all the roads that cross the suspension bridge under contract, as per agreement entered into in 1853.

A Mothers Terrible Crime.

Mrs. Brigam, of Long Pine, Neb., cut the throat of her two year-old child with a butcher knife. She held the little one until it died, and then horribly slashed an older child. She is insane.

Oh, What A Cough!

Wil you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50 cts., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will Cure your Cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves Croup, and Whooping Cough, at once. Mothers do not be without it. For sale by J D. Tully.

BODY FOUND.

CASTLEBAR, Ireland, May 21.—The body of Stewart Quinn, who had been missing for four months, was found in a lake near here with a heavy chain around his neck.

A STEAMER ASHORE.

BOSTON, May 21.—The steamer City Point, from Annapolis, N. S., for Boston, went ashore on the bar off Ipswich this morning. She will probably prove a total wreck. Forty-one passengers were rescued.

THE CZAR'S CORONATION.

MOSCOW, May 21.—A special embassy, which will represent France at the coronation of the Czar, has arrived. The windows from which a view may be had of the principal ceremony on the day of the coronation, are being rented at from 100 to 1000 roubles each. The police require persons hiring them to give satisfactory evidence as to their character, and will permit nobody to occupy a window until proof is furnished that he has no suspicious articles on his person. They have even forbidden the carrying of oranges into buildings from which a view may be obtained, as they fear sham articles containing dynamite and intended for use as bombs may get into a house and be used against the Czar.

AMERICAN.

OBIT.

SALEM, Ind., May 21.—Horace Heffron is dead, aged 60. He was for a long time a prominent politician in this State. He was brought into prominence as the alleged leader of the Son's of Liberty, resulting in his imprisonment.

VESSELS ASHORE.

CHICAGO, May 21.—The schooner Lillie E., of Manistie, laden with 180,000 feet of lumber, went ashore last night a mile south of the life saving station. The crew of seven and captain Chas. Brooks, of Chicago, were rescued. Early this morning another large unknown vessel went ashore five miles south of the Lillie E.

FLOODS IN DAKOTA.

DEADWOOD, May 21.—Additional particulars show that a flood rain had fallen almost every day for a month, making the roads impassable, and on Saturday the ground was thoroughly wet. This was followed by a heavy fall of snow, which disappeared rapidly under the heavy warm rain. On Friday night and Saturday, gulches or valleys were formed between hills from a few hundred feet to probably a quarter of a mile wide. Deadwood is the junction of the White Wood and Deadwood gulches. Numerous gulches have emptied their accumulated water from the mountains into these two main gulches, and gave a volume of water that rushed down the Whitewood with resistless force. Central City, Anchor City and Golden Gate are on the Deadwood above Deadwood City. The greater portion of Central would be above the flood, but for Anchor and Golden Gate there was no escape. Here, however, the gulch is not over 600 feet wide. The main residence portion of Deadwood is from 100 to 300 feet above the gulch, and the main business portion is also above the danger line. The portion destroyed was occupied by cheap tenement houses, second class hotels, laundries, small traders, sporting hotels, livery stables, etc. Some buildings were built over the stream, which at an ordinary stage is but a few feet wide. Its locality is avoided, however, by a shrewder interest for danger recognized in this case, and the timely warning given by means of the telephone existing in the hills, and most of the valuable articles were removed. So far but three bodies have been recovered, but it is now believed that the loss of life has been great. Five lives are known to be lost. There is wild excitement, only equalled by that at the time of the fire. Persons are rushing in every direction and heavily loaded vehicles jostle each other. When the flood came it carried everything excepting the most substantial buildings before it. The loss in Deadwood will reach $700,000. In Golden Gate, Anchor City, Central City, South Bend and Crook City there are heavy losses. Several mills in Deadwood gulch were destroyed and damaged by the floods, and cannot be repaired for several weeks. All the roads are impassable and trains are forced to suspend because it is impossible to get wood to the station. The Methodist Church and public school are among the buildings destroyed here, also Miller's fire proof warehouse. A hundred houses are known to have been washed away.

THE STORM IN ILLINOIS.

ST. LOUIS, May 21.—Two more deaths have occurred, the result of the recent storm. Additional reports from places not heretofore heard from show that the storm in Illinois was widespread and very destructive. Horses and other farm property was destroyed in all directions within the adjacent counties, and many persons were killed or seriously wounded. Thirteen houses on the prairie were blown down. A. Williams and two children were killed, Julia Story was fatally injured and several others were badly hurt. Several business houses and residences were destroyed.

A Run on a Drug Store.

Never was such a rush made for any Drug Store as is now at Taylor & McDonald's for a Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. All persons affected with Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Severe Coughs or any affection of the Throat and Lungs, can get a Trial Bottle of this great remedy free, by calling at above Drug Store. Regular size $1.00.—5

A WONDERFUL CHANGE.—Rev. W. E. Gifford, while pastor of M. E. Church, Bothwell, suffered from chronic dyspepsia so badly as to render his life almost a burden. Three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters cured him.

MENTAL depression, headache, and nervous debility, are speedily remedied by that excellent blood-purifying tonic, Burdock Blood Bitters. The Editor of the Mitchell Recorder states that he was cured of biliousness, liver derangement, and sick headache, by the use of this medicine.

TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION.

IT is very unsatisfactory, to those who have the public interest and the good of the country at heart, to find their efforts to obtain important improvements thwarted by those who should support them, but who prefer to make what political capital they can by slandering the Government adopting them. This has been especially the case in regard to the Trent Vally Navigation. When the Government have made a grant for it reckless stump speakers and still more reckless journalists have declared that it was only a delusive promise not to be carried out; when the contracts have been let and work commenced the Government have been accused of doing it to corrupt the electors; and when they have not given an additional grant to that still unexpended they have been charged with neglecting public interests.

In its last issue, the Examiner, which ought to aid the project but is always thwarting it to serve its selfish party ends, quotes largely from the REVIEW to show that we have not been satisfied with the rate of progress, and that we have not hesitated to express our disapproval, our contemporary thus bearing testimony to the fact that we do not give servile partisan support, as it does, but place country before party, even if we have to criticise the Government we usually support. In the same article the Examiner says that it "has never uttered one word hostile to the undertaking itself." The effrontery of such a statement is astonishing when we remember that, in the number immediately proceeding, it had an article on the subject headed "A Permanent Bribe" which abounds in falsehoods calculated to injure the project, especially in the eyes of those at a distance, who would naturally in agine a local journal to be acquainted with the facts and favorably disposed. Our contemporary asks what the work is to cost and if any estimate has been made, thus suggesting a falsehood, for it must very well know that the Government engineers have estimated it at under $3,000,000, their figures having been officially reported and widely circulated by the press. Again it says that at the rate of the Fenelon Falls contract, $1,000 per yard, the 200 miles of canal would cost $352,000,000. Such a falsification is simply infamous for it is well known that the engineers give the total length of canal at less than 50 miles, the great advantage of the project being that a magnificent chain of lakes and rivers is connected by short links of canal, and yet this route so favorable for navigation is thus calumniated. The engineers calculate, as the Examiner itself published, that it will cost a less number of cents that our veracious contemporary now says it will cost dollars, thus dishonestly playing into the hands of the opponents of the route.

Even if the canal were 200 miles long, as the present contracts for $290,000 will open 64 miles of navigation the whole work at that rate would cost only $906,000, which shows the absurdity of calculating the expenditure on the whole from the cost of a portion.

There is no need for local men or journals thus traitorously to aid the opponents of this navigation, for its advocates have had a hard enough task. They have had to contend with local lethargy arising from disappointments in long by-gone years, and with the ignorance of its merits of those at a distance. Toronto has sneered at it because it does not run, like the Capreol canal, through that selfish city. Ottawa is indifferent and would prefer its own route by the French River, though more northern and less feasible. Montreal, which will derive more benefit than any other locality, does not bestir itself, seeming to limit its energies to clamouring for the public formation of a channel to place it, instead of Quebec, at the head of tidal navigation. We have no need for opponents at home.

Though we regret that there is no additional grant this year, yet we must repudiate the Examiner's charge that the Government has shown bad faith in the matter. We know that they have displayed throughout both good faith and good-will, even though we are not content with their rate of progress. We must in fairness remember that it is very hard for a Government to grant a fresh appropriation when there is a large sum still unexpended, and when so many other localities are appealing for grants. And we cannot admit that the Minister is to blame because the present contracts are not completed and the money expended. From the official report of the proceedings in Parliament, which we give in another column, it will be seen that the Minister of Canals had called upon the Chief Engineer to give him a progress report, but that official "stated that he was not in a position to do so up to the present time," and further that he "did not feel himself warranted with the attention he had been able to give to it, and the information before him, to give a progress report." That is just the difficulty; the Chief Engineer seems indisposed to give attention to this work.

We know that it is difficult for a Minister to overcome the dead weight of hostile or indifferent permanent officials, especially in a scientific branch of the service, where a layman has to rely greatly upon the professional knowledge and the recommendations of his staff, and therefore we think the Minister cannot fairly be censured. If, however, the promised full reports and estimates are not ready for next session, we shall think that in the face of such repeated procrastination it is the Minister, and not the professional adviser, who must be held responsible.

Now that the freeing of the Erie canal from tolls is giving a fresh advantage to New York in its competition with our own ports; now that the rapid settlement of our own great Northwest is calling for cheap transit for its produce, the importance of this route is enormously increased, and neither the disfavour of prejudiced officials nor the comparatively trifling cost of three millions should be allowed to stand in the way of its speedy completion.

TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION.

WE take from Hansard the report of the discussion in the House of Commons as to the grants for the opening of the Trent Valley Navigation.

On May 8th, in Committee of Supply, the following items were considered :—

> Trent River navigation—for construction of locks and the improvement of navigation between Lakefield and Balsam lakes............ $246,000

SIR CHARLES TUPPER.—This work was entered upon last year. This vote is to be expended towards the formation of the several canals at Burleigh, Buckhorn, Fenelon Falls and Campbell's (Younge') Point. The estimated cost of the whole work is $391,007; an additional sum of $101,000 will be required to complete it. The expenditure up to the 31st of December last was $9.175, and it is estimated that we shall also expend $34,824 by the 1st of July next, or $44,000 in all.

MR. BLAKE.—Will the hon. gentleman state at what time he expects these works to be completed?

SIR CHARLES TUPPER.—The dates for the completion of the contracts are—Fenelon Falls, July 1st, 1885; for Buckhorn Canal, September 1st, 1884; for the Burleigh Canal, July 1st, 1885.

MR. BLAKE.—What is the depth of the water?

SIR CHARLES TUPPER.—Five feet.

MR. BLAKE.—Has any progress been made in the way of investigation?

SIR CHARLES TUPPER.—Yes; the survey is going on. I am asking a specific vote for that. We expect to complete it this year.

Survey of Trent Valley Navigation $8,800.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER.—I may say that I called upon the Chief Engineer to give me a progress report, but he stated that he was not in a position to do so up to the present time. The survey has been steadily prosecuted. It covers an immense range of country, and there are a great many very nice and difficult questions to be solved in the selection of the most feasible route out of the different routes that present themselves. The facts have all been collected, but Mr. Page did not feel himself warranted, with the attention he had been able to give to it, and the information before him, to give a progress report. We expect this $8,000 will complete the work, and to be able at the next Session of Parliament to lay before the House a report of the whole scheme.

MR. BLAKE.—Is the hon. gentleman at present able to give any information as to whether greater difficulties have presented themselves than was supposed, or whether the difficulties have diminished on enquiry? In point of fact, I suppose there are so many routes he is not able to choose between them.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER.—That is so; but I am glad to be able to say that the result of these careful surveys has been very much to decrease the difficulties and the cost of the work.

On May 10th, in the House on concurrence, we have the following :—

Survey of Trent Valley Navigation $8,000

MR. ROSS (Middlesex).—I was under the impression the hon. Minister was to give us some further information on this matter on Concurrence.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER.—I said the survey was still going on, and that in consequence of the extended range of country and the various lines that were proposed, very nice questions arose as to which would be the best line; that the surveys were being elaborately prosecuted, and I expected them to be brought to a conclusion this year. I stated, further, that the Chief Engineer of Canals did not think it would be desirable to make a progress report until he had had the whole subject placed before him by the surveys.

WATER-WAYS V. RAILWAYS.

It will be a serious mistake to suppose that the final settlement of the transportation question depends upon a proper legal adjustment of the rights and powers of the railroad corporations. The true, natural, and final settlement of the railroad question must depend upon the solution of the far broader question—what is the cheapest medium of carriage that nature admits of?

For the last forty years the success and the profits of railroad construction have been so great that every call for transportation facilities has been met by that means. It has been taken for granted that the railroad is the best medium for carriage, and that the old methods have either been superseded or are gradually becoming obsolete. Judgment on this question has gone by default, simply because nobody has cared to challenge the unreflecting verdict of common opinion. Experience, however, has found railroad service to be, in so many aspects, unsatisfactory and even oppressive to commerce, that at last we see the beginnings of an earnest enquiry into the question whether, for a large amount of transportation, the railroad is really the most economical means obtainable. This question is raised even in England, where railroad management is conducted with perhaps greater ability and economy than in any other country, and where, to say the least, it has given less occasion for public complaint than anywhere else.

An article in the last number of the Edinburgh Review shows how a series of causes have led to an enquiry in high quarters as to the utility of waterways as compared with railways. The writer reviews, from a mass of official data, the experience of railroad and inland-water carriage during late years, in Great Britain and on the continent of Europe, and we cite the following from his conclusions :—

"It is thus on evidence in France, in Germany, in Belgium and in England, the work which is done for a third of a penny by canal will cost nine-tenths of a penny on a railway; the former price covering five per cent. interest on capital, and a sinking fund, the latter covering only four and a quarter per cent. interest, and no sinking fund."

These conclusions demonstrate the immense superiority of the canals over the railroads in respect to economy of rates. It is true that the economy is available only in respect to the bulkier freights, such as coal, iron, oils, graid, cotton, etc., but what a large proportion of the whole tonnage carried do these products constitute! The article also shows that the advantage of the railroad over the canal in respect to speed is much less than is generally supposed.

It is further to be noted that, so far as respects Great Britain, the greater economy of the canal over the railroad obtains in spite of the most complete disregard of scientific considerations in their construction, and of the propelling power employed on them. The writer shows that canal construction has hitherto almost completely ignored the laws of hydrostatics, and that by a more scientific regard for the capacity and the sectional form of these water-ways, it would be possible to largely augment the speed of canal boats and to greatly reduce the cost of propulsion or traction. This, he maintains, is a field of scientific enquiry that awaits important achievements in the direction of cheap transportation.—N. Y. Commercial Bulletin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An EXTERNAL MEANS of CURING SKIN DISEASES.—There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away, even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic; whilst old, enduring skin disorders, that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcule which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful affections, and always produce a clear, healthy natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by most Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d.

SULPHOLINE LOTION, a FLUID peculiar in itself, is the most potent enemy to all Skin Disorders. Nothing like Sulpholine has ever before been produced, nor is there anything else in the least degree comparable for its Healthy Action on the Human Skin.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—The first idea of Sulpholine was taken from a prescription of the late Dr. Startin, and every year it is used adds more and more favourably to its widly increasing reputation. Anyone, however deeply and hopelessly afflicted with Skin Disease, should apply Sulpholine as quickly as possible. In two or three days the effect will become apparent in a diminished appearance of the malady, a growing tendency to fade away, and complete obliteration of the eruption.

ARBOR DAY A SUCCESS.

QUEBEC, May 16.—The first celebration of Arbor Day here to-day was a most gratifying success, far surpassing, as admitted by Montreal visitors, the celebration in that city. Everything combined, including the weather, to render it a most enjoyable gathering of the promoters of the movement, their friends, and the citizens generally. The Lieutenant-Governor and his Cabinet, the heads of the public departments, mayor, aldermen, and councillors, the ecclesiastical dignitaries, foreign consuls, the citizens' committee, the convents, seminaries, orphans', and other charitable and educational institutions all joined together to make Arbor Day one to be remembered in local and provincial annals. The day was also pretty much observed as a general holiday, and an immense crowd, including many strangers, assembled to witness the ceremonies, which were duly opened by the Lieutenant Governor planting a tree in the grounds of the new departmental buildings, followed by the Hon. Mr. Joly, the soul and leader of the movement; Crown Lands Commissioner Lynch, who has ably helped it on from the start; Archbishop Taschereau, the Anglican Bishop, the Quebec Premier and his Cabinet; the Rev. Dr. Cook, of St. Andrew's; Rev. Dr. Clark, of Chalmers'; the Speakers of both Houses, the commandant of garrison, the Mayor and a large number of notable personages, ecclesiastical, civil, and military, not omitting the press. In this way some sixty fine oaks were planted when, headed by the band and a detachment of "A" battery, and the fire brigade in uniform, a procession moved off to the espalande, where a hundred beautiful maples, elms, and silver birches were put in. Three of them were specially named after Lord Dufferin and the present Ministers of Militia and Public Works. A double row of trees was next planted on the road leading to the citadel, after which the Corporation plantation took place on Dufferin terrace. The magnificent elms presented by the Hon. Mr. Joly being put down, besides many others in the names of the Queen, the Governor General and Princess Louise, amid enthusiastic cheers of the members and officers of the City Council. A silver pick with ebony handle, was presented to the Mayor, and a silver spade similiarly mounted to Madame Langelier, as souvenirs of the occasion. The official ceremony closed with addresses from the Lieutenant Governor, Commissioner Lynch, Mr. Joly, Ald. Rheaume and the Mayor, congratulating the citizens upon the enthusiastic manner in which the day was celebrated. A considerable plantation was also made during the day by the different schools, hospitals, and other public institutions, as well as by many private citizens.

PLANTING TREES.

A few words about planting trees. It is a seasonable topic, and much might be said upon it. There are, of course, differences of opinion as to the best time for transplanting. Some maintain that spring is the proper time, and others say that better results are obtained from fall planting. Our own opinion is that it makes no difference, as long as the work is carefully done. The strong argument in favour of fall planting is, that farmers have then more leisure on their hands, and they can then afford to spend time in doing the work well. But, no man should undertake what he has not time for doing, whether in spring or fall, else he may find that time, labour and money have been spent in vain. We have all heard of Hodge, a type of man made famous in the cartoons of Punch. Hodge is not the right sort of person to be entrusted with the task of transplanting trees.

> "I rams 'em in, now thick, now thin,
> For what cares I if they grow or die."

No; Hodge will never do, unless master is beside him and directs every movement. Strength is by no means the best recommendation, either in taking up or setting out trees. Skill pays; so does patience. Two men are needed, and three are better. The holes should be roomy; deeper and wider than the roots require, for, with a margin of loose earth, the rootlets will speedily stretch out in search of food supplies. With a bushel or so of muck for each hole, to form a bed for the tree and a partial covering for the roots, the chances will be greatly improved. Place the roots naturally on the ground, and pack the earth firmly around the tree, at least as high as it was before removal. If the work is well done in this way, and with occasional watering, if the season is dry, the loss need not exceed one in a hundred. But, of course much depends on the condition of trees at the time they are set out. If they have been carried a long distance, and have been roughly handled, it is just possible that no kind of care can save them. In the case of a mutilated tree, it is far better to stand it aside and lose it at once.—Rural Canadian.

OMEMEE.

SMASH UP.—The Herald says that on Wednesday evening as the 6.30 train from the south came up to the station, the switchman having received orders opened the switch, on which a car load of lumber and shingles was standing, and although the engine was immediately reversed it was unable to stop the train, which ran into the car sending the front truck from the track and smashing the cow catcher and front of the engine. No one hurt.

The Murder of Jas. Elliott.

DRUGGISTS throughout the country all speak highly of Dr. Carson's Bitters. The general opinion expressed is that it gives the best satisfaction of any medicine they sell, and never hesitate to recommend it in all cases of Disordered Stomach, Biliousness or Indigestion. Price, 50 cents a Bottle.

THE centennial celebration at St. John, N. B., on Friday, was a great success. The principal feature was a fireman's parade, in which the brigades of St. John, Portland, Carleton, Halifax, Pictou, Fredericton, Truro, and Charlottetown were represented. The day was observed as a public holiday.

THE editor of the Grand Rapids Sachem says: —"We are usually sparing in our enconium towards patent medicines, but observation and enquiry has satisfied us that the preparation of Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., styled 'Burdock Blood Bitters,' as a blood purifying tonic is worthy of the high reputation it has established among the people."

NATURE, after all, is the great physician. She hides all the secrets of health within her broad generous bosom, and man needs but to go to her intelligently for his every need. The discovery of the great Cough Remedy, GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUM, is an apt illustration of this. As a cure for Coughs, Colds, Loss of Voice and Hoarseness, it stands unrivalled, while its low price and readiness of access places it within the reach of all. Try it and be convinced. All chemists keepit in 25 and 50 cent bottles.

Language of the Umbrella.

One of the funny writers of the day has said that there is language of umbrellas as well of flowers. For instance, place your umbrella in a rack and it will indicate that it is about to change owners. To open it quickly in the street means that somebody's eye is going to be put out; to shut it that a hat or two is going to be knocked off. An umbrella carried over a woman, the man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, means courtship; when the man has the umbrella and the woman the drippings it indicates marriage. To punch your umbrella into a person and then open it means I dislike you. To swing your umbrella over your head signifies I am making a nuisance of myself. To put a cotton umbrella beside a nice silk one means exchange is no robbery. To purchase an umbrella means I am not smart, but honest. To lend an umbrella indicates I am a fool. To return an umbrella might mean something if anybody ever did it. To turn an umbrella in a gust of wind presages profanity. To carry your umbrella in a case signifies that it is a shabby one. To carry an open umbrella just high enough to tear out men's eyes and knock off men's hats signifies I am a woman.

Mechanics' Institute.

The annual meeting of the members of the Peterborough Mechanics' Institute will be held in the rooms of the institute this evening, for the election of officers and general business. The Institute is doing good service and the meeting should be well attended.

Entertainment.

The entertainment held under the auspices of Carswell Lodge I. O. G. T, on Saturday evening demonstrated very plainly that Saturday evening entertainments were not a success, as the attendance was small. The programme, however, which consisted of music, recitations, &c., was a very good one.

The Season Commenced.

The ice cream season commenced on Saturday evening, and so anxious was each young man to treat his—a—a—sister that all the stock of frozen cream in each of the confectioneries was exhausted before the evening was over. That was a good beginning for the trade, but the cold weather to-day will not be favourable to it.

"Hazel Kirke."

This evening the Madison Square Theatre Company will appear in Bradburn's Opera House in "Hazel Kirke," a drama that has met with almost unprecedented success. It has been before the public about three years, and has been seen by over 1,000,000 people. The Madison Square Theatre not only furnishes good companies, but equips each one with special scenery sufficient to present their plays in a proper manner. A treat is in store for theatre goers this evening.

Personal.

The sad news was announced in the Baptist Church on Sunday evening that the wife of the pastor of the church, the Rev. J. H. Best, was dead. The intelligence was received in a telegram on that day from Chatham. The Rev. Mr. Best went to Chatham a few weeks ago to bring his wife to her new home in Peterborough, but she was not able to come, and her illness resulted in her death. Although he has been but a short time here, Mr. Best will have the deep sympathy of the members of his church and others here.

The Rev. Prof. Nelles, the Rev. Prof. Burwash and the Rev. Poof. Reynar, of Victoria University, Cobourg, and the Rev. Messrs. F. H. Wallace, Richard Jones and R. Booking are at the Calsse House.

POLICE COURT.

TWO CHARGES.

MONDAY, May 21.—Thomas Shannon was charged by P. C. Pidgeon with having being drunk and disorderly and with indecent exposure. He acknowledged that he had been drunk and put forward the usual plea of the first offence. The Magistrate said that, in view of the fact that two charges were laid against him, he could not let him go on that plea, and sentenced him to pay a fine of $2, or ten days in gaol, in each case. He was committed.

The drawing for the Derby Sweepstakes will take place to-night, at Chamberlain's. Tickets not accounted for will be cancelled to-night.

Is Your Watch Clean.

Watches that are continually stopping and getting out of order, can be properly repaired by leaving them at Hughan's Shop, office lately occupied by E. Burnham, Simcoe street.

Peterborough Machinery.

In a description of the mammoth mills of Mr. E. B. Eddy, at Hull on the Ottawa, the Citizen mentions the fact that some of the machinery was made by Wm. Hamilton, of Peterborough.

The Cricket Club.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Cricket Club] will be held at the office of Messrs. Hatton & Beck, on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock sharp. It is to be hoped there will be a large attendance of the members, as matters of importance will be discussed.

Fire in Winnipeg.

Mr. H. Calcutt's brewery at Silver Heights, near Winnipeg, was burned to the ground at eleven o'clock on Friday night. Everything in it was destroyed, even the men's clothes not being saved. The brewery was insured for a considerable amount.

Sudden Death.

Mr. George Marsh, a commercial traveller, who was on his way to Peterborough, was taken ill at Millbrook on Friday and died on Friday night. He was well known here, having travelled on this route for some time. It is supposed that the cause of death was heart disease. Mr. Reynold's, of the Queen's Hotel, where he died, after communicating with his friends, took the body to Montreal, where he had resided.

The Weather.

Yesterday was warm and cloudy, and a small quantity of rain fell. To-day is much colder, cloudy and wet. The weather probabilities for the next twenty-four hours, as reported from Toronto at 1 a. m. to-day, by the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, are as follows:—Strong winds from the north-east and north-west; fair to clear colder weather.

Trent Valley Canal Progress.

Mr. Goodwin, who has the contract for the Trent Valley Canal works at Buckhorn and Burleigh, has forwarded barges down the Ottawa from Grenville to Montreal with the plant he used on the Grenville canal works. This plant will be taken to Lakefield by rail, for which purpose he has engaged six cars, to be pushed through as rapidly as possible. He is calling for an additional force of 200 men, and is determined to push on the operations so as to complete them as early as possible.

Railway Notes.

The Lindsay Post says that the indications point to an unprecedented rush of grain over the line of the Midland. A large number of vessels are noticed as having left American lake port for Midland, where they will discharge cargoes of grain. This route promises to be the favorite one with American shippers as well as a factor in the North-west trade.

The Norwood Register says that the fourth and last railway abutment was completed on Wednesday last. The work has been done in a manner highly creditable to Mr. Leonard and staff. The masons and stone-cutters have left for Tweed.

The Nashville Students.

The original Nashville Students, the celebrated colored singers, will give a concert in Bradburn's Opera House on the evening of Friday, June 1st. These students are highly spoken of as vocalist and their rendering of the old plantation melodies is said to be beautiful. The following letter speaks for itself:—

> "ORANGEVILLE, May 18, 1883.
> "We have pleasure in recommending the original Nashville Students to the favorable consideration of any party thinking of engaging them. Their concert here last night was one of the most popular ever given in our town. The bass and tenor voices are seldom excelled, and the soprano and alto are very fair. No one need be afraid of a "sell." Everybody was satisfied.

A Warm Welcome.

The Montreal Witness remarks as follows:—

> "Twenty Irish immigrants, who were sent out by the Tuke Committee, arrived in Peterborough last week, where two Irish gentlemen of that town at once interested themselves in the newcomers, securing a couple of houses for their temporary occupation, and supplying them with bedsteads, bedding, and cooking utensils. Having placed them in comfortable quarters the next thing was to find work for all that were able to work, and this was soon obtained in the neighbourhood. If all the immigrants coming to this country were to meet with such a warm reception as those strangers received from their co-patriots in Peterborough, there would be little need for sending paid immigration agents to the old country in order to secure as many new settlers as could be desired. When these immigrants contrast the cold reception which they had lately received at Montreal with the warm-hearted welcome they got at Peterborough they will be ready to infer that the latter is much the better place for an 'Exile of Erin' to call at."

Stone Throwing.

This afternoon a man who was considerably under the influence of liquor fell asleep in the bar-room of the "Stewart House." The proprietor, Mr. Cavanagh, awoke him and told him to go out, and on his refusing he put him out. The man then threw a stone at the window, but did not strike the glass, and Mr. Cavanagh went to the door and told him to stop. The drunken man then let fly a stone at Mr. Cavanagh, which struck him on the head, inflicting a severe though not dangerous cut. A physician attended to the wound. Constable Pidgeon appeared on the scene, followed almost immediately by Constable Adams, and the man was taken to the cells, with a cut under his eye, which was bleeding freely.

CHALLENGE!

IN reply to M. Bird's Challenge, which appeared in Friday's REVIEW, I will not under any consideration run more than one mile. I make no pretentions to long distance running, but when I defeated him in the half mile race at Lindsay last season, he claimed a mile to be his race. I am willing to run him a mile, which is a half over my distance, for $100, race to take place in July. Place to be agreed upon.
